High-Level Mismanagement Charged In TFX 'Fiasco'

ANGLO-AMERICAN TALKS

British Prime Minister Edward Heath wound up a 48-hour visit to the United States today at Camp David where he strolled beneath snow-laden trees with President Nixon during their private talks on the Middle East, the Common Market, East-West relations and the Soviet build-up in the Mediterranean. Heath was appearing at a news conference before returning to London tonight.

Warning Issued To Air, Water Abusers

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Announcing another major anti-pollution lawsuit, Attorney General John N. Mitchell today warned of intensified governmental action in the "whole environmental quality area."

He led off his second news conference this year with the announcement that the Justice Department has accused the Cleveland works of the huge Jones and Laughlin Steel Corp. of discharging cyanids and other pollutants into the Cuyahoga river.

Fielding 43 questions in a wide-ranging 40-minute news conference, Mitchell declared the recent controversial statements of FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover had not stepped beyond the bounds of proper conduct; that he "sure as hell" is not going to volunteer to run President Nixon's 1972 re-election campaign; and to his knowledge the President has made no commitments to anyone for a Supreme Court appointment.

Mitchell also disclosed there probably will be a decision early next year on the intensive review between the Justice Department and Housing and Urban Development (HUD) over what action to take on housing discrimination in heavily populated suburbs.

Mitchell, who appeared his coolest ever at a meeting with the press, neatly ducked several political questions on grounds "we in the Justice Department are not involved in politics."

But the attorney general, architect of Nixon's 1968 presidential victory, did say that if he had to guess as why the President nominated former Gov. John B. Connally of Texas, a Democrat, to be Treasury Secretary, he would say it was because he is "an able man ... a very strong advocate ... whom I'm sure will represent the President's pro-

Holiday Truce On For Allies

SAIGON (UPI)—The United States and South Vietnam announced today they will observe 24-hour cease-fires over Christmas and New Years. The announcements said nothing about any truce over the three-day Chinese Tet lunar new year.

The Viet Cong have announced they will observe a three-day truce at Christmas, New Years and a four-day standdown for Tet.

The cease-fires will not apply to U.S. air operations over Laos or Cambodia and neither will they apply to South Vietnamese troops operating in Cambodia, military sources said.

No new anti-American terrorist attacks were reported today in Saigon for the first time in a week but an anonymous telephone bomb threat caused evacuation of the Joint U.S. Public Affairs office in downtown Saigon. No bomb was found.

A South Vietnamese communique said the truce periods would extend from 6 p.m. Dec. 24 to 6 p.m. Christmas Day and New Years Day. A spokesman for Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, U.S. commander in Vietnam, said U.S. forces would observe the same truce "in accordance with the government of the Republic of (South) Vietnam..."

In Phnom Penh, Lt. Col. Am Rong, the official Cambodian military spokesman, said he expected no such holiday truce in Cambodia.

South Vietnamese and Cambodian troops today reopened vital Highway 7 in northeast Cambodia after a month of heavy fighting that caused "enormous" casualties to the poorly equipped Cambodian army.

UPI correspondent Kate Webb reported from Phnom Penh that reopening of Route 7 means that food and ammunition can be shipped by road to Kompong Cham, a provincial capital of 50,000 persons and regarded as one of the anchors of Premier Lon Nol's defense complex.

She said field commanders were unable to estimate casualties in the fighting which began Nov. 9 but said they feared they had lost more than 200 wounded at both Prety Totung and O-Dar and "almost as many dead." They said they suffered "enormous" casualties when the Cambodians fought off human wave assaults by the North Vietnamese and Cambodian guerrillas.

The South Vietnamese, equipped with helicopters, air cover and heavy weapons, began sweeping from the eastern end of Route 7 Tuesday at request of the Cambodian high command and the two sides linked up today in the Prey Totung area, 40 miles

ILL-FATED TFX — The Defense Department released this photograph of a model of the TFX-F111 swing-wing tactical fighter jet in 1964, before the plane became embroiled in controversy culminating today in a Senate report that the aircraft had been a multi-million dollar "fiasco" caused by the "mismanagement" of former Defense Secretary Robert McNamara and his top aides.

(UPI Telephoto)

Johnson Aides Rebuked

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate Permanent Investigating subcommittee ended an eight-year investigation of the TFX (F111) plane today by calling it a "fiasco" and making stinging criticism of former Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara and his top aides.

It accused former Deputy Defense Secretary Roswell Gilpatric of "flagrant conflict of interest" in his relationship with the General Dynamics Corp., maker of the controversial swing-wing fighter-bomber.

The subcommittee also charged former Navy Secretary Fred Korth with impropriety. And it accused former Air Force Secretary Eugene Zuckert of writing an inaccurate memorandum to justify award of the TFX contract to General Dynamics instead of Boeing. The Boeing bid was lower and uniformed experts in both the Air Force and Navy preferred Boeing's design.

"The TFX program has been a failure," the Senate Judiciary Committee's Permanent Investigating subcommittee concluded.

In a Senate speech presenting the report, Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., the subcommittee chairman, said:

"Originally, the TFX (tactical fighter, experimental) program called for 1,726 airplanes at a cost of $5.8 billion, an average per plane of $3.4 million. The Air Force was to receive 1,473 production F111s to use as its only tactical fighter during the late 1960s and throughout the 1970s. The Navy was to receive 231 production F111Bs, to use as the sole Navy fighter on carriers from 1968 through 1975."

Instead, McClellan said, the F111 program will end in 1972 with a total of only 538 airplanes costing at least $7.9 billion. The Navy abandoned its version entirely because the planes could not operate off carriers. The Air Force removed its F111s from Vietnam action after two crashed.

". . . The primary cause of the TFX fiasco was mismanagement . . . the management blunders were made at the highest echelons of government. Top presidential appointees in the department of defense during the McNamara era overrode expert advice to impose personal judgments on complex matters beyond their expertise. These same officials then made extraordinary ef-

High Court Due Appeal By Angela

I-J Special Report

NEW YORK — Only one final legal step appeared left today blocking the extradition of black revolutionary Angela Y. Davis to Marin County.

Miss Davis today lost appeals on two federal court levels with only the U.S. Supreme Court now standing between her and efforts to extradite her to California on murder, kidnapping and conspiracy charges.

Her extradition has been stayed to Monday afternoon for the Supreme Court appeal.

Although Marin officials today declined to speculate publicly, many indicated privately they thought she might be in Marin by Christmas.

After being denied a writ of habeas corpus yesterday by the highest New York state court, the court of appeals, Miss Davis's attorney, John J. Abt, today went to federal courts with

Polish 'Food Riot' Continues To Boil

WARSAW (UPI) —Workers at the Zeran automobile factory outside Warsaw laid down their tools today to hold "discussions" about the food riots that have swept Baltic seacoast cities, sending extra police patrols, some armed with automatic carbines, to the streets.

(Swedish Radio said new riots flared today in Szczecin and Slupsk and that armored cars again went into action to beat down the demonstratons. It reported Poznan, scene of the big 1956 uprising, calm.)

Troops and tanks enforced law and order along a 200-mile front in northern Poland with orders to shoot on sight and indications were the cities of Gdansk, Gdynia, Sopot, Szczecin and Slubsk were quiet today but tense.

The latest trouble spot was Szczecin and Swedish reports said demonstrators burned Communist Party headquarters there Thursday and that "many" persons were feared dead in the fire. Troops used armored cars to restore order and eyewitness reports said one car ran over a mother and daughter.

The four days of rioting killed at least a dozen persons in other cities, injured hundreds and brought widespread damage, looting and arson, including the burning of Communist Party headquarters in Szczecin and Gdansk.

A traveler arriving in Warsaw from Wroclaw (Breslau), Poland's fourth largest city with a population of half a million, said the old city market area was cordoned off by troops today and military patrols were moving through the city. But the reason for such measures was not known.

Diplomatic sources said college students in Warsaw and other Polish cities including Gdynia had been told to leave for their Christmas vacations on Saturday instead of Tuesday as scheduled.

Snow Falls On Mount Tamalpais

The flakes melted as soon as they hit the mountain top this morning.

Rain, heavy at times, fell on Marin during the night, and the National Weather Service said there was a 40 per cent chance of more showers this evening.

Rainfall figures for a 24-hour period ending at 8 a.m. today were: Bolinas, .97 of an inch; San Anselmo, .85; Woodacre and Tamalpais Valley, .82; Santa Venetia, .74; Sausalito and Mill Valley, .65; Tiburon, .48, and Novato, .45.

San Rafael had .77 of an inch for the 24-hour period ending at noon today.

One Marin Agency Off UBAC List

At least one Marin County agency is among 27 for which United Bay Area Crusade funds have been eliminated, it was learned today.

Joseph P. Mergens, UBAC executive director, announced in San Francisco that the list of agencies financed partially by United Crusade funds had been cut from 190 to 163 "with a new emphasis on giving to the most deprived parts of the community."

He did not disclose what 27 agencies were cut.

One of them, however, is Marin Aid to Retarded Children.

Charles L. Martin, MARC president, said today, "We have received a communication from UBAC" announcing no funds would be forthcoming.

Indicating his organization has no intention of ending its operations because of the cut, Martin said: "We are delighted that the people of Marin County continue to support our extensive volunteer effort to serve the mentally retarded who rely

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Given Time

WASHINGTON (UPI) —An Air Force nurse who gave birth to a child out of wedlock remained in the service today under an order issued by U.S. Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas.

Douglas Thursday ordered the Air Force to give Capt. Susan R. Struck, 26, a native of Louisville, Ky., more time to continue her legal efforts to remain on duty. The Air Force had planned to discharge Miss Struck at midnight Thursday.

Trial Near End

MOSCOW (UPI)—The trial of 30 persons accused of attempting to hijack a Soviet airliner last June was reported to be nearing its final stage in the Leningrad city court today.

Informed sources said all defendants, most of them Jews, admitted the attempted hijacking and some of them said they had been working for "international zionism."

All are prosecuted under articles 64 and 70 of the criminal code dealing with treason and anti-Soviet propaganda. The articles provide for penalties up to 15 years in jail or death.

Daley To Run

CHICAGO (UPI) — Richard Joseph Daley, after meditating "in a spirit of humility and gratitude," has decided to run for a fifth four-year term as Chicago's mayor.

Democratic party slatemakers responded with an immediate vote of acclamation Thursday for the mayor's candidacy.

Daley's announcement indicated he has no intention yet of relinquishing his three-cornered hold on power.

Divorce Official

ROME (UPI) — Divorce became official today in this homeland of Roman Catholicism, opening an era of profound changes in Italian life.

Parliament Dec. 1 passed the first divorce law in Italy since the fall of Napoleon in 1815. But it did not come into force until today—15 days after its publication Dec. 3 in the official Gazette.

Tens of thousands of lawsuits already have been processed by lawyers, but until today special domestic courts legally could not start paperwork on them.

Tough Line

MADRID (UPI)—A rare appearance by Generalissimo Francisco Franco at a Madrid rally answering foreign criticism over the Basque court-martial indicates his government intends to take a tough line in the case, diplomatic observers said today.

The official CIFRA news agency estimated 500,000 persons took part in the rally Thursday during which Falangists urged the government to push Basque nationalists "to the wall."

The 16 Basques on trial before the court-martial are charged with murder and other terrorist acts. Six of them face death sentences.

No Formal Verdict

ALSDORF, Germany (UPI)—A West German court today ended the nation's marathon two and one half year Thalidomide trial without pronouncing a formal verdict.

Presiding Judge Benno Dietz announced the court's decision after the state prosecution last Friday agreed with a defense motion to abandon the trial.

Thalidomide, a sleeping pill developed and marketed by the Chemie Gruenenthal chemical concern from 1957 to 1961, was blamed for the birth of more than 6,000 deformed children.

Only five of the nine Chemie Gruenenthal executives charged with criminal negligence in developing and marketing the drug, were still in the dock. Four others had dropped out due to illness or death.

British Firemen Go On Limited Strike

LONDON (UPI)—The Fire Brigades Union Thursday night ordered 27,000 firemen throughout Britain to answer only emergency calls following a breakdown in pay talks.

The firemen turned down a 5 1-2 per cent increase and said they wanted $91.20 as earned by British Airports Authority firemen and a normal work week reduced. The firemen now earn an average of $66 for a 56-hour week.

New Pusey Job

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (UPI)—Retiring Harvard University President Nathan M. Pusey will become president of the Andrew W. Mellon Foundation next fall.

Pusey, whose resignation is effective at the end of the academic year in June, will succeed retiring Charles S. Hamilton Jr. as head of the multi-million dollar foundation, Harvard said Thursday in disclosing Pusey's plans.

The New York City-based foundation makes grants in the fields of education, the arts, conservation, community service and medicine, and was named for Secretary of the Treasury Andrew W. Mellon who died in 1937.

Talks End

HELSINKI (UPI)—The United States and the Soviet Union said today they are determined to keep working toward mutual limitation of their strategic nuclear arsenals.

The two super powers said they were able to further clarify some of the issues involved during the third phase of their Strategic Arms Limitation Talks (SALT) which ended today.

"A wide range of questions" was considered at the session which began Nov. 2 a joint communique said.

"Both delegations expressed their determination to pursue the negotiations with the aim of limiting strategic offensive and defensive armaments," it said.

Tricia's Guests

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The parents of Tricia Nixon's favorite beau were guests at the White House Thursday night but the president's daughter laughingly shrugged off questions about romance.

"If you hear anything, let me know," Miss Nixon told reporters.

Among the 114 guests at a dinner for British Prime Minister Edward Heath were Col. and Mrs. Howard Ellis Cox, New York City socialities.

Their son, Edward Finch Cox, a law student at Harvard University and a former investigator for consumer protectionist Ralph Nader, has been seen frequently with Miss Nixon.

Post Sees Big Deficit In Budget

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Legislative Budget Analyst A. Alan Post has predicted a $712 million deficit in the state budget next year unless present policies are changed.

Addressing a joint hearing of the Assembly Committees on Revenue and Taxation and Local Government, Post Thursday accused the Reagan administration of covering up a welfare deficit shortly before the Nov. 3 election.

Post said he first noticed welfare overspending in the April-May monthly report and asked the Health Care Services Department for an explanation.

"NOT TRUE"

Dr. Earl W. Brian, director of the department, replied in a letter that there "would be no overrun" according to Post, who said "this was not true."

Post said he was assured by Brian that corrective measures were being taken and "our mind was put at rest."

"Monthly reports deceived us into thinking we were well on course when in fact we were off course," Post said, adding that Brian's corrective measures were changes in reporting techniques which covered up the deficit.

He said the Aug. 4 report indicated a possible $72 million "overrun" but his efforts to find out why were met with "delays" and "foot dragging" due to "overall political implications."

A COVER UP

He charged that Gov. Ronald Reagan's Dec. 1 announcement that the state would have a $150 million deficit at the end of the fiscal year, including a $70 million deficit blamed on increased costs of the Medi-Cal program, was the result of the coverup.

Post said the legislature would have to consider reconstitution of the department's recording methods.

Committee Chairmen William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, and John T. Knox, D-Richmond, said Brian or a representative of the department would attend today's committee session.

Wine Maker Named To Antismog Board

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A winery executive was named Thursday by Gov. Ronald Reagan to the smog-fighting Air Resources Board.

Frederick F. Perelli-Minetti, a Republican who manages a Delano winery, was appointed to a four-year term. He succeeds David Adams of Woodland, who resigned. The post pays expenses only.

Israel May Push For Formal Cease-Fire Pact

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

Israel may demand the signing of a formal cease-fire agreement with Egypt as a condition for resuming Middle East peace talks, diplomatic sources in Tel Aviv said today.

The sources said Israel probably will make a favorable decision on restarting the talks under the sponsorship of U.N. mediator Gunnar V. Jarring but it "may not actually go back to the peace table before this precondition is accepted."

Premier Golda Meir and U.S. Ambassador H. Walworth Barbour met Thursday to discuss possibility of resuming the talks. They were cut off by Israel in September after only one round of meetings because Israel charged Egypt with violating the cease-fire by moving SAM2 and SAM3 missiles into the standstill zone along the Suez Canal.

In Cario, Mohamed Hassanein Heikal, editor of the semiofficial newspaper Al Ahram, said almost 20,000 Egyptian soldiers and civilians have been killed during and since the 1967 war. The figure was included in a letter written by Egyptian War Minister Gen. Mohamed Fawzi to Iraqi Defense Minister Lt. Gen. Hamad Chehab in August and published by Heikal in a column he wrote for today's Al Ahram.

In Jordan, a dispute over a time factor in a new peace initiative disrupted relations between the government and Palestinian guerrillas. It involved a timetable to be followed by the guerrillas in surrendering weapons for storage in central arsenals.

The government contends their agreement states it should be done by Sunday, but the guerrillas claim they never approved any deadline for turning over the weapons.

Stinging Attack On Medi-Cal Cutbacks

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —An official of the County Supervisors Association has denounced the Reagan administration's Medi-Cal cutbacks as a "breach of faith" that will cost local property taxpayers millions of dollars.

"County health care is provided at cost and any fee schedules or reductions in payments by the state is nothing less than an outright cost-shift to the county property taxpayer," charged Ralph P. Thiel, association president.

Thiel, a Tuolumne County supervisor, said that state-ordered cuts in the health care program for the poor in an effort to head off a $140 million deficit in the Medi-Cal budget merely slough off state costs to the local taxpayer.

Thiel, whose organization has threatened to challenge the cuts in court, said actual and potential Medi-Cal reductions would cost local taxpayers an additional $160 million.

"Counties are required by law to provide medical care services to the poor whereas private hospitals are not," he said. "They cannot close their doors to the poor."

Thiel said adoption by the state of a maximum rate schedule for outpatient services at both private and county hospitals will require that services be performed at below the hospital's cost.

"We estimate the direct impact of this order to be between $5 million and $8 million on the county property taxpayer," he said.

He said the virtual across-the-board 10 per cent reduction in the amount the state will pay for many Medi-Cal services "adds another $2 million to the county property taxpayer's bill."

It is now too late for counties to increase taxes during the current fiscal year. Thiel warned that if the state prevails the counties will be forced to cut back other services such as police and fire protection to free funds for Medi-Cal expenditure.

The association also said that "circumstances threaten" the possible shift of millions of dollars of additional Medi-Cal costs to property taxpayers.

If nursing homes enforce their threat to boycott new Medi-Cal patients because maximum state rates are too low, he said, the burden may be shifted to the counties at an estimated $10 million to $15 million cost.

In addition, an estimated 200,000 "medically needy" Californians in the Medi-Cal program could be shifted to county hospitals for care at a local cost of between $100 million and $150 million if they are dropped from the program, he said.

State Medi-Cal officials have said that unless the $140 million deficit is met by previously announced economy measures, the medically needy might have to be dropped from Medi-Cal, at least temporarily.

Dole Says He'll Get GOP Job

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. Robert J. Dole of Kansas says he expects to be named the new Republican national chairman before the week is out.

While talking to reporters Wednesday, the 47-year-old Kansan said he expected the announcement to come from President Nixon soon, "probably this week."

Dole has made no secret of his wish for the job. Nixon has been looking for a successor for Maryland Rep. Rogers C.B. Morton, who will become interior secretary in place of Walter J. Hickel, dismissed by Nixon last month.

Most of the corn grown in the United States is used for animal and poultry feed.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Given Time

WASHINGTON (UPI) —An Air Force nurse who gave birth to a child out of wedlock remained in the service today under an order issued by U.S. Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas.

Douglas Thursday ordered the Air Force to give Capt. Susan R. Struck, 26, a native of Louisville, Ky., more time to continue her legal efforts to remain on duty. The Air Force had planned to discharge Miss Struck at midnight Thursday.

Trial Near End

MOSCOW (UPI)—The trial of 30 persons accused of attempting to hijack a Soviet airliner last June was reported to be nearing its final stage in the Leningrad city court today.

Informed sources said all defendants, most of them Jews, admitted the attempted hijacking and some of them said they had been working for "international zionism."

All are prosecuted under articles 64 and 70 of the criminal code dealing with treason and anti-Soviet propaganda. The articles provide for penalties up to 15 years in jail or death.

Daley To Run

CHICAGO (UPI) — Richard Joseph Daley, after meditating "in a spirit of humility and gratitude," has decided to run for a fifth four-year term as Chicago's mayor.

Democratic party slatemakers responded with an immediate vote of acclamation Thursday for the mayor's candidacy.

Daley's announcement indicated he has no intention yet of relinquishing his three-cornered hold on power.

Divorce Official

ROME (UPI) — Divorce became official today in this homeland of Roman Catholicism, opening an era of profound changes in Italian life.

Parliament Dec. 1 passed the first divorce law in Italy since the fall of Napoleon in 1815. But it did not come into force until today—15 days after its publication Dec. 3 in the official Gazette.

Tens of thousands of lawsuits already have been processed by lawyers, but until today special domestic courts legally could not start paperwork on them.

Tough Line

MADRID (UPI)—A rare appearance by Generalissimo Francisco Franco at a Madrid rally answering foreign criticism over the Basque court-martial indicates his government intends to take a tough line in the case, diplomatic observers said today.

The official CIFRA news agency estimated 500,000 persons took part in the rally Thursday during which Falangists urged the government to push Basque nationalists "to the wall."

The 16 Basques on trial before the court-martial are charged with murder and other terrorist acts. Six of them face death sentences.

No Formal Verdict

ALSDORF, Germany (UPI)—A West German court today ended the nation's marathon two and one half year Thalidomide trial without pronouncing a formal verdict.

Presiding Judge Benno Dietz announced the court's decision after the state prosecution last Friday agreed with a defense motion to abandon the trial.

Thalidomide, a sleeping pill developed and marketed by the Chemie Gruenenthal chemical concern from 1957 to 1961, was blamed for the birth of more than 6,000 deformed children.

Only five of the nine Chemie Gruenenthal executives charged with criminal negligence in developing and marketing the drug, were still in the dock. Four others had dropped out due to illness or death.

British Firemen Go On Limited Strike

LONDON (UPI)—The Fire Brigades Union Thursday night ordered 27,000 firemen throughout Britain to answer only emergency calls following a breakdown in pay talks.

The firemen turned down a 5 1-2 per cent increase and said they wanted $91.20 as earned by British Airports Authority firemen and a normal work week reduced. The firemen now earn an average of $66 for a 56-hour week.

New Pusey Job

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (UPI)—Retiring Harvard University President Nathan M. Pusey will become president of the Andrew W. Mellon Foundation next fall.

Pusey, whose resignation is effective at the end of the academic year in June, will succeed retiring Charles S. Hamilton Jr. as head of the multi-million dollar foundation, Harvard said Thursday in disclosing Pusey's plans.

The New York City-based foundation makes grants in the fields of education, the arts, conservation, community service and medicine, and was named for Secretary of the Treasury Andrew W. Mellon who died in 1937.

Talks End

HELSINKI (UPI)—The United States and the Soviet Union said today they are determined to keep working toward mutual limitation of their strategic nuclear arsenals.

The two super powers said they were able to further clarify some of the issues involved during the third phase of their Strategic Arms Limitation Talks (SALT) which ended today.

"A wide range of questions" was considered at the session which began Nov. 2 a joint communique said.

Pollution Agency Creation Is Urged

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —A special state environmental protection agency should be created to deal with California's pollution problems, a staff report to the state Environemtal Quality Council said Thursday.

The 35-page report, discussed at length by the council, will be subject to revision before it is submitted to Gov. Ronald Reagan and the Legislature. It was the first time the panel discussed the preliminary draft of its February 1971 progress report.

"It is now abundantly clear that only the boldest and most imaginative measures will be capable of saving the state from an environmental disasoer," the staff report said. "Much of what appeared bold last year now appears inadequate and incapable of solving the state's problems."

The report called it "shocking enough" that air pollution "is killing the Ponderosa pines in huge quantities in the San Bernardino mountains, 80 miles east of Los Angeles.

"But it is downright frightening to learn that these pines are now dying throughout the state, including those located in such remote mountain areas as the Sequoia National Forest."

The document suggested giving the new agency "planning and regulatory responsibilities over water, air, solid waste, and to a more limited degree, land use."

The council has scheduled a Jan. 7 meeting for further discussions on the report.

The report noted that it was once thought that by redistributing popupation growth to such areas as the western edge of the Sierras in the San Joaquin Valley, it might be possible to prevent "straining the carrying capacity of the Los Angeles basin and the San Francisco Bay area to the breaking point."

"We have since become painfully aware that the carrying capacity of the San Joaquin Valley is itself rapidly becoming strained," it declared.

Noting a sharp increase in Fresno air pollution, the staff called that city "perhaps the truest measure of the depth of the California environmental crisis.

"For one cannot help but be overcome with deep alarm to note the occurrence of such severe pollution problems in a community surrounded by nothing but endless agricultural lands and vast mountain forests and removed by hundreds of miles from any major metropolis."

It said that due to wind and geographical conditions in the valley, "the potential for catastrophe here is even higher than in the Los Angeles basin."

Nod Given Lake Tahoe Dump Ban

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —A ban on the dumping of mud and dirt into pollution-threatened Lake Tahoe by builders was approved Thursday by the state water resources control board.

"The bludgeoning they're giving to Lake Tahoe is continuing unabated," declared board member Ronald B. Robie.

The ban prohibits "the discharge of solid or liquid waste materials including soil, silt, clay, sand, and other earthen materials."

Fred R. McLaren, assistant chief of the board's division of water quality, said the new policy would give the Lahontan Regional Water Quality Control Board authority to order builders to stop causing siltation of the lake.

"The South shore of Lake Tahoe is a muddy mess," he said.

But Roger Imsdahl, planning engineer for Placer County, opposed the ban as being unrealistic and unenforceable.

"The way we interpret them," he said, "is that they mean no development."

Jerome B. Gilbert, the board's executive officer, conceded "some development would not be able to take place."

Police Raided

TOKYO (UPI) — Three left-wing students staged a raid today on a police station in a Tokyo suburb. One student was killed and the other two were injured when police opened fire.

Petitioners Get Denial Of Hearing

The Cotati City Council last night denied a petition request for a public hearing on behalf of two public works employees who were fired.

City Clerk Gayle Hill said a petition requested reinstatement for Ronald Santero and John Rossi who were fired, as well as Raymond Butler, who quit in protest. The petitioners also asked for a public hearing to air grievances.

Mrs. Hill said the petition was signed by 200 persons, but that many of them did not live in Cotati.

The council conferred with City Atty. William Cutler and decided against the public hearing when he told them city codes include no grievance procedures.

Cutler said that full authority on hirings and firings rests with the office of the city manager. City Mgr. Paul W. Salfen had said the two men were fired because of poor work records.

The Cotati City Council also:

PLANNERS —Reappointed Patrick Geis and Robert Frazier to two-year terms on the planning commission and appointed Pablo Ronquillo to succeed Floyd Mattern, who did not wish to be reappointed. Ronquillo is a language instructor at Sonoma State College.

STORM PLAN — Asked the Sonoma County Water Agency to prepare a storm drainage and flood control plan for the city.

LEASHES — Adopted an ordinance requiring dogs to be leashed 24 hours a day and increasing pound fees. The ordinance will take effect on Jan. 17.

EXTENSION — Granted an extension to Gem Construction Co. for the installation of a sewage meter until Jan. 21.

Cash Taken

Cash in the amount of $109 and a guitar and case worth $45 were stolen Tuesday night from the Mill Valley Methodist Church, Sycamore Avenue and Camino Alto, Mill Valley police reported today. Rev. George Carter told officers the building was entered by forcing a door.

Chrysler Pact Recess Is Likely

DETROIT (UPI)—There appears little possibility that Chrysler Corp. and the United Auto Workers will agree on a new three-year contract today, thus forcing a recess in negotiations until Jan. 4.

Both sides had agreed on today as a target date for settlement without a strike deadline but negotiations have drifted with no apparent progress.

UAW Vice President Douglas Fraser, director of the union's Chrysler department, said Thursday it was "obvious that we are not going to reach agreement" by the target date. Fraser also announced the UAW would set a strike deadline sometime in January if negotiations were delayed.

Chrysler had no comment on the union decision to recess.

Asked about the Chrysler reaction to a pick up after the holidays, Fraser said, "they did not seem to be overwhelmed with sorrow."

The UAW is seeking for its 120,000 hourly and salaried workers terms similar to those reached in contracts the union won from General Motors Corp. and Ford Motor Co. However, Fraser said it was apparent the company was not yet ready to make a new wage offer.

In Canada, General Motors employes voted in overwhelming numbers to endorse a new, three-year contract and end the 94-day strike at the company's seven Canadian plants.

That settlement was important in Chrysler talks because the company, unlike GM and Ford, has a single contract covering both its U.S. and Canadian workers. It was expected the GM of Canada agreement would set a pattern for Chrysler's Canadian workers.

Vandals Hit Cable TV, Stop Channels

Cable television reception of channels 7 and 11 was disrupted for two hours in Petaluma Wednesday after vandals damaged the control building of Tele-Vue Systems.

Pollution Agency Creation Is Urged

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —A special state environmental protection agency should be created to deal with California's pollution problems, a staff report to the state Environemental Quality Council said Thursday.

The 35-page report, discussed at length by the council, will be subject to revision before it is submitted to Gov. Ronald Reagan and the Legislature. It was the first time the panel discussed the preliminary draft of its February 1971 progress report.

"It is now abundantly clear that only the boldest and most imaginative measures will be capable of saving the state from an environmental disasoer," the staff report said. "Much of what appeared bold last year now appears inadequate and incapable of solving the state's problems."

The report called it "shocking enough" that air pollution "is killing the Ponderosa pines in huge quantities in the San Bernardino mountains, 80 miles east of Los Angeles.

"But it is downright frightening to learn that these pines are now dying throughout the state, including those located in such remote mountain areas as the Sequoia National Forest."

The document suggested giving the new agency "planning and regulatory responsibilities over water, air, solid waste, and to a more limited degree, land use."

The council has scheduled a Jan. 7 meeting for further discussions on the report.

The report noted that it was once thought that by redistributing popupation growth to such areas as the western edge of the Sierras in the San Joaquin Valley, it might be possible to prevent "straining the carrying capacity of the Los Angeles basin and the San Francisco Bay area to the breaking point."

"We have since become painfully aware that the carrying capacity of the San Joaquin Valley is itself rapidly becoming strained," it declared.

Noting a sharp increase in Fresno air pollution, the staff called that city "perhaps the truest measure of the depth of the California environmental crisis.

"For one cannot help but be overcome with deep alarm to note the occurrence of such severe pollution problems in a community surrounded by nothing but endless agricultural lands and vast mountain forests and removed by hundreds of miles from any major metropolis."

It said that due to wind and geographical conditions in the valley, "the potential for catastrophe here is even higher than in the Los Angeles basin.

Nod Given Lake Tahoe Dump Ban

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —A ban on the dumping of mud and dirt into pollution-threatened Lake Tahoe by builders was approved Thursday by the state water resources control board.

"The bludgeoning they're giving to Lake Tahoe is continuing unabated," declared board member Ronald B. Robie.

The ban prohibits "the discharge of solid or liquid waste materials including soil, silt, clay, sand, and other earthen materials."

Fred R. McLaren, assistant chief of the board's division of water quality, said the new policy would give the Lahontan Regional Water Quality Control Board authority to order builders to stop causing siltation of the lake.

"The South shore of Lake Tahoe is a muddy mess," he said.

But Roger Imsdahl, planning engineer for Placer County, opposed the ban as being unrealistic and unenforceable.

"The way we interpret them," he said, "is that they mean no development."

Jerome B. Gilbert, the board's executive officer, conceded "some development would not be able to take place."

Police Raided

TOKYO (UPI) — Three left-wing students staged a raid today on a police station in a Tokyo suburb. One student was killed and the other two were injured when police opened fire.

Petitioners Get Denial Of Hearing

The Cotati City Council last night denied a petition request for a public hearing on behalf of two public works employees who were fired.

City Clerk Gayle Hill said a petition requested reinstatement for Ronald Santero and John Rossi who were fired, as well as Raymond Butler, who quit in protest. The petitioners also asked for a public hearing to air grievances.

Mrs. Hill said the petition was signed by 200 persons, but that many of them did not live in Cotati.

The council conferred with City Atty. William Cutler and decided against the public hearing when he told them city codes include no grievance procedures.

Cutler said that full authority on hirings and firings rests with the office of the city manager. City Mgr. Paul W. Salfen had said the two men were fired because of poor work records.

The Cotati City Council also:

PLANNERS —Reappointed Patrick Geis and Robert Frazier to two-year terms on the planning commission and appointed Pablo Ronquillo to succeed Floyd Mattern, who did not wish to be reappointed. Ronquillo is a language instructor at Sonoma State College.

STORM PLAN — Asked the Sonoma County Water Agency to prepare a storm drainage and flood control plan for the city.

LEASHES — Adopted an ordinance requiring dogs to be leashed 24 hours a day and increasing pound fees. The ordinance will take effect on Jan. 17.

Cash Taken

Cash in the amount of $109 and a guitar and case worth $45 were stolen Tuesday night from the Mill Valley Methodist Church, Sycamore Avenue and Camino Alto, Mill Valley police reported today. Rev. George Carter told officers the building was entered by forcing a door.

Chrysler Pact Recess Is Likely

DETROIT (UPI)—There appears little possibility that Chrysler Corp. and the United Auto Workers will agree on a new three-year contract today, thus forcing a recess in negotiations until Jan. 4.

Both sides had agreed on today as a target date for settlement without a strike deadline but negotiations have drifted with no apparent progress.

UAW Vice President Douglas Fraser, director of the union's Chrysler department, said Thursday it was "obvious that we are not going to reach agreement" by the target date. Fraser also announced the UAW would set a strike deadline sometime in January if negotiations were delayed.

Chrysler had no comment on the union decision to recess.

Asked about the Chrysler reaction to a pick up after the holidays, Fraser said, "they did not seem to be overwhelmed with sorrow."

The UAW is seeking for its 120,000 hourly and salaried workers terms similar to those reached in contracts the union won from General Motors Corp. and Ford Motor Co. However, Fraser said it was apparent the company was not yet ready to make a new wage offer.

In Canada, General Motors employes voted in overwhelming numbers to endorse a new, three-year contract and end the 94-day strike at the company's seven Canadian plants.

That settlement was important in Chrysler talks because the company, unlike GM and Ford, has a single contract covering both its U.S. and Canadian workers. It was expected the GM of Canada agreement would set a pattern for Chrysler's Canadian workers.

Vandals Hit Cable TV, Stop Channels

Cable television reception of channels 7 and 11 was disrupted for two hours in Petaluma Wednesday after vandals damaged the control building of Tele-Vue Systems.

Police said the building door had been pried open and the two channels disconnected at 3 p.m.

Biological Weapons To Be Destroyed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The army today announced an elaborate one-year, $12 million plan for the safe destruction of U.S. biological weapons.

The plan, which has taken more than a year to develop, will carry out President Nixon's order of Nov. 25, 1969, for the total destruction of all offensive germ weapons. The Army said these weapons have been created since 1943 at a cost of $726 million.

Col. Gerald Watson, project officer for the destruction, told a Pentagon news conference that the plan can be put into effect as soon as approval is given by federal anti-pollution and safety agencies.

The danger of contamination with germs and the necessity for absolute safety were given as the reasons for the high cost and long duration of the program.

Watson said flames with temperatures as high as 1,000 degrees and sterilizing steam at a temperature of 280 degrees will be used in the course of burning and burying or evaporating the material.

The Army plans to continue a research program in defensive biological warfare but apparently will have no use for these buildings. Watson said the defensive program probably will be located at Edgewater Arsenal and Dugway Proving Ground in Maryland.

Most of the destruction will be carried out at Pine Bluff Arsenal, Ark., where all U.S. germ warfare materials designed for use against human beings are stored in three buildings called "igloos," two of which are kept at a temperature of 40 degrees below zero.

Destruction of biological materials designed for use against enemy crops will be carried out at Ft. Detrick near Baltimore, Md., at Rocky Mountain Arsenal, Denver, Colo., and at Beale Air Force Base, Marysville, Calif.

Watson said the program will take 48 weeks at Pine Bluff, 26 weeks at Ft. Detrick, 52 weeks at Rocky Mountain Arsenal and 12 weeks at Beale. He said 298 people are employed in the destruction program, most of them at Pine Bluff.

Defendant Denies Any Riot Violence

I-J Special Report

FAIRFIELD — Alvis D. Bailey, 43, of San Francisco today denied striking police officers with a picket stick or voluntarily committing any violence at the Valentine's Day labor rally outside the Independent-Journal.

He said he struggled because police used excessive force against him.

Bailey is one of seven persons on trial in Solano County Superior Court for a total of 34 charges arising from events at the Feb. 14 demonstration.

He is a member of Teamsters Local 921. He said fellow newspaper driver union members have not worked at the I-J since the newspaper was struck Jan. 7 by San Francisco International Typographical Union 21.

Bailey admitted today that he was carrying a blackjack when arrested. He said, however, that he had been carrying it for some time because of a rash of robberies of newspaper drivers. He said he also was fearful of guard dogs that he heard would be at the rally against the I-J.

Questioned by defense attorney Robert Y. Bell, Bailey also admitted having four one-inch ball bearings and a lead sinker police found on his person when he was booked. He said unidentified persons at the rally were passing ball bearings and sinkers among the pickets.

On Sept. 13, Douglas J. Barrett, a sheriff's deputy, testified he helped arrest Bailey after seeing Bailey strike several officers with a picket sign stick.

Yesterday, the defense rested in the cases of Charles P. Vance, 56, of South San Francisco, and Nimmes H. Shelton, 41, of San Francisco. Both men were on the stand, as well as Vance's 15-year-old son, Christopher, who accompanied him in the picket line at the violent Valentine's day rally outside the I-J.

Defense attorney Carl B. Shapiro asked Vance to tell what happened the afternoon of Feb. 14, when a car drove up to the I-J loading dock and police extricated it from the demonstrators crowded around.

Vance said he was near the car, but saw no one hitting it except San Rafael Police Inspector Richard A. Douglas. Vance said another officer ordered the car's driver to force it through the crowd, but Douglas banged on its hood and ordered the driver to halt.

Vance denied using his picket sign as a weapon against police advancing through Julia Street. He said he was hit in the back of the head while retreating, , was knocked unconscious into "a heap of bodies" on the street, then handcuffed and forcibly marched to a police command post at Fifth Avenue and B Street.

San Rafael Police Officer Timothy O'Donnell previously had testified that Vance struck him with his picket sign, during the confrontation.

Vance's son also denied seeing his father use his picket sign as a weapon. But the teen-ager admitted he, himself "threw a couple of picket sticks, toward B Street."

Earlier yesterday, prosecutor Thomas bored in on defendant Shelton's claims that he din't know that a rubber hose filled with lead, and a bag marked "buckshot" and filled with lead balls were weapons.

Shelton had testified he was given the blackjack, lead shot, and a slingshot to hold for acquaintances while they ate lunch.

Shelton claimed he was merely acquainted with the objects' owners. He testified that they also were deaf-mutes and that he did not know their names.

Through the court interpreter Shelton testified that he asked what the blackjack was at the time, but its owner "just went to lunch" without telling him. Shelton said he decided it "was for the dogs."

"In other words, you thought it was a type of weapon?" Thomas asked.

"I had no idea," Shelton signalled.

"What did you think this unnamed friend was going to do, have the dogs retrieve it for him?"

"Possibly," Shelton replied.

northeast of Phnom Penh. However, roads in the area were described as "still very dangerous."

The U.S. Command in Saigon said a collision in flight of two American helicopters killed four crewmen and that three were wounded and two missing.

The U.S. Command said two U.S. Army OH6 helicopters collided today just after takeoff from Vinh Long airfield, 63 miles southwest of Saigon. All four men in the two 'copters were killed.

Three men were wounded when their OH6 helicopter was shot down in the U Minh Forest 152 miles southwest of Saigon in the Mekong Delta. A Marine Corps F4 Phantom jet was shot down Thursday over the Ho Chi Minh Trail in the Laotian upper panhandle but both crewmen parachuted to safety, the U.S. Command said.

Military spokesmen said an Air Force O2 Birddog spotter plane has been missing since Dec. 12 over the Laotian lower panhandle.

TFX

forts to conceal the results of their errors," the report said.

"These efforts included deliberate attempts to deceive the Congress, the press and the American people."

Pentagon selection boards and military experts on four separate occasions recommended that Boeing build the airplane.

"The record shows that the decision to reject the unanimous recommendation of the military advisers and to give the award to General Dynamics was made by Secretaries McNamara, Gilpatric, Zuckert and Korth," the report said. This decision, it said, was made with no "paper work, no documentation and no special staff studies."

"Secretary McNamara's efforts in arriving at the decision can at best be described as capricious, lacking in depth, and without factual substantiation," the subcommittee said.

The harshest language in the report was reserved for Gilpatric:

"Deputy Secretary Roswell Gilpatric was guilty of a flagrant conflict of interest in the TFX award. The record shows unequivocally that he deliberately attempted to mislead the subcommittee regarding his relationship with General Dynamics Corp. as it existed before he accepted appointment as deputy secretary . . .

"The record makes clear the fact that he was a top level policy counselor to General Dynamics for 2 1-2 years immediately before his appointment and that he was a de facto member of the company's board of directors. The record shows that he participated in the TFX award proceedings and that he advised Secretary McNamara to give the contract to General Dynamics. Belatedly, he admitted these facts under cross-examination by the subcommittee after the staff had discovered the true situation.

"He obviously should have disqualified himself from taking any part in the decision.

Korth's role in the affair was not significant, the subcommittee said. "Nevertheless, there is ample evidence that he should have disqualified himself and not played any part in the decision-making process because of his intimate association with and financial interest in the Continental Cational Bank and the Fort Worth (Tex.) community. Not to have done so was at best an impropriety," the subcommittee said.

Korth was an official of the bank, which had financial dealings with General Dynamics, before he was appointed secretary of the Navy. Some of the planes were to be built at the company's Fort Worth factory. Korth resigned his government post after revelations he solicited business on Navy stationery for the bank.

After the decision to give the award to General Dynamics was made, Zuckert was picked to write a memorandum justifying it. The memorandum cited technical criticisms of the Boeing proposal which were unjustified. "In total, the memorandum does not appear to be either a sincere or accurate attempt to reflect the secretarial reasons for the award," the subcommittee said.

McNamara's stated reason for selecting General Dynamics was that overall costs would be less, regardless of the lower bid proposed by Boeing. But the subcommittee did not believe him any more than it did Zuckert's memorandum:

"The subcommittee attempted throughout the hearings to find a credible rationale that would explain why the secretaries apparently had decided to buy the second best airplane at the higher price. The question, however, never was answered conclusively in a fashion that would allow an unequivocal determination."

grams throughout the nation."

Mitchell denied that Connally's appointment had anything "whatsoever to do with the vice president now or in the future." He had been asked whether the appointment was, as speculated in some areas, the first of a move to dump Vice President Spiro T. Agnew in 1972.

Mitchell was bombarded with questions about J. Edgar Hoover's recent statements, including his calling former Attorney General Ramsey Clark a "jellyfish," accusing the "Peace Priests," Phillip and Daniel Berrigan, of leading a conspiracy to kidnap a high government official, and saying Mexican-Americans can't shoot straight.

In one of his many answers to this line of questioning, Mitchell said: "I wouldn't try to impede Mr. Hoover's freedom of comment any more than I would want mine impeded. Until he gets to the point of improper conduct, which he has not and I don't expect him to, I will not interfere."

On the subject of the three meetings he has had with Secretary George Romney of Housing and Urban Development, Mitchell said, "the total matter of the housing patterns in desegregation is under review ... we have not come to definite conclusions. We hope shortly after the first of the year to decide . . . we hope to have definitive guidelines," that can be carried out by the HUD's 70 regional offices,

In announcing the antipollution suit against Jones and Laughlin, a referral from the new Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), Mitchell said, "we can anticipate many more pollution cases being referred to us ... I predict intensified action in the whole environmental quality area."

In response to a question, he said similar investigations are in process against United States Steel and Republic Steel.

Earlier this month, the government sued Armco Steel Corp. for dumping cyanide from its plant on the Houston, Tex., ship channel.

on us as their spokesman."

MARC has been a Crusade member for 11 years. From last year's Crusade campaign, it received an allocation of $6,000, the largest since it joined the over-all fund-raising agency.

It was listed as one of the agencies to be supported by United Crusade funds during the fund-raising drive ended last month, which realized a total of $17,038,951. The other 26 agencies that will receive no funds were similarly listed.

No other Marin agency cut off was learned of immediately.

Mergens said the names of organizations dropped were withheld "as a matter of courtesy." He said only Robert C. Harris, UBAC board president, could disclose them.

Harris, a San Francisco attorney, could not be reached.

The UBAC board met yesterday and allocated $16,045,291 to 163 agencies for their 1971 budgets. This included $1,559,000 for UBAC's own operating budget, said Mergenes.

The approximately $1 million additional raised in the 1970 fund drive was set aside for funding special grant programs and for reserves, he said.

UBAC raises money toward support of assorted charitable and service organizations in Marin, Alameda, Contra Costa, San Francisco and San Mateo counties. The money all goes into one fund, and is allocated among the organizations by the Crusade board.

Although Nevada is the seventh largest state, it has fewer people than any other except Alaska.

OBITUARIES

Charles E. Fuller Dies At 43

Charles Edward Fuller of San Rafael died yesterday at a local hospital after a lengthy illness. He was 43.

Born in Los Angeles, he moved to 234 C Street 10 years ago.

He owned the Carrousel Laundromat in Sausalito.

Surviving are his wife, Hilda Fuller of the family home; three sons, Richard and Craig Fuller, both of Los Angeles, and Dennis Silva of San Rafael; two daughters, Deborah and Denise Silva, both of San Rafael, and his parents, Horace and Susan Fuller of San Diego.

Funeral will be tomorrow at 4:30 p.m. at Keaton's Mortuary in San Rafael followed by private burial at Mount Tamalpais Cemetery, also in San Rafael.

The family requested that memorial contributions be sent to the American Cancer Society.

PAULINE LaBODIE

Bill Thomas, deputy Marin County coroner, said Pauline Mary Ann LaBodie, 46, died apparently of natural causes.

She was found in bed by police at 2:50 a.m. Officers had gone to the home after the San Francisco hospital at which Miss LaBodie worked called to report she had failed to appear for work.

Miss LaBodie was born in West Virginia.

Funeral arrangements were pending today at the Chapel of the Hills, San Anselmo.

MARY MEISINGER

Funeral for Mary Meisinger, a 20-year resident of Marin, will be held at 10 a.m. tomorrow at the Chapel of the Hills, San Anselmo. Burial will be private.

Miss Meisinger, 82, died Wednesday in a local convalescent hospital after a long illness. She had lived at 100 Calumet Avenue, San Anselmo, prior to entering the rest home.

Federal Judge Marvin E. Frankel of the U.S. district court turned down an appeal to interfere with the California proceedings and also said that any question of whether Miss Davis could get a fair trial in California should be appealed to a federal court there rather than in New York.

His decision was upheld later today by the district court of appeals.

Miss Davis's attorney has contended that her constitutional rights were violated because California failed to provide [illegible] a record of the Marin Grand Jury indictment proceedings.

Miss Davis, a Communist Party member and former University of California instructor, is accused of supplying guns for the Aug. 7 shootout in which Judge Harold J. Haley was killed.

She is accused of conspiring along with San Quentin inmate Ruchell Magee to commit murder and kidnapping.

3,688 Children Talk To Santa

Santa Claus listened to the Christmas wishes of 2,360 children from Marin and Southern Sonoma Wednesday night in the 13th annual event sponsored by the Independent-Journal and the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

The calls Wednesday night pushed the total for the two-day event to 3,688.

The largest number of calls received in one city was in San Rafael where 950 phoned old Saint Nick. Mill Valley tallied 500 calls, Novato, 489, and Petaluma, 421.

Jury Trial Set

A jury trial was set yesterday in Marin Superior Court for the week of March 1 for Donovan Dean Brush, 34, of Petaluma, who is accused of stealing radios from a boat in a San Rafael yacht harbor on June 22.

Biological Weapons To Be Destroyed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The army today announced an elaborate one-year, $12 million plan for the safe destruction of U.S. biological weapons.

The plan, which has taken more than a year to develop, will carry out President Nixon's order of Nov. 25, 1969, for the total destruction of all offensive germ weapons. The Army said these weapons have been created since 1943 at a cost of $726 million.

Col. Gerald Watson, project officer for the destruction, told a Pentagon news conference that the plan can be put into effect as soon as approval is given by federal anti-pollution and safety agencies.

The danger of contamination with germs and the necessity for absolute safety were given as the reasons for the high cost and long duration of the program.

Watson said flames with temperatures as high as 1,000 degrees and sterilizing steam at a temperature of 280 degrees will be used in the course of burning and burying or evaporating the material.

The Army plans to continue a research program in defensive biological warfare but apparently will have no use for these buildings. Watson said the defensive program probably will be located at Edgewater Arsenal and Dugway Proving Ground in Maryland.

Most of the destruction will be carried out at Pine Bluff Arsenal, Ark., where all U.S. germ warfare materials designed for use against human beings are stored in three buildings called "igloos," two of which are kept at a temperature of 40 degrees below zero.

Destruction of biological materials designed for use against enemy crops will be carried out at Ft. Detrick near Baltimore, Md., at Rocky Mountain Arsenal, Denver, Colo., and at Beale Air Force Base, Marysville, Calif.

Watson said the program will take 48 weeks at Pine Bluff, 26 weeks at Ft. Detrick, 52 weeks at Rocky Mountain Arsenal and 12 weeks at Beale. He said 298 people are employed in the destruction program, most of them at Pine Bluff.

Defendant Denies Any Riot Violence

I-J Special Report

FAIRFIELD — Alvis D. Bailey, 43, of San Francisco today denied striking police officers with a picket stick or voluntarily committing any violence at the Valentine's Day labor rally outside the Independent-Journal.

He said he struggled because police used excessive force against him.

Bailey is one of seven persons on trial in Solano County Superior Court for a total of 34 charges arising from events at the Feb. 14 demonstration.

He is a member of Teamsters Local 921. He said fellow newspaper driver union members have not worked at the I-J since the newspaper was struck Jan. 7 by San Francisco International Typographical Union 21.

Bailey admitted today that he was carrying a blackjack when arrested. He said, however, that he had been carrying it for some time because of a rash of robberies of newspaper drivers. He said he also was fearful of guard dogs that he heard would be at the rally against the I-J.

Questioned by defense attorney Robert Y. Bell, Bailey also admitted having four one-inch ball bearings and a lead sinker police found on his person when he was booked. He said unidentified persons at the rally were passing ball bearings and sinkers among the pickets.

On Sept. 13, Douglas J. Barrett, a sheriff's deputy, testified he helped arrest Bailey after seeing Bailey strike several officers with a picket sign stick.

Yesterday, the defense rested in the cases of Charles P. Vance, 56, of South San Francisco, and Nimmes H. Shelton, 41, of San Francisco. Both men were on the stand, as well as Vance's 15-year-old son, Christopher, who accompanied him in the picket line at the violent Valentine's day rally outside the I-J.

Defense attorney Carl B. Shapiro asked Vance to tell what happened the afternoon of Feb. 14, when a car drove up to the I-J loading dock and police extricated it from the demonstrators crowded around.

Vance said he was near the car, but saw no one hitting it except San Rafael Police Inspector Richard A. Douglas. Vance said another officer ordered the car's driver to force it through the crowd, but Douglas banged on its hood and ordered the driver to halt.

Vance denied using his picket sign as a weapon against police advancing through Julia Street. He said he was hit in the back of the head while retreating, , was knocked unconscious into "a heap of bodies" on the street, then handcuffed and forcibly marched to a police command post at Fifth Avenue and B Street.

San Rafael Police Officer Timothy O'Donnell previously had testified that Vance struck him with his picket sign, during the confrontation.

Vance's son also denied seeing his father use his picket sign as a weapon. But the teen-ager admitted he, himself "threw a couple of picket sticks, toward B Street."

Earlier yesterday, prosecutor Thomas bored in on defendant Shelton's claims that he din't know that a rubber hose filled with lead, and a bag marked "buckshot" and filled with lead balls were weapons.

Shelton had testified he was given the blackjack, lead shot, and a slingshot to hold for acquaintances while they ate lunch.

Shelton claimed he was merely acquainted with the objects' owners. He testified that they also were deaf-mutes and that he did not know their names.

Through the court interpreter Shelton testified that he asked what the blackjack was at the time, but its owner "just went to lunch" without telling him. Shelton said he decided it "was for the dogs."

"In other words, you thought it was a type of weapon?" Thomas asked.

"I had no idea," Shelton signalled.

"What did you think this unnamed friend was going to do, have the dogs retrieve it for him?"

"Possibly," Shelton replied.

northeast of Phnom Penh. However, roads in the area were described as "still very dangerous."

The U.S. Command in Saigon said a collision in flight of two American helicopters killed four crewmen and that three were wounded and two missing.

The U.S. Command said two U.S. Army OH6 helicopters collided today just after takeoff from Vinh Long airfield, 63 miles southwest of Saigon. All four men in the two 'copters were killed.

Three men were wounded when their OH6 helicopter was shot down in the U Minh Forest 152 miles southwest of Saigon in the Mekong Delta. A Marine Corps F4 Phantom jet was shot down Thursday over the Ho Chi Minh Trail in the Laotian upper panhandle but both crewmen parachuted to safety, the U.S. Command said.

Military spokesmen said an Air Force O2 Birddog spotter plane has been missing since Dec. 12 over the Laotian lower panhandle.

forts to conceal the results of their errors," the report said.

"These efforts included deliberate attempts to deceive the Congress, the press and the American people."

Pentagon selection boards and military experts on four separate occasions recommended that Boeing build the airplane.

"The record shows that the decision to reject the unanimous recommendation of the military advisers and to give the award to General Dynamics was made by Secretaries McNamara, Gilpatric, Zuckert and Korth," the report said. This decision, it said, was made with no "paper work, no documentation and no special staff studies."

"Secretary McNamara's efforts in arriving at the decision can at best be described as capricious, lacking in depth, and without factual substantiation," the subcommittee said.

The harshest language in the report was reserved for Gilpatric:

"Deputy Secretary Roswell Gilpatric was guilty of a flagrant conflict of interest in the TFX award. The record shows unequivocally that he deliberately attempted to mislead the subcommittee regarding his relationship with General Dynamics Corp. as it existed before he accepted appointment as deputy secretary . . .

"The record makes clear the fact that he was a top level policy counselor to General Dynamics for 2 1-2 years immediately before his appointment and that he was a de facto member of the company's board of directors. The record shows that he participated in the TFX award proceedings and that he advised Secretary McNamara to give the contract to General Dynamics. Belatedly, he admitted these facts under cross-examination by the subcommittee after the staff had discovered the true situation.

"He obviously should have disqualified himself from taking any part in the decision.

Korth's role in the affair was not significant, the subcommittee said. "Nevertheless, there is ample evidence that he should have disqualified himself and not played any part in the decision-making process because of his intimate association with and financial interest in the Continental Cational Bank and the Fort Worth (Tex.) community. Not to have done so was at best an impropriety," the subcommittee said.

Korth was an official of the bank, which had financial dealings with General Dynamics, before he was appointed secretary of the Navy. Some of the planes were to be built at the company's Fort Worth factory. Korth resigned his government post after revelations he solicited business on Navy stationery for the bank.

After the decision to give the award to General Dynamics was made, Zuckert was picked to write a memorandum justifying it. The memorandum cited technical criticisms of the Boeing proposal which were unjustified. "In total, the memorandum does not appear to be either a sincere or accurate attempt to reflect the secretarial reasons for the award," the subcommittee said.

McNamara's stated reason for selecting General Dynamics was that overall costs would be less, regardless of the lower bid proposed by Boeing. But the subcommittee did not believe him any more than it did Zuckert's memorandum:

"The subcommittee attempted throughout the hearings to find a credible rationale that would explain why the secretaries apparently had decided to buy the second best airplane at the higher price. The question, however, never was answered conclusively in a fashion that would allow an unequivocal determination."

grams throughout the nation."

Mitchell denied that Connally's appointment had anything "whatsoever to do with the vice president now or in the future." He had been asked whether the appointment was, as speculated in some areas, the first of a move to dump Vice President Spiro T. Agnew in 1972.

Mitchell was bombarded with questions about J. Edgar Hoover's recent statements, including his calling former Attorney General Ramsey Clark a "jellyfish," accusing the "Peace Priests," Phillip and Daniel Berrigan, of leading a conspiracy to kidnap a high government official, and saying Mexican-Americans can't shoot straight.

In one of his many answers to this line of questioning, Mitchell said: "I wouldn't try to impede Mr. Hoover's freedom of comment any more than I would want mine impeded. Until he gets to the point of improper conduct, which he has not and I don't expect him to, I will not interfere."

On the subject of the three meetings he has had with Secretary George Romney of Housing and Urban Development, Mitchell said, "the total matter of the housing patterns in desegregation is under review ... we have not come to definite conclusions. We hope shortly after the first of the year to decide . . . we hope to have definitive guidelines," that can be carried out by the HUD's 70 regional offices,

In announcing the antipollution suit against Jones and Laughlin, a referral from the new Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), Mitchell said, "we can anticipate many more pollution cases being referred to us ... I predict intensified action in the whole environmental quality area."

In response to a question, he said similar investigations are in process against United States Steel and Republic Steel.

Earlier this month, the government sued Armco Steel Corp. for dumping cyanide from its plant on the Houston, Tex., ship channel.

on us as their spokesman."

MARC has been a Crusade member for 11 years. From last year's Crusade campaign, it received an allocation of $6,000, the largest since it joined the over-all fund-raising agency.

It was listed as one of the agencies to be supported by United Crusade funds during the fund-raising drive ended last month, which realized a total of $17,038.951. The other 26 agencies that will receive no funds were similarly listed.

No other Marin agency cut off was learned of immediately.

Mergens said the names of organizations dropped were withheld "as a matter of courtesy." He said only Robert C. Harris, UBAC board president, could disclose them.

Harris, a San Francisco attorney, could not be reached.

The UBAC board met yesterday and allocated $16,045,291 to 163 agencies for their 1971 budgets. This included $1,559,000 for UBAC's own operating budget, said Mergenes.

The approximately $1 million additional raised in the 1970 fund drive was set aside for funding special grant programs and for reserves, he said.

UBAC raises money toward support of assorted charitable and service organizations in Marin, Alameda, Contra Costa, San Francisco and San Mateo counties. The money all goes into one fund, and is allocated among the organizations by the Crusade board.

Although Nevada is the seventh largest state, it has fewer people than any other except Alaska.

OBITUARIES

Charles E. Fuller Dies At 43

Charles Edward Fuller of San Rafael died yesterday at a local hospital after a lengthy illness. He was 43.

Born in Los Angeles, he moved to 234 C Street 10 years ago.

He owned the Carrousel Laundromat in Sausalito.

Surviving are his wife, Hilda Fuller of the family home; three sons, Richard and Craig Fuller, both of Los Angeles, and Dennis Silva of San Rafael; two daughters, Deborah and Denise Silva, both of San Rafael, and his parents, Horace and Susan Fuller of San Diego.

Funeral will be tomorrow at 4:30 p.m. at Keaton's Mortuary in San Rafael followed by private burial at Mount Tamalpais Cemetery, also in San Rafael.

The family requested that memorial contributions be sent to the American Cancer Society.

PAULINE LaBODIE

Bill Thomas, deputy Marin County coroner, said Pauline Mary Ann LaBodie, 46, died apparently of natural causes.

She was found in bed by police at 2:50 a.m. Officers had gone to the home after the San Francisco hospital at which Miss LaBodie worked called to report she had failed to appear for work.

Miss LaBodie was born in West Virginia.

Funeral arrangements were pending today at the Chapel of the Hills, San Anselmo.

MARY MEISINGER

Funeral for Mary Meisinger, a 20-year resident of Marin, will be held at 10 a.m. tomorrow at the Chapel of the Hills, San Anselmo. Burial will be private.

Miss Meisinger, 82, died Wednesday in a local convalescent hospital after a long illness. She had lived at 100 Calumet Avenue, San Anselmo, prior to entering the rest home.

Miss Meisinger, a native of Lincoln, Neb., had lived in California 40 years.

Nixon's Foreign Policy Added Up

By STEWART HENSLEY

WASHINGTON (UPI) —President Nixon, now almost halfway through his term of office, has failed to make any significant progress on the major foreign policy issues he inherited two years ago.

This is particularly true with respect to Soviet-American differences —and the always present danger of a nuclear confrontation.

In one significant area, the Middle East, Russia has made considerable gains since Nixon took office. The Kremlin has greatly increased its Mediterranean seapower and extended its military presence in the Arab states.

Nixon's withdrawal of approximately 200,000 U.S. troops from Vietnam has been applauded as evidence of his good intentions. But it is questionable whether all the remaining 350,000 Americans can be withdrawn without leaving both South Vietnam and Cambodia at the mercy of the Communists.

The President's Dec. 10 news conference threat to resume heavy bombing of North Vietnam if Hanoi steps up the level of fighting in the south seemed to underline his uncertainty in that area.

Nixon has achieved occasional tactical gains on the international front, and his advisers make the most of these in arguing against the theory there has been no progress. But there is no evidence of conclusive progress on critical issues of the nuclear age as the administration goes into its second two years.

The "Era of Negotiations" which Nixon said would replace the "Era of Confrontation" has not resulted in any significant easing of tensions. As far as Russia is concerned, the United States and the Soviet Union appear to be locked in "confrontations" as rigid as when Nixon took office.

The President outlined the "Nixon Doctrine" for lowering the U.S. profile in Southeast Asia on Guam in July, 1969. It appears, however, to have confused American allies in that area instead of strengthening their desire for regional security cooperation.

The "even-handed" policy of dealing with the Middle East, designed to convince the Arab states that Washington understood their problems, has done nothing of the sort. Russia has been able to increase her presence in the Arab world and cast the United States more firmly than ever in the role of defender of Israel.

Assessments of the reasons for this depend on who is doing the assessing.

Critics contend the administration was either, naive or ill informed about probable Soviet and other Communist reaction to American initiatives. Nixon's defenders say he inherited his foreign policy problems and that his success lies in the fact that he kept things from getting worse.

In either case, the President finds his room for manuever limited by two principal factors:

—The existence within the Communist world of an ideological split which inhibits Russia, on the one hand, and the Asian communists on the other, from reaching any compromise terms with the United States which might damage their image in the international Communist movement.

—The faltering U.S. economy, combined with inflation, which limits the amount of money available for defense and international projects which might put more pressure on the Communists to negotiate.

Even in the case of Vietnam, the effect of U.S. troop withdrawals has been mostly domestic. Vietnam was all but defused as a significant factor in the recent mid-term elections. The withdrawals also have helped persuade this country's allies that its intentions are good.

But the Vietnamization program has failed to induce Hanoi and the Viet Cong to negotiate seriously in Paris. It also serves to point up the perils Nixon will face in attempting to withdraw the rest of the U.S. forces.

Much depends on whether the South Vietnamese are becoming as strong as Washington says and whether North Vietnam has suffered enough to abandon its plan for military conquest.

If not, Nixon will have succeeded only in narrowing the war so far as the United States is concerned. It would then be up to the countries involved to prevent eventual Communist domination of all Laos, Cambodia and possibly Thailand.

The administration's own assessment of where U.S. foreign policy stands will be made in the President's second annual report on the "State of the World," now expected February 15. A rundown of area-by-area problems indicates the document will be fairly sobering and cautious. They include:

U.S.-Soviet Relations

The United States got Russia to begin nuclear arms control talks about a year ago. But early optimism about what was termed the "business like" attitude of the Soviet negotiators now has been sharply toned down. The United States wanted a numerical limit on both land and sea-based nuclear weapons and the abolition of anti-ballistic missiles (ABM's) or their limitation to rings around Washington and Moscow. Soviet sources are saying the U.S. outline is too simple, that it will require much more elaboration. This appears to some officials like the beginning of a long wrangle over terms and enforcement procedures.

In the Middle East, as noted previously, Russia and the United States disagree on the path to peace. Washington now charges the Soviet Union with helping Egypt sabotage peace talks with Israel by violating the cease-fire which went into effect August 7. The fact that the cease-fire continues at all can be counted a plus. But top officials acknowledge prospects for an Arab-Israel settlement are very dim.

Washington and Moscow also clashed recently oger what the United States saw as a possible Soviet effort to establish a missile submarine base in Cuba. The State Department says this has been settled by some sort of an "understanding" but the Russians do not acknowledge any agreement.

Europe

The administration, after toying with a possible 10 or 15 per cent cut in the 320,000 U.S. soldiers, sailors and airmen in Europe, finally decided against reductions in the foreseeable future. The NATO allies, in turn, promised to spend up to $1 billion over the next five years to strengthen NATO communications, harden up airfield defenses and bring their forces up to promised levels. This gives Nixon an answer to demands by Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield and others for immediate cuts in American forces. The United States also persuaded its allies not to accept a Soviet proposal for an all-European security conference aimed at reducing tensions from the Urals to the English channel until Russia gives some ground on at least two points. One point concerns more secure arrangements for Red-encircled West Berlin. The other is a demand for agreement on mutual troop reductions on both sides of the Iron Curtain before there os any European security conference.

The Middle East

Failure of the "even-handed" policy in this area, due in large part to Russia, has led the United States to undertake a $500 million military aid program for Israel to offset Soviet help for the Arab states. While still pushing for a peace settlement, the United States is bolstering Israel against Arab attack.

Communist China

Despite its adoption of a more reasonable attitude toward Peking and the elimination of some restrictions on trade with that country, the United States has failed to persuade mainland China to take any steps to lower tensions in Asia. Faced with increasing sentiment to admit China to the United Nations, the United States has dropped its opposition to such a step provided Nationalist China also remains a member. This "two-China" policy pleases neither Peking nor Formosa. American involvement in Indochina also hampers efforts to improve relations with Peking.

Latin America

The Nixon administration enunciated in October, 1969, what Nixon called a program of "Action for Progress," which boiled down to a pragmatic policy of recognizing any government actually in control of a country. Previous policy was to try to use diplomatic recognition and military and economic assistance as levers to force individual Latin American countries toward more democratic governments. The United States is fast losing ground on one major issue. The almost solid front it created against dealing with Cuba is beginning to crumble. Mexico never did break relations with Cuba. Earlier this month, the new Marxist government in Chile restored relations. Indications are that Bolivia and Peru soon will take similar steps.

Within the next couple of years, a majority of countries in the Organization of American States (OAS) who voted to quarantine Cuba because of Castro's avowed plan to export Communism elsewhere in the hemisphere, may have resuned relations with Cuba. Some of these countries feel there is no longer a threat in this area despite Castro's continued dependence on the Soviet Union.

Africa

African leaders are divided in their assessment of administration policy toward their continent. Black Africans applauded the U.S. action in closing its consulate in Rhodesia, where a white minority rules an African majority. But they complain incessantly about continued U.S. relations with highly-segregated South Africa. The administration, as its predecessors, continues to try to steer a course of helpfulness toward black Africa combined with moderate pressure on South Africa and Portugal to take a less restrictive line toward African majorities they rule. The foreign aid program for Africa is at a low level and Secretary of State William P. Rogers is trying to get private investors to increase operations there. Africa does not present any flaming problem at the moment but the potential is always there.

Trade Policy

The administration is under heavy pressure by Congress and special industry groups to restrict imports of textiles and other items which American manufacturers claim are hurting domestic industry and its workers. Fearful that any widespread restrictions will lead to damaging retaliation, the administration is seeking to limit such restrictive measures to a minimum. For the first time since the 1930's, however, the United States is reversing its increasingly free trade arrangements. The only question is how much.

Notary Issued

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — The office of the secretary of state has announced issuance of a notary public commission to Thelma G. Santiago of 370 Johnston Drive., San Rafael.

Barber Uses Blowtorch

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Singed hair is back for men, says Mr. Eckhard, barbering stylist at two San Francisco hotels.

Mr. Eckhard, who says he has no Christian name, demonstrated his art Wednesday with a blowtorch.

"I'm sealing up the hair ends that split," he said. "This adds to the fullness, the radiance of the hair . . . it makes it look even longer."

The barber asserted, "We've been burning hair in my family since 1750," noting that his great-grandfather was the first to try fire and that he used a candle.

Singing costs $10 and Eckhard claims there is "no danger at all."

"I haven't lost a customer yet."

National Scout Job To Dunn

I-J Special Report

NEW BRUNSWICK, N.J. — A former scout executive of the Marin Council of the Boy Scouts of America has been appointed national director of volunteer training, the national office here has announced.

Paul Y. (Torchy) Dunn, scout executive in Marin from 1962 until 1967, will be responsible for the development of educational materials used to train volunteer scout leaders, according to Alden G. Barber, chief scout executive.

Dunn left the Marin council in 1967 to take the post of Deputy Regional Executive in Los Angeles.

The works of photographer Leonard Miller will be on display until the end of February at the Musical Barber in the Fair-Anselm Shopping Center, Fairfax.

Color, Mystery Of Near East Will Come To Sausalito Sunday

The flavor, sights, sounds, color and mystery of the Near East will come to Sausalito Sunday when the Sausalito Arts Center on Nevada Street is transformed into a Persian Dervish bazaar.

Persons attending will find themselves transported into another world, according to Saul Baradofsky who has charge of arrangements, a world of tapestries, incense, whirling dervishes, fortunetellers, ancient crafts and foods.

Bringing the "casbah" to Sausalito are a group of about 150 persons, a community of Dervishes, disciples in an Islam-based religion with Konka (spiritual headquarters) in San Francisco and Novato.

The bazaar, which begins at 11 a.m. and runs until 9 p.m., will have something for everyone, according to Baradofsky: eating, singing, music, dancing, puppet shows, films, crafts, fortune tellers, astrologers, palmists and tarot readers.

Eastern foods and drinks, including Turkish coffee, baklava, Turkish cakes and pastries, mint teas and shisk-kebab will be available "as inexpensively as possible," he said and Pakistani curry dinners will be served.

"Many of us have visited Persian bazaars and have been impressed by the feeling of being completely caught up in what is happening," Baradofsky said. It is this atmosphere the group hopes to duplicate in Sausalito.

Handmade mid-Eastern robes, pottery, herbs and jewelry, the work of more than 100 artisan, will be among the crafts offered for sale. The music will be a blend of East and West, with drummers, guitarists, flutists, and persons who play sitars, tamburas and tablas.

Proceeds will benefit two of the dervishes current projects, relief for victims of recent tidal waves and typhoons in East Pakistan and a Palestinian peace group, "Hallelujah, The Three Rings," with headquarters in San Francisco, according to Baradofsky. He said the peace organization if bringing together young Israelis and Arabs to eat, sing and pray, in the hope of bringing peace to the Mid East.

Other Bay Area spirtual communities will be represented with booths, he said. They include the Zen Mission Society of Oakland, Yogi Bijan's Yoga Community from San Rafael; the House of Love an Prayer, a San Francisco Hasidic Jewish organization and Dr. Neville Warwick and his mountain climbing Buddhists of San Francisco and Marin.

Woman Injured In 2-Car Crash

An Inverness woman was injured Wednesday at 7:05 a.m. in a two-car collision at Novato Boulevard and Sutro Avenue in Novato, the California Highway Patrol reported yesterday.

Barbara E. Cook, 48, of Forrest Way, was treated at Novato General Hospital for a fractured rib. Officers said she was a passenger in a car driven by Carol A. Stone, 61, of Cameron Way, Inverness, which collided with a vehicle operated by Rasmus V. Jensen, 51, of 813 Sutro Way, Novato.

10 Regional Offices For Environment

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Federal Environmental Protection Agency announced establishment of 10 regional offices across the nation.

William D. Ruckelshaus, EPA administrator, said the new offices would implement the agency's efforts to prevent further deterioration of the nation's resources and improve the quality of the environment.

Ruckelshaus said he wants to establish strong regional administrations to assure administration policy providing for maximum participation by states and local governments in planning and executing programs affecting them.

He said as regional administrators are selected and appointed, the regions will be activated, adding it was hoped the regional system would be operational by next June. Interim regional coordinators have already been named, however.

Region Nine—Arizona, California, Hawaii, Nevada, American Samoa, Guam, Trust Territories of Pacific Islands, Wake Island. Paul Defalco Jr., San Francisco, Calif. (415 556-4303).

THE NIXONS' GIFT

President and Mrs. Nixon are giving a color reproduction of the Thomas Jefferson portrait by Rembrandt Peale to White House staff members this Christmas. The painting, which now hangs in the White House Blue Room, was done from life in 1800, one year before the founder of the Democratic Party became president.

Pay Promise Kept By College Trustees

The Marin Junior College District board last night kept a promise made last summer to review staff salaries midway through the fiscal year and gave raises to all employees.

Classified employees received the largest increase — 3 per cent; the faculty and administration each were granted 1 per cent raises.

The board had given all employees 4 per cent raises last July as well as approving a dental plan.

The decision to grant the raises was made only after a long discussion and two earlier motions failed to pass.

Trustee Donald K. Felt had first moved there be no increase but finally voted to approve the raises. A second motion by Robert E. Oliver that the matter be postponed until enrollment figures for the spring semester are available, also failed.

(College of Marin's enrollment increase for the fall semester fell short of predicted figures so that not all the anticipated state funds have materialized.)

In other financial action last night and also after long discussion, the board voted unanimously to send a "letter of Intent" to the manufacturer for a proposed purchase of a new RCA 2 computer.

Trustees deferred action on the purchase of interim equipment which had been proposed until the new model computer is available next fall.

The whole project was estimated to cost $391,019 plus transportation costs of $2,250.

Supt.-Pres. John A. Grasham said that the choice of the computer had been made because it would serve both teaching and office needs.

The trustees also last night approved recruitment procedures for a president to head the proposed new north campus of the college. Applications for the post are to be in by Feb. 14.

The Marin Junior College Board also:

DOGS — Agreed to ask that campus police be deputized so they may give out citations to persons violating dog regulations.

CHAIRS — Awarded a contract to American Seating Co. for 332 tablet armchairs for Harlan Center at a total cost of $6,999.

RESIGNATION — Accepted the resignation effective June 30, 1971 of John A. O'Kane Jr., instructor in the physical science department.

ILLNESS — Accepted the resignation of Carl D. Brooks, custodian, who resigned in November because of illness.

ABSENCE — President Elizabeth M. Deedy was absent last night.

Subdivision Hearings

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Hearings opened Thursday on proposed state controls for the advertising of promotional subdivisions in rural areas.

Advertising would be considered misleading if it contains unqualified statements concerning "profit appreciation in dollar value or resale potential," one proposed regulation says.

Prohibited would be references to clubs, clubhouses or recreational facilities unless costs, limitations and use restrictions are disclosed fully.

Adjectives such as "exclusive" or "private" would be banned and subdividers would be restricted in referring to proposed improvements such as golf courses or lakes, outside the subdivision. The first hearing for the California Real Estate Department by Commissioner Burton E. Smith.

NEW WAY TO BE SUDDENLY SLIM FOR CHRISTMAS

Los Angeles — Are you a woman whose figure is on the good side but might be perfect? You'll be thrilled by the new easy way science has discovered for you to become Suddenly Slim and yet completely comfortable. If you're more than 15 pounds overweight, or your waistline is larger than 32 inches, then this idea is not for you. If your weight problem falls within this range, then you can realize a new, smoother figure today, without diet or exercise.

Suddenly Slim is an all-new kind of 4-oz. girdle constructed of science fibers. One startling innovation is the sheer nylon front panel. This is permanently stiffened by a science process and cannot give or sag. It's surrounded by a slimming action border. A featherstitched panel down each side of this girdle will contour your hips if they are a problem.

The girdle itself is part "wonder" Lycra spandex. It's a new power net consisting of nylon, acetate and spandex. It is so comfortable, but has such slimming strength, it gives your figure everything that's possible with a foundation.

"Suddenly Slim," in both girdle and panty versions, is the peak achievement of the California designer - genius, Olga. They are available at all 9 Emporium stores, in the Shape Shop. Come in soon to try one and charge it!

THE NIXONS' GIFT

President and Mrs. Nixon are giving a color reproduction of the Thomas Jefferson portrait by Rembrandt Peale to White House staff members this Christmas. The painting, which now hangs in the White House Blue Room, was done from life in 1800, one year before the founder of the Democratic Party became president.

Pay Promise Kept By College Trustees

The Marin Junior College District board last night kept a promise made last summer to review staff salaries midway through the fiscal year and gave raises to all employees.

Classified employees received the largest increase — 3 per cent; the faculty and administration each were granted 1 per cent raises.

The board had given all employees 4 per cent raises last July as well as approving a dental plan.

The decision to grant the raises was made only after a long discussion and two earlier motions failed to pass.

Trustee Donald K. Felt had first moved there be no increase but finally voted to approve the raises. A second motion by Robert E. Oliver that the matter be postponed until enrollment figures for the spring semester are available, also failed.

(College of Marin's enrollment increase for the fall semester fell short of predicted figures so that not all the anticipated state funds have materialized.)

Burglar Observed In Act Of Looting

A burglar broke into a San Anselmo variety store today while the owner and a friend were asleep inside, San Anselmo police reported.

Burr told police he and his companion were awakened at 3:10 a.m. when the intruder broke glass in the front door of the establishment. They watched as the burglar rummaged through goods in the store.

When the intruder left the store momentarily, police were called.

Officers said they found Kilpatrick, who had reentered the store, hiding inside. In his pockets, police said, was a substantial amount of change and jewelry.

Kilpatrick was booked at Marin County Jail for investigation of burglary and held to appear in Municipal Court later today.

Rancho School Ransacked; Cash Taken From Machine

Rancho School was ransacked and an undetermined amount of cash taken from a soft drink machine between 11 p.m. Wednesday and 6:45 a.m. yesterday, Novato police reported today.

Officers said someone took coins from the machine in the teacher's room and then ransacked the main office, nurse's office, kitchen and 14 classrooms.

In the main office glue was emptied on a desk and typewriter ink was emptied on the floor and desks, and an obscenity written on a chair, police said.

Guilty Plea To Fishing Charge

A fisherman out of the Alioto Fish Co. in Point Reyes pleaded guilty yesterday in West Marin Justice Court to possessing 56 undersized crab on Dec. 6.

State fish and game wardens said Tony M. Montalbano, 61, had the catch on his boat while returning to the fish firm. The wardens said they became suspicious when they observed Montalbano dump something from his boat before docking.

Montalbano is scheduled to be sentenced next Wednesday by Judge David R. Baty.

Chances of striking oil or gas with a wildcat well are about two out of 100, says the International Oil Scouts Association.

Angela Rally Tomorrow In Marin City

Supporters of Angela Y. Davis, charged with murder and kidnapping in the August 7 shoot-out at the Marin Hall of Justice, will hold a rally to collect money for her defense tomorrow at 7 p.m. in Manzanita Center, Marin City.

Attorney Terrence Hallinan and Rev. Cecil Williams of Glide Memorial Church in San Francisco will be among the speakers, according to Walter Turner, chairman of the Marin County Steering Committee for the Defense of Angela Davis which is organizing the benefit.

Other speakers will include Peggy Jackson, sister of Soledad Brother George Jackson and Jonathan Jackson, killed in the shoot-out in which Judge Harold J. Haley was slain and Franklin Alexander head of the national committee for Miss Davis' defense.

Miss Davis, a former instructor in philosophy at the University of California at Los Angeles, is accused of providing the guns which young Jackson allegedly took into Judge Haley's courtroom in the abortive escape.

Lower Budget Eyed For ABAG Operation

I-J Special Report

BERKELEY — A $1,182,000 budget for the Association of Bay Area Governments next fiscal year was proposed last night.

The preliminary budget, presented to the executive committee by ABAG's staff, was down $209,511 from the current budget, largely due to pending completion of studies of airports and disaster shelters.

Cuts in federal funds, however, would require an increase in the amount raised from city and county dues from $253,486 to $270,000. Specific dues were not detailed. Marin County's dues this year were $5,363, and its cities' dues ranged from $83 to $1,166, depending upon population.

In addition to dues, next year's budget would repeat this year's $75,000 levy against the counties to finance transportation planning.

The rest of the budget comes largely from federal grants for ABAG's planning programs.

Further action on the budget was set for the committee's Jan. 21 meeting.

The Association of Bay Area Governments executive committee also:

BRIDGE — Recommended federal funding of a Golden Gate Bridge District plan for a parking lot in North Sausalito, if the funds ever become available.

BAGET — Hiked by $1,800 a year the salary of executive director J. Julien Baget of Novato, to a new figure of $27,000.

LOBBYIST — Approved a $8,820 contract with R.J. Beckus to represent ABAG in Sacramento.

PETALUMA — Endorsed an application by the City of Petaluma for $16,440 in federal grants to buy two neighborhood parks adjacent to La Tercera and St. Francis schools.

Fireworks Kill Two

CAMDEN, S.C. (UPI)—Two persons were killed and two others injured Thursday night when a small fireworks stand exploded.

Firemen In Protest On Firehouse

Marin City's old firehouse is so rickety and rat-infested that county firemen want out.

The sorry physical condition at the fire station was reported to the Marin County Personnel Commission yesterday in letters from firemen Michael E. Vonada and James B. Selfridge.

Personnel commissioners called for an immediate investigation by the personnel staff and a report no later than Jan. 21, the commission's next regular meeting date.

Personnel Director Maren Rinne said two members of her staff yesterday visited the fire station on Drake Avenue, across the street from Manzanita Center, and found conditions deplorable.

Windows are broken and patched with cardboard, raw sewage flows into the yard, and one end of the building is jacked up about a foot.

Last March, county sanitarians had condemned the building as unfit for habitation and had recommended the structure razed.

Plans for a new firehouse and sheriff's substation for Marin City came before the Marin County Board of Supervisors Tuesday, but the estimated cost was $118,559, whereas only $94,000 was budgeted. Supervisors asked the architects to return with revised plans to keep the total cost within $94,000.

Firemen Vonada and Selfridge said they regard the supervisors' action as a rejection of the new firehouse, and therefore are asking for a transfer out of the Marin City firehouse.

Robert B. McCreadie, chairman of the personnel commission, said the problem would be solved if the county builds a new firehouse immediately, "but we don't know if the building will ever be built."

On a motion by Parnel Finn, the personnel commissioners asked their staff to investigate various ways to improve firehouse conditions and the cost. Commissioners also voted to send a letter to the firemen, assuring them that an investigation is under way.

Old Adobe Trustees Like Guideline Idea

The Old Adobe School District board last night agreed that a citizens committee should be formed to develop a district philosophy and set goals.

Schools Supt. Dean D. Magowan said the board felt the district was in need of a written philosophy and that members of the community should take a active part in its preparation.

The board said the committee could sample attitudes of district residents and develop guidelines for the board to follow.

Although no set method of selecting committee members was considered, the board said representatives should come from professional circles, religious organizations, ethnic groups, parents, nonparents, newcomers to Petaluma as well as longtime residents.

The board said it would give more thought to a method of selecting members at its Jan. 21 meeting.

In other action, the board received a federal grant of $496 which will be matched by district funds for the purchase of science materials.

Firm Hired For Park Plan

A Sausalito landscape architectural firm was hired last week by the Sausalito recreation commission to prepare preliminary plans and cost estimates for a proposed new park for the city.

According to Norman Wohlschlaeger, director of public works, the commission asked Environmental Planning and Design Associates to prepare sketches for North View Park, which would be constructed on one-half acre at the corner of Marin and Woodward avenues.

Wohlschlaeger said he hopes to submit plans for the new park to the city council during budget hearings next year.

MRS. SANTA ARRIVES DEC. 5, WITH COFFEE AND COOKIES, TO VISIT DAILY FROM 2 TO 6 P.M. UNTIL CHRISTMAS

Twice nice.

Once nice: a beautiful bottle.
Twice nice: a magnificent Bourbon.

But before you succumb to the charm of our Holiday decanter and bright gift wraps, we'd like to introduce the gallant white oak barrels that make it all possible.

These barrels, charred on the inside to precisely ⅛th of an inch, take our newly distilled "Young" Fitzgerald and school it in the art of greatness.

Years later "Old" Fitzgerald emerges triumphant from its white oak school room—ready for the most discriminating consumers of fine Bourbon.

We tell you about our barrels, which are used (gulp!) just once*, for without them there would be no twice nice story to tell.

Old Fitzgerald Prime

*About our used barrels: we ship most of them to Scotland.

LEARNING NATURE'S TRICKS

Burglar Observed In Act Of Looting

A burglar broke into a San Anselmo variety store today while the owner and a friend were asleep inside, San Anselmo police reported.

Burr told police he and his companion were awakened at 3:10 a.m. when the intruder broke glass in the front door of the establishment. They watched as the burglar rummaged through goods in the store.

When the intruder left the store momentarily, police were called.

Officers said they found Kilpatrick, who had reentered the store, hiding inside. In his pockets, police said, was a substantial amount of change and jewelry.

Kilpatrick was booked at Marin County Jail for investigation of burglary and held to appear in Municipal Court later today.

Rancho School Ransacked; Cash Taken From Machine

Rancho School was ransacked and an undetermined amount of cash taken from a soft drink machine between 11 p.m. Wednesday and 6:45 a.m. yesterday, Novato police reported today.

Officers said someone took coins from the machine in the teacher's room and then ransacked the main office, nurse's office, kitchen and 14 classrooms.

In the main office glue was emptied on a desk and typewriter ink was emptied on the floor and desks, and an obscenity written on a chair, police said.

Guilty Plea To Fishing Charge

A fisherman out of the Alioto Fish Co. in Point Reyes pleaded guilty yesterday in West Marin Justice Court to possessing 56 undersized crab on Dec. 6.

State fish and game wardens said Tony M. Montalbano, 61, had the catch on his boat while returning to the fish firm. The wardens said they became suspicious when they observed Montalbano dump something from his boat before docking.

Montalbano is scheduled to be sentenced next Wednesday by Judge David R. Baty.

Chances of striking oil or gas with a wildcat well are about two out of 100, says the International Oil Scouts Association.

Angela Rally Tomorrow In Marin City

Supporters of Angela Y. Davis, charged with murder and kidnapping in the August 7 shoot-out at the Marin Hall of Justice, will hold a rally to collect money for her defense tomorrow at 7 p.m. in Manzanita Center, Marin City.

Attorney Terrence Hallinan and Rev. Cecil Williams of Glide Memorial Church in San Francisco will be among the speakers, according to Walter Turner, chairman of the Marin County Steering Committee for the Defense of Angela Davis which is organizing the benefit.

Other speakers will include Peggy Jackson, sister of Soledad Brother George Jackson and Jonathan Jackson, killed in the shoot-out in which Judge Harold J. Haley was slain and Franklin Alexander head of the national committee for Miss Davis' defense.

Miss Davis, a former instructor in philosophy at the University of California at Los Angeles, is accused of providing the guns which young Jackson allegedly took into Judge Haley's courtroom in the abortive escape.

Lower Budget Eyed For ABAG Operation

I-J Special Report

BERKELEY — A $1,182,000 budget for the Association of Bay Area Governments next fiscal year was proposed last night.

The preliminary budget, presented to the executive committee by ABAG's staff, was down $209,511 from the current budget, largely due to pending completion of studies of airports and disaster shelters.

Cuts in federal funds, however, would require an increase in the amount raised from city and county dues from $253,486 to $270,000. Specific dues were not detailed. Marin County's dues this year were $5,363, and its cities' dues ranged from $83 to $1,166, depending upon population.

In addition to dues, next year's budget would repeat this year's $75,000 levy against the counties to finance transportation planning.

The rest of the budget comes largely from federal grants for ABAG's planning programs.

Further action on the budget was set for the committee's Jan. 21 meeting.

The Association of Bay Area Governments executive committee also:

BRIDGE — Recommended federal funding of a Golden Gate Bridge District plan for a parking lot in North Sausalito, if the funds ever become available.

BAGET — Hiked by $1,800 a year the salary of executive director J. Julien Baget of Novato, to a new figure of $27,000.

LOBBYIST — Approved a $8,820 contract with R.J. Beckus to represent ABAG in Sacramento.

PETALUMA — Endorsed an application by the City of Petaluma for $16,440 in federal grants to buy two neighborhood parks adjacent to La Tercera and St. Francis schools.

Fireworks Kill Two

CAMDEN, S.C. (UPI)—Two persons were killed and two others injured Thursday night when a small fireworks stand exploded.

Firemen In Protest On Firehouse

Marin City's old firehouse is so rickety and rat-infested that county firemen want out.

The sorry physical condition at the fire station was reported to the Marin County Personnel Commission yesterday in letters from firemen Michael E. Vonada and James B. Selfridge.

Personnel commissioners called for an immediate investigation by the personnel staff and a report no later than Jan. 21, the commission's next regular meeting date.

Personnel Director Maren Rinne said two members of her staff yesterday visited the fire station on Drake Avenue, across the street from Manzanita Center, and found conditions deplorable.

Windows are broken and patched with cardboard, raw sewage flows into the yard, and one end of the building is jacked up about a foot.

Last March, county sanitarians had condemned the building as unfit for habitation and had recommended the structure razed.

Plans for a new firehouse and sheriff's substation for Marin City came before the Marin County Board of Supervisors Tuesday, but the estimated cost was $118,559, whereas only $94,000 was budgeted. Supervisors asked the architects to return with revised plans to keep the total cost within $94,000.

Firemen Vonada and Selfridge said they regard the supervisors' action as a rejection of the new firehouse, and therefore are asking for a transfer out of the Marin City firehouse.

Robert B. McCreadie, chairman of the personnel commission, said the problem would be solved if the county builds a new firehouse immediately, "but we don't know if the building will ever be built."

On a motion by Parnel Finn, the personnel commissioners asked their staff to investigate various ways to improve firehouse conditions and the cost. Commissioners also voted to send a letter to the firemen, assuring them that an investigation is under way.

Old Adobe Trustees Like Guideline Idea

The Old Adobe School District board last night agreed that a citizens committee should be formed to develop a district philosophy and set goals.

Schools Supt. Dean D. Magowan said the board felt the district was in need of a written philosophy and that members of the community should take a active part in its preparation.

The board said the committee could sample attitudes of district residents and develop guidelines for the board to follow.

Although no set method of selecting committee members was considered, the board said representatives should come from professional circles, religious organizations, ethnic groups, parents, nonparents, newcomers to Petaluma as well as longtime residents.

The board said it would give more thought to a method of selecting members at its Jan. 21 meeting.

In other action, the board received a federal grant of $496 which will be matched by district funds for the purchase of science materials.

Firm Hired For Park Plan

A Sausalito landscape architectural firm was hired last week by the Sausalito recreation commission to prepare preliminary plans and cost estimates for a proposed new park for the city.

According to Norman Wohlschlaeger, director of public works, the commission asked Environmental Planning and Design Associates to prepare sketches for North View Park, which would be constructed on one-half acre at the corner of Marin and Woodward avenues.

Wohlschlaeger said he hopes to submit plans for the new park to the city council during budget hearings next year.

Twice nice.

Once nice: a beautiful bottle.
Twice nice: a magnificent Bourbon.

But before you succumb to the charm of our Holiday decanter and bright gift wraps, we'd like to introduce the gallant white oak barrels that make it all possible.

These barrels, charred on the inside to precisely ⅛th of an inch, take our newly distilled "Young" Fitzgerald and school it in the art of greatness.

Years later "Old" Fitzgerald emerges triumphant from its white oak school room—ready for the most discriminating consumers of fine Bourbon.

We tell you about our barrels, which are used (gulp!) just once*, for without them there would be no twice nice story to tell.

Old Fitzgerald Prime

*About our used barrels: we ship most of them to Scotland.

OSCAR LEWIS
Pioneering anthropologist

Pioneer Of Poor Life Dead At 56

NEW YORK (UPI)—Oscar Lewis, the anthropology professor whose books "Children of Sanchez" and "La Vida" pioneered the view of poverty as a culture in itself, died late Wednesday in Polyclinic Hospital. He was 56.

Lewis, who was in New York studying the effects of slum life on Puerto Rican and Cuban families, entered the hospital Wednesday morning for treatment of a heart ailment. He died that evening.

A professor of anthropology at the University of Illinois since 1948, Lewis first began to receive wide attention for his then radical departure from accepted anthropological thought with the publication of "Five Families" in 1959.

THEIR OWN STORY

The work studied the daily life of five Mexican families "on five perfectly ordinary days." Lewis relied heavily on first person taped accounts for most of his material, allowing the poor to tell their own stories in stark, very unacademic style.

Lewis expanded the experiences of one family, that of widower Jesus Sanchez and his four children living in a Mexico City slum, into the book, "The Children of Sanchez," published in 1961.

The work was attacked in the Mexican press as being "slanderous" to the nation. Lewis, however, had always maintained that it was a culture in itself, or at least a subculture, which transcended national customs and institutions.

BOOK AWARD

In 1966 Lewis won a National Book award with the publication of "La Vida," the story of a former Puerto Rican prostitute living with her sixth husband and telling her own story of how she managed to raise children in conditions of abject poverty.

All of Lewis' books, while giving an unflinching account of the hardships of the poor, managed to detail the festivals, the celebrations and the minor victories over "the system" which the author maintained made life continually worth living.

Lewis, who was born in New York City and received his PhD from Columbia University, taught at Brooklyn College and Washington University in St. Louis, Mo., before going to Illinois.

He is survived by his widow, the former Ruth Maslow, who assisted in much of his field work, a daughter, Judith and a son, Gene.

Albatrosses are long lived.

Tiburon To Seek Bike Path Funds

The Tiburon City Council, on the verge of acquiring a two-mile strip of land for a bicycle and pedestrian path, last night applied for a federal grant to buy and develop the property.

It also told its staff to find out if a local unit of the National Guard would pave the pathway.

The council voted unanimously to apply for the $70,600 grant after holding a brief closed session to discuss its condemnation suit against Northwestern Pacific Railroad, owner of the right-of-way strip. The suit is scheduled to go before a Marin Superior Court Jury in February.

Announcement of a settlement between the city and the railroad had been expected last night, but Mayor Denis T. Rice said somelast-minute details remained to be worked out and set an adjourned council meeting for Wednesday at 8 p.m. at city hall.

At that meeting, the council probably will announce an agreement and discuss the city's plans for the pathway.

The city began negotiations with a $30,000 offer, while the railroad wanted $400,000. Final price is expected to exceed the $70,000 federal grant.

Turning to the paving of the right-of-way, the council asked acting City Mgr. Robert L. Kleinert to confer with the Santa Venetia unit of the National Guard, which Kleinert said may be able to do the work when dry weather arrives.

Kleinert told the city council he had been informed that the guard customarily undertakes community betterment projects and that the paving fit that description.

The council also considered moving users of the path safely across Tiburon Boulevard. It received a report from the city parks and recreation commission, recommending five grade level crossings with trafic signals. Until they would be put up, the report suggested hiring crossing guards for the five locations.

Cost of the proposals, about $16,000 for guards and between $27,000 and $44,500 for the lights, should be split by Tiburon, Belvedere, and the Reed School District, the report stated.

The council set full discussion of the crossing report for another meeting Dec. 28.

In other business, the council voted to amend Tiburon's contract with the Marin County Sheriff's Department to allow a lieutenant instead of a captain to head the Tiburon substation.

Councilmen also asked Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos to promote Sgt. Angelo Mecchi to lieutenant and put him in charge. Capt. William Johansen, formerly head of the substation, was reassigned to the county juvenile bureau Tuesday, and Mecchi has been serving as officer in charge.

Maloney Is Misquoted On Two New Laws

Marin County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney was incorrectly reported Wednesday by the Independent-Journal as having said that two new laws on animal care had been pushed through the Legislature by a veterinary lobby.

Maloney did not mention such a lobby, and today told the I-J he did not "even know if they have one. I don't know where the statement came from."

The new laws, requiring spaying of cats before the Humane Society can place them for adoption and giving veterinarians the exclusive right to decide whether to treat or destroy stray injured cats and dogs, will cost the county about $91,000 a year, according to county estimates. The county pays for such treatment.

Pair Robbed Near Underpass

Two men have been robbed while walking near the Marin City underpass, Marin County sheriff's office reported.

Deputies said Bennett D. King, 19, of 29 Glen Court, Sausalito, and Larry L. Holman, 18, of 245 Throckmorton Avenue, Mill Valley, were stopped by two men in their 20s at about 7:30 p.m. Dec. 8.

The men took $100 from King and ran into Marin City, deputies said.

Rendering Plant Hit By Strike

Production has ceased at the Royal Tallow and Soap Co. in Petaluma, where employees entered the fourth day of a strike.

The 20 employees Wednesday joined 35 employees at the company's San Francisco rendering plant in the walk-out. The company and San Francisco Teamsters Local No. 85 and Sonoma-Marin Teamsters, Warehousemen and Helpers Local No. 64, have been locked in a wage dispute since November. The union contract expired on Sept. 1.

The strike has worried Sonoma County health officials, searching for a way to dispose of dead animals.

Sanitarian Robert Reed said no facilities are available in Sonoma County and that firms and ranchers with dead animals must transport them to plants in Richmond or San Francisco.

None of the county refuse disposal sites are permitted to dispose of animal wastes because of regulations of the state Water Quality Control Board.

PLANE WRECKAGE — Three persons including disabled Korean war veteran Michael Young, who recently got his pilot's license, died yesterday when their small plane crashed on the outskirts of Effingham, Ill., on a cross-country flight from Artesia, N.M., where Young was a student.

Disabled War Vet Attempts Long Flight, Dies In Crash

EFFINGHAM, Ill. (UPI)—When Michael J. W. Young told his flight instructor, Larry Willard, he planned to fly home to Indiana for Christmas from New Mexico, Willard warned him about making the trip.

"It was a pretty big chunk for a student to take on his first real long cross-country flight," Willard, Artesia, N.M., said. "I told hin the country back there (in the east) is much more populated and has shorter visibility than here.

"I thought he was biting off a big chunk."

Willard didn't say so, but he might have thought it was too much not just because Young got his pilot's license only last Sunday, but because Young's legs were paralyzed.

Young and two passengers took off Wednesday from Artesia, en route for the Wabash County, Ind., Airport. Their flight ended Thursday in a crash at the east edge of this south-central Illinois community.

Killed with Young, 27, a senior at the college in Artesia, were Young's half-brother, Robert J. Dubois, 21, Roann, Ind., a former student at the Artesia school, and Carl F. Fields, 22, Urbana, Ind.

Young lost the use of his legs in a jeep accident in Korea and got around the campus in a wheelchair. He was to have graduated in May. He was half-owner in an Artesia automotive speed shop and was determined to fly.

He began taking lessons with Willard last February, got his license in El Paso, Tex., Dec. 13 —four days before the crash —and had just over 100 hours of flight time logged when he took off on the cross-country trip.

Willard said the plane — a blue and white Cherokee 140 — had hand controls to operate the rudders so Young could maintain control.

Young was in contact with the Vandalia, Ill., airport 20 minutes before the crash and reported he was cruising well at 7,500 feet, above clouds. Then the plane crashed and burned on Fayette Avenue in Effingham. Nobody on the ground was injured but traffic was rerouted around the busy highway.

Army Blacks In Europe Said Angry, Frustrated

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Pentagon says black soldiers' anger and frustration is greater than expected among U.S. troops in Europe.

It has ordered U.S. commanders there to act immediately to end racial discrimination "on and off base."

Deputy Assistant Defense Secretary Frank W. Render II said Thursday a task force he headed in investigating racial unrest "found a new, higher level of frustration and anger among blacks than we anticipated."

Render also said that the task force had averted an "ugly situation" by calming black troops in Germany who were on the edge of "violent action."

Render spoke at a news conference at which the Pentagon released a new directive from Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird declaring "equal opportunity and treatment shall be accorded all military members and civil employees of the Department of Defense irrespective of their race, color, religion, sex or national origin consistent with requirements for physical capabilities."

The directive also ordered commanders to establish "numerical goals and timetables for ending discriminatory treatment on and off base . . . to ensure progress toward full integration of this work force at all levels."

The task force listed failure of command leadership as one of the main causes of racial discrimination in promotion, unfair treatment in work assignments, inadequate representation of blacks in the military police, racial "polarization" in military clubs and other "deficiencies."

Render said his task force found a small number of alienated blacks at Mannheim and Karlsruhe in West Germany who "could not be reached" —meaning they refused to discuss racial problems with the investigators.

"They said their place was back in the states . . . where they could fight to liberate and free their black sisters and brothers from the dirty, stinking, teeming ghettos and from all forms of racial bigotry and oppression."

Bus Firm Gets Loan Of $25,000

I-J Special Report

PALO ALTO — New financial blood, $25,000 of it, has been voted in a three-year loan to Marin Transit Systems by a corporation formed to finance minority-owned businesses.

The Marin City-based bus company operates bus feeder service to the Tiburon commuter ferry and hourly weekday bus service between Novato and Kentfield, both under contract with the Golden Gate Bridge District.

Willard S. Amstrong, president of Provident Enterprises Corp., reported the corporation's executive committee had voted to make the loan with no repayment until the end of the third year. He said the loan probably would be made by the end of the year, after necessary papers have been signed with Marin Transit Systems.

The Palo Alto corporation was founded by 18 Bay Area companies as a source of venture capital for businesses like the Marin City transit company.

Youth Caught In Burglary Act

A 13-year-old Marin Juvenile Hall escapee has been arrested on suspicion of burglarizing two San Anselmo homes, police said.

Robert C. Piver of 99 Wesson Lane, Fairfax, was arrested Tuesday while fleeing the home of David Rooney, 208 Brookside Drive after a witness phoned police saying the youth had entered the house while its occupants were away.

Officers said they stopped young Piver at 11:50 a.m. when he exited the Rooney home. The youth broke away and ran but was captured minutes later.

About $12 in coins were reported missing from the home. Piver escaped the hall on Dec. 6.

Man Bound Over On Burglary Charges

Henry Jackson Jr., 21, of San Rafael, yesterday was bound over to Marin Superior Court on charges of burglary, attempt to commit burglary and unlawful entry of a home. He is to be arraigned Wednesday.

Jackson was arrested on a warrant issued after he was identified as the man who entered the home of Bryce W. Anderson in San Rafael on Nov. 13 but fled after being confronted by Mrs. Anderson.

Lingering Effects Of Pot Are Revealed In New Study

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Government researchers, one a Nobel prize winner, said today marijuana lingers in the human body for more than eight days —a fact that may explain why some pot users require smaller and smaller doses to get high.

The study could spark new debate on the relative effects of marijuana and alcohol, since alcohol generally disappears from the blood within 12 hours after ingestion. Heroin leaves the system in about the same amount of time, cocaine somewhat more quickly.

The study by Dr. Julius Axelrod and his colleagues at the National Institute of Mental Health was published today in the Weekly Journal Science. Axelrod, 58, shared the 1970 Nobel prize for medicine for his research on the biochemistry of the nervous system.

His collaborators in the marijuana project were Dr. Irwin J. Kopin, acting chief of the Clinical Science Laboratory; Dr. Stephen D. Silberstein, 28, and Dr. Louis Lemberger, 33, Research Associates.

Using two female and one male volunteers, aged 18 to 22, who had no previous experience with marijuana, the scientists studied what the human body does with the component of marijuana that is most active in producing its physical effects —rapid heart beat, reddening of the eyes, drowsiness, hunger and difficulty in coordination.

Highly technical and cautionary, the report concluded that this compound, Delta-9-THC, and the chemical spinoffs or metabolities it produces in the body "persist in humans for long periods," indicating that both accumulate in tissues with chronic use.

"It may explain in part the phenomenon of 'reverse tolerance' seen in chronic users of marijuana," the study said.

The researchers used a newly available radioactive synthetic of Delta-9-THC which was traced in the body with a $16,000 instrument.

"The radioactive metabolities are excreted in urine and feces for more than eight days," the study said.

The dose of Delta-9-THC injected in the volunteers was only one-tenth the amount of the compound found in a marijuana cigarette. This was not enough to produce the physical effects of marijuana, Kopin said, because "we were interested in the effects of the body on the drug, not the drug on the body.

"All we are saying is that marijuana is not metabolized in man as quickly as it is in animals," he said. "It stays around longer in man. So the possibility of a cumulate effect exists."

The compound lasted four days in rats and less time in rabbits, Kopin said.

The animal studies indicated that Delta-9-THC might be stored in the lungs. If this is so, "then in man this would be even more significant since inhalation is the usual route of administration with marijuana users," Kopin said.

Driver Bayonets One Harasser To Death

SANTA CLARA (UPI)—A bayonet-wielding garage mechanic turned on four men who harrassed him and his wife and left one dead and three critically wounded. Police called it an open-and-shut case of self-defense.

John Bockkom, 40, Santa Clara, was out for a drive with his wife when the men hollered at him from another car. When he stopped, police said the four men got out and came over and started beating on Bockkom's convertible.

Bockkom sped away, but the other men chased him at high speeds for three miles.

When Bockkom arrived home, the four young men drove up behind. Two approached him with knives and the other two went to the other side and started to drag Mrs. Bockkom from the car.

Bockkom leaped out and stabbed the two on his side and then the two on the other side with an Army bayonet. Two fell and two managed to drive away, but were later apprehended in badly-wounded condition.

Bockkom told police he did not usually carry a weapon in the car, but had taken the bayonet to work that day to be sharpened.

The dead man was identified as Henry Dillon, 20, Sunnyvale. Injured were Donald Dillon, 19, Sunnyvale, and Kenneth J. Crosby, 22, and Randall J. Cook, 20, no address.

Police also arrested a girl in the car with the four men on charges of possessing and being under the influence of narcotics. She was identified as Gennie Berteaux, 19, Sunnyvale.

Childish Dispute

CROWLAND, England (UPI) —School officials refused to allow Julie Head, 6, to participate in the school Christmas party because she was wearing a trouser suit and sent her home. Her mother, Mrs. Joy Head, says she plans to protest to county education authorities.

Teen-Ager Hurt In Bike Mishap

A 14-year-old Marinwood youth was injured yesterday at 6:15 a.m. when he hit a curb and fell from his bicycle on Deepstone Drive in Marinwood.

Jamie M. McMilan, of 268 Emerystone Terrace, was treated for head injuries at Marin General Hospital.

The California Highway Patrol said McMilan, riding his bicycle west on Deepstone Drive, swerved to avoid an oncoming car and struck the curb.

Health Council Plans Directors' Election

Election of new directors and receipt of annual reports will highlight the annual public meeting of the Marin County Comprehensive Health Planning Council at 8 p.m. Jan. 13 at Pacific Gas and Electric Co. auditorium in San Rafael.

A list of 12 candidates for director has been submitted by the nominating committee. Eight or 10 will be elected to three year terms depending on an amendment to the bylaws to be voted on first, setting the number of directors at 24 or keeping the present 30, according to Michael L. Ingerman, council secretary.

Nominated were: incumbents Arthur R. Ablin of San Rafael, Mary Lee Brooks of Marin City, Barbara T. Coffie of Point Reyes, Ben W. Dial of Tiburon, Peter J. Ferrarese of Novato and Ernest N. Kettenhofen of Sausalito, Michael J. Harris of Novato, Samuel J. Mann of Belvedere, Anthony Medrano of San Rafael, Lois Jean Riboli of Corte Madera, Jack O. Rothe of Novato and Rowland R. Shepardson of San Rafael.

Annual report on the activities of the council will be made by Chairman Ray K. Bollinger. Report on finances will be given by Treasurer Donald C. Barksdale.

"Marin County's Role in Regional Health Planning," will be discussed by a panel, moderated by Mayor James F. Reed of San Anselmo. Panel members are Wallace Chipman, executive director Bay Area Comprehensive Health Planning Council; Dr. Elliot Rapaport, acting director Regional Medical Programs and J. Fred Silva, associate planner Association of Bay Area Governments.

Novato Branch Of Library Is Looted

The Novato branch of the Marin County Library at 1599 South Novato Boulevard was burglarized of $61.56 in cash and a $6.20 check between 9:05 p.m. Tuesday and 8:10 a.m. yesterday, Novato police reported yesterday.

The cash and check were taken from a desk drawer, possibly by someone who remained in the library after closing time, police said.

Youth Fined For Flag Disrespect

CLEVELAND (UPI) —A Kent State University student, who said he meant no disrespect by sewing a small American flag to the seat of his pants, pleaded guilty Wednesday to a charge of disgracing the flag.

Judge George Pillersdorf of City Court slapped the youth, Jeffery M. Simms, 18, with a $25 fine, court costs and some advice.

"This was a silly thing for you to do," the judge said. "You don't have to know the law to know what the flag symbolizes."

Appraisers To Meet On Price Of Land

In an attempt to reach agreement on a price for 5.11 acres of land in Tamalpais Valley, directors of the Tamalpais Community Services District and representatives of the Mill Valley School District have agreed to a meeting of their appraisers.

Glenn Lambacher, president of the services district board, said the board learned Wednesday night that the school district's appraiser has valued the land, which the services district owns, at $78,000. The appraiser for the services district, which hopes to purchase the property for a park, has appraised the land at $40,000.

"We hope a meeting can bring us closer to agreement," Lambacher said, adding the board has appropriated $200 to pay its appraiser to attend the session.

The school district is considering selling the property, at the corner of Eastwood Way and Glenwood Avenue, to help finance its proposed middle school.

The Most Exciting Headache News In Years!

Doctors' Tests In Treating Nervous Tension Headaches Now Made Public

Non-Narcotic Tablet That Needs No Prescription Proves Just As Effective As The Expensive, Leading Pain-Relief Prescription Of Doctors.

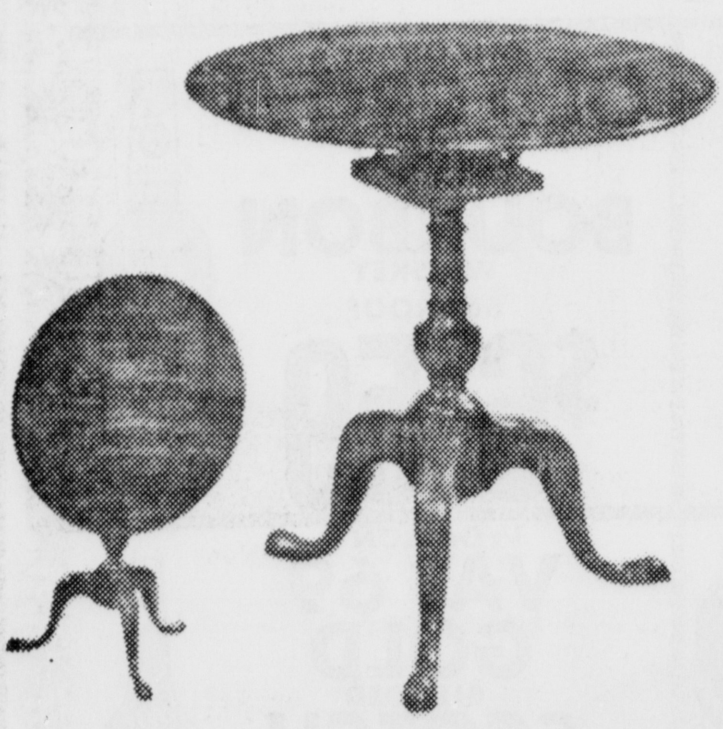
In recent medical tests doctors proved a famous tablet that needs no prescription gives the same complete headache relief as the expensive, leading prescription of doctors.

These doctors' tests proved, beyond a doubt, that Anacin is just as effective to relieve tension headaches, yet Anacin needs no prescription and is far more economical.

With Anacin, headache pain and its nervous tension vanish in minutes. Despite its strength, Anacin is not narcotic. You can take it without getting dizzy or an upset stomach.

Next time take powerful, fast-acting Anacin®. Anacin Tablets give the same complete headache pain relief as the leading prescription product for which doctors wrote 21 million prescriptions last year.



Somebody cares . . .

Of course you'll find it at Wasser's with other 18th Century tables and some very modern ones, too.

SHE WANTED A CHALLENGE

Becky Newsom, 19, of Monterey Park, said, "I just wanted a job that would be a challenge. I wanted an outdoor job." Now she's in training at Pacific Telephone where she will become an installer. She looks happy up there, doesn't she? (UPI Telephoto)

Health Council Plans Directors' Election

Election of new directors and receipt of annual reports will highlight the annual public meeting of the Marin County Comprehensive Health Planning Council at 8 p.m. Jan. 13 at Pacific Gas and Electric Co. auditorium in San Rafael.

A list of 12 candidates for director has been submitted by the nominating committee. Eight or 10 will be elected to three year terms depending on an amendment to the bylaws to be voted on first, setting the number of directors at 24 or keeping the present 30, according to Michael L. Ingerman, council secretary.

Nominated were: incumbents Arthur R. Ablin of San Rafael, Mary Lee Brooks of Marin City, Barbara T. Coffie of Point Reyes, Ben W. Dial of Tiburon, Peter J. Ferrarese of Novato and Ernest N. Kettenhofen of Sausalito, Michael J. Harris of Novato, Samuel J. Mann of Belvedere, Anthony Medrano of San Rafael, Lois Jean Riboli of Corte Madera, Jack O. Rothe of Novato and Rowland R. Shepardson of San Rafael.

Annual report on the activities of the council will be made by Chairman Ray K. Bollinger. Report on finances will be given by Treasurer Donald C. Barksdale.

"Marin County's Role in Regional Health Planning," will be discussed by a panel, moderated by Mayor James F. Reed of San Anselmo. Panel members are Wallace Chipman, executive director Bay Area Comprehensive Health Planning Council; Dr. Elliot Rapaport, acting director Regional Medical Programs and J. Fred Silva, associate planner Association of Bay Area Governments.

Youth Fined For Flag Disrespect

CLEVELAND (UPI) —A Kent State University student, who said he meant no disrespect by sewing a small American flag to the seat of his pants, pleaded guilty Wednesday to a charge of disgracing the flag.

Judge George Pillersdorf of City Court slapped the youth, Jeffery M. Simms, 18, with a $25 fine, court costs and some advice.

"This was a silly thing for you to do," the judge said. "You don't have to know the law to know what the flag symbolizes."

Novato Branch Of Library Is Looted

The Novato branch of the Marin County Library at 1599 South Novato Boulevard was burglarized of $61.56 in cash and a $6.20 check between 9:05 p.m. Tuesday and 8:10 a.m. yesterday, Novato police reported yesterday.

The cash and check were taken from a desk drawer, possibly by someone who remained in the library after closing time, police said.

Appraisers To Meet On Price Of Land

In an attempt to reach agreement on a price for 5.11 acres of land in Tamalpais Valley, directors of the Tamalpais Community Services District and representatives of the Mill Valley School District have agreed to a meeting of their appraisers.

Glenn Lambacher, president of the services district board, said the board learned Wednesday night that the school district's appraiser has valued the land, which the services district owns, at $78,000. The appraiser for the services district, which hopes to purchase the property for a park, has appraised the land at $40,000.

"We hope a meeting can bring us closer to agreement," Lambacher said, adding the board has appropriated $200 to pay its appraiser to attend the session.

Tunnel Excavation

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Fluor Corp. said its Utah Engineers & Constructors subsidiary has obtained a $9 million contract from Kennecott Copper Corp. for tunnel excavation at the Ray Mine near Kearny, Ariz.

The Most Exciting Headache News In Years!

Doctors' Tests In Treating Nervous Tension Headaches Now Made Public

Non-Narcotic Tablet That Needs No Prescription Proves Just As Effective As The Expensive, Leading Pain-Relief Prescription Of Doctors.

In recent medical tests doctors proved a famous tablet that needs no prescription gives the same complete headache relief as the expensive, leading prescription of doctors.

These doctors' tests proved, beyond a doubt, that Anacin is just as effective to relieve tension headaches, yet Anacin needs no prescription and is far more economical.

With Anacin, headache pain and its nervous tension vanish in minutes. Despite its strength, Anacin is not narcotic. You can take it without getting dizzy or an upset stomach.

Next time take powerful, fast-acting Anacin®. Anacin Tablets give the same complete headache pain relief as the leading prescription product for which doctors wrote 21 million prescriptions last year.

Hungarian Official Tells All: Corruption In Party's Ranks

By RICHARD C. LONGWORTH

Nearly 20,000 party members were punished in the past four years for breaking party discipline and 5,000 of them were expelled, Janos Brutoyo said. Of these, 4,100 were punished for "economic offenses" —mostly lining their own pockets with state money.

Brutyo is chairman of the Central Control Commission, which oversees the party's morals and membership. His speech to the party in late November only confirmed —in unusual detail and blunt language —what many Hungarians have been complaining about for years.

Nearly 25 years after it took power, Brutyo said, the party harbors too much "selfishness, grasping, favoritism, blunders, loafing, irresponsibility, absenteeism, greed, moral laxity, ostentatious living and a petty-bourgeois style of life."

The corruption problem is especially serious now that Hungary, through a series of economic and political reforms, is trying hard to inject a measure of democracy, personal responsibility and decency into its society. High-living party officials long have been an object of popular jealousy and young people —even activists —say this factor accounts for much of the apathy among Hungarian youth.

Most of the 662,000 party members lead "clean and exemplary" lives, Brutyo said. But too many have had to take punishment ranging from criticism to expulsion —sometimes followed by trial.

The 20,000 party members punished do not tell the whole story, he said, because many "violation of discipline remained unpunished because they were not discovered or were glossed over.

"There are some party members who believe they are exempt from the law," he said. "Even party branches displayed unprincipled attitudes and dispensed with the compulsory holding of disciplinary proceedings.

"Some people," Brutyo went on, "gain financial advantages for themselves in an immoral manner, without work or by offenses against the national economy or against individuals, or by getting around the laws."

Free trips abroad, fictitious overtime and non-existent "consultant" jobs are favorite ploys, he said.

"These people are the first who can buy plots, houses, cars and similar things," he said. "It is understandable if this arouses strong feelings from those who live from salaries earned by honest work."

Surprisingly, Brutyo said few party member violators are "party members in highranking positions." A Budapest rumor said one high-ranking government official skimmed off three million forints ($100,000) from official funds to buy land, a car and a villa on Lake Balaton. Hungarian insiders say this man soon will be demoted —but is unlikely to stand trial.

Surprisingly, Brutyo said few party members —"fewer than 200"—were punished for fighting the party line or other ideological faults in the past four years. This was especially low in that the four years encompassed "difficulties and contradiction in the international Communist movement"—a reference not only to the Sino-Soviet split but to the Czechoslovak invasion. Hungarian troops took part in the invasion, to the enduring embarrassment of most Hungarians.

Tax Decree For Italy Passed

ROME (UPI)—Passage of a major government tax decree to ease Italy's budget woes went almost unnoticed today in a continuing round of worker and student agitation.

The Italian senate gave final legislative approval Tuesday night to Premier Emilio Colombo's "decretone" — the "big decree" — by which he authorized sweeping tax increases on commodities ranging from gasoline to fur coats.

Marriage At Last

BEAUMONT, Tex. (UPI)—Warren August Blanton, a bachelor for all of his 70 years, married Abbie Victoria Gandy, 88, in ceremonies at an old age home where they met and live.

Push For Veterans Jobs Is Circulated

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon has sent a memorandum to all federal departments and agencies, urging the government to lead the way in finding jobs for veterans.

"Each veteran deserves the opportunity to find his place in our economic system," Nixon said. Labor Department figures showed the unemployment rate for veterans age 20 to 24 during the third quarter of this year was 9.1 per cent—compared with the national average of 5.8 per cent for November.

Cerruti Gets Housing Group's Nod

Elmo Cerruti of San Rafael has been nominated to head the Marin Edumenical Association on Housing for 1971.

He headed a slate of new officers nominated Wednesday night by a committee headed by Hazen Goddard of Terra Linda. If elected, Cerruti will succeed Douglas P. Ferguson.

Other new officers nominated for 1971 were Jean Lovejoy of San Rafael for vice president and Jackie Parnell of Tiburon for secretary-treasurer.

Election of officers will be held at the next meeting of the ecumenical association on Jan. 20. The place of meeting will be set later. Nominations will be accepted from the floor at that meeting.

Items Are Taken From Parked Car

Three Petalumans said items valued at $480 were stolen from their car yesterday while parked at 310 Edith Street.

Marvin F. Wood, Lisa V. Goldman and John Dwyer, Second and B streets, told police that tools, suitcases of clothing and a guitar were stolen.

Hungarian Official Tells All: Corruption In Party's Ranks

By RICHARD C. LONGWORTH

Nearly 20,000 party members were punished in the past four years for breaking party discipline and 5,000 of them were expelled, Janos Brutoyo said. Of these, 4,100 were punished for "economic offenses" —mostly lining their own pockets with state money.

Brutyo is chairman of the Central Control Commission, which oversees the party's morals and membership. His speech to the party in late November only confirmed —in unusual detail and blunt language —what many Hungarians have been complaining about for years.

Nearly 25 years after it took power, Brutyo said, the party harbors too much "selfishness, grasping, favoritism, blunders, loafing, irresponsibility, absenteeism, greed, moral laxity, ostentatious living and a petty-bourgeois style of life."

The corruption problem is especially serious now that Hungary, through a series of economic and political reforms, is trying hard to inject a measure of democracy, personal responsibility and decency into its society. High-living party officials long have been an object of popular jealousy and young people —even activists —say this factor accounts for much of the apathy among Hungarian youth.

Most of the 662,000 party members lead "clean and exemplary" lives, Brutyo said. But too many have had to take punishment ranging from criticism to expulsion —sometimes followed by trial.

The 20,000 party members punished do not tell the whole story, he said, because many "violation of discipline remained unpunished because they were not discovered or were glossed over.

"There are some party members who believe they are exempt from the law," he said. "Even party branches displayed unprincipled attitudes and dispensed with the compulsory holding of disciplinary proceedings.

"Some people," Brutyo went on, "gain financial advantages for themselves in an immoral manner, without work or by offenses against the national economy or against individuals, or by getting around the laws."

Free trips abroad, fictitious overtime and non-existent "consultant" jobs are favorite ploys, he said.

"These people are the first who can buy plots, houses, cars and similar things," he said. "It is understandable if this arouses strong feelings from those who live from salaries earned by honest work."

Surprisingly, Brutyo said few party member violators are "party members in highranking positions." A Budapest rumor said one high-ranking government official skimmed off three million forints ($100,000) from official funds to buy land, a car and a villa on Lake Balaton. Hungarian insiders say this man soon will be demoted —but is unlikely to stand trial.

Surprisingly, Brutyo said few party members —"fewer than 200"—were punished for fighting the party line or other ideological faults in the past four years. This was especially low in that the four years encompassed "difficulties and contradiction in the international Communist movement"—a reference not only to the Sino-Soviet split but to the Czechoslovak invasion. Hungarian troops took part in the invasion, to the enduring embarrassment of most Hungarians.

Tax Decree For Italy Passed

ROME (UPI)—Passage of a major government tax decree to ease Italy's budget woes went almost unnoticed today in a continuing round of worker and student agitation.

The Italian senate gave final legislative approval Tuesday night to Premier Emilio Colombo's "decretone" — the "big decree" — by which he authorized sweeping tax increases on commodities ranging from gasoline to fur coats.

Marriage At Last

BEAUMONT, Tex. (UPI)—Warren August Blanton, a bachelor for all of his 70 years, married Abbie Victoria Gandy, 88, in ceremonies at an old age home where they met and live.

FRANCIS DAWSON, right, member of the committee working with the Sausalito School District, which decided reading is the one major skill which needs to be developed, hows a book she will use as a volunteer tutor to Lawrence A. Lindberg, superintendent of the Sausalito School District, and, center, Mrs. Delta Christ, vice president of the board of trustees for the Sausalito School District. Mr. Lindberg expressed his high praise for Mrs. Dawson's work in a letter to the Presidio's commanding officer, offering his support to her candidacy as Military Wife of the Year.

Varied Life Of Military Wife Of Year

Mrs. R. E. Dawson of Sausalito is the Presidio of San Francisco's choice for the 1971 Military Wife of the Year. She and representatives from other Sixth Army posts are competing for Sixth Army Military Wife of the year.

After several more competitions the outstanding military wife of the U.S. Armed Forces will be announced in May.

Francis J. Dawson was chosen by a panel of military and civilian judges, searching for the military wife "whose actions epitomize the real contributions being made by military wives in improving people-to-people relationships", according to Spec. 5 Loraine M. Du Paul of the Presidio Information Office.

AS THE MEMBER of a committee working with the Sausalito School District, Mrs. Dawson is participating in a tutoring program designed to increase the reading competency of children. District superintendent Lawrence Lindberg in a letter to Col. Guy O. de Young Jr., commanding officer of the Presidio, expressed his high regard for Mrs. Dawson's work in the district's continuing education program. The military wife has worked with the district board to establish a better understanding of the problems in having military dependent children in the schools.

She was married to R. E. Dawson, current acting sergeant major for Headquarters, Sixth U.S. Army special troops, in 1944. Throughout her life as a military wife, Mrs. Dawson has continued her college education begun at Dixie College in St. George, Utah. She has studied French at Chinon, France, through the University of Maryland's on-campus extension courseand psychology at Santa Barbara City College.

During her early military years, Mrs. Dawson was active in Red Cross and taught Sunday school classes in both military and civilian churches.

A "vagabond by nature", she moved with her husband to Hawaii for two years in 1954 and began a short dancing career, learning the hula and participating in several civic festivities with the Hawaiian people. She was noted for being the only "haole" (one from the mainland) to perform with an otherwise all-Hawaiian group.

She also kept busy with church activities. During the two years she lived there she held 13 different positions, nine simultaneously, in the Hawaiian Mormon Church.

THE DAWSONS returned to the continental United States in 1956 when Sergeant Dawson was assigned to Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo., but their tour lasted only a year and they were on the move again — this time to France.

Mrs. Dawson's concern for a higher education level for American dependents in France was enhanced by her own adoption of four children; an American, two from Germany of Russian and Yugoslavian descent and one from France.

During her two year stay in France, she was both an instructor and a student, studying the language and customs of her hosts at Chinon, France, and teaching kindergarten at an American school for military dependents. She established a liaison between local schools and helped organize a student exchange program, creating good-will and a better understanding between people of the two countries.

In 1960, Mrs. Dawson accompanied her husband to Germany where she continued her teaching career at an Army dependent school. While teaching kindergarten in Germany, she faced the problem of breaking a language barrier between her Spanish-, German-, French-, and English-speaking students.

SHE RETURNED to the United States when her husband was assigned to Vietnam and lived, first in Santa Barbara, and later moved to St. George, Utah,

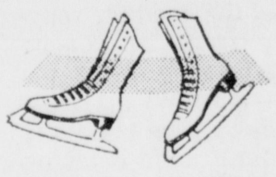
Christmas Parties In Marin

By MOLLY MARIN

Joseph and Marlene Thurston of Mill Valley and their children, Terri, Charlie and John, will be hosts Tuesday at their annual ice skating party for about 100 friends and their children.



The party will be held from 7:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. at the Ice Arena in San Francisco, which the Thurstons own and where Mrs. Thurston, who formerly skated with the ice follies, teaches ice skating.

THE EARL Reinkes of Mill Valley will have a series of post-holiday cocktail buffets in January and February instead of their usual traditional open house on New Year's Day.

MR. AND MRS. Herman Zwart and their children, Nicholas and Kristin, have returned to Mill Valley from a six weeks' trip to London and South Africa. The main purpose of the trip was to visit Mrs. Zwart's parents, Dr. and Mrs. Percival Longmore of South Africa.

Hwghlight of the trip, since they are members of the Audubon Society was a visit to Kruger National Game Reserve. They were very much impressed with how much land is being set aside for the preservation of the natural fauna and flora in Africa.

A RECEPTION honoring Marin debutant Jo Ann Bertolucci will be hosted by Mr. and Mrs. William Moriarty of Tiburon Saturday evening from 5 to 7 p.m. All of the debutants, who are bowing at the St. Francis Hotel in San Francisco Monday night, and their escorts have been invited. Jo Ann is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mario Joseph Bertolucci of Napa who were Tiburon residents for 17 years.

Some Ways To Ecologically Practice What You Preach

DEAR HELEN:

This is a suggestion for W.B. or SAFE, a leader in her school's anti-pollution campaigns. When she and her friends have difficulty convincing their harrassed parents of the need for recycling, try a new approach: We Practice What We Preach — WPWWP!

Just think of the results if each student made it his or her responsibility to see that:

1. Refundable bottles were returned to the stores.
2. Non-refundable glass containers were separated by color with labels and rings removed.
3. Newspapers were tied in bundles.
4. Aluminum cans were crushed.
5. Tin cans flattened, ends and labels removed.
6. All these properly stored and frequently delivered to recycling collection centers (which are springing up in every major — and many minor — cities these days.)

Parents, after observing the priority given this project by their children, would almost certainly continue it once the kids have left home. — D. B.

(P. S.) The above are the instructions for acceptance at our collection center.)

DEAR HELEN:

I've been married three years to a man who has never held a steady job over two months — and he's had only three jobs during all that time.

Right now he's home "sick," which means he's going to quit again.

I've picked cotton, worked in the fields (with the babies up at the end of the row because he wouldn't take care of them), just to put food in our mouths. He's strong and healthy — the only "sickness" is in his head, and I don't guess that will change.

My folks sent me money to get an aching tooth pulled, but he took it and spent it for clothes, so he could step out fancy at night. What little money we have goes for beer. If I save up to buy food stamps, he latches on to it.

We didn't want any more children, but he got careless (we couldn't afford a prescription for anything), so now I'm expecting a baby when my littlest will be 11 months old. Even this doesn't stop the beatings "when I sass back" (speak).

I'm going back to Mississippi for Christmas, even if I have to hitchhike with the kids. Last night after a big fight, he said "Stay There!", but this morning he says he'll take my babies away from me I don't come back. Can he do this? Remember, we live in the South where men have everything on their side. — WISHING FOR A CHANGE

DEAR WISHING:

Follow your husband's first advice and "Stay There!" Sometimes the best way to win a battle is by walking away. If things are as bad as you say, he can't make you or the children return. — H.

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen help you. Address Helen Bottel in care of the Independent-Journal.

Last year she volunteered more than 160 hours to the Army Community Service program. She spent many hours reading stories and singing to young patients at the Letterman General Hospital.

"Using special methods to get the youngsters interested and involved in a story and to make them feel what they are reading, helps them forget the pain," explains "Aunt Frankie", as she was known to the children in Letterman.

Nuptials In Novato

Deborah Weber became the bride of Michael Weitenhagen Saturday in a ceremony at Good Shepherd Lutheran Church in Novato. A reception at Lin Fa Gardens restaurant in Terra Linda followed the ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Patricia K. Weber of San Rafael, and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Weitenhagen of West Union, Iowa.

Janice Weber was her sister's maid of honor, and Mary Weber, also the bride's sister, was bridesmaid.

Best man was Tom Gill of Novato, and guests were ushered to their seats by Tim and Robert Cline of Novato and the bride's brother, Richard Weber.

Deborah was graduated from Holy Names High School in Oakland. She is employed by Wells Fargo Bank in San Rafael. Dan, Steve, Robert, John and James Weber are also her brothers, and she is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. J.Brady of Napa.

Michael was graduated from high school in West Union. He is employed by Pacific Telephone Co. in San Francisco. Mrs. Pat Flittie of Sioux Falls, S.D., is his sister.

CHERI CALDWELL

April Date For Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. George Caldwell are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Cheri, to Steven Roger Wick, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Wick, all of Novato.

Cheri is the sister of Debbie and Alice Caldwell, and her local grandparents are Mrs. Henry Rosselli of Petaluma and John O'Brien of San Francisco.

She was graduated from Novato High School and is employed at the Veteran's Administration in San Francisco.

Steven is serving in the Navy at San Diego. Lloyd and Rodney Wick are his brothers and his local grandmother is Mrs. Jack Clausen of Mill Valley. He was graduated from Novato High School and is serving in the Navy in San Diego.

Klyse-Anderson Vows Recited At Mission

Mission San Rafael Arcangel was the setting for the wedding of Lynne Rae Anderson to Christopher John Klyse. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Anderson of San Rafael, and his parents are Mr. and Mrs. Charles Klyse of San Rafael.

The bride's sister, Karen Anderson of San Rafael, was the maid of honor. The best man was Kim Johnstone of San Rafael, and the ushers were the bridegroom's brothers Clyde and Doug Klyse of Larkspur and San Rafael respectively.

The couple went on a wedding trip to Lake Tahoe.

A graduate of Woodrow Wilson High School in San Francisco, the bride attended the College of Marin. She is employed by the Emporium in Northgate. Frank Eischen of San Jose is her grandfather.

The bridegroom is a graduate of San Rafael High School. He attended the College of Marin and is a student at the University of Pacific in Stockton. Mrs. Cathy Coffman of San Rafael is also his sister.

The couple plan to live in Stockton in February.

Susan Reynolds Will Be Bride Of Frank Cimino

The engagement of Susan Reynolds to Frank Cimino has been announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon V. Reynolds of Mill Valley.

A February wedding is planned.

Susan is a graduate of Tamalpais High School and the University of California at Davis. She is a teacher at Shearer School in Napa and the sister of Robert Reynolds of Fairfax, Dennis and Jack Reynolds of Mill Valley.

Frank is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cimino Jr., of Madera. He is a graduate of Madera High School and Fresno State College. He is also employed by the Napa School District. Janet Cimino of Madera is his sister.

The Best Christmas Gifts Aren't Always Presents

By SANDRA HAGGERTY

"We need to get rid of these green elves and get us a secretary to handle our mail," sighed Santa Cleotis as he seated himself at the North Pole's conference table.

"Better yet, a computer," agreed Santa Montoya. "The volume is staggering."

"Paper work, paper work," chimed in Santa Red Cloud. "No time to take care of other business."

"And, the fact of the matter is," laughed Santa Claus, "once you've read one, you've read 'em all."

"They're not particularly original," agreed Santa Chin. "Dear Santa, I want, and plese send me . . ."

"Well, that is precisely the reason for this special meeting," said Santa Claus. "We've received a rather unusual letter."

Adjusting his classes on the tip of his nose, he began to read:

DEAR SANTA:

I am writing this letter because I need your help. I'm sort of confused this Christmas. (I'm just a kid.) My mom says she is 'outdone' with the department store shopping scene and that in our family this year, we'll have to give gifts instead of presents.

I know that you generally give out presents & a doll or a handkerchief or the like. But I think there is a difference between a present and a real gift.

Have you any suggestions?

Gregory

The Santas lookes at one another thoughfully.

"Humm," said Santa Montoya. "What is the nature of a gift — a real gift?"

"When I was a young boy, well over a hundred years ago," began Santa Chin, "I received a gift — something that I cherish to this day. I received from my parents, who themselves always honored and respected the aged of our family, the gift of respect and appreciation for my elders.

"This gift left no fear or shame in the minds of my people about growing old. A long life is an accomplishment — and not an inconvenience. Such respect helps to bridge the generation gaps — beautifully."

THE OTHER SANTAS began to reminisce of their childhoods and gifts they had received.

Santa Red Cloud began his saga. "My most precious gift came from my father. It was during a time of great strife, when most of my Indian brothers were being relocated on government reservations. My father refused and we spent a winter alone (our last) before joining the others.

"My father and I continued to hunt and carry out the ceremonial traditions of our people. It was then that I realized my people needed an open area — a free area, abounding with all the elements of nature — to maintain our traditions. Unlike our white brothers, we did not require enclosed edifices to practice our religious ceremonies.

"I learned to love the land."

"My gift," said Santa Montoya, "came from my mother. She refused to speak English around me and insisted that I learn to speak Spanish. Those were the days when Spanish-speaking peoples were being urged to speak only English. At the time, I was annoyed with my mother and wanted to sound as "Anglo' as possible. But, due to her tenacity, I received a grand gift — pride in the language of my ancestors."

"I THINK," said Santa Claus, "that my childhood gift came from the westward moving pioneering families. Then we were a people who had something meaningful to do — at all times. Survival was a challenge. There were obvious frontiers. Building a house and growing food was an accomplishment. I gained the gift of being able to appreciate such accomplishements.

Perhaps that is part of the unrest of our young people today. We (adults) have gone on to build complex cities for them. They have nothing to do. Perhaps that is why many of them yearn for a return to the soil and nature."

"Hum," said Santa Cleotis, stroking his kinky beard. "The gift that comes to my mind came from my younger brother. We were a family of 11 children and all but the two youngest worked in the cotton fields along with my mother and father. Food was scarce and discipline was fierce.

"Anyway, Clarence was 7 and I was 9. Unlike me (Santa Cleotis patted his 225-lb. frame) my brother was fragile, slight of frame and always soft-spoken, I generally thought of him as a 'scaredy cat' and a pest.

"One afternoon, I instigated some childhood prank — can't even remember what it was now, but the fault was clearly mine. We both knew that someone was going to catch heck when we got home. I decided to hide in the nearby woods and not return to our shack. Clarence elected to go home.

"ALL DURING the night, I heaped mental wrath on my brother, knowing that he had gone home and exonerated himself.

"Early the next morning, I returned to our shack, hating my brother. When I entered, the family was eating their early breakfast of hominy grits and honey. All but Clarence. He was already in the fields (without benefit of breakfast) picking an extra bag of cotton — punishment for my infraction.

"It was then that I first knew, even vaguely, what brotherly love was. It was a gift I never forgot."

A hush fell over the conference room.

"Man," said Santa Montoya, "if people start giving gifts instead of presents, we Santas will soon be out of work."

"But, what a way to go," said Santa Claus, smiling.

MOTHERS CREATE FAVORITES

Mothers of the children of the Mill Valley Nursery School have created some 100 puppets, which may look very familiar to child television viewers, for use in "How Oscar Learns About Christmas" at the Mill Valley Golf Clubhouse Monday. The mothers will present the show at 10 a.m., at noon, at 2 p.m. and 4 p.m. Here in top photo, Mrs. Lee Lynch makes some more puppets, which will also be sold at the performances. Delighted with two completed puppets are Sarah Lynch, left, and Diana Andrews. Patty Carpenter Wed In Las Vegas Chapel

Patricia Monaghan Carpenter and Steven Thornycroft were married in a candlelight ceremony at the Chapel of Roses in Las Vegas on Saturday.

Patty is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Carpenter of Novato, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Thornycroft of La Mirada.

The bride's only attendant was Mrs. Robert Kinsey of Hollywood. Douglas Thornycroft served as best man for his brother.

Following a reception given by the bride's parents at the Royal Inn in Las Vegas, the couple went on a wedding trip to Salt Lake City. They will live in Burbank.

Patty is the sister of Lowell, Billy, Joel and Kevin Carpenter of Novato. She was graduated from Marin Catholic High School and attended Dominican College and the College of Marin, where she studied dramatics. Since moving to Hollywood she has appeared on several television shows and plans to continue her theatrical career.

The bridegroom is in the property department at NBC television. He attended El Cerrito Junior College in Los Angeles and is a member of the Army Reserve.

The couple plan to be in Novato over the New Year holiday and a reception will be held for them at the Carpenter home on Jan. 2.

Petaluma Community Guild Lead By Mrs. W. A. O'Shea

Petaluma Community Guild members have elected Mrs. William A. O'Shea president.

Dorothy O'Shea has held the offices of vice president, secretary and ways and means chairman during eight years of membership.

The organization's ultimate purpose is to provide eye examinations and glasses for needy children residing within the Petaluma High School District. Donations of equipment to Petaluma elementary schools for testing plus other, requested donations from the community are given by the guild. Membership is invitational and limited to 30.

The guild's only fund raising activity is its annual cruise down the Petaluma River. For the past four years sixth graders from Petaluma schools have been bussed to San Francisco, boarded the empty ship, to be used for that evening's adult cruise, and sailed back to Petaluma via the river.

Mrs. O'Shea is a member of the Sonoma County Medical Auxiliary, Catholic Social Service, Petaluma Unit, United Crusade and Hillcrest Hospital Auxiliary. She and Dr. O'Shea, a radiologist, are the parents of Robert, 19; David, 17; Steven, 16; and James, 11. Bridge and traveling are her hobbies. A native of Newton, Mass., she received an R.N. degree from St. Elizabeth's Hospital in Boston and also studied at Boston College School of Nursing.

WOMEN'S WORK

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Women are finding unusually good jobs in urban planning, reports the Labor Department. A leaflet released by the department, "Why Not Be a Urban Planner?" pointed out that a big advantage to consider about a career in urban planning is the bright outlook for employment. There is a choice of jobs in most urban areas because of demands for improvement in the quality of our environment, the department said.

A Trophy Winner Tops Golf Club

Mrs. William Sarm, recently elected president of the Mill Valley Women's Golf Club, is a trophy-winning golfer who has been a member of the Mill Valley club for more than five years. She served previously as vice president, golf captain and co-captain.

She won her trophies in the East when she and her husband, who is sales manager for the O'Brien Western Division in San Francisco of the Fuller O'Brien Corporation, resided in Boston, Mass. They have lived in Marin more than five years and have one son, Geoffrey Sarm, who is married and living in Terra Linda.

Other new officers are Mrs. Vollmar Thoney, vice president; Miss Mary Weaver, secretary; and Mmes. David G. Ewell, treasurer; John Ericson, golf captain; Joe De Smet, co-captain; Parker B. Archer, North Bay chairman; Joseph Wittenmeier, Pacific Women's Golf Association chairman; and Frank Kern, parliamentarian.

MOTHERS CREATE FAVORITES

Mothers of the children of the Mill Valley Nursery School have created some 100 puppets, which may look very familiar to child television viewers, for use in "How Oscar Learns About Christmas" at the Mill Valley Golf Clubhouse Monday. The mothers will present the show at 10 a.m., at noon, at 2 p.m. and 4 p.m. Here in top photo, Mrs. Lee Lynch makes some more puppets, which will also be sold at the performances. Refuse Firm Employees Sign Pact

Drivers and helpers at Marin Sanitary Service, after thrice rejecting new contract proposals, have agreed on a three-year pact that will bring a 35 per cent pay hike over the next three years.

Guido Zanotti, president of the refuse company, said the new contract, retroactive to Dec. 1, will mean a rate increase for its 16,000 customers. He did not know how much of a boost would be sought nor when it would be asked.

About 35 employees of the company ratified the new pact Wednesday after intensive bargaining between management's representative, the California Association of Employers, and Teamsters Local 624.

Harry H. McElroy, regional manager for the employers group, said the employees had earlier rejected company offers three times.

Wages will go up 25 per cent the first year and 5 per cent the second and third years. The pay of helpers, for example, will go from $27.84 per day to $34, then to $36 and $38. Other provisions of the contract call for an extra holiday and assorted fringe benefit increases.

Methadone Plan Saving Money

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The Board of Supervisors finance committee recommended appropriating $121,629 Wednesday for the methadone treatment of heroin effects and termed it a money-saving plan.

Dr. Bery Ramer, Center for Special Problems director, who made the request, reported an 85 per cent cure rate with hard-core addicts during the experimental program's first 18 months.

During the first year of the cure, it costs the city about $1,000 per addict for treatment, while it costs about $20,000 to chase, catch, try, convict and jail an addict for a year, he added.

Prison Inmate Fails To Return

A San Quentin Prison inmate, out seeking a job under the work furlough program, failed to return to the prison last night, San Quentin officials said.

Virgil Burnside, 46, serving a term for burglary in San Bernardino County, left the prison yesterday morning and failed to return at 5 p.m.

Yule Programs To Benefit Scholarships

Two Christmas programs to benefit the Marin Shakespeare Festival's scholarship fund will be held Sunday at the Mill Valley Outdoor Art Club.

The program for children begins at 2:30 p.m. and will feature Rita Abrams, the singing school teacher, who will lead the youngsters in song and games.

Jingle Bells the Clown and Scrooge will be there, and children are asked to bring empty stockings with their names on them, which will be filled with gifts.

Miss Abrams also is featured at the second event, which begins at 7:30 p.m. Other entertainers will include Philip Sheridan, John and Ann Brebner, the San Francisco Player's Guild and the Kopatchka Dancers.

Reservations may be made by calling the Shakespeare Festival of the Mill Valley Book Depot.

Fire Training Session Set

Hamilton Air Force Base and the Novato Fire Department will host a training session and luncheon Jan. 13 for more than 80 Northern California fire chiefs and training officers.

Novato Chief James W. Kidder said a demonstration will feature the use of foam to control a large spill of flammable liquid, resembling what might happen if a fuel tanker truck met with a highway accident.

Members of the Northern California Fire Chiefs Association will attend the session at Hamilton Air Force Base, Kidder said. The city and Air Force departments will conduct the program as part of their mutual aid agreement.

Quinn Hosts Show

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) —Anthony Quinn played host on an hour-long program for Los Angeles' KMEX advising Mexican-American students and their parents about educational opportunities through scholarships.

Hearing Set On Grass Charge

A preliminary hearing for David Raymond Minard, 18, has been set for Jan. 19 in Marin Municipal Court.

Minard, of no known address, is charged with possession of marijuana. His case has also been referred to the probation department for a report Dec. 30 on whether he is acceptable to juvenile court.

He was arrested Tuesday when Novato police stopped his car on Redwood Highway because of a broken tail light. Marijuana was found in Minard's pocket and in the back seat of the car, police said.

Pope Recovers

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — Pope Paul VI is well again after a mild case of flu earlier in the week, Vatican press spokesman Federico Alessandrini said today.

New Courses Offered Adults At Drake High

Five new adult school courses have been added to the 11 already planned for the winter quarter at Sir Francis Drake High School.

Registration for the courses, which will run from Jan. 5 and 7 to March 9 and 11, will be the first night of each course.

New courses include beginning classical guitar, music appreciation, sewing with knits, weaving and modern literature.

Additional information may be obtained by calling the school.

Early Spill For Lake Near Novato

Stafford Lake, west of Novato, started to spill over yesterday, the earliest it reached its capacity in its 19-year history.

Eugene S. Churchill, manager of the North Marin County Water District, said the earliest spillover prior to yesterday was in 1955 when the lake reached capacity on Dec. 22.

When the rainy season started the lake held 1,900 acre feet of water and it now holds 4,450 acre feet, he said.

Four of the Marin Municipal Water District's five reservoirs were at capacity 12 days ago, the earliest that has happened since 1961, according to B. G. Grant, the district's administrative engineer.

He said Nicasio and Kent lakes began spilling Dec. 6, and Bon Tempe lake reached capacity the day before. Small Lagunitas Lake was full in November, but Alpine Lake at present is only 81 per cent full, Grant said.

Joan Baez To Perform Sunday

Folksinger Joan Baez is scheduled for two concerts Sunday at Pepperland in San Rafael.

At both the 7 and 9 p.m. shows, the singer will be preceded by The Frontier, a country rock band from Sonoma County.

MOTION PICTURE GUIDE

The Marin Motion Picture and Television Council provides these ratings of movies now being shown in Marin County. The council's findings are from the California and National Parent-Teacher Association magazines and the Parent's Magazine. More complete reviews may be obtained by calling the San Rafael Library.

FAMILY

"Boy Named Charlie Brown" — Delightful story of Peanuts, the comic strip character enhanced by outstanding music and unusually creative animation.

"Hard Days Night" — A day in the life of the Beatles, an amiable hilarious comedy.

"Help" — Madcap misadventures of the Beatles as they sing, play and clown their way through England, the Bahamas and the Alps.

"Let It Be" — Documentary film record of one of the Beatles rehearsals and a comedy performance. A warm lighthearted experience.

"My Side of the Mountain" — Tale relates experiences and adventures of a boy who tries to prove he can live alone close to nature for a year. Background of Canadian countryside and wild life are exciting beautiful.

"Scrooge" — Modern musical interpretation of Dicken's "A Christmas Carol". Even sophisticated viewers who know the story backwards will find this sumptuous British production in bright new wrappings with inspired talent and wit, clever songs and dance numbers a delight.

"Yellow Submarine" — Beatles in cartoon form in this fantasy about our heroes trying to save peace loving Pepperland from the anti-music Blue Meanies.

ADULTS AND TEENS

"Dr. Zhivago" — Monumental version of Pasternak's novel. Story of life in Russia during the revolution. Magnificent scenery and musical background.

'Sterile Cuckoo" — A charming tragicomedy about a lonely college girl and her first love affair and its pains and pleasures. Very well acted.

BORDERLINE

(Most sources say Adults Only)

"Catch 22" — Unusually biting antiwar film that graphically depicts the immorality and unreason war breeds. Grotesque details, bizarre, morbid and gruesome sequences shown in a series of flashback and flashforwards that adds to the confusion.

"WUSA" — Contrived melodrama about an unprincipled alcoholic who worked for a rightwing radio station. His conflict with a leftwing welfare worker presents blatant exploitations of serious problems but film does not make a responsible statement when it could.

ADULTS ONLY

"End of the Road'' — John Barth's nihilistic novel made into an innovative, shattering film, situations taken to the furthest extreme. Weird obscene film with a variety of simulated sec acts both natural and perverse. Not for the queasy.

"Joe" — Chillingly honest, well acted melodrama about today's dangerous polarization of life styles and what happens when they clash. Nudity and explicit sex and profanity. Very thought provoking.

2 Directors Of Guide Dogs Out

Two directors of Guide Dogs for the Blind Inc. of San Rafael have resigned, according to "Guide Dog News."

The guide dog publication also announced that the annual meeting of members of Guide Dogs for the Blind Inc. will be Jan. 18 at 11 a.m. at the Holiday Inn in San Rafael.

The December issue of the paper said E.O. Boyer, a director since 1955, resigned when he moved from Moraga to Sun City, Ariz.

Mrs. Donald Fisher of San Francisco a director for 11 years, resigned to devote more time to her family, the paper said.

Basic Package Of Tax Forms Being Reduced

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — The basic package of tax forms for declaring 1970 earnings has been reduced from 32 pages to 24, the district office of the Internal Revenue Service has announced.

The packet will contain schedules for itemized deductions and for reporting dividend and interest income, the district office reported.

Businessmen, farmers and those with income sources like pensions and royalties will receive forms similar to last year's.

The basic package is to be sent out to about 50 million people later this month.

Boat Swamps, Pair Rescued

Two youths have been rescued from a duck blind near Hamilton Air Force Base by members of the Marin County Sheriff's Marine Patrol.

Victor Muzio of the group said Edward Pedroli, age unknown, of 9 Romar Court, Novato, and Alfred Robello Jr. age unknown, of 532 Bret Harte Road, San Rafael, were rescued about 9:30 p.m., Tuesday, more than 12 hours after they left Buck's Landing, Santa Venetia, in a small boat.

Muzio said the boat was swamped during Tuesday afternoon's storm.

Wages will go up 25 per cent the first year and 5 per cent the second and third years. The pay of helpers, for example, will go from $27.84 per day to $34, then to $36 and $38. Other provisions of the contract call for an extra holiday and assorted fringe benefit increases.

Methadone Plan Saving Money

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The Board of Supervisors finance committee recommended appropriating $121,629 Wednesday for the methadone treatment of heroin effects and termed it a money-saving plan.

Dr. Bery Ramer, Center for Special Problems director, who made the request, reported an 85 per cent cure rate with hard-core addicts during the experimental program's first 18 months.

During the first year of the cure, it costs the city about $1,000 per addict for treatment, while it costs about $20,000 to chase, catch, try, convict and jail an addict for a year, he added.

Prison Inmate Fails To Return

A San Quentin Prison inmate, out seeking a job under the work furlough program, failed to return to the prison last night, San Quentin officials said.

Virgil Burnside, 46, serving a term for burglary in San Bernardino County, left the prison yesterday morning and failed to return at 5 p.m.

Yule Programs To Benefit Scholarships

Two Christmas programs to benefit the Marin Shakespeare Festival's scholarship fund will be held Sunday at the Mill Valley Outdoor Art Club.

The program for children begins at 2:30 p.m. and will feature Rita Abrams, the singing school teacher, who will lead the youngsters in song and games.

Jingle Bells the Clown and Scrooge will be there, and children are asked to bring empty stockings with their names on them, which will be filled with gifts.

Miss Abrams also is featured at the second event, which begins at 7:3[illegible] p.m. Other entertainers will include Philip Sheridan, John and Ann Brebner, the San Francisco Player's Guild and the Kopatchka Dancers.

Reservations may be made by calling the Shakespeare Festival of the Mill Valley Book Depot.

Fire Training Session Set

Hamilton Air Force Base and the Novato Fire Department will host a training session and luncheon Jan. 13 for more than 80 Northern California fire chiefs and training officers.

Novato Chief James W. Kidder said a demonstration will feature the use of foam to control a large spill of flammable liquid, resembling what might happen if a fuel tanker truck met with a highway accident.

Members of the Northern California Fire Chiefs Association will attend the session at Hamilton Air Force Base, Kidder said. The city and Air Force departments will conduct the program as part of their mutual aid agreement.

Quinn Hosts Show

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) —Anthony Quinn played host on an hour-long program for Los Angeles' KMEX advising Mexican-American students and their parents about educational opportunities through scholarships.

Hearing Set On Grass Charge

A preliminary hearing for David Raymond Minard, 18, has been set for Jan. 19 in Marin Municipal Court.

Minard, of no known address, is charged with possession of marijuana. His case has also been referred to the probation department for a report Dec. 30 on whether he is acceptable to juvenile court.

He was arrested Tuesday when Novato police stopped his car on Redwood Highway because of a broken tail light. Marijuana was found in Minard's pocket and in the back seat of the car, police said.

Early Spill For Lake Near Novato

Stafford Lake, west of Novato, started to spill over yesterday, the earliest it reached its capacity in its 19-year history.

Eugene S. Churchill, manager of the North Marin County Water District, said the earliest spillover prior to yesterday was in 1955 when the lake reached capacity on Dec. 22.

When the rainy season started the lake held 1,900 acre feet of water and it now holds 4,450 acre feet, he said.

Four of the Marin Municipal Water District's five reservoirs were at capacity 12 days ago, the earliest that has happened since 1961, according to B. G. Grant, the district's administrative engineer.

He said Nicasio and Kent lakes began spilling Dec. 6, and Bon Tempe lake reached capacity the day before. Small Lagunitas Lake was full in November, but Alpine Lake at present is only 81 per cent full, Grant said.

Joan Baez To Perform Sunday

Folksinger Joan Baez is scheduled for two concerts Sunday at Pepperland in San Rafael.

At both the 7 and 9 p.m. shows, the singer will be preceded by The Frontier, a country rock band from Sonoma County.

MOTION PICTURE GUIDE

The Marin Motion Picture and Television Council provides these ratings of movies now being shown in Marin County. The council's findings are from the California and National Parent-Teacher Association magazines and the Parent's Magazine. More complete reviews may be obtained by calling the San Rafael Library.

FAMILY

"Boy Named Charlie Brown" — Delightful story of Peanuts, the comic strip character enhanced by outstanding music and unusually creative animation.

"Hard Days Night" — A day in the life of the Beatles, an amiable hilarious comedy.

"Help" — Madcap misadventures of the Beatles as they sing, play and clown their way through England, the Bahamas and the Alps.

"Let It Be" — Documentary film record of one of the Beatles rehearsals and a comedy performance. A warm lighthearted experience.

"My Side of the Mountain" — Tale relates experiences and adventures of a boy who tries to prove he can live alone close to nature for a year. Background of Canadian countryside and wild life are exciting beautiful.

"Scrooge" — Modern musical interpretation of Dicken's "A Christmas Carol". Even sophisticated viewers who know the story backwards will find this sumptuous British production in bright new wrappings with inspired talent and wit, clever songs and dance numbers a delight.

"Yellow Submarine" — Beatles in cartoon form in this fantasy about our heroes trying to save peace loving Pepperland from the anti-music Blue Meanies.

ADULTS AND TEENS

"Dr. Zhivago" — Monumental version of Pasternak's novel. Story of life in Russia during the revolution. Magnificent scenery and musical background.

'Sterile Cuckoo" — A charming tragicomedy about a lonely college girl and her first love affair and its pains and pleasures. Very well acted.

BORDERLINE

(Most sources say Adults Only)

"Catch 22" — Unusually biting antiwar film that graphically depicts the immorality and unreason war breeds. Grotesque details, bizarre, morbid and gruesome sequences shown in a series of flashback and flashforwards that adds to the confusion.

"WUSA" — Contrived melodrama about an unprincipled alcoholic who worked for a rightwing radio station. His conflict with a leftwing welfare worker presents blatant exploitations of serious problems but film does not make a responsible statement when it could.

ADULTS ONLY

"End of the Road" — John Barth's nihilistic novel made into an innovative, shattering film, situations taken to the furthest extreme. Weird obscene film with a variety of simulated sec acts both natural and perverse. Not for the queasy.

"Joe" — Chillingly honest, well acted melodrama about today's dangerous polarization of life styles and what happens when they clash. Nudity and explicit sex and profanity. Very thought provoking.

2 Directors Of Guide Dogs Out

Two directors of Guide Dogs for the Blind Inc. of San Rafael have resigned, according to "Guide Dog News."

The guide dog publication also announced that the annual meeting of members of Guide Dogs for the Blind Inc. will be Jan. 18 at 11 a.m. at the Holiday Inn in San Rafael.

The December issue of the paper said E.O. Boyer, a director since 1955, resigned when he moved from Moraga to Sun City, Ariz.

Mrs. Donald Fisher of San Francisco a director for 11 years, resigned to devote more time to her family, the paper said.

Basic Package Of Tax Forms Being Reduced

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — The basic package of tax forms for declaring 1970 earnings has been reduced from 32 pages to 24, the district office of the Internal Revenue Service has announced.

The packet will contain schedules for itemized deductions and for reporting dividend and interest income, the district office reported.

Businessmen, farmers and those with income sources like pensions and royalties will receive forms similar to last year's.

The basic package is to be sent out to about 50 million people later this month.

Boat Swamps, Pair Rescued

Two youths have been rescued from a duck blind near Hamilton Air Force Base by members of the Marin County Sheriff's Marine Patrol.

Victor Muzio of the group said Edward Pedroli, age unknown, of 9 Romar Court, Novato, and Alfred Robello Jr. age unknown, of 532 Bret Harte Road, San Rafael, were rescued about 9:30 p.m., Tuesday, more than 12 hours after they left Buck's Landing, Santa Venetia, in a small boat.

Muzio said the boat was swamped during Tuesday afternoon's storm.

Extension Of Culvert Draws Fire

The Patricia Lane culvert project in Mill Valley should be modified despite the objections of a property owner, the Mill Valley Flood Control Zone Advisory board has decided.

County Flood Control Engineer Charles E. Murphy said the board recommended Wednesday night that the Marin County Board of Supervisors authorize extension of a box culvert upstream through the property of Benjamin F. Wheeler.

Wheeler, of 84 Lomite Drive, attended the meeting and objected to the extension. Murphy said he indicated the county would have to condemn his property if it wanted to install the culvert.

The $40,000 project would be increased by $5,000 to $10,000 if the supervisors agree to the expansion, Murphy said, but "the advisory board felt that this (the extension) is the only way to relieve flooding in the area."

The advisory board also asked supervisors to drop the $30,000 Marin Avenue creek project from this year's budget after being informed the work may cost twice that amount or even more.

Murphy said problems in acquiring right-of-way for the project in Tamalpais Valley would raise the price to about $60,000. The cost might be reduced, however, if the work is done after the county acquires land for the widening of Tennessee Valley Road, since the two rights-of-way are the same in some areas.

The flood control advisory board also:

ALTO BOWL — Heard that the Sutton Manor flood control study should be complete by January or February. When finished, the study will give a total picture of flood control needs in the Alto Bowl, Murphy said.

COYOTA CREEK — Was told that the district is looking for a dumping site for about 20,000 cubic yards of mud to be dredged from Coyote Creek in Tamalpais Valley. If the site is found the project can begin in the spring, Murphy said.

FUND — Heard that a maintenance fund for minor projects in the district will be included in the 1971-72 budget and provisions made for work to be done on a priority basis.

Vintage Car Body Stolen

The body of a 1932 or 1934 Ford was stolen from a Forest Knolls garage Monday, Marin County Sheriff's Office has reported.

The car was owned by Scott D. Weaver of South Ventura Avenue, Lagunitas, deputies said.

Superintendent Apologizes For Article On 'Kidnapping'

An article in this week's Bolinas school newspaper accusing a deputy sheriff of "kidnapping" children has drawn an apology from the school district's superintendent and a promise that "it won't happen again."

Supt. Lester M. Horning said he did not see the newspaper before its publication and was "greatly surprised and dismayed" when the story was brought to his attention.

The article, by Hacsi Horvath of Bolinas, a sixth grade student at the school begins: "On Thursday, Nov. 12, the cops kidnapped my brothers and sister while my mom (Diane Horvath) was in Marshall with my little sister."

The youngster tells of running around town hiding from "the cop" (Deputy Sheriff Joseph G. Kelly). And while Kelly is not mentioned by name in the first story, a second article by the Horvath boy, titled "Petition," urgers readers to "go the Scowleys (restaurant) in Bolinas if you would like to sign a petition to get Joe Kelly off the police force because he is very mean ."

Horning said he has never before had reason to edit or censor the paper which is published in a class conducted by teachers Marsha Hensill and William Niman. A parent, Mrs. Nancy Borgstrom, assists the youngsters in assembling the paper, typing it and running it off.

"It's always been a typical little grade school paper with stories and cartoons by the students," Horning explained, adding firmly that the newspaper "certainly should not be used for printing incriminating stories about individuals."

The superintendent said he has talked with both teachers involved "and they agreed this kind of thing shouldn't happen again." Horning said he has personally apologized to Kelly and also written a letter of apology to the deputy.

He promised that in the future he will inspect each issue of the newspaper before it is printed.

Kelly told the Independent-Journal he went to the Horvath home Nov. 12 to remove the five Horvath children to a receiving home because they were not being properly cared for. "We found the children, including a little girl about 3 years old playing out in the rain, with no one in the house capable of caring for them," Kelly explained. "This is a child neglect case which has been going on for about eight months and I've been involved in most of it," he continued. "The home is filthy; there is very little supervision and often no food."

According to the deputy, Mrs. Horvath's youngsters have been taken away from her twice by juvenile authorities, "the first time on the complaint of her (Mrs. Horvath's) mother. He said in November Mrs. Horvath had discovered where the children had been taken, gone to the house and taken them back to Bolinas to hide them.

He said a hearing on the child neglect charge and the custody of the children will be held Monday at 8:30 a.m. in Marin Juvenile Court.

Kelly appeared unconcerned by the article or the petition Mrs. Horvath has been circulating for the last several weeks to remove him from Bolinas where he has worked for the last year. "We are going to use the article as part of our evidence in court," he said.

Innocent Plea To Car Theft Charge

Gary Lee Evans, 21, of Novato, has pleaded innocent in Marin Municipal Court to charges of car theft and concealing stolen property. A preliminary hearing was set for Dec. 29.

Evans was arrested recently after parts from a car stolen from a Novato man were reportedly traced to his home at 450 School Street. The car, stolen June 30, was later found stripped on a fire trail near Novato.

DINING OUT AND INNS

By HARRY CRAFT

New Year's Eve Suggestion: New Alvarado Inn At Ignacio

With as much certainty for success as anything can be judged these days, the new Alvarado Inn at Ignacio has been enjoying unusually good patronage for a place so recently opened.

There is no great secret to its popular appeal. It is in a good location — as good as any in the Ignacio area. Wire fences shutting off service road business used to be regarded as a handicap. Not any more — people are used to them and reconciled to finding some way to drive around them. For Alvarado Inn, all you have to remember, driving from either direction, is to watch for the Igancio Boulevard turn-off, then make a sharp right turn into the west service road along the 101, allowing for a couple of one-way passages.

New decor is another thing in the inn's favor. Completely remodeled, it's warm and comfortable, tasteful and simple. Former dust catchers have been removed and I don't believe the present ownership is about to replace them.

The simplicity extends into the menu itself. There are just six entrees for dinner —baked lasagne, chicken Alvarado, chicken cacciatore, veal scaloppini a la Romano, top sirloin and New York steaks — in a price range from $3.50 to $5.95 for the complete dinner.

The wine list is equally simple, with most bottlings confined to Paul Masson, except for champagnes and house wine. The latter is a good, honest wine and is served by the decanter.

The management knows what it is doing. President of the corporation Dave Kahler and vice president Bob Doiron both have had previous restaurant experience. Bar and catering manager Sam Carlozo is just as experienced in his field, and chef Nello Russo needs no testimonials. He's been in the profession many years and has made good at it.

Alvarado Inn will be closed on Christmas Eve after the parties are all over, and also on Christmas Day.

New Year's Eve will be another matter. There will be a special dinner menu with prime rib, New York steak and veal scaloppini as choices. Jimmy Diamond and his group will play for dancing.

No reservations will be taken that night. The best you can do will be to place a call just before you go there and inquire on the existing seating. Everyone will have an equal chance. There's also a reasonable overnight package available here, enabling you to keep off the highway. Motel rooms have all been refurnished.

HERE'S ANOTHER SUGGESTION for New Year's Eve — but you will have to make reservations quickly. This is at La Petite Auberge in San Rafael.

At this writing there were still a few tables open for the dinner party that night, starting at 10 p.m. A special menu will be served at $14 per person. There will be entertainment through the evening.

Early dinner on New Year's Eve, when the regular menu will be served, stops at 8 p.m. in order to allow time to get the dining room ready for the later festivities.

La Petite Auberge will be closed Christmas Eve and Christmas Day.

THE VILLA RAFAEL RESTAURANT at 1600 Lincoln Avenue, San Rafael plans on being open all day Christmas. A turkey dinner with all the trimmings will be served at $3.50.

For entertainment New Year's Eve, Ed Hannigan is bringing in The Unpredictables, who will also be there on Saturday nights thereafter.

LIN FA GARDENS at Northgate Shopping Center will be closed Friday, Saturday and Sunday over the Christmas holiday.

During the following New Year's weekend it will be open Friday and Saturday but not on Sunday. Organist Ray Miller, who is there on Friday and Saturday nights, will play New Year's Eve.

ANOTHER CLOSING on Christmas Day will be at the Grotto in San Rafael. But it will be open Friday, Saturday and Sunday on the following New Year's weekend, serving its regular seafood menu.

After that it will close for a two-week period while Stan and Ursula Valan and their staff take a vacation — opening again on Monday, Jan. 14.

REMEMBER these two events scheduled for next week:

Sabella's in Marin will hold its annual Christmas party for the youngsters Monday evening, with Santa Claus and live reindeer. There are two dinner periods at 6 and 8 p.m. Make reservations at once.

Ramona's is holding its Mexican Posadas ceremony on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday nights, with a procession around the block from this San Rafael restaurant, starting at 8:30 p.m. Make reservations.

Both places will be closed Christmas Day.

ALFRED BARTHEL, owner of Senor Alfredo's Mexico Restaurant in San Anselmo palsn to close for lunches Monday through Thursday next week and to close all day on Friday, Christmas Day. However, he will open the Saturday and Sunday after Christmas.

During the last week of the month he'll give regular menu service, including on New Year's Eve and will also be open New Year's Day — a time when Mexican food is particularly enjoyable.

THE PATHFINDER TEAROOM operation at the Marin Art and Garden Center in Ross is now suspended for the holidays.

Its reopening, with a list of new menus, is slated for Jan. 12 when regular Tuesday and Thursday luncheons will be open to the public. The tearoom will also be available again to private parties.

ON THE TOP FLOOR of the downtown San Rafael Reynold C. Johnson Building, Bernard's Executive Lounge will open Christmas Eve, but close Christmas Day and Saturday and Sunday.

But the following weekend will be a place to celebrate the old year out and new year in with dinner, music and dancing.

And on New Year's Day there will be a colored TV for the ball game. Special fare that day will be "cafeteria round" — roast beef, spaghetti and a fizz for $2.50. Make reservations for both events.

HERE'S AN OPENING on Christmas Day — at the Old Viking in Lagunitas. Matts and Phyllis Mattsson will serve a Christmas turkey dinner plus their regular menu and hot "glogg" in the traditional Swedish custom.

New Year's Eve the Old Viking will be open — no party, just a quiet evening with the regular menu — and also on New Year's Day. The herring salad is almost a must on these occasions. Reservations — definitely.

THE EXCHANGE is the new group at Gatsby's in Sausalito, playing Monday and Tuesday evenings from 9:30 p.m. until closing.

Patty Parsons, Dale Jared and Ron Wells have been performing as a group only a few months, but individually they have impressive backgrounds.

Patty, the lead vocalist, has a master's degree in music and has performed at formal billings. Dale is a 12-string guitarist who writes music and has done an album. Ron, a native of Kentucky and a guitarist. He has been with big-name groups.

A FESTIVAL HOLIDAY MENU will be featured at Bill and Adolph's West End Villa New Year's Eve, with a choice of entrees. Dinner will be served from 6 p.m. to midnight. Reservations are very much in order.

The Villa will be closed New Year's Day.

ONLY 100 GUESTS will celebrate the New Year celebration of Les Bon Vinants — the wine and food society formed by Fred Cherry when he operated Cafe Bon Vin in San Anselmo.

Fred is putting this on with Richard Willette, executive chef of Tamal Food Service, where reservations should be made. Ask for Miss Alexander.

Served will be an international buffet and dinner, mainly of beef Wellington and champagne, with incidentals — like specialties from eight different countries, with wine discoveries from each land.

DINING OUT AND INNS

By HARRY CRAFT

New Year's Eve Suggestion: New Alvarado Inn At Ignacio

With as much certainty for success as anything can be judged these days, the new Alvarado Inn at Ignacio has been enjoying unusually good patronage for a place so recently opened.

There is no great secret to its popular appeal. It is in a good location — as good as any in the Ignacio area. Wire fences shutting off service road business used to be regarded as a handicap. Not any more — people are used to them and reconciled to finding some way to drive around them. For Alvarado Inn, all you have to remember, driving from either direction, is to watch for the Igancio Boulevard turn-off, then make a sharp right turn into the west service road along the 101, allowing for a couple of one-way passages.

New decor is another thing in the inn's favor. Completely remodeled, it's warm and comfortable, tasteful and simple. Former dust catchers have been removed and I don't believe the present ownership is about to replace them.

The simplicity extends into the menu itself. There are just six entrees for dinner —baked lasagne, chicken Alvarado, chicken cacciatore, veal scaloppini a la Romano, top sirloin and New York steaks — in a price range from $3.50 to $5.95 for the complete dinner.

POLLUTION

Ecological Sin Strikes Russia

By DUSTON HARVEY
United Press International

Environmental pollution isn't a monopoly of capitalistic countries —which is one reason the Russians are experimenting with aritficial caviar.

The Soviet ecological disasters have a familiar ring:

"Rivers that blaze with fire, smog that suffocates cities, streams that vomit dead fish, oil slicks that blacken seacoasts, prized beaches that vanish in the waves, and lakes that evaporate and die a slow smelly death."

They are described by Marshall I. Goldman, an economics professor at Wellesley College and associate of Harvard's Russian Research Center, in "Science" magazine.

The Russians have started experimenting with the production of artificial caviar because the natural output of the delicacy has fallen drastically in recent years, Goldman reported.

The reasons: a reduction of the spawning area of the sturgeon —the fish which produces caviar —because the Caspian Sea has fallen eight feet in the past 20 years as dams and reservoirs were built upstream, and has become polluted with oil dumped by refineries and tankers.

The fish catch from the Caspian was cut almost in half during the two decades and the output of caviar —a major earner of foreign exchange for the Russians —also declined drastically.

That's just one example given by Goldman, who says "comparing pollution in the United States and in the USSR is something like a game. Any depressing story that can be told about an incident in the United States can be matched by a horror story from the USSR."

Some of his stories:

—Most Soviet cities have smog, despite an annual automobile production less than one-tenth that of the U.S. Tbilisi, the capital of the Republic of Georgia, has smog almost six months of the year. A dark blue cap covers several cities with metallurgical industries.

—Forests at Yasnaya Polyana —the site of Leo Tolstoy's summer home —are reported near extinction from fumes emitted by a nearby chemical plant.

—Fish kills have occurred in several major rivers, all of which are considered highly polluted. The Molognaia River in the Ukraine and several others throughout the country are classified as dead. In 1965, a careless smoker tossed a cigarette into the Iset River at Sverdlovsk and it caught fire.

—Like the Caspian, the Aral Sea is gradually disappearing. It dropped 3 to 9 feet in the past decade as water was diverted for irrigation and hydroelectric dams were built upstream. Some Soviet authorities fear the shallow sea will be nothing but a salt marsh by the turn of the century.

—Construction of paper and pulp mills on the shores of Lake Baikal are polluting one of the largest, deepest and purest freshwater lakes in the world. The plants, and towns which grew up around them, are pouring treated effluent into the lake, reducing animal and plant life in some sections by one-third to one-half.

Goldman says these ecological disasters indicate a socialist or Communist country can abuse its environment in the same way as a nation with a capitalistic economy.

"This is especially important for those who have come to believe as basic doctrine that it is capitalism and private greed that are the root cause of environmental pollution," he wrote.

Goldman says many of the usual economic explanations for pollution under a free enterprise system also hold in Russia: failure to include social costs, such as air pollution, as an expense of doing business; the idea that fresh air and water are free goods; confused lines of authority for enforcing anti-pollution laws; urbanization; industrialization and rapid population growth.

In addition, he suggests a Socialist country has special problems of its own which offset the advantages of centralization.

These include concentration of economic power so that mistakes are more far-reaching; rating of state officials almost entirely on their region's economic growth; lack of voters to put conservation pressure on politicians, and no private property owners who can protest abuses like the destruction of resort beaches on the Black Sea.

A comparison of the two countries shows it is industrialization, and not private enterprise, that is the primary cause of environmental disruption, Goldman contends.

"This suggests that state ownership of all productive resources is not a cure-all. The replacement of private greed by public greed is not much of an improvement."

POLLUTION

Ecological Sin Strikes Russia

By DUSTON HARVEY
United Press International

Environmental pollution isn't a monopoly of capitalistic countries —which is one reason the Russians are experimenting with aritficial caviar.

The Soviet ecological disasters have a familiar ring:

"Rivers that blaze with fire, smog that suffocates cities, streams that vomit dead fish, oil slicks that blacken seacoasts, prized beaches that vanish in the waves, and lakes that evaporate and die a slow smelly death."

They are described by Marshall I. Goldman, an economics professor at Wellesley College and associate of Harvard's Russian Research Center, in "Science" magazine.

The Russians have started experimenting with the production of artificial caviar because the natural output of the delicacy has fallen drastically in recent years, Goldman reported.

The reasons: a reduction of the spawning area of the sturgeon —the fish which produces caviar —because the Caspian Sea has fallen eight feet in the past 20 years as dams and reservoirs were built upstream, and has become polluted with oil dumped by refineries and tankers.

The fish catch from the Caspian was cut almost in half during the two decades and the output of caviar —a major earner of foreign exchange for the Russians —also declined drastically.

That's just one example given by Goldman, who says "comparing pollution in the United States and in the USSR is something like a game. Any depressing story that can be told about an incident in the United States can be matched by a horror story from the USSR."

Some of his stories:

—Most Soviet cities have smog, despite an annual automobile production less than one-tenth that of the U.S. Tbilisi, the capital of the Republic of Georgia, has smog almost six months of the year. A dark blue cap covers several cities with metallurgical industries.

—Forests at Yasnaya Polyana —the site of Leo Tolstoy's summer home —are reported near extinction from fumes emitted by a nearby chemical plant.

—Fish kills have occurred in several major rivers, all of which are considered highly polluted. The Molognaia River in the Ukraine and several others throughout the country are classified as dead. In 1965, a careless smoker tossed a cigarette into the Iset River at Sverdlovsk and it caught fire.

—Like the Caspian, the Aral Sea is gradually disappearing. It dropped 3 to 9 feet in the past decade as water was diverted for irrigation and hydroelectric dams were built upstream. Some Soviet authorities fear the shallow sea will be nothing but a salt marsh by the turn of the century.

BCDC Sees Legislative Drive To Weaken Powers

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — A drive to weaken the San Francisco Bay Conservation and Development Commission will be launched in the upcoming session of the Legislature, the commission's chairman warned yesterday.

The aim of the drive will be to allow extensive development on the San Francisco waterfront — such as the mammoth Ferry Port Plaza rejected two weeks ago by BCDC, said chairman Melvin B. Lane of Menlo Park. The 10-story project would extend out into the bay by the length of more than four football fields, and would be twice the size of the Cow Palace.

Lane told commissioners that "there certainly will be some very effective, well-organized efforts to amend the law to allow the sorts of development planned on San Francisco's waterfront."

Executive director Joseph E. Bodovitz noted that the commission itself probably will have to seek legislation to allow it to impose fees on all applicants for permits.

He reported that while the Reagan administration had included in its tentative budget the $284,000 asked for next fiscal year by the commission, it also had asked the commission to raise at least $25,000 by fees. The administration long has maintained that the Bay Area should start assuming the cost of the commission.

Bodovitz said that while fees could be imposed on private developers, it would take new legislation to empower their imposition on public agencies.

The commission's budget for this fiscal year is $265,899.

Bodovitz said the proposed legislation would be considered by the commission at a future meeting.

Suspects Booked On Auto Theft

Two Marinwood teen-agers have been booked at Marin County Juvenile Hall on suspicion of car theft.

Thomas Jay Kisling, 14, of 325 Ironstone Court and Matthew Ernest Gurish, 15, of 272 Blackstone Drive were arrested by Marin County sheriff's deputies at about 12:30 p.m. Wednesday on Miller Creek Road, Marinwood.

Kisling was driving a car, deputies said, owned by Lester Taylor of 1017 Simmins Lane, Novato. It had been stolen about 11 a.m. from the Disco parking lot in Larkspur.

67,000 Tires To Be Recalled

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Transportation Department reports that Gates Rubber Co., Denver, Colo., has agreed to recall about 67,000 tires which the government said failed to meet strength tests.

The safety bureau said continuous use of the tires "could be hazardous under certain circumstances." The company said the highway performance record of the tires, however, indicated no safety related problems.

CHOIR OF ANGELS TO THE ELDERLY

Children from San Rafael's Short School caroling (above) are spreading some of their youthful Christmas joy among the elderly in San Rafael convalescent hospitals. While Christmas is a time of expectation for the youngsters, it is often a time of poignant memories for the old. For at least one resident of San Rafael Rest Home yesterday, the happy voices of the 50 youngsters, grade one to three, brought a rush of memories (below) and she cried quietly through her hand. The Christmas singers organized by teachers Sandra Malstrom, Neal Brengle and Zel Hinshaw have visited two other convalescent hospitals to sing traditional carols like "Silent Night" and "Jingle Bells."

263 Acres Of Marin Land On Agency's Shopping List

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Acquisition of 263 acres of Marin County marshland, tidal flats and creek frontage at a cost of $1.7 million was recommended yesterday by the San Franicsco Bay Conservation and Development Commission.

The recommendations came in the commission's first annual shopping list of acreage it would like to see bought by public agencies to reserve it for specific uses. There were only four parcels on the list, and all were in Marin.

The recommendations, drafted by the BCDC staff, also urged the purchases be made by the county through combinations of general fund and federal grant money and lease-purchase.

The 1969 state law that gave BCDC its current powers provided that the commission draft such a list annually. Development on such properties could be rejected for three years after inclusion in the annual list. After three years, development still would be limited to those uses allowed in the commission's bay plan.

Executive director Joseph E. Bodovitz said that the properties also would be recommended by the county for public acquisition.

Also listed, for port purposes, were four East Bay parcels.

The four recreation sites in Marin are: two to three acres of marsh and upland at Black Point for $50,000; 10 acres of tidal flats in Richardson Bay for $350,000; 200 acres of bay and creek fronting on Gallinas Creek for $800,000, and 50 acres of Petaluma Creek frontage for $500,000.

The commission's staff was unable to cite the specific locations of the acreage on the list.

Plea Set On Drug Charges

Kevin Richard Stein of San Rafael was arraigned Wednesday in Marin Municipal Court on charges of possessing marijuana and LSD.

He is to enter a plea Tuesday.

Stein, 23, was arrested Saturday after San Rafael police saw him sitting on a fence smoking a hand rolled cigarette.

Mexicans Held, To Be Shipped To Homeland

Eight Mexican nationals, said by the U.S. Immigration Service to have entered the country illegally, have been arrested in the San Rafael area.

All of them were working in the area, said Emil H. Pullin, district immigration director. All will be sent back to Mexico, he said.

Booked into Marin County Jail Wednesday were Daniel Yepes Rivera, 38; Tomas Garcia Mendosa, 23; Enrique Medina Silva, 23; Santos Mendoza Cervantes, 18; Concio Garcia Mendosa, 49; Jesus Sanchez Castrezon, 21; Rafael Lopes Chavez, 20; and Antonio Sauceda Guzman, 32.

Pullin said that they were employed as dishwashers, garbage men and laborers. He did not disclose the exact location of the arrests.

OEA Is Alive And Fighting, Says Boss

WASHINGTON (UPI) —"If that's what makes them happy, I'm not going to argue about it any more. I'm fed up. If they want to keep saying Rumsfeld is dismembering the poverty program, let 'em."

Don Rumsfeld seems frustrated by his inability to convey what seems to him to be conclusive proof of his own good intentions as director of the Office of Economic Opportunity (OEO). But the 38-year-old former congressman who was President Nixon's surprise choice to head the antipoverty agency is far from disillusioned.

"Remember this. Everybody knew Lyndon Johnson was sick of this program by 1968. And everybody expected Richard Nixon to abolish it within six months in 1969.

"But he didn't. It's here. It's operating. The budget is up and there are good people, fabulous people, working in this office."

Nixon, Rumsfeld said, has been reported to have decided to kill off OEO at least five times since taking office. The last time, he said, was when an erroneous report based on "stolen" low-level working memoes pictured Nixon as planning to cut the OEO budget in half. Rumsfeld said the White House got letters both praising and damning Nixon and added "he probably hasn't got anything left to either gain or lose" no matter what he does with OEO.

Rumsfeld wouldn't talk about OEO's 1972 budget (Congress hasn't approved the current year request), but said he has asked for more money next year.

After 18 months in the big, airy corner office at OEO headquarters, Rumsfeld retains boyish vigor and an easy, toothy grin that sets him apart from the capital's corps of gray senior bureaucrats. But he has changed since he showed up in Washington seven years ago as a bouncing young congressman from Chicago's north shore district.

Although shuffled off to the more obscure House committees, Rumsfeld made himself known as a young man of good intentions who was open to new ideas within the scope of his mid-stream Republican political persuasion.

On balance, he was not one of the congressional no-men, although he did vote against the bill creating OEO.

Given the OEO job, he bubbled with enthusiasm, starting with a crusade to convince all that Richard Nixon and his agent, Donald Rumsfeld, were out to do a better job with the mechanism the Democrats created to fight chronic poverty. But every time Rumsfeld did something at OEO he understood to be the interests of better services to the poor or more efficient management of a limited budget, someone would darkly suggest that the "hidden agenda" of the Nixon Administration was to kill off the antipoverty program.

Rumsfeld says now, as he said then, it isn't so. Flipping the pages of a budget justification book, he said in a recent interview: "Look. We're up in health and family planning for the poor, up in legal services, up in research and development. We've increased programs for the aged, for migrant farm workers, for Indians. The percentage of minority group members in (upper level) civil service jobs in OEO has increased from 17 per cent to 23 per cent.

Rumsfeld finds galling the charges that he is trying to cut up the Legal Services program. He said the discharge of director Terry Lenzner was based on personality conflicts and waved his hand at a chart showing steady budget increases (from $46 million to $61 million) for the program under the Republicans.

A JUMP ON CHRISTMAS

OEA Is Alive And Fighting, Says Boss

WASHINGTON (UPI) —"If that's what makes them happy, I'm not going to argue about it any more. I'm fed up. If they want to keep saying Rumsfeld is dismembering the poverty program, let 'em."

Don Rumsfeld seems frustrated by his inability to convey what seems to him to be conclusive proof of his own good intentions as director of the Office of Economic Opportunity (OEO). But the 38-year-old former congressman who was President Nixon's surprise choice to head the antipoverty agency is far from disillusioned.

"Remember this. Everybody knew Lyndon Johnson was sick of this program by 1968. And everybody expected Richard Nixon to abolish it within six months in 1969.

"But he didn't. It's here. It's operating. The budget is up and there are good people, fabulous people, working in this office."

Nixon, Rumsfeld said, has been reported to have decided to kill off OEO at least five times since taking office. The last time, he said, was when an erroneous report based on "stolen" low-level working memoes pictured Nixon as planning to cut the OEO budget in half. Rumsfeld said the White House got letters both praising and damning Nixon and added "he probably hasn't got anything left to either gain or lose" no matter what he does with OEO.

Rumsfeld wouldn't talk about OEO's 1972 budget (Congress hasn't approved the current year request), but said he has asked for more money next year.

After 18 months in the big, airy corner office at OEO headquarters, Rumsfeld retains boyish vigor and an easy, toothy grin that sets him apart from the capital's corps of gray senior bureaucrats. But he has changed since he showed up in Washington seven years ago as a bouncing young congressman from Chicago's north shore district.

Although shuffled off to the more obscure House committees, Rumsfeld made himself known as a young man of good intentions who was open to new ideas within the scope of his mid-stream Republican political persuasion.

On balance, he was not one of the congressional no-men, although he did vote against the bill creating OEO.

Given the OEO job, he bubbled with enthusiasm, starting with a crusade to convince all that Richard Nixon and his agent, Donald Rumsfeld, were out to do a better job with the mechanism the Democrats created to fight chronic poverty. But every time Rumsfeld did something at OEO he understood to be the interests of better services to the poor or more efficient management of a limited budget, someone would darkly suggest that the "hidden agenda" of the Nixon Administration was to kill off the antipoverty program.

Rumsfeld says now, as he said then, it isn't so. Flipping the pages of a budget justification book, he said in a recent interview: "Look. We're up in health and family planning for the poor, up in legal services, up in research and development. We've increased programs for the aged, for migrant farm workers, for Indians. CHRISTMAS IN GREENBRAE
The price is right! Clean, 3 bedrooms, 2 baths, with a Bay view, seasoned landscaping, Extra storage. Unusual to find a home of this quality in this excellent neighborhood for only $39,500. Owner might assist with financing. We'd be most happy to make an appt. for you to see this unusual opportunity.

NEW YEAR'S IN PEACOCK
Just listed! It's unusual for a condominium at Peacock Terrace to come on the market and when one does, it doesn't last very long. This one is just above the 11th green. Besides the atrium, there are 2 other patios, 2 bedrooms, 2 baths, plus study, stainless sink and oven, self-cleaning of course, electric garage door opener, cable TV, in fact all the extras that you would expect from a quality home. Flexible occupancy. A good investment at $44,950.

CHRISTMAS IN GREENBRAE

The price is right! Clean, 3 bedrooms, 2 baths, with a Bay view, seasoned landscaping, Extra storage. Unusual to find a home of this quality in this excellent neighborhood for only $39,500. Owner might assist with financing. We'd be most happy to make an appt. for you to see this unusual opportunity.

NEW YEAR'S IN PEACOCK

Just listed! It's unusual for a condominium at Peacock Terrace to come on the market and when one does, it doesn't last very long. This one is just above the 11th green. Besides the atrium, there are 2 other patios, 2 bedrooms, 2 baths, plus study, stainless sink and oven, self-cleaning of course, electric garage door opener, cable TV, in fact all the extras that you would expect from a quality home. Flexible occupancy. A good investment at $44,950.

Judge Orders Examination

Welby Stuart Brown, 20, of Gate 3, Waldo Point, pleaded innocent and innocent by reason of insanity Wednesday in Marin Superior Court to a charge of burglarizing Zack's restaurant in Sausalito Nov. 25.

Judge E. Warren McGuire appointed two psychiatrists to examine Brown and set Jan. 11 for receiving their reports.

Brown was arrested after officers saw him inside the restaurant after closing hours, chased him outside and stopped him from leaving in an outrigger boat. They said he had three loaves of bread and two slabs of cheese in his possession.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Planning Ahead Helps Avoid Retirement Health Problems

Van Dellen

The health and economic aspects of retirement are of equal importance. Many persons approaching retirement do not realize that they may live 10 years longer than their parents did. Therefore, by planning for their future health, they may be rewarded with many years of active, independent and happy living. In addition, good health during these years enables gainful employment, if it is necessary for financial reasons.

A reliable health checkup long before retirement provides the opportunity of detecting many medical disorders at an early stage. When discovered early, many common conditions, such as heart disease,, arthritis, diabetes, high blood pressure, loss of hearing, failing vision, cancer and nervous disorders, can be treated successfully or controlled. For this reason, the examination should be thorough and include laboratory tests.

WITH INCREASING age, many people neglect the warning signs of disease and use patent medicines or nostrums that they read or hear about. Keep a record of unusual aches and pains, bleeding, shortness of breath, swellings, indigestion and weight gains or losses. Don't let friends or relatives diagnose your troubles and advise treatment.

Try to be more cautious with the approach of retirement. Injuries are more common after age 55, and its is wise to be prepared. Wear proper clothing and shoes. Safety-proof the home with handholds for bathtubs and nonskid rugs. Exercise care in the use of ladders, walking on slippery or uneven surfaces, treading attic and basement stairs and operating vehicles under hazardous conditions

CONCENTRATE on a balanced diet, including meats, fish, poultry, milk, vegetables, fruits and vegetable oils and spreads. Drink enough water to keep the kidneys active.

Retirement means new problems, but these should be met and dealt with. Look at things the way they are, not as you wished they were.

(Questions on medical topics will be answered by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the Independent-Journal.)

PYORRHEA

S. H. WRITES: My wife has had a bad case of pyorrhea for several years but refuses to have her teeth pulled. She is under the impression that this dental condition doesn't affect the rest of the body. I would appreciate your professional opinion.

REPLY

Pulling the teeth is not necessarily the remedy for pyorrhea. This is why she should consult a dentist. On the other hand, pyorrhea is the most common cause of loss of teeth after the age of 40. Furthermore, if your wife neglects the condition, her teeth may fall out spontaneously.

ADOLESCENT SKIN

L. C. R. writes: Isn't it unusual for a girl of 10 to break out with pimples?

REPLY

Perhaps, but not if she is entering adolescence. I assume she is reasonably clean and not taking medicines that induce skin outbreaks. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope for our leaflet on acne.

Judge Orders Examination

Welby Stuart Brown, 20, of Gate 3, Waldo Point, pleaded innocent and innocent by reason of insanity Wednesday in Marin Superior Court to a charge of burglarizing Zack's restaurant in Sausalito Nov. 25.

Judge E. Warren McGuire appointed two psychiatrists to examine Brown and set Jan. 11 for receiving their reports.

Brown was arrested after officers saw him inside the restaurant after closing hours, chased him outside and stopped him from leaving in an outrigger boat. They said he had three loaves of bread and two slabs of cheese in his possession.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Planning Ahead Helps Avoid Retirement Health Problems

Van Dellen

The health and economic aspects of retirement are of equal importance. Many persons approaching retirement do not realize that they may live 10 years longer than their parents did. Therefore, by planning for their future health, they may be rewarded with many years of active, independent and happy living. In addition, good health during these years enables gainful employment, if it is necessary for financial reasons.

A reliable health checkup long before retirement provides the opportunity of detecting many medical disorders at an early stage. When discovered early, many common conditions, such as heart disease,, arthritis, diabetes, high blood pressure, loss of hearing, failing vision, cancer and nervous disorders, can be treated successfully or controlled. For this reason, the examination should be thorough and include laboratory tests.

WITH INCREASING age, many people neglect the warning signs of disease and use patent medicines or nostrums that they read or hear about. Keep a record of unusual aches and pains, bleeding, shortness of breath, swellings, indigestion and weight gains or losses. Don't let friends or relatives diagnose your troubles and advise treatment.

Try to be more cautious with the approach of retirement. Injuries are more common after age 55, and its is wise to be prepared. Wear proper clothing and shoes. Safety-proof the home with handholds for bathtubs and nonskid rugs. Exercise care in the use of ladders, walking on slippery or uneven surfaces, treading attic and basement stairs and operating vehicles under hazardous conditions

CONCENTRATE on a balanced diet, including meats, fish, poultry, milk, vegetables, fruits and vegetable oils and spreads. Drink enough water to keep the kidneys active.

Retirement means new problems, but these should be met and dealt with. Look at things the way they are, not as you wished they were.

(Questions on medical topics will be answered by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the Independent-Journal.)

PYORRHEA

S. H. WRITES: My wife has had a bad case of pyorrhea for several years but refuses to have her teeth pulled. She is under the impression that this dental condition doesn't affect the rest of the body. I would appreciate your professional opinion.

REPLY

Pulling the teeth is not necessarily the remedy for pyorrhea. This is why she should consult a dentist. On the other hand, pyorrhea is the most common cause of loss of teeth after the age of 40. Furthermore, if your wife neglects the condition, her teeth may fall out spontaneously.

ADOLESCENT SKIN

L. C. R. writes: Isn't it unusual for a girl of 10 to break out with pimples?

REPLY

Perhaps, but not if she is entering adolescence. I assume she is reasonably clean and not taking medicines that induce skin outbreaks. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope for our leaflet on acne.

New Life For Queen

With two lives behind her, the Queen Mary is well on her way to a third life. As a luxurious ocean liner, she carried thousands of socially prominent of both continents across the Atlantic. During World War II, she was a troop carrier. Now she is being readied at Long Beach for her third life — that of a major tourist attraction. Purchased in 1967 by the City of LongBeach, the ship is being converted into a floating museum, hotel and dining establishment. One of the spectacular rooms aboard the Queen (top photo above) is the Verandah Grill which is being refurbished. However, its colorful frescoes and small dance floor will remain. During its heyday, the room was a status symbol for guests crossing the Atlantic. The heart of the ship's museum will be the cavernous former engine room (above left). Another feature of the ship is her woodjoiners' art. Some 56 kinds and varieties of rare wood were used, including this section (left) of rare cedarmach being polished in the forward observatory bar. It is a hybrid that is only available to the British Royal Family, who donated some of it for use in the ship. So far some $42 million invested in the project with no opening date in sight.

Army's New Look At Stockades Is Praised

ORLANDO, Fla. (UPI)—The Army is trying new ways of salvaging its misfits and offenders, and civilian penologists here say the reforms are a vast improvement over the old stockade.

"In the field of corrections the Army is quite progressive," says Dr. Charles M. Unkovic, chairman of the sociology department at Florida Technological University and an authority on penal systems.

Unkovic and Donald Lee, a retired lieutenant colonel also on the university staff, recently completed a study of the Army Correctional Training Facility at Ft. Riley, Kan.

It's progressive, they said, but not perfect.

"We admit it's good, but there's a lot of room for improvement," Unkovic told UPI. "They don't have a single psychologist or psychiatrist on their staff. And they don't seem to know what to do with their chaplains and social workers."

With GI's going "over the hill" in increasing numbers—from 27,000 in 1967 to 66,000 in 1970—the correctional training facility was established in 1968 as a pilot program. The aim is to retrain and remotivate offenders through a nine-week program employing "sophisticated correctional techniques," and return them to normal duty.

A soldier facing an AWOL charge may be given an option of a "less than honorable" discharge, which puts a permanent black mark on his record, or the CTF program and completion of his tour of duty.

The goals of the Army are not necessarily humanitarian. It costs $5,000 to train a GI his first year and just $500 to send him through CTF.

While Army researchers have compiled reams of statistics on the CTF operation, Unkovic and Lee were invited to the facility this fall by Col. James C. Shoultz Jr., CTF commander, to make an objective evaluation.

"It's better than any civilian prison I've seen, and I've been in dozens," said Unkovic, who is also chairman of the advisory council of the Florida probation and parole commission.

Prisoners arrive at the facility at the rate of about 200 a week from various stockades. From that time on, they are referred to as trainees, not prisoners or inmates.

Each is assigned to a correctional training team composed of a captain, a drill sergeant and two other noncommissioned officers.

A staff of 14 social workers and five chaplains try to help the trainees with emotional hangups. Six lawyers in the legal branch try to help them work out such things as problems with civilian authorities, overdue bills and domestic difficulties.

The nine-week cycle includes motivational training, designed to assist in coping with personal problems, combat training and MOS (Military Occupation Specialty) refresher training.

"Trainees are escorted to and from classrooms and training areas by unarmed cadres, keynoting leadership rather than custody," Shoultz said.

A study of the records of 10,762 trainees admitted to the CTF program during its first 22 months showed that 9,011 completed the course. Most of those who didn't—1,565—were "deemed unqualified for further military service." Of those completing the program, 4,255 are still in the Army "in an honorable duty status."

According to the chaplain's office at Ft. Riley, a large percentage of the CTF trainees were involved with various "exotic" sects and have an "almost fanatical devotion to contemporary music." Dozens request noncombatant status or discharge as conscientious objectors.

"This program is a far cry from the dehumanization process that took place in the old army stockades, the type of thing we saw in 'From Here to Eternity,' Unkovic said.

But Unkovic chided the army for being "over-defensive and protective."

"They'll drive you crazy with charts and graphs," he said. "They're too rigid, afraid to stick their necks out.

Unkovic said one officer admitted he did not consider the social work an important phase of the CTF program.

"When we were talking to the battalion commanders, we were told that the social workers caused them more problems than the trainees," Unkovic said. "They complained that the social workers were not military, pointing out that one called a colonel a major, they don't attend reveille and don't go to the staff parties."

LAMEDUCK SENATOR

Vigorous Lawmaker Works To The End

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The man cannot be stopped. He is still introducing bills. He writes letters to colleagues, asking for votes. He nudges. He holds news conferences. He keeps speaking engagements. He issues a daily gust of single-spaced news releases. He is in at 9, out at 9 at night.

Maybe in the 13 1-2 years Ralph W. Yarborough has been a senator he has forgotten how not to be a senator.

Behind his desk —he is behind his desk for only two minutes before he is back up on his feet, pacing —he raches for the phone, reaches for a book. Books surround him. The desk itself overflows. He paws through it, somehow knowing where to reach for what he wants.

"Here, take a look at this." A stunned visitor leaves carrying a bundle of documents, including a biography, "Yarborough of Texas."

Has Yarborough forgotten that he is a lame duck, in fact the lamest of ducks, having been repudiated by the voting Democrats of Texas way back in May, when they picked Lloyd Bentsen for the nomination and, in November, for the Senate seat?

No, he knows, this smiling, scowling, chubby, 68-year-old senator in the blue suit, blue shirt, blue tie.

"But in the time remaining after the primary," he says, "I will still have been senator longer than three previous Texas senators."

The listener doesn't dispute it, but Yarborough is up again, reaching for a history book to prove his point. There it is! One Texas senator appointed for only a 25-day term. Another suffered a heart attack after five days in office. Another contracted tuberculosis ...

Yarborough of Texas was never a member of the club, the Senate establishment. He made few headlines; was seen little on TV.

But he went into the Senate Labor and Public Welfare committee just about the time the country was shedding the notion that education was a purely local matter in which the United States government had no interest.

And from the committee, bearing the mark of Yarborough's traditional liberalism, flowed legislation and money. Yarborough scratches through his desk, produces a list: "major legislative accomplishments during last 13 years."

Under education: bilingual education bill, vocational education act, education TV act, higher education act, elementary and secondary education act, school lunch and school milk.

"Author," he describes himself in another handout for the visitor, "co-author or principal sponsor of all major education bills to pass Congress since 1958."

Amid all those traditional pictures of politicians that politicians by instinct hang on their walls —Yarborough's date back to Harry Truman and Estes Kefauver —hangs a framed collection of 50 pens used by Lyndon Johnson to sign into law the bills Yarborough supported during the "extraordinary" first session of the 91st Congress.

Now the 92nd Congress, weary and full of lame ducks, most of them a lot more sheepish than Yarborough, is trying to go away. But Yarborough is still pushing spending schemes: $40 billion for national health insurance; a bill to guarantee every young American free access to two years of college-level education.

"Ten years ago, the best scientists in the country testified before my committee we could wipe out cancer in 10 years —eradicate it —if we'd spend a billion a year." So he has a cancer bill, too.

Yarborough is vague about his future political intentions. He says only that he is going to practice trial law in Austin, the Texas capital. His age seems to rule out another race for office even if his vigor does not.

Yet it must be hard for Texans to think of Yarborough neither holding office nor seeking it. After serving five years as a district judge from 1936-41, he ran unsuccessfully for governor in 1952, 1954 and 1956 before winning election to fill a senate vacancy in 1957 and reelection in 1958 and 1964.

His relations with former President Lyndon B. Johnson are more than chilly. He won't say that Johnson favored Bentsen in the primary, but he doesn't hesitate to say that "Johnson's people" worked for Bentsen.

"Your mistake, Ralph," he says a friend told him after the primary, "was that you had the wrong priorities. You were here passing legislation when you should have been there getting renominated."

This lame duck won't say die.

Army's New Look At Stockades Is Praised

ORLANDO, Fla. (UPI)—The Army is trying new ways of salvaging its misfits and offenders, and civilian penologists here say the reforms are a vast improvement over the old stockade.

"In the field of corrections the Army is quite progressive," says Dr. Charles M. Unkovic, chairman of the sociology department at Florida Technological University and an authority on penal systems.

Unkovic and Donald Lee, a retired lieutenant colonel also on the university staff, recently completed a study of the Army Correctional Training Facility at Ft. Riley, Kan.

It's progressive, they said, but not perfect.

"We admit it's good, but there's a lot of room for improvement," Unkovic told UPI. "They don't have a single psychologist or psychiatrist on their staff. And they don't seem to know what to do with their chaplains and social workers."

With GI's going "over the hill" in increasing numbers—from 27,000 in 1967 to 66,000 in 1970—the correctional training facility was established in 1968 as a pilot program. The aim is to retrain and remotivate offenders through a nine-week program employing "sophisticated correctional techniques," and return them to normal duty.

A soldier facing an AWOL charge may be given an option of a "less than honorable" discharge, which puts a permanent black mark on his record, or the CTF program and completion of his tour of duty.

The goals of the Army are not necessarily humanitarian. It costs $5,000 to train a GI his first year and just $500 to send him through CTF.

While Army researchers have compiled reams of statistics on the CTF operation, Unkovic and Lee were invited to the facility this fall by Col. James C. Shoultz Jr., CTF commander, to make an objective evaluation.

"It's better than any civilian prison I've seen, and I've been in dozens," said Unkovic, who is also chairman of the advisory council of the Florida probation and parole commission.

Prisoners arrive at the facility at the rate of about 200 a week from various stockades. From that time on, they are referred to as trainees, not prisoners or inmates.

Each is assigned to a correctional training team composed of a captain, a drill sergeant and two other noncommissioned officers.

A staff of 14 social workers and five chaplains try to help the trainees with emotional hangups. Six lawyers in the legal branch try to help them work out such things as problems with civilian authorities, overdue bills and domestic difficulties.

The nine-week cycle includes motivational training, designed to assist in coping with personal problems, combat training and MOS (Military Occupation Specialty) refresher training.

"Trainees are escorted to and from classrooms and training areas by unarmed cadres, keynoting leadership rather than custody," Shoultz said.

A study of the records of 10,762 trainees admitted to the CTF program during its first 22 months showed that 9,011 completed the course. Most of those who didn't—1,565—were "deemed unqualified for further military service." Of those completing the program, 4,255 are still in the Army "in an honorable duty status."

According to the chaplain's office at Ft. Riley, a large percentage of the CTF trainees were involved with various "exotic" sects and have an "almost fanatical devotion to contemporary music." Dozens request noncombatant status or discharge as conscientious objectors.

"This program is a far cry from the dehumanization process that took place in the old army stockades, the type of thing we saw in 'From Here to Eternity,' Unkovic said.

But Unkovic chided the army for being "over-defensive and protective."

"They'll drive you crazy with charts and graphs," he said. "They're too rigid, afraid to stick their necks out.

Unkovic said one officer admitted he did not consider the social work an important phase of the CTF program.

"When we were talking to the battalion commanders, we were told that the social workers caused them more problems than the trainees," Unkovic said. "They complained that the social workers were not military, pointing out that one called a colonel a major, they don't attend reveille and don't go to the staff parties."

LAMEDUCK SENATOR

Vigorous Lawmaker Works To The End

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The man cannot be stopped. He is still introducing bills. He writes letters to colleagues, asking for votes. He nudges. He holds news conferences. He keeps speaking engagements. He issues a daily gust of single-spaced news releases. He is in at 9, out at 9 at night.

Maybe in the 13 1-2 years Ralph W. Yarborough has been a senator he has forgotten how not to be a senator.

Behind his desk —he is behind his desk for only two minutes before he is back up on his feet, pacing —he raches for the phone, reaches for a book. Books surround him. The desk itself overflows. He paws through it, somehow knowing where to reach for what he wants.

"Here, take a look at this." A stunned visitor leaves carrying a bundle of documents, including a biography, "Yarborough of Texas."

Has Yarborough forgotten that he is a lame duck, in fact the lamest of ducks, having been repudiated by the voting Democrats of Texas way back in May, when they picked Lloyd Bentsen for the nomination and, in November, for the Senate seat?

No, he knows, this smiling, scowling, chubby, 68-year-old senator in the blue suit, blue shirt, blue tie.

"But in the time remaining after the primary," he says, "I will still have been senator longer than three previous Texas senators."

The listener doesn't dispute it, but Yarborough is up again, reaching for a history book to prove his point. There it is! One Texas senator appointed for only a 25-day term. Another suffered a heart attack after five days in office. Another contracted tuberculosis ...

Yarborough of Texas was never a nember of the club, the Senate establishment. He made few headlines; was seen little on TV.

But he went into the Senate Labor and Public Welfare committee just about the time the country was shedding the notion that education was a purely local matter in which the United States government had no interest.

And from the committee, bearing the mark of Yarborough's traditional liberalism, flowed legislation and money. Yarborough scratches through his desk, produces a list: "major legislative accomplishments during last 13 years."

Under education: bilingual education bill, vocational education act, education TV act, higher education act, elementary and secondary education act, school lunch and school milk.

"Author," he describes himself in another handout for the visitor, "co-author or principal sponsor of all major education bills to pass Congress since 1958."

Amid all those traditional pictures of politicians that politicians by instinct hang on their walls —Yarborough's date back to Harry Truman and Estes Kefauver —hangs a framed collection of 50 pens used by Lyndon Johnson to sign into law the bills Yarborough supported during the "extraordinary" first session of the 91st Congress.

Now the 92nd Congress, weary and full of lame ducks, most of them a lot more sheepish than Yarborough, is trying to go away. But Yarborough is still pushing spending schemes: $40 billion for national health insurance; a bill to guarantee every young American free access to two years of college-level education.

"Ten years ago, the best scientists in the country testified before my committee we could wipe out cancer in 10 years —eradicate it —if we'd spend a billion a year." So he has a cancer bill, too.

Yarborough is vague about his future political intentions. He says only that he is going to practice trial law in Austin, the Texas capital. His age seems to rule out another race for office even if his vigor does not.

Yet it must be hard for Texans to think of Yarborough neither holding office nor seeking it. After serving five years as a district judge from 1936-41, he ran unsuccessfully for governor in 1952, 1954 and 1956 before winning election to fill a senate vacancy in 1957 and reelection in 1958 and 1964.

His relations with former President Lyndon B. Johnson are more than chilly. He won't say that Johnson favored Bentsen in the primary, but he doesn't hesitate to say that "Johnson's people" worked for Bentsen.

"Your mistake, Ralph," he says a friend told him after the primary, "was that you had the wrong priorities. You were here passing legislation when you should have been there getting renominated."

This lame duck won't say die.

Legal Knots Tangle Solution Of San Rafael Canal Claims

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Disputed claims between the state and property owners along San Rafael Canal remain subject to legal questions despite a new law designed to clear up the old issue.

The dispute resulted from a past straightening of the formerly meandering canal.

The State never gave up title to the old canal, but this did not create problems until recent years when the property owners wanted to develop or sell their holdings. Neither was possible with the state claims clouding their titles.

The State Lands Commission's staff has insisted that the only way to locate the old canal precisely — so it could be sold to the property owners — was by a detailed survey. The rub has been that the commission staff figured the survey will cost $60,000.

The City of San Rafael, which would have to foot the bill for a survey under a 1967 law by Sen. John F. McCarthy, R-San Rafael, has countered that the survey could be done for $20,000. The commission staff has insisted only that the survey must be done — and if the city can have the job done itself for $20,000, then the city should go ahead and have it done.

The city, however, has not been able to settle with the commission what would be required in the survey. The city also has indicated it would be hard pressed to come up with even the smaller amount to pay for it.

Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, thus got a law passed during the past legislative session dropping for one year the requirement for the survey. It was effective Nov. 23.

The Commission staff, however, faced with a 1969 ruling by the attorney general upholding the requirement for a survey, has asked the attorney general whether Bagley's law has any effect.

James F. Trout, manager of the commission's state lands program, told the Independent-Journal that "we don't believe the (Bagley) law accomplished anything. We don't think we can solve the problem without a survey," he said, "because there is no other way of determining the extent of the state's interest. The state owns the original canal and has a property right and asset that belongs to all of the people."

He said that giving title for the old canal to private property owners would "violate the gift laws of the Constitution."

But Trout added that if the attorney general approved land title exchanges under Bagley's law, "we assume he can find a legal basis for us to make the exchange."

The request to the attorney general for an informal opinion was made Dec. 7, and a response should be available by mid-January, Trout estimated.

Bagley told the I-J that members of the commission had assured him the title exchanges would be done "as quickly and expeditiously as possible."

The width of the old 5.8-mile canal owned by the state varies from several 100 hundred feet at the mouth of canal down to a point in the downtown area, according to Trout. He said there was no title problem with the new alignment of the canal since title to it was acquired by the city at the time of the realignment.

Among the parties to the dispute are the Marin Municipal Water District and the Marin Yacht Club. The water district, for example, claims a largely undeveloped lot on Second street just west of Grand Avenue, but cannot clear title to it because the old canal went through the lot. A similar problem has vexed the yacht club.

Marinite In Pakistan Relief Work

A San Anselmo man is one of a seven-man team sent from India to East Pakistan to work in relief operations for survivors of the cyclone there.

Opie C. Radford, 38, son of Mrs. Inga Radford of 6 Sunview Avenue was sent by CARE to East Pakistan for the relief work.

A native Marinite, he went to Tamalpais High School and the College of Marin before going into the Korean War. Since joining CARE he has worked in Gaza, Celon, and for the past two and a half years in India.

He wrote his mother that the transfer caused him to change his plans for Christmas with friends in India.

Woodington Gets Retirement Fete

Barbara Egoian, member of the committee that planned the tribute, said Woodington was presented with a bank book representing more than $600 collected as a retirement gift.

Woodington, 60, leaves the department Dec. 31 after 11 years as chief. He and his wife, Marjorie, plan to take an extended vacation in Baja California.

Attending the dinner at Tiburon Tommie's Restaurant were representatives of eight Marin County police departments, two former mayors, four former councilmen, a former city manager, and the present mayor and city council of Belvedere.

Jury Trial Set On Drug Counts

A jury trial has been set for the week of April 5 in Marin Superior Court for Phillip Russell McFarren, 20, and Mitchell Dorn Samios, 22, both of Novato, who are charged with selling amphetamine on Sept. 3.

The pair was arrested on a warrant on Nov. 7 which charged they had sold 100 tabs of speed.

Oakland Lessons For Kezar Fans

Okay, youse guys, lend me an ear. You fellow countrymen. Yes, I mean you 49er fans.

I just want to remind you that you'd better be at your finest deportment Sunday when your beloved San Francisco team goes for all the marbles against the Raiders at the Oakland Coliseum.

Now, remember that the Coliseum is not Kezar Stadium, your play pen. They're pretty hoity toity over there. After all, it is the home of the Raiders, that dynamic organization that uses the phrase "Pride and Poise" as its trademark.

First thing I must remind you about, as if you've already forgotten, is that the Alameda County Dick Tracys frown on ooze-bay in the ball park. Oh, sure, they'll sell you a 3.2 beer, but that hard stuff upwards of 100 proof is strictly verboten. I mean, you simply can't get all slopped up like you do at tolerable Kezar. You country hics, you! Canada Dry. So is Oakland.

But don't go into a panic, because there are several ruses that will get you through this titantic episode in professional football. You've been waiting a quarter of a century for a 49er championship and everything might be on the line Sunday.

So, if you see old meanie Ben Davidson of the Raiders give the almighty John Brodie of the 49ers an elbow in his smart-Aleck kisser, I'll give you some tips on how to drown your sorrow.

Of course, there are many means to get past the booze-hunting gendarmes at the turnstiles. First, there's that old standby, the plastic ham and cheese sandwich, hollow, and conveniently equipped with an unscrewable cap. Hic.

Then there is that popular camouflage in the form of hollow binoculars. What the hell, you won't be able to focus in on any action after the first quarter so you might as well put your magnified cheaters to magnanimous use. Right?

Another goodie is the walking cane. You just unscrew the top, take a chug-a-lug when the Raiders score a touchdown. If the Raiders score very many touchdowns you just may need that cane to get home. I said canedidly.

If Coin Flip Needed, It Will Be Sunday

NEW YORK (UPI)—If a coin flip is needed to determine the National Football Conference's fourth playoff qualifier, it will be conducted Sunday, Dec. 20 by telephone with the clubs involved, it was announced Thursday by commissioner Pete Rozelle.

The results of Sunday's final regular season games could produce ties between Dallas and Detroit with records of 10-4 (if New York, Dallas and Detroit win) or between Detroit and New York at 9-4-1 (if New York and Detroit play ties and Dallas wins). Such results would require a coin flip to determine the fourth qualifier.

The procedure used to break a fourth qualifier tie between or among divisions calls for (a) head to head records if applicable; (b) intra conference records; and (c) coin flip. Dallas and Detroit have not met head to head this season and both would have 7-4 intra conference records if Detroit wins Sunday. New York and Detroit have not met head to head and both would have 6-4-1 intra conference records if both tie Sunday.

Dallas winds up its regular season against Houston, New York plays Los Angeles and Detroit opposes Green Bay.

The exact procedures concerning a coin flip are still being discussed with the possible participants and will be announced when they are determined.

Bulldogs Win Soccer Crown

The San Rafael High School Bulldogs wrapped up in the 1970 Marin County Athletic League soccer race as undefeated champions yesterday, winning their 10th and final game, 3-0 over Terra Linda.

San Marin finished second by downing Novato 4-1, and Drake tied for third with Terra Linda with a 2-0 victory over Tamalpais.

THE STAGE IS SET FOR THE 'BATTLE OF THE BAY'

This is the way it will look from the sidelines Sunday afternoon when the San Francisco 49ers face the Oakland Raiders in the "Battle of the Bay" at the Oakland Coliseum. Independent-Journal artist Jack Lucey's drawings shows the American Conference Western Division champion Raiders on defense, and the 49ers, who can clinch the Western Division title of the National Conference with a victory, on offense. John Brodie (12), will be at the controls for San Francisco, while middle linebacker Dan Conners (55), quarterbacks the defense for Oakland.

'Big Game' Or Simply Exhibition?

OAKLAND (UPI) —All season long Oakland Raiders and San Francisco Forty Niners fans have been working themselves into a lather over this Sunday's confrontation at the Oakland Coliseum, but by the time they tee the ball up for the opening kickoff the "big one" could be nothing more than an exhibition.

For starters, that's about all it is for the Raiders anyway because last week they clinched the AFC West title by whipping the Kansas City Chiefs.

The Forty Niners, unaccustomed to such season-ending pressure, are in for their biggest game of the year. They have to win to make it to the playoffs but before they even start, the New York Giants can do them a big favor.

The Forty Niners, who have never won a division title, currently are a full game up on the Los Angeles Rams, who play the Giants in New York earlier Sunday. A New York victory would give the NFC West title to San Francisco outright, whether the Forty Niners win, lose or draw with the Raiders. If the Rams are victorious, then the Forty Niners need a victory or tie against Oakland to win the title.

"We can't look to see what other people are doing at this stage of the game," said Niners coach Dick Nolan. "All we have to concern ourselves with is beating Oakland. Then we know we are in the playoffs."

How about if the Rams lose before you start playing, Nolan was asked.

"That's something else again," he said, "but right now, this minute, we have to think positive. We have to think about winning. We've come too far and worked too hard to think otherwise."

The Raiders figure to be nice and loose for the Bay Area confrontation. Area newspapers have been making a big issue of the rivalry with San Francisco but both managing general partner Al Davis and coach John Madden see it as another game.

"Naturally, we want to win it," said Madden, an AFC candidate for Coach of the Year honors. "If you let up in this game you are dead. We want to go right on into the playoffs with a winning game under our belt, but it would be natural if some of the players let up. There's nothing a coach can do about that."

Davis said in pro football a club's first responsibility is to itself.

"You do first what is best for yourself and you worry about the other guy later," Davis said.

There was a suggestion in Davis' observation that the Raiders would play to win, naturally, but no unnecessary chances will be taken with players who have minor injuries.

In other words, there would be no all-out, hungry effort as there was last week against Kansas City when the Raiders had to win or call it a season.

"You do what the game dictates," said Davis.

The oddsmakers, going along with the "human" theory that the Forty Niners are hungry and the Raiders are satisfied, have made San Francisco a 2 1-2 point favorite. The game is a sellout with a local television blackout.

"It's do or die for the Forty Niners," explained a spokesman for a leading Nevada oddsmaker. "The Raiders aren't in that position. It would be foolish not to expect them to relax a little. The so-called "Bay Area Championship" doesn't mean a thing when you have bigger plans in mind."

The "bigger plans" are next Sunday's AFC playoffs, with the Raiders scheduled to meet either Miami, Cincinnati or Cleveland, depending on what happens this Sunday.

There are some Oakland players with minor aches and pains—fellows such as running back Marv Hubbard, defensive tackle Carlton Oates, cornerback Willie Brown and quarterback Daryle Lamonica.

Should the Rams lose to New York, reducing the San Francisco-Oakland game to meaningless status, there is a strong possibility Lamonica will not start with George Blanda taking over.

San Francisco goes into the Oakland tussle with the same team that whipped New Orleans last Sunday, 38-27. That means Bill Tucker once again will be at running back in place of injured Doug Cunningham.

Slugging Champion McCovey

NEW YORK (UPI) — Willie McCovey, the San Francisco Giants' free-swinging first baseman who hits baseballs over buildings, was the National League's No. 1 slugger for the third consecutive season in 1970, it was revealed today by league president Charles "Chub" Feeney.

Figures compiled by the Elias Sports Bureau revealed that the 6-foot-4 McCovey had a slugging average of .612, topping Tony Perez of the Cincinnati Reds at .589 and teammate Johnny Bench at .587. Billy Williams of the Chicago Cubs was a close fourth with .586 and Rico Carty, the league's batting champion, was fifth with .584.

McCovey, who led the league in slugging in 1968 with .545 and in 1969 with .561, had 303 total bases in 495 at bats. He hit 39 homers, 39 doubles and two triples while driving in 126 runs and hitting .289.

McCovey also led the league with 137 walks and 40 intentional walks as he entrenched himself further as the league's greatest power hitter.

Williams led the circuit in total bases with 373 on 205 hits, of which 42 were homers, 34 were doubles and four were triples.

Bobby Bonds of the Giants struck out 189 times, a major league record, Ron Hunt of the Giants was hit by the most pitches, 26, and Cleon Jones of the New York Mets grounded into the most double plays, 26.

Joe Rodola, the only starter to play most of the game, scored 22 points to pace the Trojans of the North Bay League, who last week won the Drake Invitational tourney.

Oakland Lessons For Kezar Fans

Okay, youse guys, lend me an ear. You fellow countrymen. Yes, I mean you 49er fans.

I just want to remind you that you'd better be at your finest deportment Sunday when your beloved San Francisco team goes for all the marbles against the Raiders at the Oakland Coliseum.

Now, remember that the Coliseum is not Kezar Stadium, your play pen. They're pretty hoity toity over there. After all, it is the home of the Raiders, that dynamic organization that uses the phrase "Pride and Poise" as its trademark.

First thing I must remind you about, as if you've already forgotten, is that the Alameda County Dick Tracys frown on ooze-bay in the ball park. Oh, sure, they'll sell you a 3.2 beer, but that hard stuff upwards of 100 proof is strictly verboten. I mean, you simply can't get all slopped up like you do at tolerable Kezar. You country hics, you! Canada Dry. So is Oakland.

But don't go into a panic, because there are several ruses that will get you through this titantic episode in professional football. You've been waiting a quarter of a century for a 49er championship and everything might be on the line Sunday.

So, if you see old meanie Ben Davidson of the Raiders give the almighty John Brodie of the 49ers an elbow in his smart-Aleck kisser, I'll give you some tips on how to drown your sorrow.

Of course, there are many means to get past the booze-hunting gendarmes at the turnstiles. First, there's that old standby, the plastic ham and cheese sandwich, hollow, and conveniently equipped with an unscrewable cap. Hic.

Then there is that popular camouflage in the form of hollow binoculars. What the hell, you won't be able to focus in on any action after the first quarter so you might as well put your magnified cheaters to magnanimous use. Right?

Another goodie is the walking cane. You just unscrew the top, take a chug-a-lug when the Raiders score a touchdown. If the Raiders score very many touchdowns you just may need that cane to get home. I said canedidly.

My favorite giggly juice ruse was introduced to me several years ago by my favorite San Rafael mixologist, Dick Hamilton. It occured at the University of California's Memorial Stadium for the Cal-Stanford Big Game.

As you know, Cal also forbids the consumption of grog in the stands, but Mr. Hamilton, a genius, befuddled the 83,000 customers by walking past the guards with a couple of quarts of milk. Marin 'Cats Win, San Marin Loses

The Marin Catholic High School Wildcats, paced by Brian Sullivan's 20 points, downed Santa Rosa High School last night, 64-58 in the opening round of the Rose City Invitational basketball tournament in Santa Rosa.

San Marin, the other Marin County Athletic League entry, dropped its first round encounter with tourney favorite St. Patricks of Vallejo, 53-40.

Marin Catholic's victory was the result of a hot-shooting, balanced attack that saw Bill Donellan, the Kentfield team's leading scorer so far this season, net 14 points, and Tim Stone add 13 in support of Sullivan. Stone hit on six of six shots from the floor.

San Marin center Dana LaFerriere poured in 24 points, 11 of them in the opening quarter, but the Novato team was easily handled by St. Pats nonetheless. The tourney favorites led at halftime 31-21, and coasted the rest of the way. Dan Dion led them with 21 points.

In second round games tonight, Marin Catholic goes against Piner of Santa Rosa in the winner's bracket at 8 p.m., preceded at 6:30 by a consolation bracket contest featuring San Marin and Eureka.

Giants Picked By 2 To Beat L.A. Rams

NEW YORK (UPI) — After the first three weeks of the season no one would have dreamed that the New York Giants would be favored over the Los Angeles Rams on the final Sunday of the pro football season.

But the Giants staged a sudden turnabout and have won nine of their last 10 games and are rated 2 1-2 point pick over the Rams to clinch their first division title since 1962.

In other games on this final weekend of regular season play; the Baltimore Colts are three over the New York Jets on Saturday while Detroit is 13 1-2 over Green Bay, Minnesota 3 1-2 over Atlanoa, Cincinnati 13 over Boston, Miami 12 over Buffalo, Philadelphia two over Pittsburgh, St. Louis three over Washington, Chicago five over New Orleans, Dallas 13 1-2 over Houston, Kansas City three over San Diego, San Francisco two over Oakland and Denver and Cleveland are pick-em.

Georgia Tech Favored By 6

EL PASO, Tex. (UPI) — Georgia Tech, with a senior quarterback starting and asophomore ready in reserve, has been installed as a six-point favorite to defeat Texas Tech Saturday in the 36th annual Sun Bowl game.

Both teams will enter the game with identical 8-3 records. But the Yellow Jackets are favored because their three losses all came to teams which will play in post-season bowl classics.

A capacity crowd of 31,000 and a national television audience was expected to see the 1 p.m. (est) kickoff.

Mets Sign Trio

NEW YORK (UPI)—The New York Mets Thursday announced the signing of pitcher Danny Friesella, outfielder Dave Marshall and catcher Randy Bobb to 1970 contracts.

Warren Wells In Courtroom Once Again

OAKLAND (UPI) —Star wide receiver Warren Wells of the Oakland Raiders has been seeing the inside of courtrooms as much lately as stripes on the football field.

He appeared Thursday before Municipal Judge Jacqueline Taber on a charge of misdemeanor hit and run. Police said his car allegedly struck another vehicle Sunday night near a bar owned by teammate Gene Upshaw.

Authorities said damage was minor. But when the other driver asked for Wells' name and address, Wells was alleged to have replied with an obscenity before driving away.

Wells appeared in court Thursday and his case was continued to Friday. He was released without bail.

After the accident, police arrested Wells on a drunk charge at Upshaw's bar. That charge is still pending in the court.

A Complete Silver Team For NBA's Anniversary

NEW YORK (UPI) — Bob Cousy, Bill Sharman and Sam Jones — a talented trio who helped make the Celtics a household name in pro basketball — and Bob Davies of the Rochester Royals were named today to the National Basketball Association's Silver Anniversary team.

The four all-time guards join six other members of the 10-man team selected by players who achieved NBA All-Star recognition since the founding of the league in 1946.

Previously named were centers Bill Russell of Boston and George Mikan of the Minneapolis Lakers and forwards Dolph Schayes of the Syracuse Nationals Bob Pettit of the St. Louis Hawks and the Philadelphia Warriors duo of Joe Fulks and Paul Arizin.

The 10 men were invited by commissioner Walter Kennedy to the Jan. 12, 1971, All-Star game at San Diego to receive their awards as the elite corps of retired NBA players.

Cousy played on six Boston world championship teams. He joined the Celtics as a rookie in 1950 and retired in 1963. The current Cincinnati Royals coach was a gifted backcourt man who amassed 6,959 assists — second highest in NBA history to Oscar Robertson who is still going strong for the Milwaukee Bucks.

During his career Cousy made 6,167 field goals and 4,621 shots for 16,955 points. The dynamic playmaker perfected behind-the-back dribbling and excelled in the art of shooting or passing while going up for a possible shot.

Sharman, who now coaches the Utah tars in the American Basketball Association was an NBA first team All-Star four times and played in eight midseason classics.

Sam Jones, head coach and athletic director at Federal City College in Washington, D.C., played on all 11 Celtic Title teams. His 2,909 points in playoff competition is the third highest in the league.

Warriors Take On Blazers

SAN DIEGO (UPI)—The San Francisco Warriors may be in this Southern California city just long enough tonight to jump into a first place tie in the National Basketball Association's Pacific Division.

The Warriors, who have won five of their last six games and are at 20-15, play the Portland Trail Blazers in the first game of a doubleheader with the hometown Rockets entertaining the Detroit Pistons in the nightcap.

A victory over the expansion Portland team would put the Warriors into a deadlock for the top spot with the idle Los Angeles Lakers, who are 18-12.

However, percentagewise, the Lakers would remain ahead, .600 to .583.

At this time last year, the Warriors were 15-16 and they didn't chalk up victory No. 20 until Jan. 5. One of the reasons observers feel San Francisco is functioning extremely well is because of the play of third-year guard Fritz Williams.

Coach Al Attles has given Williams the chore of quarterbacking the offense. And he's come through beautifully.

"I always felt he could to it," said Attles. "It was just a matter of being patient. He's got confidence now."

Even Williams admits his play has improved immeasurably of late.

"It's been coming for a while, but it took a lot of adjustments," he said Thursday. "You have to learn what plays work, how guys move. I've learned the moves, how Jeff Mullins goes down court, that Jerry Lucas usually trails a play.

"You try to get penetration, to get the other guy in foul trouble. You have to make certain everyone on your team at least gets the feel of the ball. Basketball, despite the stars, is still a team game."

Cox Most Valuable

MINNEAPOLIS (UPI)—Fred Cox, field goal and placement kicker of the Minnesota Vikings, Thursday was named the team's most valuable player in a vote of Minnesota sportswriters.

NBA ROUNDUP

Midwest Division Interesting Race

By United Press International

The National Basketball Association's Midwest Division race continues to be the league's most interesting contest.

The Phoenix Suns kept it the hottest race in the NBA Thursday night as they blew a 28-point halftime lead and then rallied to defeat the Detroit Pistons in overtime, 117-114.

The victory left Phoenix with a 20-15 record, the eighth best record in the 17-team NBA, but still in last place in the Midwest. Milwaukee leads that division with a 23-5 mark, followed by Detroit (21-13) and Chicago (18-11). The Suns are 6 1-2 games behind the first place Bucks.

Phoenix hit 52 per cent of its shots in the first half while building a 60-32 lead and boosted that margin to 31 points in the fourth quarter before going completely cold. Howard Komives and Jimmy Walker sparked a Piston rally that enabled Detroit to tie the game at 105-105 at the end of regulation time.

Neal Walk's basket and two foul shots by John Wetzel gave Phoenix the victory in overtime.

In the only other NBA action Thursday night, the Boston Celtics beat the Buffalo Braves 102-93 and the Philadelphia 76ers downed the Seattle Supersonics 125-117.

Jo Jo White hit a career high 35 points to lift the Celtics past the Braves while Jim Washington and Archie Clark keyed a ball-hawking Philadelphia defense that sparked the 76ers past Seattle.

Marin 'Cats Win, San Marin Loses

The Marin Catholic High School Wildcats, paced by Brian Sullivan's 20 points, downed Santa Rosa High School last night, 64-58 in the opening round of the Rose City Invitational basketball tournament in Santa Rosa.

San Marin, the other Marin County Athletic League entry, dropped its first round encounter with tourney favorite St. Patricks of Vallejo, 53-40.

Marin Catholic's victory was the result of a hot-shooting, balanced attack that saw Bill Donellan, the Kentfield team's leading scorer so far this season, net 14 points, and Tim Stone add 13 in support of Sullivan. Stone hit on six of six shots from the floor.

San Marin center Dana LaFerriere poured in 24 points, 11 of them in the opening quarter, but the Novato team was easily handled by St. Pats nonetheless. The tourney favorites led at halftime 31-21, and coasted the rest of the way. Dan Dion led them with 21 points.

In second round games tonight, Marin Catholic goes against Piner of Santa Rosa in the winner's bracket at 8 p.m., preceded at 6:30 by a consolation bracket contest featuring San Marin and Eureka.

Giants Picked By 2 To Beat L.A. Rams

NEW YORK (UPI) — After the first three weeks of the season no one would have dreamed that the New York Giants would be favored over the Los Angeles Rams on the final Sunday of the pro football season.

But the Giants staged a sudden turnabout and have won nine of their last 10 games and are rated 2 1-2 point pick over the Rams to clinch their first division title since 1962.

In other games on this final weekend of regular season play; the Baltimore Colts are three over the New York Jets on Saturday while Detroit is 13 1-2 over Green Bay, Minnesota 3 1-2 over Atlanoa, Cincinnati 13 over Boston, Miami 12 over Buffalo, Philadelphia two over Pittsburgh, St. Louis three over Washington, Chicago five over New Orleans, Dallas 13 1-2 over Houston, Kansas City three over San Diego, San Francisco two over Oakland and Denver and Cleveland are pick-em.

Georgia Tech Favored By 6

EL PASO, Tex. (UPI) — Georgia Tech, with a senior quarterback starting and asophomore ready in reserve, has been installed as a six-point favorite to defeat Texas Tech Saturday in the 36th annual Sun Bowl game.

Both teams will enter the game with identical 8-3 records. But the Yellow Jackets are favored because their three losses all came to teams which will play in post-season bowl classics.

A capacity crowd of 31,000 and a national television audience was expected to see the 1 p.m. (est) kickoff.

Mets Sign Trio

NEW YORK (UPI)—The New York Mets Thursday announced the signing of pitcher Danny Friesella, outfielder Dave Marshall and catcher Randy Bobb to 1970 contracts.

Warren Wells In Courtroom Once Again

OAKLAND (UPI) —Star wide receiver Warren Wells of the Oakland Raiders has been seeing the inside of courtrooms as much lately as stripes on the football field.

He appeared Thursday before Municipal Judge Jacqueline Taber on a charge of misdemeanor hit and run. Police said his car allegedly struck another vehicle Sunday night near a bar owned by teammate Gene Upshaw.

Authorities said damage was minor. But when the other driver asked for Wells' name and address, Wells was alleged to have replied with an obscenity before driving away.

Wells appeared in court Thursday and his case was continued to Friday. He was released without bail.

After the accident, police arrested Wells on a drunk charge at Upshaw's bar. That charge is still pending in the court.

A Complete Silver Team For NBA's Anniversary

NEW YORK (UPI) — Bob Cousy, Bill Sharman and Sam Jones — a talented trio who helped make the Celtics a household name in pro basketball — and Bob Davies of the Rochester Royals were named today to the National Basketball Association's Silver Anniversary team.

The four all-time guards join six other members of the 10-man team selected by players who achieved NBA All-Star recognition since the founding of the league in 1946.

Previously named were centers Bill Russell of Boston and George Mikan of the Minneapolis Lakers and forwards Dolph Schayes of the Syracuse Nationals Bob Pettit of the St. Louis Hawks and the Philadelphia Warriors duo of Joe Fulks and Paul Arizin.

The 10 men were invited by commissioner Walter Kennedy to the Jan. 12, 1971, All-Star game at San Diego to receive their awards as the elite corps of retired NBA players.

Cousy played on six Boston world championship teams. He joined the Celtics as a rookie in 1950 and retired in 1963. The current Cincinnati Royals coach was a gifted backcourt man who amassed 6,959 assists — second highest in NBA history to Oscar Robertson who is still going strong for the Milwaukee Bucks.

During his career Cousy made 6,167 field goals and 4,621 shots for 16,955 points. The dynamic playmaker perfected behind-the-back dribbling and excelled in the art of shooting or passing while going up for a possible shot.

Sharman, who now coaches the Utah tars in the American Basketball Association was an NBA first team All-Star four times and played in eight mid-season classics.

Sam Jones, head coach and athletic director at Federal City College in Washington, D.C., played on all 11 Celtic Title teams. His 2,909 points in playoff competition is the third highest in the league.

Warriors Take On Blazers

SAN DIEGO (UPI)—The San Francisco Warriors may be in this Southern California city just long enough tonight to jump into a first place tie in the National Basketball Association's Pacific Division.

The Warriors, who have won five of their last six games and are at 20-15, play the Portland Trail Blazers in the first game of a doubleheader with the hometown Rockets entertaining the Detroit Pistons in the nightcap.

A victory over the expansion Portland team would put the Warriors into a deadlock for the top spot with the idle Los Angeles Lakers, who are 18-12.

However, percentagewise, the Lakers would remain ahead, .600 to .583.

At this time last year, the Warriors were 15-16 and they didn't chalk up victory No. 20 until Jan. 5. One of the reasons observers feel San Francisco is functioning extremely well is because of the play of third-year guard Fritz Williams.

Coach Al Attles has given Williams the chore of quarterbacking the offense. And he's come through beautifully.

"I always felt he could to it," said Attles. "It was just a matter of being patient. He's got confidence now."

Even Williams admits his play has improved immeasurably of late.

"It's been coming for a while, but it took a lot of adjustments," he said Thursday. "You have to learn what plays work, how guys move. I've learned the moves, how Jeff Mullins goes down court, that Jerry Lucas usually trails a play.

"You try to get penetration, to get the other guy in foul trouble. You have to make certain everyone on your team at least gets the feel of the ball. Basketball, despite the stars, is still a team game."

Cox Most Valuable

MINNEAPOLIS (UPI)—Fred Cox, field goal and placement kicker of the Minnesota Vikings, Thursday was named the team's most valuable player in a vote of Minnesota sportswriters.

NBA ROUNDUP

Midwest Division Interesting Race

By United Press International

The National Basketball Association's Midwest Division race continues to be the league's most interesting contest.

The Phoenix Suns kept it the hottest race in the NBA Thursday night as they blew a 28-point halftime lead and then rallied to defeat the Detroit Pistons in overtime, 117-114.

The victory left Phoenix with a 20-15 record, the eighth best record in the 17-team NBA, but still in last place in the Midwest. Milwaukee leads that division with a 23-5 mark, followed by Detroit (21-13) and Chicago (18-11). The Suns are 6 1-2 games behind the first place Bucks.

Phoenix hit 52 per cent of its shots in the first half while building a 60-32 lead and boosted that margin to 31 points in the fourth quarter before going completely cold. Howard Komives and Jimmy Walker sparked a Piston rally that enabled Detroit to tie the game at 105-105 at the end of regulation time.

Neal Walk's basket and two foul shots by John Wetzel gave Phoenix the victory in overtime.

In the only other NBA action Thursday night, the Boston Celtics beat the Buffalo Braves 102-93 and the Philadelphia 76ers downed the Seattle Supersonics 125-117.

Jo Jo White hit a career high 35 points to lift the Celtics past the Braves while Jim Washington and Archie Clark keyed a ball-hawking Philadelphia defense that sparked the 76ers past Seattle.

FISH AND GAME

How Much Mercury Can I Be Carrying?

By AL GIDDINGS

Mercury in canned tuna fish! Now, isn't that something! Tuna fish, generally being an off shore fish usually 30 to 50 miles or more off the California coast, would seem to be one of the less likely of the fish species to be contaminated by mercury.

Mercury in canned tuna fisı that something! Tuna fish, gene off shore fishusually 30 to 50 r off the California coast,iwould s of the less likely of the fish contaminated by mercury.

Television narrators have mentioned the possibility of mercury being in the food chain with small amounts of mercury possible in the plankton of the sea. Sea plankton are the one celled plants and animals, microscopic in size, that are the food supply source of much of the small fishlife of the sea. These small fishes are then eaten by larger fish which makes for concentrations of mercury in the fish tissues of the larger fish.

NATURALLY, ALL this concerns me, perhaps more so than you. Over the past years, my family sometimes eats fish two, three, or four times per week, along with canned tuna, abalones, clams and many smoked varieties of bass, salmon and particularly sturgeon.

I called Dr. Ephraim Kahn of the State Health Department this week for some details on the problem. I told him of catching a sturgeon and four bass with Marty Medin last week, and I asked his advice on the advisability of eating these fish. He said they were okay, but that I shouldn't eat fish more than once a week!

I told him of my family eating bass, sturgeon and salmon along with canned tuna, etc., sometimes four or five times per week. I then asked him if he would test me for mercury. He thought I would be an interesting case, and would attempt to make the arrangements.

THE TESTS at this time are only done down in the Los Angeles area. And even then, the tests might be difficult to evaluate because my tolerance to mercury might be different from yours. Anyway, if he can set it up, I may be tested. I surely hope we can find out for all of us some definite questions to the answers of "what to do?".

I'm not doing this because I'm sick or feel badly. I've had a cold this year, a kidney stone last year, and a slipped disc the year before, but I thought all this was from old age! Nothing seems to be wrong with Sam Knoles, my fishing buddy. He's in his 70's and eats fish almost as much as I do. But maybe the test could give us one more inkling of what happens when we do eat these fish.

ALL LAKES and reservoirs throughout California — with the exception of Alpine, Inyo and Mono counties and waters with special closures — will be open to trout fishing under the 1971 sportfishing regulations adopted by the Fish and Game Commission.

The new rules which will become effective March 1, 1971, will provide for a limit of 10 trout or salmon in combination during regular trout season, May 1 through Nov. 15, and a limit of five fish during the balance of the year.

LAKES AND reservoirs in Alpine, Inyo and Mono counties will be open from May 1 through Nov. 15. This schedule applies also to streams in these counties.

All streams in southern California, and the west slope of the Sierra as far north as Tuolumne County with the exception of the Kern River drainage above Democrat Dam, will remain open all year with a five-fish winter limit and 10 fish during the balance of the year.

Coach Regrets Fight

COLUMBIA, S.C. (UPI) — University of South Carolina President Thomas F. Jones sent a telegram to the University of Maryland Thursday expressing regret over the fight which ended the South Carolina-Maryland game Wednesday night.

"The incident which occurred last night in our coliseum between your basketball team and ours is deeply regretted by all of us at the University of South Carolina," Jones said.

The game was stopped with 4:52 left after a melee broke out between players of the two teams.

"Traditionally, the city of Columbia and the university have taken great pride in being exemplary hosts to visiting teams from other institutions," Jones said in the telegram to Dr. Wilson H. Elkins, Maryland president. "I want you to know how very sorry we all are about this occurrence."

Maryland coach Lefty Dreisell was struck in the face by South Carolina's John Ribock. He said Thursday he would recommend that any player throwing a punch be suspended.

Norvell Neve, supervisor of officials and acting commissioner of the Atlantic Coast Conference, said he knew of no action that would be taken until he had a report from an observer he had at the game.

"This disturbs me, naturally," Neve said. "We ask the official to make a judgment whether it's safe to continue and only he can make that decision."

South Carolina was leading 96-70 when the game was called.

Rec Basketball

Four games were played last night in the San Rafael Recreation Department adult basketball league. Southern Marin Towing beat Pinky's Pizza, 52-47, Donnbach Painting downed the Centaurs, 51-44, the Harding Gophers beat Cal's Steakhouse, 52-35 and the Kennel Extraordinaire defeated the Don Rumpf Golf Shop, 53-46.

Plunkett, Blanda Maxwell Winners

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Quarterbacks Jim Plunkett of Sanford and George Blanda of Oakland were named the year's outstanding college and professional football players yesterday by the Maxwell Football Club of Philadelphia.

Plunkett, who also won this year's Heisman Trophy, was chosen for the Maxwell Award for leading Stanford into the Rose Bowl on the strength of his passing and total offensive performance.

Blanda, the Raiders' 43-year-old back-up star, was selected for the Bert Bell Memorial Award for his "come off the bench" heroics in passing and place kicking Oakland to a division title in the American Football Conference.

Plunkett and Blanda will receive their awards at the Maxwell Club's annual banquet here Jan. 18.

Plunkett, the 34th collegian to receive the award since it began in 1937, accounted for 2,898 total yards and 2,715 passing yards in 11 games this season, completing 191 of 358 passes and throwing for 18 touchdowns.

Blanda joins a group of quarterback greats who have dominated the previous Bert Bell awards, including Baltimore's Johnny Unitas, who won three times.

With limited playing time behind Daryl Lamonica, Blanda completed 26 of 48 passes for 410 yards and 6 touchdowns. He also kicked 16 of 28 field goal attempts, including kicks of 52 and 48 yards.

Wins Hutch Award

DETROIT (UPI)—Detroit Tigers outfielder Ai Kaline is the 1970 recipient of the "Hutch Award" it was announced Thursday by the major league baseball writers and sportscasters.

Ex-Giant Defender Testifies

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Former New York Giants defensive back Freeman White told a federal grand jury Thursday he went to Canada to play last summer after no National Football League teams picked him up on waivers.

White, 27, was the first witness before the jury to be released by an NFL team following the merger of the two pro leagues. The jury, which is investigating possible anti-trust violations by the NFL, was expected to hear testimony today and then recess until after the holidays.

The University of Nebraska All-America played for the Giants for four years and was released during the exhibition season last summer.

Sports Gambling Arrests

NEW ORLEANS (UPI)—A federal grand jury indicted 21 persons Thursday in an illegal gambling operation that involved shipping sports results on Western Union Telegraph Co. leased wires from Chicago to New Orleans.

U.S. Attorney Gerald Gallinghouse said that the gambling indictments grew out of "a multi-million dollar interstate network of illicit business enterprises that involve illegal betting on different sporting events, including horse racing, college and professional football games and professional baseball games."

The 21 defendants in eight cases were indicted for alleged violations of the federal law that prohibits the use of any interstate facility for unlawful gambling activity.

Gallinghouse said that the Western Union wires terminated at eight spots in the New Orleans area: 864 Club, Church Street club, V's lounge, French Market Social Club, Carlos' Lounge, By's Restaurant & Lounge, Billionaire Lounge and Family Bar & Restaurant.

Gallinghouse said that the maximum penalties for the violatons, upon conviction, are $10,000 fines and five years in prison.

The investigation that resulted in the indictments lasted six months.

Seals To Take On Flyers In Drive From The Cellar

OAKLAND (UPI) —A victory over the Philadelphia Flyers tonight and the California Golden Seals can disclaim sole ownership of the National Hockey League's Western Division cellar for the first time this season.

After putting together a string of nine winless games at the start of the campaign, the Seals have played close to .500 hockey. They'll go into tonight's Oakland Arena encounter with an 8-19-2 record, compared to an 8-16-4 mark for the sixth place Los Angeles Kings.

The Seals' modest upsurge of late—two wins and two losses has been attributed in part to the tactics of the Earl Ingarfield, Ernie Hicke and Gerry Ehman line.

"It's hard work, passing the puck, and talking to each other that has contributed to their good play lately," said Seals coach Fred Glover Thursday. "And these same three guys continue working on their problems in practice.

"They attempt to back check in practice, a good habit to get into, which will stay with you in a game," he added.

Caroline Wins At Bay Meadows

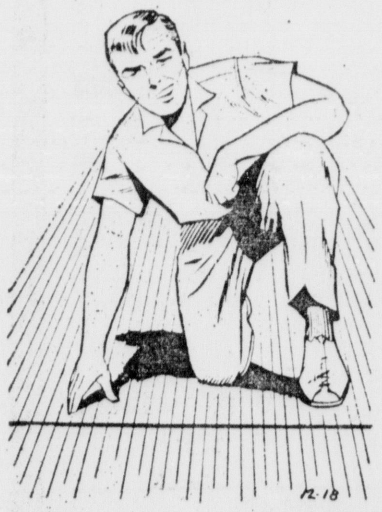
SAN MATEO, Calif. (UPI)—Caroline, with apprentice Danny Isbell aboard, rallied in the final strides Thursday to win the featured Hillsdale purse by a head at Bay Meadows.

Edies All, the early pacesetter, held on to save third place, finishing another length and a quarter behind Splat in the field of seven distaff runners.

Caroline went six furlongs in 1:11 over a sloppy strip and returned $13.60 to win.

BOWLING TIPS

By DON CARTER



There are times, of course, when you can't believe what has happened after your ball hit the pins. You'll be inclined to stay at the foul line, either to laugh or cry. Save such dramatic gestures for the really unusual events, however, because it is annoying to bowlers on other lanes to have to wait for you to move to the rear of the approach.

FISH AND GAME

How Much Mercury Can I Be Carrying?

By AL GIDDINGS

Mercury in canned tuna fish! Now, isn't that something! Tuna fish, generally being an off shore fish usually 30 to 50 miles or more off the California coast, would seem to be one of the less likely of the fish species to be contaminated by mercury.

Mercury in canned tuna fisı that something! Tuna fish, gene off shore fishusually 30 to 50 r off the California coast,iwould s of the less likely of the fish contaminated by mercury.

Television narrators have mentioned the possibility of mercury being in the food chain with small amounts of mercury possible in the plankton of the sea. Sea plankton are the one celled plants and animals, microscopic in size, that are the food supply source of much of the small fishlife of the sea. These small fishes are then eaten by larger fish which makes for concentrations of mercury in the fish tissues of the larger fish.

NATURALLY, ALL this concerns me, perhaps more so than you. Over the past years, my family sometimes eats fish two, three, or four times per week, along with canned tuna, abalones, clams and many smoked varieties of bass, salmon and particularly sturgeon.

I called Dr. Ephraim Kahn of the State Health Department this week for some details on the problem. I told him of catching a sturgeon and four bass with Marty Medin last week, and I asked his advice on the advisability of eating these fish. He said they were okay, but that I shouldn't eat fish more than once a week!

I told him of my family eating bass, sturgeon and salmon along with canned tuna, etc., sometimes four or five times per week. I then asked him if he would test me for mercury. He thought I would be an interesting case, and would attempt to make the arrangements.

THE TESTS at this time are only done down in the Los Angeles area. And even then, the tests might be difficult to evaluate because my tolerance to mercury might be different from yours. Anyway, if he can set it up, I may be tested. I surely hope we can find out for all of us some definite questions to the answers of "what to do?".

I'm not doing this because I'm sick or feel badly. I've had a cold this year, a kidney stone last year, and a slipped disc the year before, but I thought all this was from old age! Nothing seems to be wrong with Sam Knoles, my fishing buddy. He's in his 70's and eats fish almost as much as I do. But maybe the test could give us one more inkling of what happens when we do eat these fish.

ALL LAKES and reservoirs throughout California — with the exception of Alpine, Inyo and Mono counties and waters with special closures — will be open to trout fishing under the 1971 sportfishing regulations adopted by the Fish and Game Commission.

The new rules which will become effective March 1, 1971, will provide for a limit of 10 trout or salmon in combination during regular trout season, May 1 through Nov. 15, and a limit of five fish during the balance of the year.

LAKES AND reservoirs in Alpine, Inyo and Mono counties will be open from May 1 through Nov. 15. This schedule applies also to streams in these counties.

All streams in southern California, and the west slope of the Sierra as far north as Tuolumne County with the exception of the Kern River drainage above Democrat Dam, will remain open all year with a five-fish winter limit and 10 fish during the balance of the year.

Coach Regrets Fight

COLUMBIA, S.C. (UPI) — University of South Carolina President Thomas F. Jones sent a telegram to the University of Maryland Thursday expressing regret over the fight which ended the South Carolina-Maryland game Wednesday night.

"The incident which occurred last night in our coliseum between your basketball team and ours is deeply regretted by all of us at the University of South Carolina," Jones said.

The game was stopped with 4:52 left after a melee broke out between players of the two teams.

"Traditionally, the city of Columbia and the university have taken great pride in being exemplary hosts to visiting teams from other institutions," Jones said in the telegram to Dr. Wilson H. Elkins, Maryland president. "I want you to know how very sorry we all are about this occurrence."

Maryland coach Lefty Dreisell was struck in the face by South Carolina's John Ribock. He said Thursday he would recommend that any player throwing a punch be suspended.

Norvell Neve, supervisor of officials and acting commissioner of the Atlantic Coast Conference, said he knew of no action that would be taken until he had a report from an observer he had at the game.

"This disturbs me, naturally," Neve said. "We ask the official to make a judgment whether it's safe to continue and only he can make that decision."

South Carolina was leading 96-70 when the game was called.

Rec Basketball

Four games were played last night in the San Rafael Recreation Department adult basketball league. Southern Marin Towing beat Pinky's Pizza, 52-47, Donnbach Painting downed the Centaurs, 51-44, the Harding Gophers beat Cal's Steakhouse, 52-35 and the Kennel Extraordinaire defeated the Don Rumpf Golf Shop, 53-46.

Plunkett, Blanda Maxwell Winners

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Quarterbacks Jim Plunkett of Sanford and George Blanda of Oakland were named the year's outstanding college and professional football players yesterday by the Maxwell Football Club of Philadelphia.

Plunkett, who also won this year's Heisman Trophy, was chosen for the Maxwell Award for leading Stanford into the Rose Bowl on the strength of his passing and total offensive performance.

Blanda, the Raiders' 43-year-old back-up star, was selected for the Bert Bell Memorial Award for his "come off the bench" heroics in passing and place kicking Oakland to a division title in the American Football Conference.

Plunkett and Blanda will receive their awards at the Maxwell Club's annual banquet here Jan. 18.

Plunkett, the 34th collegian to receive the award since it began in 1937, accounted for 2,898 total yards and 2,715 passing yards in 11 games this season, completing 191 of 358 passes and throwing for 18 touchdowns.

Blanda joins a group of quarterback greats who have dominated the previous Bert Bell awards, including Baltimore's Johnny Unitas, who won three times.

With limited playing time behind Daryl Lamonica, Blanda completed 26 of 48 passes for 410 yards and 6 touchdowns. He also kicked 16 of 28 field goal attempts, including kicks of 52 and 48 yards.

Eisenhower Coin Bill Advances

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The House has passed and sent to the Senate legislation to create a new dollar coin bearing the likeness of President Dwight D. Eisenhower on one side and a sketch of an eagle landing on the moon on the other side.

Senate endorsement for the coin appeared certain. The legislation calls for the first 150 million coins to be 40 per cent silver, 60 per cent nickel and copper.

Civilized Player Waits For Right Moment To Have Fun

The civilized man is recognizable by the fact that he does not hurry to grasp the pleasure of the moment: he is capable of waiting for the right time. That may merely be a matter of waiting until the policeman has driven around the corner. At the bridge table, the civilized player waits for another kind of right moment.

JACK WINS

West opened the singleton four of hearts, and East won with the jack. East then continued with the king and the ace of hearts.

South ruffed with the king of spades, and West overruffed with the ace of spades. All very natural, if by natural you mean uncivilized.

CLAIMS GAME

West shifted to a club, and dummy's king won. Declarer led a trump from dummy and drew the rest of the missing trumps with the queen and jack. He then spread his hand on the table, claiming his game.

While South is scoring his game, see if you can find the uncivilized play in our little account. Spot it for yourself before you read on.

HASTY PLAY

West botched the defense when he overruffed the king of spades with the ace. There was no need for such haste: the ace of trumps was sure to win a trick later.

See what happens if West discards a diamond or a club on the third round of hearts. West still has his A-10-2 of trumps, and South has the Q-J-9-8-7. When South leads the queen of spades, West wins with the ace and gets out safely with a club or a diamond.

SETTING TRICK

South later leads the jack of spades to pick up West's deuce. By this time, West's ten of trumps is established: it will eventually take the setting trick.

West defeats the contract by postponing the pleasure of taking a trick with the ace of trumps. Is it any wonder that bridge experts are considered the most civilized of men?

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Investment Club Seeks Counsel

Q. Our investment club is investigating whether to average down, hold or sell Castle & Cook and Signal Companies. What do you think?—G. P.

A. I would favor averaging-down in Castle & Cook. A prolonged strike at its sugar refining facility, settled just prior to the close of the Spetember quarter, was reflected in the 66 per cent drop in earnings for that period.

This poor showing should be partially offset in the final six months of the 1970-1971 fiscal March year, placing full year results close to the record $1.87 reported last year. A high level of demand enjoyed by the company's food products, land development activities and a 25 per cent increase in pineapple acreage add to the appeal of these shares.

Signal's difficulties appear to be of a more persistent nature and shares should be sold. Although truck sales — accounting for 60 per cent of total sales — were up 3 per cent in the first nine months, margins narrowed and production has been cut back. Sharply higher costs forced retrenchment in Signal's oil and gas operations, and reduced defense spending resulted in a 9 per cent drop in sales in this area.

Q. Did you realize that the National Association of Investment Clubs has moved from the Detroit address you printed?—J. N.

A. You are entirely right and I stand corrected. The new address is P.O. Box 221, 1515 E. 11th Mile Road, Royal Oak, Michigan 48068.

Q. We retire next year and have $25,000 invested in 9 per cent Sacred Heart Hospital bonds. What are the risks involved, if any? We will soon have $50,000 to invest. What would you recommend yielding 9 per cent to 10 per cent?—J. P.

Bonds such as yours, while usually safe as to capital and interest, are sometimes difficult to dispose of if funds are needed in an emergency. Because interest rates have declined since your original purchase, investments yielding 9 per cent to 10 per cent involve risk. I suggest you settle for the somewhat lower income (8.5 per cent to maturity) available in good quality utility bonds.

American, Western Merger In Works

By ROGER E. SPEAR

American Air Lines will have authority to fly to Honolulu from the West Coast if a merger agreement with Western Air Lines is fully approved.

Western directors have already approved the merger. Further approval is needed from directors of American, stockholders of both companies and federal regulatory authorities.

The present agreement is for an exchange of 1.43 shares of American's common stock for one share of Western.

NORTHERN CALIFORNIA MORTGAGE CO., San Francisco has been merged into Sequoia Mortgage Co. of San Jose, a subsidiary of California Financial Corp. The merger includes the acquisition of American National Life Insurance Co. of Galveston, Franklin Life Insurance Co. of Springfield, Ill. and Federal Life Insurance Co. of Chicago.

INTERNATIONAL HARVESTER CO., Oakland has record worldwide sales of $2,711 million for the fiscal year ended Oct. 31, compared with $2,652 million during the preceding year. Net income was $52.4 million equal to $1.92 per share — a 17.8 per cent decrease from the $63.7 million or $2.30 a share reported in 1969.

BANK OF AMERICA has elected Chauncey J. Medberry as a director and designated him as the next chairman of the board of both the bank and BankAmerica Corp. The election was in preparation for the retirement of chairman Louis B. Lundborg next April. Upon becoming chairman, Medberry will assume Lundborg's responsibilities as chief executive officer in Southern California.

HIBERNIA BANK of San Francisco board chairman Joseph O. Tobin has announced his retirement, effective Jan. 15 after almost 65 years of service. No successor has been named. Early next year Hibernia will open branches in Campbell and Walnut Creek, bringing its total to 15 offices.

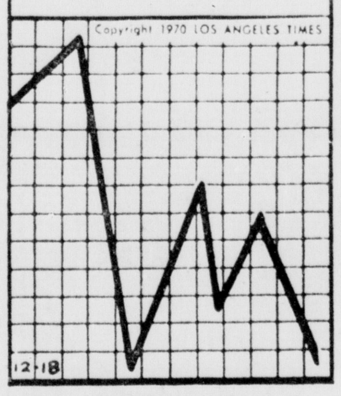
WELLS FARGO BANK has received approval from the Comptroller of the Currency for its first banking house in Santa Barbara, which is expected to open in 1972. Six of Wells Fargo Bank's major downtown offices in San Francisco are opening an hour earlier (at 9 a.m.). One of them will also stay open an hour later to 4 p.m.

FLUOR CORP., Los Angeles net earnings for the fiscal year ended Oct. 31 amounted to $14.7 million, compared with $17 million for the previous fiscal year. Net earnings of $1.70 per share were down from $2.05 in 1969.

WALT DISNEY PRODUCTIONS has announced a two-for-one stock split to be effected through distribution of a 100-per cent stock dividend in March. Disney earnings for the year ended Oct. 3 were $21.7 or $3.83 per share, compared with $15.8 million or $3.41 per share for the preceding year.

SMART CHART

by Stansbury



"The uptight market giveth. The uptight market taketh away."

Market Mixed, Moderate

NEW YORK (UPI) —Mixed and moderate summed up the first two hours of trading on the New York Stock Exchange Friday.

The Dow Jones industrial average of 30 selected blue chips dipped 0.48 to 821.67 while advances managed to hold a 576 to 498 lead over declines among the 1,466 issues on the tape.

The market apparently still was digesting the sharp mid-November to early December gains. Although he agreed that the market was adjusting, one analyst said institutional buying was warding off a noticeable downtrend. "They have been waiting for a significant consolidation to buy in but the prices they want have not materialized so they have begun to commit part of their funds," he said.

ITT, dipping 1-8, was an active issue. Coastal States Gas Producing Co. and Tenneco, were active gainers.

Head Ski, on volume around 78,500 shares, was an active issue on the American Stock Exchange.

INCOME TAX FACTS

By PETER J. WIKEL

Tax Rate In 1971 Is Lower; Plan Now For Extra Savings

If you are single or if you are head of the household, a little tax planning this year, 1970, might result in a substantial tax savings for you.

As you probably know the rate you will pay for 1971 is quite a bit less than the rate you pay for 1970. So, if you are single or the head of a household and it is possible to do so, you should defer any large income items until 1971, since they will be taxed at a lower rate. You should accelerate all possible deductions and pay them in 1970, since they will result in a tax savings for you at a higher rate.

This is particularly interesting in the case of capital gains. If you have investments and you have short term losses it would be a good idea to take them in 1970. If you have long term losses be careful that you don't take more losses than are necessary to offset capital gains plus $2 of long term loss to offset $1 of ordinary income up to a maximum of $1,000 of ordinary income offset by $2,000 of long term losses.

Excess losses can be carried over to subsequent years and remain long term or short term.

If you have large capital gains actually compute your tax and see which year will come out best. Don't forget, income averaging applies to capital gains this year and the maximum tax on capital gains goes up in 1971.

The new tax law has several items designed to hit wealthy taxpayers who have formerly escapedpaying taxes altogether or have paid very little taxes. es.

These items probably won't affect you but you should know about them. There is a new concept in the tax law called "preference income" and while this preference income is subject to an additional 10 per cent tax it only affects a very few people. There are 9 types of perference income:

Excess investment interest; Depletion; Accelerated depreciation on real estate; Restricted qualified stock options; Net long term gains; Amortization of certified pollution control facilities; Amortization of railroad rolling stock; Bad debts - financial institutions; Accelerated depreciation on personal property subject to net lease.

However, tax preference items have to total more than $30,000 before they are subject to tax because you have a $30,000 exclusion and also you exclude your usual tax liability.

Your capital gains may be taxed at more than 25 per cent but to do this you would have to have capital gains in excess of $50,000 and also you would have to have a taxable income in excess of $26,000 for a single person and $38,000 for a Head of Household and $52,000 for a married couple.

The reason is that only 50 per cent of your capital gains is taxed and unless your rate on all of your income exceeds 50 per cent, then the tax on your capital gain would not exceed 25 per cent, but to do this you would have to have capital gains in excess of $50,000 and also you would have to have a taxable income in excess of $26,000 for a single person and $38,000 for a Head of Household and $52,000 for a married couple.

The reason is that only 50 per cent of your capital gains is taxed and unless your rate on all of your income exceeds 50 per cent, then the tax on your capital gain would not exceed 25 per cent of the amount of the gain.

Hence if you have a large income and capital gains, you would use the alternative tax method to arrive at the tax on your capital gains of 25 per cent of the total amount of the gain, up to the first $50,000 of gain. After that the maximum tax would be 29½ per cent on the excess. So, you can see that this would only apply to people with a very large income.

AT&T Reports Narrow Profit

NEW YORK (UPI) — American Telephone — Telegraph Co. reported its third quarter profit gain as held to a narrow one-tenth of 1 per cent despite a 6.5 per cent rise in gross revenues.

H. I. Romnes, chairman, said the "resurgence of strong revenue growth we anticipated earlier this year has not materialized." He said AT&T's earnings reflect "the uncertain condition of the national economy and the persistence of inflation."

AT&T's profits for the third quarter ended Nov. 30 edged up to $546,710,000, or $1 a share, from the $546,140,000, or 99 cents a share, earned in the comparable period of fiscal 1969. Gross revenues, however, rose to $4,279,138,000 from $4,018,904,000.

Limited Protest To Railpax Plan

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—California's Public Utilities Commission voted Tuesday to file a limited protest to a proposed federal plan for operating the nation's passenger trains.

Commissioners asked for service between San Francisco, Los Angeles and San Diego, which is not included in a plan by the National Rail Passenger Corp., which is known as Railpax.

Railpax is a means for the federal government to subsidize the nation's failing rail passenger system.

Bank Debits Show A Drop

November bank debits for Marin County were down from last year but bank deposits showed some gains.

The Federal Reserve Bank of San Francisco reported unadjusted debits of $220,485,000, compared with $223,491,000 a year ago. Unadjusted deposits this year were $111,839,000 compared to last year's $102,572,000.

Seasonally adjusted debits, deposits and turnover ratios are not reported for Marin County.

FNMA Shares

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Federal National Mortgage Association has sold 47,000 additional shares of stock from its treasury at $65.25 a share. The purchasers were customers who buy mortgages from Fannie Mae and own certain quantities of the government sponsored ›rporation's stock.

New Type Of Panel Gains Wide Use

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (UPI) — Panel-Comb Industries, Inc. said paper and fiberglass plastic honeycomb sandwich now is making heavy inroads into markets presently dominated by aluminum, steel and wood. The material is being used in double wall construction of truck trailers, marine containers and modular housing.

Panel-Comb was created by the efforts of Reichhold Chemicals, Inc., J.P. Stevens & Co. and Owens-Corning Fiberglas Corp.

Joint Venture

WEST LAFAYETTE, IND. (UPI) — Great Lakes Chemicals Corp. is joining Ugine-Kuhlmann, a French firm, in a venture called Sobrom to make brominated soil fumigants at Port-De-Bouc near Marseilles for the European and North African markets.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Investment Club Seeks Counsel

Q. Our investment club is investigating whether to average down, hold or sell Castle & Cook and Signal Companies. What do you think?—G. P.

A. I would favor averaging-down in Castle & Cook. A prolonged strike at its sugar refining facility, settled just prior to the close of the Spetember quarter, was reflected in the 66 per cent drop in earnings for that period.

This poor showing should be partially offset in the final six months of the 1970-1971 fiscal March year, placing full year results close to the record $1.87 reported last year. A high level of demand enjoyed by the company's food products, land development activities and a 25 per cent increase in pineapple acreage add to the appeal of these shares.

Signal's difficulties appear to be of a more persistent nature and shares should be sold. Although truck sales — accounting for 60 per cent of total sales — were up 3 per cent in the first nine months, margins narrowed and production has been cut back. Sharply higher costs forced retrenchment in Signal's oil and gas operations, and reduced defense spending resulted in a 9 per cent drop in sales in this area.

Q. Did you realize that the National Association of Investment Clubs has moved from the Detroit address you printed?—J. N.

A. You are entirely right and I stand corrected. The new address is P.O. Box 221, 1515 E. 11th Mile Road, Royal Oak, Michigan 48068.

Q. We retire next year and have $25,000 invested in 9 per cent Sacred Heart Hospital bonds. What are the risks involved, if any? We will soon have $50,000 to invest. What would you recommend yielding 9 per cent to 10 per cent?—J. P.

Bonds such as yours, while usually safe as to capital and interest, are sometimes difficult to dispose of if funds are needed in an emergency. Because interest rates have declined since your original purchase, investments yielding 9 per cent to 10 per cent involve risk. I suggest you settle for the somewhat lower income (8.5 per cent to maturity) available in good quality utility bonds.

American, Western Merger In Works

By ROGER E. SPEAR

American Air Lines will have authority to fly to Honolulu from the West Coast if a merger agreement with Western Air Lines is fully approved.

Western directors have already approved the merger. Further approval is needed from directors of American, stockholders of both companies and federal regulatory authorities.

The present agreement is for an exchange of 1.43 shares of American's common stock for one share of Western.

NORTHERN CALIFORNIA MORTGAGE CO., San Francisco has been merged into Sequoia Mortgage Co. of San Jose, a subsidiary of California Financial Corp. The merger includes the acquisition of American National Life Insurance Co. of Galveston, Franklin Life Insurance Co. of Springfield, Ill. and Federal Life Insurance Co. of Chicago.

INTERNATIONAL HARVESTER CO., Oakland has record worldwide sales of $2,711 million for the fiscal year ended Oct. 31, compared with $2,652 million during the preceding year. Net income was $52.4 million equal to $1.92 per share — a 17.8 per cent decrease from the $63.7 million or $2.30 a share reported in 1969.

BANK OF AMERICA has elected Chauncey J. Medberry as a director and designated him as the next chairman of the board of both the bank and BankAmerica Corp. The election was in preparation for the retirement of chairman Louis B. Lundborg next April. Upon becoming chairman, Medberry will assume Lundborg's responsibilities as chief executive officer in Southern California.

HIBERNIA BANK of San Francisco board chairman Joseph O. Tobin has announced his retirement, effective Jan. 15 after almost 65 years of service. No successor has been named. Early next year Hibernia will open branches in Campbell and Walnut Creek, bringing its total to 15 offices.

WELLS FARGO BANK has received approval from the Comptroller of the Currency for its first banking house in Santa Barbara, which is expected to open in 1972. Six of Wells Fargo Bank's major downtown offices in San Francisco are opening an hour earlier (at 9 a.m.). One of them will also stay open an hour later to 4 p.m.

FLUOR CORP., Los Angeles net earnings for the fiscal year ended Oct. 31 amounted to $14.7 million, compared with $17 million for the previous fiscal year. Net earnings of $1.70 per share were down from $2.05 in 1969.

WALT DISNEY PRODUCTIONS has announced a two-for-one stock split to be effected through distribution of a 100-per cent stock dividend in March. Disney earnings for the year ended Oct. 3 were $21.7 or $3.83 per share, compared with $15.8 million or $3.41 per share for the preceding year.

Market Mixed, Moderate

NEW YORK (UPI) —Mixed and moderate summed up the first two hours of trading on the New York Stock Exchange Friday.

The Dow Jones industrial average of 30 selected blue chips dipped 0.48 to 821.67 while advances managed to hold a 576 to 498 lead over declines among the 1,466 issues on the tape.

The market apparently still was digesting the sharp mid-November to early December gains. Although he agreed that the market was adjusting, one analyst said institutional buying was warding off a noticeable downtrend. "They have been waiting for a significant consolidation to buy in but the prices they want have not materialized so they have begun to commit part of their funds," he said.

ITT, dipping 1-8, was an active issue. Coastal States Gas Producing Co. and Tenneco, were active gainers.

Head Ski, on volume around 78,500 shares, was an active issue on the American Stock Exchange.

AT&T Reports Narrow Profit

NEW YORK (UPI) — American Telephone — Telegraph Co. reported its third quarter profit gain as held to a narrow one-tenth of 1 per cent despite a 6.5 per cent rise in gross revenues.

H. I. Romnes, chairman, said the "resurgence of strong revenue growth we anticipated earlier this year has not materialized." He said AT&T's earnings reflect "the uncertain condition of the national economy and the persistence of inflation."

AT&T's profits for the third quarter ended Nov. 30 edged up to $546,710,000, or $1 a share, from the $546,140,000, or 99 cents a share, earned in the comparable period of fiscal 1969. Gross revenues, however, rose to $4,279,138,000 from $4,018,904,000.

INCOME TAX FACTS

By PETER J. WIKEL

Tax Rate In 1971 Is Lower; Plan Now For Extra Savings

If you are single or if you are head of the household, a little tax planning this year, 1970, might result in a substantial tax savings for you.

As you probably know the rate you will pay for 1971 is quite a bit less than the rate you pay for 1970. So, if you are single or the head of a household and it is possible to do so, you should defer any large income items until 1971, since they will be taxed at a lower rate. You should accelerate all possible deductions and pay them in 1970, since they will result in a tax savings for you at a higher rate.

This is particularly interesting in the case of capital gains. If you have investments and you have short term losses it would be a good idea to take them in 1970. If you have long term losses be careful that you don't take more losses than are necessary to offset capital gains plus $2 of long term loss to offset $1 of ordinary income up to a maximum of $1,000 of ordinary income offset by $2,000 of long term losses.

Excess losses can be carried over to subsequent years and remain long term or short term.

If you have large capital gains actually compute your tax and see which year will come out best. Don't forget, income averaging applies to capital gains this year and the maximum tax on capital gains goes up in 1971.

The new tax law has several items designed to hit wealthy taxpayers who have formerly escapedpaying taxes altogether or have paid very little taxes. es.

These items probably won't affect you but you should know about them. There is a new concept in the tax law called "preference income" and while this preference income is subject to an additional 10 per cent tax it only affects a very few people. There are 9 types of perference income:

Excess investment interest; Depletion; Accelerated depreciation on real estate; Restricted qualified stock options; Net long term gains; Amortization of certified pollution control facilities; Amortization of railroad rolling stock; Bad debts - financial institutions; Accelerated depreciation on personal property subject to net lease.

However, tax preference items have to total more than $30,000 before they are subject to tax because you have a $30,000 exclusion and also you exclude your usual tax liability.

Your capital gains may be taxed at more than 25 per cent but to do this you would have to have capital gains in excess of $50,000 and also you would have to have a taxable income in excess of $26,000 for a single person and $38,000 for a Head of Household and $52,000 for a married couple.

The reason is that only 50 per cent of your capital gains is taxed and unless your rate on all of your income exceeds 50 per cent, then the tax on your capital gain would not exceed 25 per cent, but to do this you would have to have capital gains in excess of $50,000 and also you would have to have a taxable income in excess of $26,000 for a single person and $38,000 for a Head of Household and $52,000 for a married couple.

The reason is that only 50 per cent of your capital gains is taxed and unless your rate on all of your income exceeds 50 per cent, then the tax on your capital gain would not exceed 25 per cent of the amount of the gain.

Hence if you have a large income and capital gains, you would use the alternative tax method to arrive at the tax on your capital gains of 25 per cent of the total amount of the gain, up to the first $50,000 of gain. After that the maximum tax would be 29½ per cent on the excess. So, you can see that this would only apply to people with a very large income.

Limited Protest To Railpax Plan

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— California's Public Utilities Commission voted Tuesday to file a limited protest to a proposed federal plan for operating the nation's passenger trains.

Commissioners asked for service between San Francisco, Los Angeles and San Diego, which is not included in a plan by the National Rail Passenger Corp., which is known as Railpax.

Railpax is a means for the federal government to subsidize the nation's failing rail passenger system.

FNMA Shares

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Federal National Mortgage Association has sold 47,000 additional shares of stock from its treasury at $65.25 a share. The purchasers were customers who buy mortgages from Fannie Mae and own certain quantities of the government sponsored corporation's stock.

Bank Debits Show A Drop

November bank debits for Marin County were down from last year but bank deposits showed some gains.

The Federal Reserve Bank of San Francisco reported unadjusted debits of $220,485,000, compared with $223,491,000 a year ago. Unadjusted deposits this year were $111,839,000 compared to last year's $102,572,000.

Seasonally adjusted debits, deposits and turnover ratios are not reported for Marin County.

Teachers Cite Odd Reason For Rejecting Contract

Teachers in the Reed School District have turned down a proposed new contract for an unusual reason, if an announcement from the new Marin County office of the California Teachers Association is to be believed.

The Reed teachers were unanimous in rejecting the proposal, according to Bert Skaggs, executive director of the new CTA office — not because they were unwilling to accept the offered pay raise, but because they were asked to sign individual written contracts which the CTA styled "restrictive and punitive."

WE HAVE READ over the sections of the proposed contract which seem to be the main points of contention. We find nothing in them which is not provided in the California Education Code.

The worst feature, according to the CTA spokesman, is a provision that the teacher is subject to changes in state laws and regulations and district policies during the term of the contract.

Asst. County Counsel Richard V. Godino, who drew up the document, says that was included to protect both district and teachers, in case changes in state laws or regulations should force the district to alter its operations.

As to district policies, these are in the process of being rewritten in the Reed district — as they are also in San Rafael and many other school districts. In fact, rewriting of school policies goes on just about all the time in many places.

Would the CTA insist that no policy change could become effective until after the end of the school year during which it was adopted? Apparently so.

THE REAL NUB of the dispute appears to be that the teachers (and the CTA) are opposed to signing individual contracts. They prefer to continue the system (if it can be called that) which has prevailed in California schools: The teacher agrees to take a job, with the tacit understanding that this means he will abide by state regulations and district policies, as the education code says he must. But he signs nothing.

During the California Federation of Teachers strike at San Francisco State College last year, a CFT attorney actually claimed the teachers "don't have any contract and never have had a contract." The fact that by accepting employment at the college they had obligated themselves to abide by its rules, as set forth in state college regulations, did not represent a contractual obligation in his eyes.

Yet these same teachers, after the strike was over, were very insistent that the contract which they claimed they did not have should be honored by the college that had not broken it.

IF A TEACHER signs a contract, he can scarcely adopt such a stance. Could that be the reason the CTA opposes signed teacher contracts — which have been the rule for many years in some other states?

Godino says he has advised all school boards in Marin County to require individual signed contracts. We think that is good advice. In fact, we find it hard to understand why they have not done so in the past.

So We All Are Hypocrites? It's Fortunate That We Are

(Vermont C. Royster in Wall Street Journal)

If there's one thing we of the parental generation ought to know it is that we are shot full of hypocrisy. Our young tell us that all the time.

It's a favorite word in campus newspapers, the underground press and even in the more sophisticated journals of youthful cast, from Ramparts to the Village Voice. . .

But somehow reading about it doesn't prepare you for recrimination by personal encounter. The charge hits harder when, on a campus visit it comes from young men of thoughtful mien, quiet spoken, neither militant nor impolite.

IN THE GIVE-AND-TAKE of conversation the word is bandied about casually, as one might note that it's a rainy day. Within the youthful peer group (another popular phrase) the prevalence of hypocrisy — and oh, the wickedness of it — is simply accepted as an attribute of your generation, along with stuffy clothes, sagging muscles and the absence of hair.

The proposition that hypocrisy is one of the evils that we, the elders, have foisted upon the world to our shame isn't intended to be discussed, any more than one would debate whether the world is round. You are supposed to start with that as a philosophical premise, and then listen to how the young are going to change all this.

There's a temptation, of course, to retort that the young are not exactly free of it, if the word means pretending to feelings one does not have. To preach love not hatred and then spit on a teacher; to preach peace not violence and then tear up the pea patch; these are hardly consistent.

More, to pretend to certainty about everything while you are conscious inside of a turbulent uncertainty is certainly a form of self-deception. The young are no more free of this than their elders. . .

BUT ALL THIS is really no answer to what the young charge us with. To answer thus is either to be trivial or specious. The true charge cuts deep, for it is nothing less than that we do not live up to the virtues we pretend — and preach. . .

The point need not be labored. All of us — some more, some less — have some private pretense by which the virtue we honor is observed more in the breaching of it. As a group, as a society, we do not in fact live up to those standards which we proclaim are those of the good society. If hypocrisy means the pretense to virtues one does not possess, then that is the word for it.

But where is the wickedness? Is it in what we are, or in what we pretend to? Do we diminish the hypocrisy by striving further, or end it by naming virtue that which we do?

If we have made any progress from the slime, it is because we are constantly making ourselves hypocrites by setting ideals beyond us. There was a time when we preached the brotherhood of man and practiced slavery; dreamed of justice and hanged a man for stealing a loaf of bread; praised God and burned those who praised Him in a different fashion. Had not hypocrisy pricked our conscience, there we would be still. . .

Somehow these young have got things turned around. What they ought to be telling us is that the gap between what we are and do, and what we should aspire to be and do, is not great enough. The sin, if there be such, is shriveling dreams to match our deeds.

Anyway, young fellows, put me down as a proud hypocrite. It's probably as close as I'll ever come to virtue.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Welfare Rules Hamstring County

It is difficult to sit in meetings of the board of supervisors week after week for years, as I have done, during review of general relief cases, appeals of persons denied welfare by the Department of Social Services and reports of the status of welfare caseloads and budgets made periodically by the director, Betty Presley, without feeling sympathy for the supervisors and sharing some of their and Miss Presley's frustrations over the entire welfare program. Serving as a member of the Family and Children's Social Services Advisory Committee, and of the AFDC Task Force which preceded it, has only intensified this feeling.

Your paper performs a valuable service to the taxpayers by publicizing cases such as that of the teacher who asked for two months of welfare aid during her summer vacation and of the mother earning up to $7,500 per year while drawing AFCD payments for herslef and children. These and other stories of such abuses should be aired. Only in this way can your readers learn of the loopholes which need to be plugged. Hopefully, they will take advantage of the addresses of their elected officials which you have been printing on the editorial pages and write their representatives with constructive suggestions for legislative changes in our welfare laws.

However, the public should know that there is little or nothing that the board of supervisors or Miss Presley can do themselves about welfare loopholes. They have no control locally over any programs except for general relief and supplemental aid payments to families on AFDC (Aid For Dependent Children). Other than reviewing eligibility of applicants for other welfare programs, they are forced to comply with mountains of regulations which pour forth from Washington and Sacramento. Added to these are the ridiculous decisions which the courts have handed down in overgenerous interpretation of regulations and of so-called constitutional rights; most of these cases have cost the taxpayers at both ends since many of them have been prosecuted by lawyers under tax-financed legal aid programs.

The hardest thing to live with, and usually that least receiving sympathetic attention from the general public, is the unfair, unkind and often hostile attitude toward those welfare recipients who are genuinely and desperately in need of help.

Many people have blamed welfare recipients for abuses of the food stamp program. The public should know that this program is operated by the U.S. Department of Agriculture and is open to millions of people who cannot qualify for welfare aid, including union members out on strike.

$21,000 Welfare Income Possible

Welfare makes $21,000 family income.

Does this sound fantastic! It isn't.

It took courage for the social director to open a crack in the Pandora's box that is the welfare system and it was a public service of you to print it. That was the story of the welfare recipient making over $7,000 a year and drawing almost $4,000 in welfare while living with a man allegedly not her husband, her four children and his one.

But it didn't necessarily tell the whole story. It fails to point out that welfare recipients can conceal their income because the social worker has to have the recipient's approval before he can check any source of income. This is spelled out in "welfare rights" literature.

In this case, the article said the man had a child and was unemployed. This is what is in the woman's "file." What may be the truth?

It is likely, even probable, that the man is also on welfare for Aid to Needy Children for his child — drawing maybe $250 a month — food, clothing, housing allowance. And like the woman, he may be very well be employed, earning $7-9,000 a year. These facts, even if honestly revealed, would be in his — another — welfare file. Thus, by playing welfare rules and avoiding marriage, a couple could easily have a family income over $20,000, assisted by welfare.

Social workers will argue for every clause and phrase that makes all of this possible.

The question for the public is this — when will the public demand normal auditing and investigation of welfare? No other field of private, business, or government activity is specifically protected against auditing as is welfare . . .

Johnson May Back Nixon Because Of Foreign Policy

By ROSCOE And GEOFFREY DRUMMOND

WASHINGTON — A sensational new, pro-Nixon factor is being added to the politics of 1972.

It isn't just President Nixon's choice of former Texas Democratic Gov. John B. Connally as secretary of the treasury — and his willingness to serve.

And it isn't just the improved prospect of Richard Nixon getting the 26 Texas electoral votes he missed two years ago. It is far bigger. It is this: Former President Lyndon Johnson may well end up endorsing President Nixon for re-election.

EVENTS TO MAKE this possible — even probable — are now in the making.

The foremost is:

At present all the leading and seriously mentioned candidates for the Democratic presidential nomination are on the dove side of foreign policy and national security. Sen. Edmund Muskie, the leading contender, urges that the United States get out of Vietnam far faster than Mr. Nixon is doing. He demands a fixed, public timetable for total withdrawal in 12 months. He votes against the ABM. He seeks further reductions in the defense budget. He does support aid to Israel.

Sen. Edward Kennedy is even more dovish. And the other avowed contenders like Senators Harold Hughes and George McGovern are among the extreme doves.

WHAT CANNOT fail to be giving L.B.J. the greatest anxiety is the prospect that the extreme Democratic doves will capture the foreign and defense policy of his party and that its next presidential nominee will either be the captive of their views or a willing and ardent exponent.

There is only one possible Democratic nominee — and his nomination is improbable — who stands counter to the dove position and foreign and defense policy. He is Sen. Henry M. Jackson of Washington and he deeply believes that "the area of vulnerability for the Democrats in '72 is the area of national security."

"I believe," he said on "Meet the Press" recently, "it will be important, if we are going to win, that we stand in the tradition of Roosevelt, Truman, Jack Kennedy and Lyndon Johnson. Jack Kennedy was elected in 1960 primarily on the national security issue and I was chairman of the Democratic National Committee at that time."

JUST BECAUSE L.B.J. has been relatively quiet on public and party affairs during the past two years doesn't mean that he will remain passive if the Democrats show they are heading toward nominating a dove candidate and writing a pacifist-minded, semi-isolationist party platform repudiating the record of leadership in foreign policy of four Democratic presidents.

He won't.

He will first seek to prevent it.

If unable to prevent it, it would be wholly in character for him to put what he deemed the best interest of the nation ahead of party and support a foreign and national security policy nearest his own. That would mean supporting President Nixon.

THERE IS TWO-THIRDS of a precedent. In 1968 Johnson withheld any active, effective support for Hubert Humphrey in part because he felt Humphrey was steadily repudiating his foreign policy. After the election he told friends that "Nixon won because of his firm policy on Vietnam."

The appointment of his closest political friend, John Connally, to the Nixon cabinet makes it easier for Johnson to move the whole distance — if necessary.

You can take it for granted that Conally consulted with Johnson before he accepted the treasury post and that L.B.J. not only acquiesced but approved and encouraged him to take it.

Lyndon Johnson is today in a powerful strategic position. He may be able to prevent his party from going extreme dove and, if he can't, he can almost certainly help Richard Nixon prevent the country from doing so.

Names People Call People Show Up Racial Attitudes

By LOUIS CASSELS

WASHINGTON (UPI) — What's in a name? In some cases, it may be an index to racial attitudes.

White people who are considerate of the feelings of black people usually refer to them as "Negroes" (pronounced knee'-grows, never nig'-gruz) or "colored people." Or simply as "blacks."

Varying degrees of racial animosity are conveyed by such terms as "niggers," "spades," "spooks," "jigs" and "coons."

BLACK PEOPLE have an equally varied lexicon for white people . . .

The polite terms are "Caucasians" or simply "whites."

Also widely used, and not necessarily pejorative, is "whitey."

Other black names for white people convey varying degrees of racial antagonism.

"Honky" is meant to be insulting: it is on a par with "nigger." Its etymology is obscure. Some students of language believe it is a corruption of "hunky," which originally was applied to white Americans of Hungarian descent.

Others say it is derived from a West African dialect word for stranger. Stokely Carmichael, an acknowledged master of black invective, contends that white people are called "honkies" because they are always "honking" like geese, sounding off with loud threats or empty promises.

ANOTHER WIDELY used term is "ofay."

White people who hear it applied to them are often puzzled about what it's supposed to mean. They've forgotten their childhood "pig Latin." Ofay is pig Latin for "foe." To call a white person "ofay" is tantamount to saying, "This is The Enemy."

"The Man" was once widely used by black people to designate an individual white or the whole white power structure. It is a shorthand version of "The Man With The Whiskers," meaning Uncle Sam, or the government. This term is now obsolete and seldom heard among blacks.

"Mr Charley" apparently dates back to the slavery era. It has a bitter flavor of irony.

Young blacks today tend to avoid "Mr. Charley" because of its foot-shuffling connotations. They have shortened it to "Chuck" which manages both to tie it in with Negro history and at the same time to express defiance of white men who expect black men to call them "Mister."

A RELATIVELY NEW usage among Negroes is to refer to members of the Caucasian race as "grays" or "gray bags" rather than "whites." The point is that most Caucasians really don't have white skins, any more than most Negroes have black skins. The typical Caucasian complexion is off-white—sometimes pretty far off—whereas the typical Negro complexion is a shade of brown.

The term most heavily laden with hostility is "pig."

Many whites have the idea that "pig" is applied only to policemen. Not so. Among black people generally, and especially among the more militant, "pig" stands for any representative of the white-dominated establishment—and by extension, to any white person who benefits from a racist social structure.

Johnson May Back Nixon Because Of Foreign Policy

By ROSCOE And GEOFFREY DRUMMOND

WASHINGTON — A sensational new, pro-Nixon factor is being added to the politics of 1972.

It isn't just President Nixon's choice of former Texas Democratic Gov. John B. Connally as secretary of the treasury — and his willingness to serve.

And it isn't just the improved prospect of Richard Nixon getting the 26 Texas electoral votes he missed two years ago. It is far bigger. It is this: Former President Lyndon Johnson may well end up endorsing President Nixon for re-election.

EVENTS TO MAKE this possible — even probable — are now in the making.

The foremost is:

At present all the leading and seriously mentioned candidates for the Democratic presidential nomination are on the dove side of foreign policy and national security. Sen. Edmund Muskie, the leading contender, urges that the United States get out of Vietnam far faster than Mr. Nixon is doing. He demands a fixed, public timetable for total withdrawal in 12 months. He votes against the ABM. He seeks further reductions in the defense budget. He does support aid to Israel.

Sen. Edward Kennedy is even more dovish. And the other avowed contenders like Senators Harold Hughes and George McGovern are among the extreme doves.

WHAT CANNOT fail to be giving L.B.J. the greatest anxiety is the prospect that the extreme Democratic doves will capture the foreign and defense policy of his party and that its next presidential nominee will either be the captive of their views or a willing and ardent exponent.

There is only one possible Democratic nominee — and his nomination is improbable — who stands counter to the dove position and foreign and defense policy. He is Sen. Henry M. Jackson of Washington and he deeply believes that "the area of vulnerability for the Democrats in '72 is the area of national security."

"I believe," he said on "Meet the Press" recently, "it will be important, if we are going to win, that we stand in the tradition of Roosevelt, Truman, Jack Kennedy and Lyndon Johnson. Jack Kennedy was elected in 1960 primarily on the national security issue and I was chairman of the Democratic National Committee at that time."

JUST BECAUSE L.B.J. has been relatively quiet on public and party affairs during the past two years doesn't mean that he will remain passive if the Democrats show they are heading toward nominating a dove candidate and writing a pacifist-minded, semi-isolationist party platform repudiating the record of leadership in foreign policy of four Democratic presidents.

He won't.

He will first seek to prevent it.

If unable to prevent it, it would be wholly in character for him to put what he deemed the best interest of the nation ahead of party and support a foreign and national security policy nearest his own. That would mean supporting President Nixon.

THERE IS TWO-THIRDS of a precedent. In 1968 Johnson withheld any active, effective support for Hubert Humphrey in part because he felt Humphrey was steadily repudiating his foreign policy. After the election he told friends that "Nixon won because of his firm policy on Vietnam."

The appointment of his closest political friend, John Connally, to the Nixon cabinet makes it easier for Johnson to move the whole distance — if necessary.

You can take it for granted that Conally consulted with Johnson before he accepted the treasury post and that L.B.J. not only acquiesced but approved and encouraged him to take it.

Lyndon Johnson is today in a powerful strategic position. He may be able to prevent his party from going extreme dove and, if he can't, he can almost certainly help Richard Nixon prevent the country from doing so.

Names People Call People Show Up Racial Attitudes

By LOUIS CASSELS

WASHINGTON (UPI) — What's in a name? In some cases, it may be an index to racial attitudes.

White people who are considerate of the feelings of black people usually refer to them as "Negroes" (pronounced knee'-grows, never nig'-gruz) or "colored people." Or simply as "blacks."

Varying degrees of racial animosity are conveyed by such terms as "niggers," "spades," "spooks," "jigs" and "coons."

BLACK PEOPLE have an equally varied lexicon for white people . . .

The polite terms are "Caucasians" or simply "whites."

Also widely used, and not necessarily pejorative, is "whitey."

Other black names for white people convey varying degrees of racial antagonism.

"Honky" is meant to be insulting: it is on a par with "nigger." Its etymology is obscure. Some students of language believe it is a corruption of "hunky," which originally was applied to white Americans of Hungarian descent.

Others say it is derived from a West African dialect word for stranger. Stokely Carmichael, an acknowledged master of black invective, contends that white people are called "honkies" because they are always "honking" like geese, sounding off with loud threats or empty promises.

ANOTHER WIDELY used term is "ofay."

White people who hear it applied to them are often puzzled about what it's supposed to mean. They've forgotten their childhood "pig Latin." Ofay is pig Latin for "foe." To call a white person "ofay" is tantamount to saying, "This is The Enemy."

"The Man" was once widely used by black people to designate an individual white or the whole white power structure. It is a shorthand version of "The Man With The Whiskers," meaning Uncle Sam, or the government. This term is now obsolete and seldom heard among blacks.

"Mr Charley" apparently dates back to the slavery era. It has a bitter flavor of irony.

Young blacks today tend to avoid "Mr. Charley" because of its foot-shuffling connotations. They have shortened it to "Chuck" which manages both to tie it in with Negro history and at the same time to express defiance of white men who expect black men to call them "Mister."

A RELATIVELY NEW usage among Negroes is to refer to members of the Caucasian race as "grays" or "gray bags" rather than "whites." The point is that most Caucasians really don't have white skins, any more than most Negroes have black skins. The typical Caucasian complexion is off-white — sometimes pretty far off — whereas the typical Negro complexion is a shade of brown.

The term most heavily laden with hostility is "pig."

Many whites have the idea that "pig" is applied only to policemen. Not so. Among black people generally, and especially among the more militant, "pig" stands for any representative of the white-dominated establishment — and by extension, to any white person who benefits from a racist social structure.

WORTH SAYING AGAIN

Fields are won by those who believe in winning. — Thomas Wentworth Higginson.

We shall not love our corner of the planet less for loving the planet too, and resisting with all our skill and passion the dangers that would reduce it to smoldering ashes. — Adiai E. Stevenson.

The word has narrowed to a neighborhood before it has broadened to brotherhood. — Lyndon B. Johnson.

COUNTY COMMENT

By WILLIAM D. (BILL) FUSSELMAN

Civic Center Buildings Definition Of 'Blue Funk'

Perhaps it would be well to touch on two items in last week's column, but first let me say that I have been fighting a virus infection of the throat which made writing the column difficult. I said that Harper was on Vashon Island. It is not. I knew better. It is across from the north end of Vashon in Kitsap County. Thanks to my friend in Novato for his nice letter, calling my attention to this.

I didn't make some things clear. The Indians' transition from large dugout canoes was to power boats such as the crab boats here. There were no barges. The boats were not flat bottomed, just the small skiffs used for tenders.

A number of readers called to see if I was all right as they missed the column. Some Christmas cards also had the question. It was in the usual place, but my picture was omitted. Always look for "County Comment" at the top of the column. It was nice to know you were concerned.

FRIDAY MORNING as I was being driven home from Thanksgiving with the family, a depressing sight came into view. First there was the blue roofed Veterans Memorial building, then the long stretch of blue roofs on the Hall of Justice and the administration building.

If there ever was a "blue funk" that was it. Here is the definition of funk in the new Random House college dictionary: "1. cowering fear; fright or terror. 2. a dejected mood." Could it be more pat?

Those balconies for tourists, which could have been used for more floor space in the buildings, are to be enclosed with fences and iron grills. Both ends of the Hall of Justice and the administration building are to be fenced in with steel wire mesh with barbed wire tops.

The relatively few people who wished this grand elegance on the taxpayers — where are they now? Just making speeches about police states, that's all.

Where was the ecology then? They destroyed beautiful rolling hills of pasture land to build this thing. No wonder the buildings themselves have that dejected look!

PETER BEHR'S election expense wonders a lot of people no end. Note: He spent $134,548 to be elected. He has a deficit of $32,214. Unless he accepts contributions from someone, this deficit will take almost all of his first two years' salary ($19,200 per year).

It would take seven years at that salary to equal $134,400 — not enough to cover this year's election costs.

I HOPE you will get a chance to see the street decorations in San Anselmo, my home town for over 50 years. They are smart and good looking. A sweeping low bow to those who are responsible.

I will not write a column next week . . . . can't compete with Christmas for attention. You and the youngsters have a real good time, now. Hope to see you next year.

Seattle Seven Appeal Rulings

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Lawyers for the Seattle Seven have filed appeals in federal court of both contempt sentences and denial of bail as ordered by a federal judge at Tacoma, Wash.

The appeals filed Wednesday in the Ninth Circuit Court asserted that the defendants should have a jury trial of the contempt charges; that denial of bail was an outrage; and that the defendants were not guilty of contempt.

U.S. District Judge George H. Boldt denied bail after the prosecution charged the defendants, all sentenced to at least six months in jail for contempt, may flee as have many of their fellow revolutionaries.

Students Eligible For Cash Awards

Students in Marin County's 10 high schools are eligible for an award contest for local regional and national cash awards, sponsored by the Soroptimist Foundation, according to Marlys Kehm, contest chairman.

Applicants will be judged on their records of service, dependability, leadership and sense of purpose, she said.

Cash prizes of $50, $35 and $15 will be given Marin winners by the Soroptimist Club of Marin County. The first place student then would be eligible for a $1,000 first prize in regional competition among students from Marin, Napa, Solano and Contra Costa counties. The winner among 17 competing regions throughout the U.S. will receive an additional $1,500 cash.

High schools participating are San Rafael, Terra Linda, Tamalpais, Redwood, Sir Francis Drake, Novato, San Marin, Tomales, Marin Catholic and Kathryn Branson.

Judges in the Marin competition will be Virgil S. Hollis, county superintendent of schools; Rev. Charles C. Griffin, First Presbyterian Church of San Rafael, and Daniel F. Deedy, Marin County Board of Realtors.

Entries close Jan. 31 and students will be judged in February, Mrs. Kehm said.

Goldennaires Name Officers

Mary England of San Rafael has been elected president of the San Rafael Goldennaires, a senior citizens group, Andrew J. Snyder, director of parks and recreation reported yesterday.

Elected with her were Margot Bull of San Anselmo, first vice president; Elizabeth Rodin of San Rafael, second vice president; Florence Benedict of San Rafael, recording secretary; Adele Liebert of San Rafael, corresponding secretary, and Ernest Blagg of San Rafael, treasurer.

Board members elected were Charles Mustante of San Rafael, Harry Simpson of San Rafael, John Roberts of Ross and Mildred Graham of San Anselmo, past president.

Hanoi Builds Stronghold Threatening U.S. Positions

By STEWART HENSLEY

WASHINGTON (UPI) — American intelligence officers report that North Vietnam is engaged in building up a major stronghold in southern Laos, which apparently is designed to serve as the headquarters and logistic supply point for Communist offensives expected in late February or March.

The area in question is located between Sepone and Attopeu, Laotian towns close to the South Vietnamese border and near the southern end of the long Laotian panhandle.

Washington officials say the strongholds being created in that area are receiving most of the men and supplies which Hanoi has been infiltrating southward along the Ho Chi Minh trail in Laos since Oct. 1.

HANOI, in recent months, has widened the area she controls in Laos along the South Vietnamese border to provide greater security for the system of paths and roads which comprise the Ho Chi Minh trail.

The area between Attopeu and Sepone and the trails to the north has been under almost continuous attack by U.S. war planes based in Thailand, on U.S. aircraft carriers in the South China Sea and at times from bases in South Vietnam.

These attacks are not announced although the Pentagon acknowledges them from time to time.

Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird, explaining the heavy U.S. air raids late last month on some North Vietnamese border areas, said these were attacks on missile sites from which Hanoi attempted to interfere with American air operations just across the border in Laos. He said that there would be more such attacks if necessary.

ONE TEMPTING possibility, if the Communists are successful in establishing a major stronghold in that area, could be to move eastward into South Vietnam. The city of Hue and the big U.S. air base at Da Nang are only a few miles from the Laotian border in that narrow neck of northern South Vietnam, and that is the area from which virtually all U.S. ground combat forces have been withdrawn.

Another possibility would be a Communist strike southward to assist North Vietnamese and Cambodian Communist forces already in Cambodia.

A third possibility —which some officials believe may be Hanoi's main objective —would be to re-establish Hanoi and Viet Cong main force strength in the Cambodian sanctuaries along the South Vietnamese border opposite Saigon from which they were driven by U.S. and South Vietnamese forces last Spring.

AMERICAN OFFICIALS disagree as to the probable main objective of the Hanoi forces, if they are able to muscle up enough main force strength to launch a really effective offensive some time during the first half of 1971.

While the White House continues to adopt an optimistic attitude concerning the Indochina situation, some Pentagon officials are beginning to worry about what may happen when President Nixon has pulled U.S. troop levels in the area down to about 270,000 by May 1. This will be roughly one-half the number of U.S. forces in Vietnam at the time he took office two years ago.

Government Asks Ruling On Newsmen

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Justice Department, appealing an adverse lower court ruling, is asking the Supreme Court to rule newsmen may be compelled to testify before grand juries about non-confidential information obtained in their work.

Freedom of the press does not grant a newsman immunity "from appearing before the grand jury to testify, at the very least, that he did indeed hear the words quoted in his articles; that they were made seriously and not in jest," the department said in its appeal. The case involves a Nov. 17 ruling by the 9th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals that reversed a contempt finding against Earl Caldwell, a New York Times reporter who had written in detail for his paper about the Black Panther party.

The appellate court held that Caldwell had been within his rights to refuse grand jury questioning, for which he was found in contempt, unless the government could show a pressing need for his testimony. Grand jury proceedings are secret.

Now! Delivering fresh daily.

Made while you sleep?

Could be. Because now that Chevy's back in business, we're putting in a lot of hours and turning out a lot of Chevrolets. And we're shipping them every day to Chevy dealers all over the country. If you haven't taken a good look at our '71s, now's the perfect time. Here are a few examples of what you'll see.

New Vega. The little car that does everything well.

When we say "everything", we mean it. For instance, even though most minis would rather not talk about roominess, Vega brags about it. No small wonder. Automotive Industries magazine (impartial and unbiased) reports Vega is the roomiest of the new subcompacts, with about 90% as much space as the typical standard sized car.

The '71 Impala. We've been building up to this much Impala for years.

Know what's the roomiest '71 car in the U.S.A.? No, not one of the big, luxurious high-priced cars, but the big, luxurious Chevrolet-priced Chevrolet. (Automotive Industries magazine spells out the details in their October 1 issue.)

You've changed. We've changed.

The big difference in the 1971 Chevrolets is a change in attitude. Yours and ours. You're more concerned about continuing improvements. You want meaningful change and built-in value. That's why our '71 Chevelle, Camaro, Nova and Monte Carlo have quite a bit of change built into them. But their looks have hardly changed at all.

If you're looking for a new car (or even if you're just window shopping), your Chevy dealer has a lot more you'll be interested in. Either way, come on in. We're delivering the goods.

ANGLO-AMERICAN TALKS

British Prime Minister Edward Heath wound up a 48-hour visit to the United States today at Camp David where he strolled beneath snow-laden trees with President Nixon during their private talks on the Middle East, the Common Market, East-West relations and the Soviet build-up in the Mediterranean. Heath was appearing at a news conference before returning to London tonight. (UPI Telephoto)

Warning Issued To Air, Water Abusers

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Announcing another major antipollution lawsuit, Attorney General John N. Mitchell today warned of intensified governmental action in the "whole environmental quality area."

He led off his second news conference this year with the announcement that the Justice Department has accused the Cleveland works of the huge Jones and Laughlin Steel Corp. of discharging cyanids and other pollutants into the Cuyahoga river.

Fielding 43 questions in a wide-ranging 40-minute news conference, Mitchell declared the recent controversial statements of FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover had not stepped beyond the bounds of proper conduct; that he "sure as hell" is not going to volunteer to run President Nixon's 1972 reelection campaign; and to his knowledge the President has made no commitments to anyone for a Supreme Court appointment.

Mitchell also disclosed there probably will be a decision early next year on the intensive review between the Justice Department and Housing and Urban Development (HUD) over what action to take on housing discrimination in heavily populated suburbs.

Mitchell, who appeared his coolest ever at a meeting with the press, neatly ducked several political questions on grounds "we in the Justice Department are not involved in politics."

But the attorney general, architect of Nixon's 1968 presidential victory, did say that if he had to guess as why the President nominated former Gov. John B. Connally of Texas, a Democrat, to be Treasury Secretary, he would say it was because he is "an able man ... a very strong advocate ... whom I'm sure will represent the President's pro-

Holiday Truce On For Allies

SAIGON (UPI)—The United States and South Vietnam announced today they will observe 24-hour cease-fires over Christmas and New Years. The announcements said nothing about any truce over the three-day Chinese Tet lunar new year.

The Viet Cong have announced they will observe a three-day truce at Christmas, New Years and a four-day standdown for Tet.

The cease-fires will not apply to U.S. air operations over Laos or Cambodia and neither will they apply to South Vietnamese troops operating in Cambodia, military sources said.

No new anti-American terrorist attacks were reported today in Saigon for the first time in a week but an anonymous telephone bomb threat caused evacuation of the Joint U.S. Public Affairs office in downtown Saigon. No bomb was found.

A South Vietnamese communique said the truce periods would extend from 6 p.m. Dec. 24 to 6 p.m. Christmas Day and New Years Day. A spokesman for Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, U.S. commander in Vietnam, said U.S. forces would observe the same truce "in accordance with the government of the Republic of (South) Vietnam..."

In Phnom Penh, Lt. Col. Am Rong, the official Cambodian military spokesman, said he expected no such holiday truce in Cambodia.

South Vietnamese and Cambodian troops today reopened vital Highway 7 in northeast Cambodia after a month of heavy fighting that caused "enormous" casualties to the poorly equipped Cambodian army.

UPI correspondent Kate Webb reported from Phnom Penh that reopening of Route 7 means that food and ammunition can be shipped by road to Kompong Cham, a provincial capital of 50,000 persons and regarded as one of the anchors of Premier Lon Nol's defense complex.

She said field commanders were unable to estimate casualties in the fighting which began Nov. 9 but said they feared they had lost more than 200 wounded at both Prety Totung and O-Dar and "almost as many dead." They said they suffered "enormous" casualties when the Cambodians fought off human wave assaults by the North Vietnamese and Cambodian guerrillas.

The South Vietnamese, equipped with helicopters, air cover and heavy weapons, began sweeping from the eastern end of Route 7 Tuesday at request of the Cambodian high command and the two sides linked up today in the Prey Totung area, 40 miles

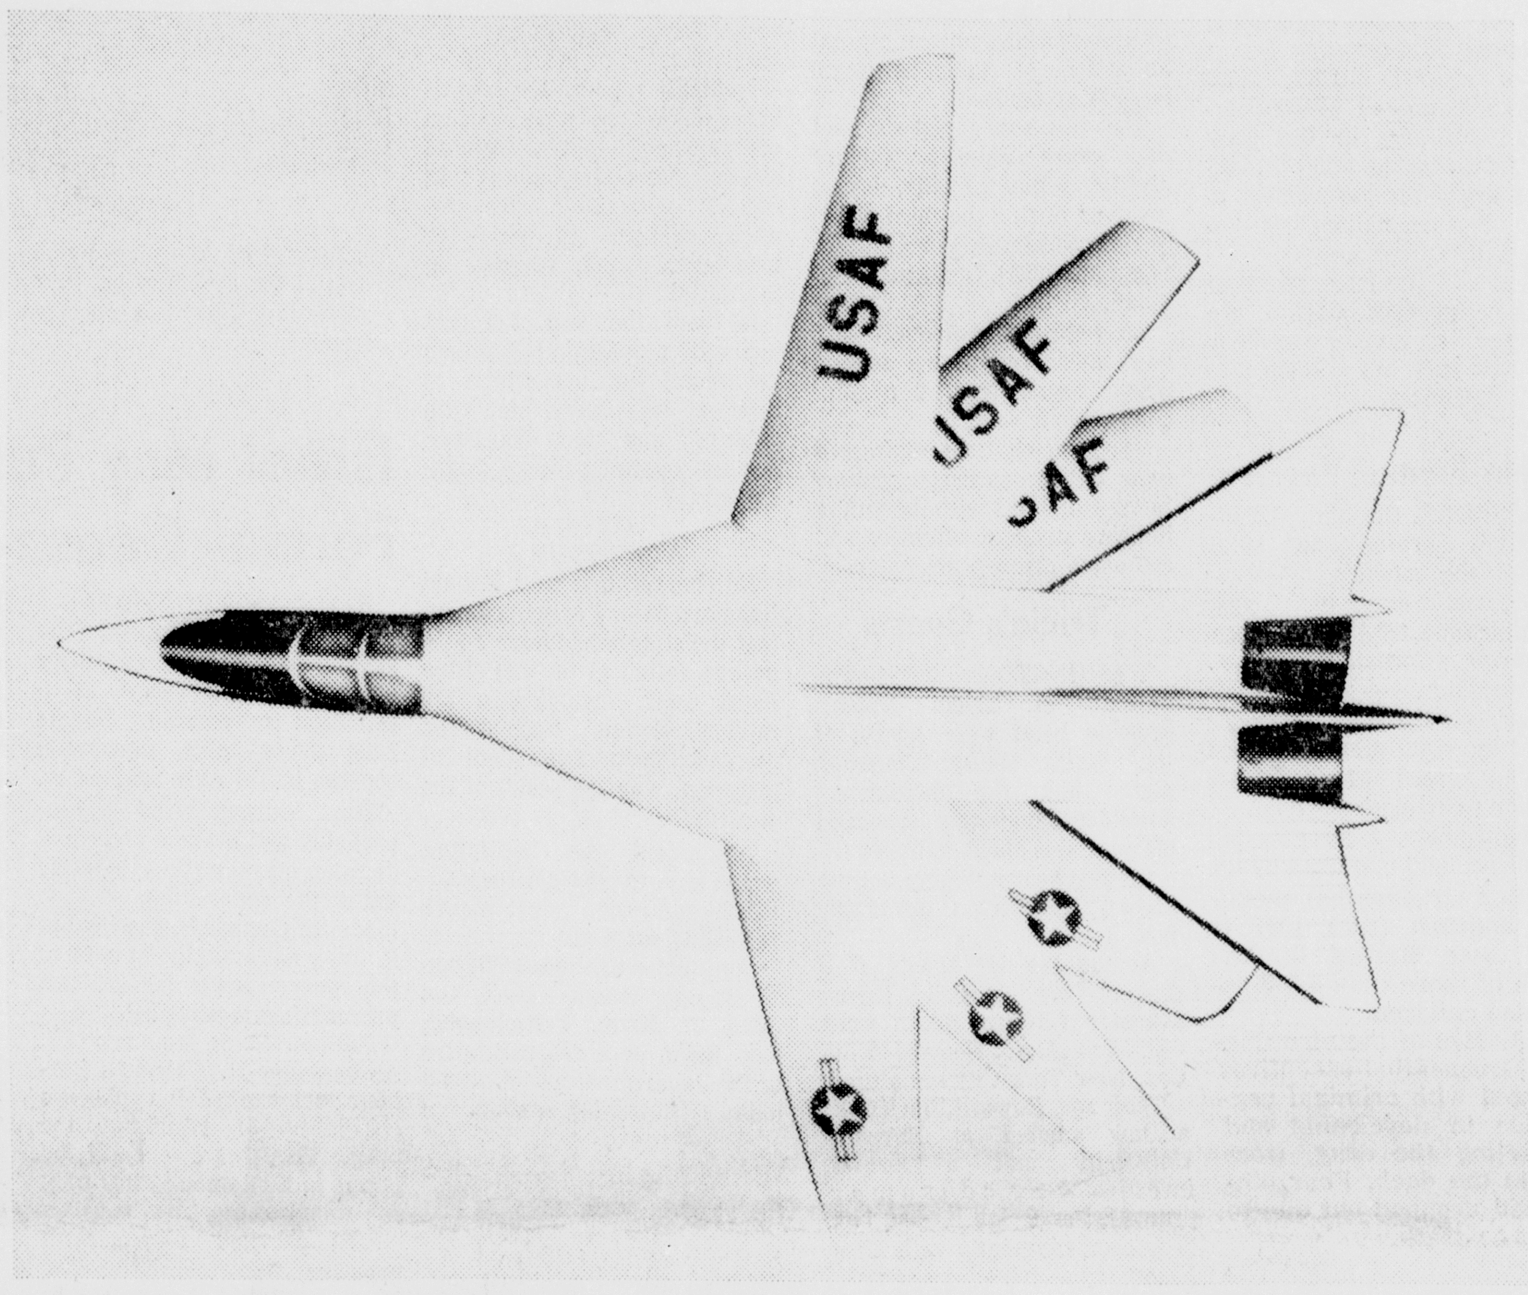
High-Level Mismanagement Charged In TFX 'Fiasco'



ILL-FATED TFX — The Defense Department released this photograph of a model of the TFX-F111 swing-wing tactical fighter jet in 1964, before the plane became embroiled in controversy culminating today in a Senate report that the aircraft had been a multimillion dollar "fiasco" caused by the "mismanagement" of former Defense Secretary Robert McNamara and his top aides. High Court Due Appeal By Angela

I-J Special Report

NEW YORK — Only one final legal step appeared left today blocking the extradition of black revolutionary Angela Y. Davis to Marin County.

Miss Davis today lost appeals on two federal court levels with only the U.S. Supreme Court now standing between her and efforts to extradite her to California on murder, kidnapping and conspiracy charges.

Her extradition has been stayed to Monday afternoon for the Supreme Court appeal.

After being denied a writ of habeas corpus yesterday by the highest New York state court, the court of appeals, Miss Davis's attorney, John J. Abt, today went to federal courts with

Polish 'Food Riot' Continues To Boil

WARSAW (UPI) —Workers at the Zeran automobile factory outside Warsaw laid down their tools today to hold "discussions" about the food riots that have swept Baltic seacoast cities, sending extra police patrols, some armed with automatic carbines, to the streets.

(Swedish Radio said new riots flared today in Szczecin and Slupsk and that armored cars again went into action to beat down the demonstratons. It reported Poznan, scene of the big 1956 uprising, calm.)

Troops and tanks enforced law and order along a 200-mile front in northern Poland with orders to shoot on sight and indications were the cities of Gdansk, Gdynia, Sopot, Szczecin and Slubsk were quiet today but tense.

The latest trouble spot was Szczecin and Swedish reports said demonstrators burned Communist Party headquarters the e Thursday and that "many" persons were feared dead in the fire. Troops used armored cars to restore order and eyewitness reports said one car ran over a mother and daughter.

The four days of rioting killed at least a dozen persons in other cities, injured hundreds and brought widespread damage, looting and arson, including the burning of Communist Party headquarters in Szczecin and Gdansk.

A traveler arriving in Warsaw from Wroclaw (Breslau), Poland's fourth largest city with a population of half a million, said the old city market area was cordoned off by troops today and military patrols were moving through the city. But the reason for such measures was not known.

Diplomatic sources said college students in Warsaw and other Polish cities including Gdynia had been told to leave for their Christmas vacations on Saturday instead of Tuesday as scheduled.

Snow Falls On Mount Tamalpais

The flakes melted as soon as they hit the mountain top this morning.

Rain, heavy at times, fell on Marin during the night, and the National Weather Service said there was a 40 per cent chance of more showers this evening.

Rainfall figures for a 24-hour period ending at 8 a.m. today were: Bolinas, .97 of an inch; San Anselmo, .85; Woodacre and Tamalpais Valley, .82; Santa Venetia, .74; Sausalito and Mill Valley, .65; Tiburon, .48, and Novato, .45.

San Rafael had .77 of an inch for the 24-hour period ending at noon today.

One Marin Agency Off UBAC List

At least one Marin County agency is among 27 for which United Bay Area Crusade funds have been eliminated, it was learned today.

Joseph P. Mergens, UBAC executive director, announced in San Francisco that the list of agencies financed partially by United Crusade funds had been cut from 190 to 163 "with a new emphasis on giving to the most deprived parts of the community."

He did not disclose what 27 agencies were cut.

One of them, however, is Marin Aid to Retarded Children.

Charles L. Martin, MARC president, said today, "We have received a communication from UBAC" announcing no funds would be forthcoming.

Indicating his organization has no intention of ending its operations because of the cut, Martin said: "We are delighted that the people of Marin County continue to support our extensive volunteer effort to serve the mentally retarded who rely

Johnson Aides Rebuked

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate Permanent Investigating subcommittee ended an eight-year investigation of the TFX (F111) plane today by calling it a "fiasco" and making stinging criticism of former Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara and his top aides.

It accused former Deputy Defense Secretary Roswell Gilpatric of "flagrant conflict of interest" in his relationship with the General Dynamics Corp., maker of the controversial swing-wing fighter-bomber.

The subcommittee also charged former Navy Secretary Fred Korth with impropriety. And it accused former Air Force Secretary Eugene Zuckert of writing an inaccurate memorandum to justify award of the TFX contract to General Dynamics instead of Boeing. The Boeing bid was lower and uniformed experts in both the Air Force and Navy preferred Boeing's design.

"The TFX program has been a failure," the Senate Judiciary Committee's Permanent Investigating subcommittee concluded.

In a Senate speech presenting the report, Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., the subcommittee chairman, said:

"Originally, the TFX (tactical fighter, experimental) program called for 1,726 airplanes at a cost of $5.8 billion, an average per plane of $3.4 million. The Air Force was to receive 1,473 production F111s to use as its only tactical fighter during the late 1960s and throughout the 1970s. The Navy was to receive 231 production F111Bs, to use as the sole Navy fighter on carriers from 1968 through 1975."

Instead, McClellan said, the F111 program will end in 1972 with a total of only 538 airplanes costing at least $7.9 billion. The Navy abandoned its version entirely because the planes could not operate off carriers. The Air Force removed its F111s from Vietnam action after two crashed.

". . . The primary cause of the TFX fiasco was mismanagement . . . the management blunders were made at the highest echelons of government. Top presidential appointees in the department of defense during the McNamara era overrode expert advice to impose personal judgments on complex matters beyond their expertise. These same officials then made extraordinary ef-

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Given Time

WASHINGTON (UPI) —An Air Force nurse who gave birth to a child out of wedlock remained in the service today under an order issued by U.S. Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas.

Douglas Thursday ordered the Air Force to give Capt. Susan R. Struck, 26, a native of Louisville, Ky., more time to continue her legal efforts to remain on duty. The Air Force had planned to discharge Miss Struck at midnight Thursday.

Trial Near End

MOSCOW (UPI)—The trial of 30 persons accused of attempting to hijack a Soviet airliner last June was reported to be nearing its final stage in the Leningrad city court today.

Informed sources said all defendants, most of them Jews, admitted the attempted hijacking and some of them said they had been working for "international zionism."

All are prosecuted under articles 64 and 70 of the criminal code dealing with treason and anti-Soviet propaganda. The articles provide for penalties up to 15 years in jail or death.

Daley To Run

CHICAGO (UPI) — Richard Joseph Daley, after meditating "in a spirit of humility and gratitude," has decided to run for a fifth four-year term as Chicago's mayor.

Democratic party slatemakers responded with an immediate vote of acclamation Thursday for the mayor's candidacy.

Daley's announcement indicated he has no intention yet of relinquishing his three-cornered hold on power.

Divorce Official

ROME (UPI) — Divorce became official today in this homeland of Roman Catholicism, opening an era of profound changes in Italian life.

Parliament Dec. 1 passed the first divorce law in Italy since the fall of Napoleon in 1815. But it did not come into force until today—15 days after its publication Dec. 3 in the official Gazette.

Tens of thousands of lawsuits already have been processed by lawyers, but until today special domestic courts legally could not start paperwork on them.

Tough Line

MADRID (UPI)—A rare appearance by Generalissimo Francisco Franco at a Madrid rally answering foreign criticism over the Basque court-martial indicates his government intends to take a tough line in the case, diplomatic observers said today.

The official CIFRA news agency estimated 500,000 persons took part in the rally Thursday during which Falangists urged the government to push Basque nationalists "to the wall."

The 16 Basques on trial before the court-martial are charged with murder and other terrorist acts. Six of them face death sentences.

No Formal Verdict

ALSDORF, Germany (UPI)—A West German court today ended the nation's marathon two and one half year Thalidomide trial without pronouncing a formal verdict.

Presiding Judge Benno Dietz announced the court's decision after the state prosecution last Friday agreed with a defense motion to abandon the trial.

Thalidomide, a sleeping pill developed and marketed by the Chemie Gruenenthal chemical concern from 1957 to 1961, was blamed for the birth of more than 6,000 deformed children.

Only five of the nine Chemie Gruenenthal executives charged with criminal negligence in developing and marketing the drug, were still in the dock. Four others had dropped out due to illness or death.

British Firemen Go On Limited Strike

LONDON (UPI)—The Fire Brigades Union Thursday night ordered 27,000 firemen throughout Britain to answer only emergency calls following a breakdown in pay talks.

The firemen turned down a 5 1-2 per cent increase and said they wanted $91.20 as earned by British Airports Authority firemen and a normal work week reduced. The firemen now earn an average of $66 for a 56-hour week.

New Pusey Job

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (UPI)—Retiring Harvard University President Nathan M. Pusey will become president of the Andrew W. Mellon Foundation next fall.

Pusey, whose resignation is effective at the end of the academic year in June, will succeed retiring Charles S. Hamilton Jr. as head of the multi-million dollar foundation, Harvard said Thursday in disclosing Pusey's plans.

The New York City-based foundation makes grants in the fields of education, the arts, conservation, community service and medicine, and was named for Secretary of the Treasury Andrew W. Mellon who died in 1937.

Talks End

HELSINKI (UPI)—The United States and the Soviet Union said today they are determined to keep working toward mutual limitation of their strategic nuclear arsenals.

The two super powers said they were able to further clarify some of the issues involved during the third phase of their Strategic Arms Limitation Talks (SALT) which ended today.

"A wide range of questions" was considered at the session which began Nov. 2 a joint communique said.

"Both delegations expressed their determination to pursue the negotiations with the aim of limiting strategic offensive and defensive armaments," it said.

Tricia's Guests

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The parents of Tricia Nixon's favorite beau were guests at the White House Thursday night but the president's daughter laughingly shrugged off questions about romance.

"If you hear anything, let me know," Miss Nixon told reporters.

Among the 114 guests at a dinner for British Prime Minister Edward Heath were Col. and Mrs. Howard Ellis Cox, New York City socialities.

Their son, Edward Finch Cox, a law student at Harvard University and a former investigator for consumer protectionist Ralph Nader, has been seen frequently with Miss Nixon.

DETROIT (UPI)—When the judge asked 71-year-old vagrant Joseph Kondratck how he pleaded, guilty or innocent, Kondratck looked out the window and said, "Twenty days, please, your honor."

Post Sees Big Deficit In Budget

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Legislative Budget Analyst A. Alan Post has predicted a $712 million deficit in the state budget next year unless present policies are changed.

Addressing a joint hearing of the Assembly Committees on Revenue and Taxation and Local Government, Post Thursday accused the Reagan administration of covering up a welfare deficit shortly before the Nov. 3 election.

Post said he first noticed welfare overspending in the April-May monthly report and asked the Health Care Services Department for an explanation.

"NOT TRUE"

Dr. Earl W. Brian, director of the department, replied in a letter that there "would be no overrun" according to Post, who said "this was not true."

Post said he was assured by Brian that corrective measures were being taken and "our mind was put at rest."

"Monthly reports deceived us into thinking we were well on course when in fact we were off course," Post said, adding that Brian's corrective measures were changes in reporting techniques which covered up the deficit.

He said the Aug. 4 report indicated a possible $72 million "overrun" but his efforts to find out why were met with "delays" and "foot dragging" due to "overall political implications."

A COVER UP

He charged that Gov. Ronald Reagan's Dec. 1 announcement that the state would have a $150 million deficit at the end of the fiscal year, including a $70 million deficit blamed on increased costs of the Medi-Cal program, was the result of the coverup.

Post said the legislature would have to consider reconstitution of the department's recording methods.

Committee Chairmen William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, and John T. Knox, D-Richmond, said Brian or a representative of the department would attend today's committee session.

Wine Maker Named To Antismog Board

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A winery executive was named Thursday by Gov. Ronald Reagan to the smog-fighting Air Resources Board.

Frederick F. Perelli-Minetti, a Republican who manages a Delano winery, was appointed to a four-year term. He succeeds David Adams of Woodland, who resigned. The post pays expenses only.

Israel May Push For Formal Cease-Fire Pact

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

Israel may demand the signing of a formal cease-fire agreement with Egypt as a condition for resuming Middle East peace talks, diplomatic sources in Tel Aviv said today.

The sources said Israel probably will make a favorable decision on restarting the talks under the sponsorship of U.N. mediator Gunnar V. Jarring but it "may not actually go back to the peace table before this precondition is accepted."

Premier Golda Meir and U.S. Ambassador H. Walworth Barbour met Thursday to discuss possibility of resuming the talks. They were cut off by Israel in September after only one round of meetings because Israel charged Egypt with violating the cease-fire by moving SAM2 and SAM3 missiles into the standstill zone along the Suez Canal.

In Cario, Mohamed Hassanein Heikal, editor of the semiofficial newspaper Al Ahram, said almost 20,000 Egyptian soldiers and civilians have been killed during and since the 1967 war. The figure was included in a letter written by Egyptian War Minister Gen. Mohamed Fawzi to Iraqi Defense Minister Lt. Gen. Hamad Chehab in August and published by Heikal in a column he wrote for today's Al Ahram.

In Jordan, a dispute over a time factor in a new peace initiative disrupted relations between the government and Palestinian guerrillas. It involved a timetable to be followed by the guerrillas in surrendering weapons for storage in central arsenals.

The government contends their agreement states it should be done by Sunday, but the guerrillas claim they never approved any deadline for turning over the weapons.

Stinging Attack On Medi-Cal Cutbacks

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —An official of the County Supervisors Association has denounced the Reagan administration's Medi-Cal cutbacks as a "breach of faith" that will cost local property taxpayers millions of dollars.

"County health care is provided at cost and any fee schedules or reductions in payments by the state is nothing less than an outright cost-shift to the county property taxpayer," charged Ralph P. Thiel, association president.

Thiel, a Tuolumne County supervisor, said that state-ordered cuts in the health care program for the poor in an effort to head off a $140 million deficit in the Medi-Cal budget merely slough off state costs to the local taxpayer.

Thiel, whose organization has threatened to challenge the cuts in court, said actual and potential Medi-Cal reductions would cost local taxpayers an additional $160 million.

"Counties are required by law to provide medical care services to the poor whereas private hospitals are not," he said. "They cannot close their doors to the poor."

Thiel said adoption by the state of a maximum rate schedule for outpatient services at both private and county hospitals will require that services be performed at below the hospital's cost.

"We estimate the direct impact of this order to be between $5 million and $8 million on the county property taxpayer," he said.

He said the virtual across-the-board 10 per cent reduction in the amount the state will pay for many Medi-Cal services "adds another $2 million to the county property taxpayer's bill."

It is now too late for counties to increase taxes during the current fiscal year. Thiel warned that if the state prevails the counties will be forced to cut back other services such as police and fire protection to free funds for Medi-Cal expenditure.

The association also said that "circumstances threaten" the possible shift of millions of dollars of additional Medi-Cal costs to property taxpayers.

If nursing homes enforce their threat to boycott new Medi-Cal patients because maximum state rates are too low, he said, the burden may be shifted to the counties at an estimated $10 million to $15 million cost.

In addition, an estimated 200,000 "medically needy" Californians in the Medi-Cal program could be shifted to county hospitals for care at a local cost of between $100 million and $150 million if they are dropped from the program, he said.

State Medi-Cal officials have said that unless the $140 million deficit is met by previously announced economy measures, the medically needy might have to be dropped from Medi-Cal, at least temporarily.

Dole Says He'll Get GOP Job

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. Robert J. Dole of Kansas says he expects to be named the new Republican national chairman before the week is out.

While talking to reporters Wednesday, the 47-year-old Kansan said he expected the announcement to come from President Nixon soon, "probably this week."

Dole has made no secret of his wish for the job. Nixon has been looking for a successor for Maryland Rep. Rogers C.B. Morton, who will become interior secretary in place of Walter J. Hickel, dismissed by Nixon last month.

Pollution Agency Creation Is Urged

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —A special state environmental protection agency should be created to deal with California's pollution problems, a staff report to the state Environemental Quality Council said Thursday.

The 35-page report, discussed at length by the council, will be subject to revision before it is submitted to Gov. Ronald Reagan and the Legislature. It was the first time the panel discussed the preliminary draft of its February 1971 progress report.

"It is now abundantly clear that only the boldest and most imaginative measures will be capable of saving the state from an environmental disasoer," the staff report said. "Much of what appeared bold last year now appears inadequate and incapable of solving the state's problems."

The report called it "shocking enough" that air pollution "is killing the Ponderosa pines in huge quantities in the San Bernardino mountains, 80 miles east of Los Angeles.

"But it is downright frightening to learn that these pines are now dying throughout the state, including those located in such remote mountain areas as the Sequoia National Forest."

The document suggested giving the new agency "planning and regulatory responsibilities over water, air, solid waste, and to a more limited degree, land use."

The council has scheduled a Jan. 7 meeting for further discussions on the report.

The report noted that it was once thought that by redistributing popupation growth to such areas as the western edge of the Sierras in the San Joaquin Valley, it might be possible to prevent "straining the carrying capacity of the Los Angeles basin and the San Francisco Bay area to the breaking point."

"We have since become painfully aware that the carrying capacity of the San Joaquin Valley is itself rapidly becoming strained," it declared.

Noting a sharp increase in Fresno air pollution, the staff called that city "perhaps the truest measure of the depth of the California environmental crisis.

"For one cannot help but be overcome with deep alarm to note the occurrence of such severe pollution problems in a community surrounded by nothing but endless agricultural lands and vast mountain forests and removed by hundreds of miles from any major metropolis."

It said that due to wind and geographical conditions in the valley, "the potential for catastrophe here is even higher than in the Los Angeles basin.

Nod Given Lake Tahoe Dump Ban

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —A ban on the dumping of mud and dirt into pollution-threatened Lake Tahoe by builders was approved Thursday by the state water resources control board.

"The bludgeoning they're giving to Lake Tahoe is continuing unabated," declared board member Ronald B. Robie.

The ban prohibits "the discharge of solid or liquid waste materials including soil, silt, clay, sand, and other earthen materials."

Fred R. McLaren, assistant chief of the board's division of water quality, said the new policy would give the Lahontan Regional Water Quality Control Board authority to order builders to stop causing siltation of the lake.

"The South shore of Lake Tahoe is a muddy mess," he said.

But Roger Imsdahl, planning engineer for Placer County, opposed the ban as being unrealistic and unenforceable.

"The way we interpret them," he said, "is that they mean no development."

Jerome B. Gilbert, the board's executive officer, conceded "some development would not be able to take place."

Police Raided

TOKYO (UPI) — Three left-wing students staged a raid today on a police station in a Tokyo suburb. One student was killed and the other two were injured when police opened fire.

Petitioners Get Denial Of Hearing

The Cotati City Council last night denied a petition request for a public hearing on behalf of two public works employees who were fired.

City Clerk Gayle Hill said a petition requested reinstatement for Ronald Santero and John Rossi who were fired, as well as Raymond Butler, who quit in protest. The petitioners also asked for a public hearing to air grievances.

Mrs. Hill said the petition was signed by 200 persons, but that many of them did not live in Cotati.

The council conferred with City Atty. William Cutler and decided against the public hearing when he told them city codes include no grievance procedures.

Cutler said that full authority on hirings and firings rests with the office of the city manager. City Mgr. Paul W. Salfen had said the two men were fired because of poor work records.

The Cotati City Council also:

PLANNERS —Reappointed Patrick Geis and Robert Frazier to two-year terms on the planning commission and appointed Pablo Ronquillo to succeed Floyd Mattern, who did not wish to be reappointed. Ronquillo is a language instructor at Sonoma State College.

STORM PLAN — Asked the Sonoma County Water Agency to prepare a storm drainage and flood control plan for the city.

LEASHES — Adopted an ordinance requiring dogs to be leashed 24 hours a day and increasing pound fees. The ordinance will take effect on Jan. 17.

EXTENSION — Granted an extension to Gem Construction Co. for the installation of a sewage meter until Jan. 21.

Cash Taken

Cash in the amount of $109 and a guitar and case worth $45 were stolen Tuesday night from the Mill Valley Methodist Church, Sycamore Avenue and Camino Alto, Mill Valley police reported today. Rev. George Carter told officers the building was entered by forcing a door.

Chrysler Pact Recess Is Likely

DETROIT (UPI)—There appears little possibility that Chrysler Corp. and the United Auto Workers will agree on a new three-year contract today, thus forcing a recess in negotiations until Jan. 4.

Both sides had agreed on today as a target date for settlement without a strike deadline but negotiations have drifted with no apparent progress.

UAW Vice President Douglas Fraser, director of the union's Chrysler department, said Thursday it was "obvious that we are not going to reach agreement" by the target date. Fraser also announced the UAW would set a strike deadline sometime in January if negotiations were delayed.

Chrysler had no comment on the union decision to recess.

Asked about the Chrysler reaction to a pick up after the holidays, Fraser said, "they did not seem to be overwhelmed with sorrow."

The UAW is seeking for its 120,000 hourly and salaried workers terms similar to those reached in contracts the union won from General Motors Corp. and Ford Motor Co. However, Fraser said it was apparent the company was not yet ready to make a new wage offer.

In Canada, General Motors employes voted in overwhelming numbers to endorse a new, three-year contract and end the 94-day strike at the company's seven Canadian plants.

That settlement was important in Chrysler talks because the company, unlike GM and Ford, has a single contract covering both its U.S. and Canadian workers. It was expected the GM of Canada agreement would set a pattern for Chrysler's Canadian workers.

Vandals Hit Cable TV, Stop Channels

Cable television reception of channels 7 and 11 was disrupted for two hours in Petaluma Wednesday after vandals damaged the control building of Tele-Vue Systems.

Police said the building door had been pried open and the two channels disconnected at 3 p.m.

Biological Weapons To Be Destroyed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The army today announced an elaborate one-year, $12 million plan for the safe destruction of U.S. biological weapons.

The plan, which has taken more than a year to develop, will carry out President Nixon's order of Nov. 25, 1969, for the total destruction of all offensive germ weapons. The Army said these weapons have been created since 1943 at a cost of $726 million.

Col. Gerald Watson, project officer for the destruction, told a Pentagon news conference that the plan can be put into effect as soon as approval is given by federal anti-pollution and safety agencies.

The danger of contamination with germs and the necessity for absolute safety were given as the reasons for the high cost and long duration of the program.

Watson said flames with temperatures as high as 1,000 degrees and sterilizing steam at a temperature of 280 degrees will be used in the course of burning and burying or evaporating the material.

The Army plans to continue a research program in defensive biological warfare but apparently will have no use for these buildings. Watson said the defensive program probably will be located at Edgewater Arsenal and Dugway Proving Ground in Maryland.

Most of the destruction will be carried out at Pine Bluff Arsenal, Ark., where all U.S. germ warfare materials designed for use against human beings are stored in three buildings called "igloos," two of which are kept at a temperature of 40 degrees below zero.

Destruction of biological materials designed for use against enemy crops will be carried out at Ft. Detrick near Baltimore, Md., at Rocky Mountain Arsenal, Denver, Colo., and at Beale Air Force Base, Marysville, Calif.

Watson said the program will take 48 weeks at Pine Bluff, 26 weeks at Ft. Detrick, 52 weeks at Rocky Mountain Arsenal and 12 weeks at Beale. He said 298 people are employed in the destruction program, most of them at Pine Bluff.

Defendant Denies Any Riot Violence

I-J Special Report

FAIRFIELD — Alvis D. Bailey, 43, of San Francisco today denied striking police officers with a picket stick or voluntarily committing any violence at the Valentine's Day labor rally outside the Independent-Journal.

He said he struggled because police used excessive force against him.

Bailey is one of seven persons on trial in Solano County Superior Court for a total of 34 charges arising from events at the Feb. 14 demonstration.

He is a member of Teamsters Local 921. He said fellow newspaper driver union members have not worked at the I-J since the newspaper was struck Jan. 7 by San Francisco International Typographical Union 21.

Bailey admitted today that he was carrying a blackjack when arrested. He said, however, that he had been carrying it for some time because of a rash of robberies of newspaper drivers. He said he also was fearful of guard dogs that he heard would be at the rally against the I-J.

Questioned by defense attorney Robert Y. Bell, Bailey also admitted having four one-inch ball bearings and a lead sinker police found on his person when he was booked. He said unidentified persons at the rally were passing ball bearings and sinkers among the pickets.

On Sept. 13, Douglas J. Barrett, a sheriff's deputy, testified he helped arrest Bailey after seeing Bailey strike several officers with a picket sign stick.

Yesterday, the defense rested in the cases of Charles P. Vance, 56, of South San Francisco, and Nimmes H. Shelton, 41, of San Francisco. Both men were on the stand, as well as Vance's 15-year-old son, Christopher, who accompanied him in the picket line at the violent Valentine's day rally outside the I-J.

Defense attorney Carl B. Shapiro asked Vance to tell what happened the afternoon of Feb. 14, when a car drove up to the I-J loading dock and police extricated it from the demonstrators crowded around.

Vance said he was near the car, but saw no one hitting it except San Rafael Police Inspector Richard A. Douglas. Vance said another officer ordered the car's driver to force it through the crowd, but Douglas banged on its hood and ordered the driver to halt.

Vance denied using his picket sign as a weapon against police advancing through Julia Street. He said he was hit in the back of the head while retreating, , was knocked unconscious into "a heap of bodies" on the street, then handcuffed and forcibly marched to a police command post at Fifth Avenue and B Street.

San Rafael Police Officer Timothy O'Donnell previously had testified that Vance struck him with his picket sign, during the confrontation.

Vance's son also denied seeing his father use his picket sign as a weapon. But the teen-ager admitted he, himself "threw a couple of picket sticks, toward B Street."

Earlier yesterday, prosecutor Thomas bored in on defendant Shelton's claims that he din't know that a rubber hose filled with lead, and a bag marked "buckshot" and filled with lead balls were weapons.

Shelton had testified he was given the blackjack, lead shot, and a slingshot to hold for acquaintances while they ate lunch.

Shelton claimed he was merely acquainted with the objects' owners. He testified that they also were deaf-mutes and that he did not know their names.

Through the court interpreter Shelton testified that he asked what the blackjack was at the time, but its owner "just went to lunch" without telling him. Shelton said he decided it "was for the dogs."

"In other words, you thought it was a type of weapon?" Thomas asked.

"I had no idea," Shelton signalled.

"What did you think this unnamed friend was going to do, have the dogs retrieve it for him?"

"Possibly," Shelton replied.

northeast of Phnom Penh. However, roads in the area were described as "still very dangerous."

The U.S. Command in Saigon said a collision in flight of two American helicopters killed four crewmen and that three were wounded and two missing.

The U.S. Command said two U.S. Army OH6 helicopters collided today just after takeoff from Vinh Long airfield, 63 miles southwest of Saigon. All four men in the two 'copters were killed.

Three men were wounded when their OH6 helicopter was shot down in the U Minh Forest 152 miles southwest of Saigon in the Mekong Delta. A Marine Corps F4 Phantom jet was shot down Thursday over the Ho Chi Minh Trail in the Laotian upper panhandle but both crewmen parachuted to safety, the U.S. Command said.

Military spokesmen said an Air Force O2 Birddog spotter plane has been missing since Dec. 12 over the Laotian lower panhandle.

forts to conceal the results of their errors," the report said.

"These efforts included deliberate attempts to deceive the Congress, the press and the American people."

Pentagon selection boards and military experts on four separate occasions recommended that Boeing build the airplane.

"The record shows that the decision to reject the unanimous recommendation of the military advisers and to give the award to General Dynamics was made by Secretaries McNamara, Gilpatric, Zuckert and Korth," the report said. This decision, it said, was made with no "paper work, no documentation and no special staff studies."

"Secretary McNamara's efforts in arriving at the decision can at best be described as capricious, lacking in depth, and without factual substantiation," the subcommittee said.

The harshest language in the report was reserved for Gilpatric:

"Deputy Secretary Roswell Gilpatric was guilty of a flagrant conflict of interest in the TFX award. The record shows unequivocally that he deliberately attempted to mislead the subcommittee regarding his relationship with General Dynamics Corp. as it existed before he accepted appointment as deputy secretary . . .

"The record makes clear the fact that he was a top level policy counselor to General Dynamics for 2 1-2 years immediately before his appointment and that he was a de facto member of the company's board of directors. The record shows that he participated in the TFX award proceedings and that he advised Secretary McNamara to give the contract to General Dynamics. Belatedly, he admitted these facts under cross-examination by the subcommittee after the staff had discovered the true situation.

"He obviously should have disqualified himself from taking any part in the decision.

Korth's role in the affair was not significant, the subcommittee said. "Nevertheless, there is ample evidence that he should have disqualified himself and not played any part in the decision-making process because of his intimate association with and financial interest in the Continental Cational Bank and the Fort Worth (Tex.) community. Not to have done so was at best an impropriety," the subcommittee said.

Korth was an official of the bank, which had financial dealings with General Dynamics, before he was appointed secretary of the Navy. Some of the planes were to be built at the company's Fort Worth factory. Korth resigned his government post after revelations he solicited business on Navy stationery for the bank.

After the decision to give the award to General Dynamics was made, Zuckert was picked to write a memorandum justifying it. The memorandum cited technical criticisms of the Boeing proposal which were unjustified. "In total, the memorandum does not appear to be either a sincere or accurate attempt to reflect the secretarial reasons for the award," the subcommittee said.

McNamara's stated reason for selecting General Dynamics was that overall costs would be less, regardless of the lower bid proposed by Boeing. But the subcommittee did not believe him any more than it did Zuckert's memorandum:

"The subcommittee attempted throughout the hearings to find a credible rationale that would explain why the secretaries apparently had decided to buy the second best airplane at the higher price. The question, however, never was answered conclusively in a fashion that would allow an unequivocal determination."

grams throughout the nation."

Mitchell denied that Connally's appointment had anything "whatsoever to do with the vice president now or in the future." He had been asked whether the appointment was, as speculated in some areas, the first of a move to dump Vice President Spiro T. Agnew in 1972.

Mitchell was bombarded with questions about J. Edgar Hoover's recent statements, including his calling former Attorney General Ramsey Clark a "jellyfish," accusing the "Peace Priests," Phillip and Daniel Berrigan, of leading a conspiracy to kidnap a high government official, and saying Mexican-Americans can't shoot straight.

In one of his many answers to this line of questioning, Mitchell said: "I wouldn't try to impede Mr. Hoover's freedom of comment any more than I would want mine impeded. Until he gets to the point of improper conduct, which he has not and I don't expect him to, I will not interfere."

On the subject of the three meetings he has had with Secretary George Romney of Housing and Urban Development, Mitchell said, "the total matter of the housing patterns in desegregation is under review ... we have not come to definite conclusions. We hope shortly after the first of the year to decide . . . we hope to have definitive guidelines," that can be carried out by the HUD's 70 regional offices,

In announcing the antipollution suit against Jones and Laughlin, a referral from the new Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), Mitchell said, "we can anticipate many more pollution cases being referred to us ... I predict intensified action in the whole environmental quality area."

In response to a question, he said similar investigations are in process against United States Steel and Republic Steel.

Earlier this month, the government sued Armco Steel Corp. for dumping cyanide from its plant on the Houston, Tex., ship channel.

MARC has been a Crusade member for 11 years. From last year's Crusade campaign, it received an allocation of $6,000, the largest since it joined the over-all fund-raising agency.

It was listed as one of the agencies to be supported by United Crusade funds during the fund-raising drive ended last month, which realized a total of $17,038,951. The other 26 agencies that will receive no funds were similarly listed.

No other Marin agency cut off was learned of immediately.

Mergens said the names of organizations dropped were withheld "as a matter of courtesy." He said only Robert C. Harris, UBAC board president, could disclose them.

Harris, a San Francisco attorney, could not be reached.

The UBAC board met yesterday and allocated $16,045,291 to 163 agencies for their 1971 budgets. This included $1,559,000 for UBAC's own operating budget, said Mergenes.

The approximately $1 million additional raised in the 1970 fund drive was set aside for funding special grant programs and for reserves, he said.

UBAC raises money toward support of assorted charitable and service organizations in Marin, Alameda, Contra Costa, San Francisco and San Mateo counties. The money all goes into one fund, and is allocated among the organizations by the Crusade board.

Although Nevada is the seventh largest state, it has fewer people than any other except Alaska.

OBITUARIES

Charles E. Fuller Dies At 43

Charles Edward Fuller of San Rafael died yesterday at a local hospital after a lengthy illness. He was 43.

Born in Los Angeles, he moved to 234 C Street 10 years ago.

He owned the Carrousel Laundromat in Sausalito.

Surviving are his wife, Hilda Fuller of the family home; three sons, Richard and Craig Fuller, both of Los Angeles, and Dennis Silva of San Rafael; two daughters, Deborah and Denise Silva, both of San Rafael, and his parents, Horace and Susan Fuller of San Diego.

Funeral will be tomorrow at 4:30 p.m. at Keaton's Mortuary in San Rafael followed by private burial at Mount Tamalpais Cemetery, also in San Rafael.

The family requested that memorial contributions be sent to the American Cancer Society.

PAULINE LaBODIE

Bill Thomas, deputy Marin County coroner, said Pauline Mary Ann LaBodie, 46, died apparently of natural causes.

She was found in bed by police at 2:50 a.m. Officers had gone to the home after the San Francisco hospital at which Miss LaBodie worked called to report she had failed to appear for work.

Miss LaBodie was born in West Virginia.

Funeral arrangements were pending today at the Chapel of the Hills, San Anselmo.

MARY MEISINGER

Funeral for Mary Meisinger, a 20-year resident of Marin, will be held at 10 a.m. tomorrow at the Chapel of the Hills, San Anselmo. Burial will be private.

Miss Meisinger, 82, died Wednesday in a local convalescent hospital after a long illness. She had lived at 100 Calumet Avenue, San Anselmo, prior to entering the rest home.

the appeal.

Federal Judge Marvin E. Frankel of the U.S. district court turned down an appeal to interfere with the California proceedings and also said that any question of whether Miss Davis could get a fair trial in California should be appealed to a federal court there rather than in New York.

His decision was upheld later today by the district court of appeals.

Miss Davis's attorney has contended that her constitutional rights were violated because California failed to provide [illegible] a record of the Marin Grand Jury indictment proceedings.

Miss Davis, a Communist Party member and former University of California instructor, is accused of supplying guns for the Aug. 7 shootout in which Judge Harold J. Haley was killed.

She is accused of conspiring along with San Quentin inmate Ruchell Magee to commit murder and kidnapping.

3,688 Children Talk To Santa

Santa Claus listened to the Christmas wishes of 2,360 children from Marin and Southern Sonoma Wednesday night in the 13th annual event sponsored by the Independent-Journal and the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

The calls Wednesday night pushed the total for the two-day event to 3,688.

The largest number of calls received in one city was in San Rafael where 950 phoned old Saint Nick. Mill Valley tallied 500 calls, Novato, 489, and Petaluma, 421.

Jury Trial Set

A jury trial was set yesterday in Marin Superior Court for the week of March 1 for Donovan Dean Brush, 34, of Petaluma, who is accused of stealing radios from a boat in a San Rafael yacht harbor on June 22.

Nixon's Foreign Policy Added Up

By STEWART HENSLEY

WASHINGTON (UPI) —President Nixon, now almost halfway through his term of office, has failed to make any significant progress on the major foreign policy issues he inherited two years ago.

This is particularly true with respect to Soviet-American differences —and the always present danger of a nuclear confrontation.

In one significant area, the Middle East, Russia has made considerable gains since Nixon took office. The Kremlin has greatly increased its Mediterranean seapower and extended its military presence in the Arab states.

Nixon's withdrawal of approximately 200,000 U.S. troops from Vietnam has been applauded as evidence of his good intentions. But it is questionable whether all the remaining 350,000 Americans can be withdrawn without leaving both South Vietnam and Cambodia at the mercy of the Communists.

The President's Dec. 10 news conference threat to resume heavy bombing of North Vietnam if Hanoi steps up the level of fighting in the south seemed to underline his uncertainty in that area.

Nixon has achieved occasional tactical gains on the international front, and his advisers make the most of these in arguing against the theory there has been no progress. But there is no evidence of conclusive progress on critical issues of the nuclear age as the administration goes into its second two years.

The "Era of Negotiations" which Nixon said would replace the "Era of Confrontation" has not resulted in any significant easing of tensions. As far as Russia is concerned, the United States and the Soviet Union appear to be locked in "confrontations" as rigid as when Nixon took office.

The President outlined the "Nixon Doctrine" for lowering the U.S. profile in Southeast Asia on Guam in July, 1969. It appears, however, to have confused American allies in that area instead of strengthening their desire for regional security cooperation.

The "even-handed" policy of dealing with the Middle East, designed to convince the Arab states that Washington understood their problems, has done nothing of the sort. Russia has been able to increase her presence in the Arab world and cast the United States more firmly than ever in the role of defender of Israel.

Assessments of the reasons for this depend on who is doing the assessing.

Critics contend the administration was either naive or ill informed about probable Soviet and other Communist reaction to American initiatives. Nixon's defenders say he inherited his foreign policy problems and that his success lies in the fact that he kept things from getting worse.

In either case, the President finds his room for manuever limited by two principal factors:

—The existence within the Communist world of an ideological split which inhibits Russia, on the one hand, and the Asian communists on the other, from reaching any compromise terms with the United States which might damage their image in the international Communist movement.

—The faltering U.S. economy, combined with inflation, which limits the amount of money available for defense and international projects which might put more pressure on the Communists to negotiate.

Even in the case of Vietnam, the effect of U.S. troop withdrawals has been mostly domestic. Vietnam was all but defused as a significant factor in the recent mid-term elections. The withdrawals also have helped persuade this country's allies that its intentions are good.

But the Vietnamization program has failed to induce Hanoi and the Viet Cong to negotiate seriously in Paris. It also serves to point up the perils Nixon will face in attempting to withdraw the rest of the U.S. forces.

Much depends on whether the South Vietnamese are becoming as strong as Washington says and whether North Vietnam has suffered enough to abandon its plan for military conquest.

If not, Nixon will have succeeded only in narrowing the war so far as the United States is concerned. It would then be up to the countries involved to prevent eventual Communist domination of all Laos, Cambodia and possibly Thailand.

The administration's own assessment of where U.S. foreign policy stands will be made in the President's second annual report on the "State of the World," now expected February 15. A rundown of area-by-area problems indicates the document will be fairly sobering and cautious. They include:

U.S.-Soviet Relations

The United States got Russia to begin nuclear arms control talks about a year ago. But early optimism about what was termed the "business like" attitude of the Soviet negotiators now has been sharply toned down. The United States wanted a numerical limit on both land and sea-based nuclear weapons and the abolition of anti-ballistic missiles (ABM's) or their limitation to rings around Washington and Moscow. Soviet sources are saying the U.S. outline is too simple, that it will require much more elaboration. This appears to some officials like the beginning of a long wrangle over terms and enforcement procedures.

In the Middle East, as noted previously, Russia and the United States disagree on the path to peace. Washington now charges the Soviet Union with helping Egypt sabotage peace talks with Israel by violating the cease-fire which went into effect August 7. The fact that the cease-fire continues at all can be counted a plus. But top officials acknowledge prospects for an Arab-Israel settlement are very dim.

Washington and Moscow also clashed recently oger what the United States saw as a possible Soviet effort to establish a missile submarine base in Cuba. The State Department says this has been settled by some sort of an "understanding" but the Russians do not acknowledge any agreement.

Europe

The administration, after toying with a possible 10 or 15 per cent cut in the 320,000 U.S. soldiers, sailors and airmen in Europe, finally decided against reductions in the foreseeable future. The NATO allies, in turn, promised to spend up to $1 billion over the next five years to strengthen NATO communications, harden up airfield defenses and bring their forces up to promised levels. This gives Nixon an answer to demands by Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield and others for immediate cuts in American forces. The United States also persuaded its allies not to accept a Soviet proposal for an all-European security conference aimed at reducing tensions from the Urals to the English channel until Russia gives some ground on at least two points. One point concerns more secure arrangements for Red-encircled West Berlin. The other is a demand for agreement on mutual troop reductions on both sides of the Iron Curtain before there os any European security conference.

The Middle East

Failure of the "even-handed" policy in this area, due in large part to Russia, has led the United States to undertake a $500 million military aid program for Israel to offset Soviet help for the Arab states. While still pushing for a peace settlement, the United States is bolstering Israel against Arab attack.

Communist China

Despite its adoption of a more reasonable attitude toward Peking and the elimination of some restrictions on trade with that country, the United States has failed to persuade mainland China to take any steps to lower tensions in Asia. Faced with increasing sentiment to admit China to the United Nations, the United States has dropped its opposition to such a step provided Nationalist China also remains a member. This "two-China" policy pleases neither Peking nor Formosa. American involvement in Indochina also hampers efforts to improve relations with Peking.

Latin America

The Nixon administration enunciated in October, 1969, what Nixon called a program of "Action for Progress," which boiled down to a pragmatic policy of recognizing any government actually in control of a country. Previous policy was to try to use diplomatic recognition and military and economic assistance as levers to force individual Latin American countries toward more democratic governments. The United States is fast losing ground on one major issue. The almost solid front it created against dealing with Cuba is beginning to crumble. Mexico never did break relations with Cuba. Earlier this month, the new Marxist government in Chile restored relations. Indications are that Bolivia and Peru soon will take similar steps.

Within the next couple of years, a majority of countries in the Organization of American States (OAS) who voted to quarantine Cuba because of Castro's avowed plan to export Communism elsewhere in the hemisphere, may have resuned relations with Cuba. Some of these countries feel there is no longer a threat in this area despite Castro's continued dependence on the Soviet Union.

Africa

African leaders are divided in their assessment of administration policy toward their continent. Black Africans applauded the U.S. action in closing its consulate in Rhodesia, where a white minority rules an African majority. But they complain incessantly about continued U.S. relations with highly-segregated South Africa. The administration, as its predecessors, continues to try to steer a course of helpfulness toward black Africa combined with moderate pressure on South Africa and Portugal to take a less restrictive line toward African majorities they rule. The foreign aid program for Africa is at a low level and Secretary of State William P. Rogers is trying to get private investors to increase operations there. Africa does not present any flaming problem at the moment but the potential is always there.

Trade Policy

The administration is under heavy pressure by Congress and special industry groups to restrict imports of textiles and other items which American manufacturers claim are hurting domestic industry and its workers. Fearful that any widespread restrictions will lead to damaging retaliation, the administration is seeking to limit such restrictive measures to a minimum. For the first time since the 1930's, however, the United States is reversing its increasingly free trade arrangements. The only question is how much.

Barber Uses Blowtorch

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Singed hair is back for men, says Mr. Eckhard, barbering stylist at two San Francisco hotels.

Mr. Eckhard, who says he has no Christian name, demonstrated his art Wednesday with a blowtorch.

"I'm sealing up the hair ends that split," he said. "This adds to the fullness, the radiance of the hair . . . it makes it look even longer."

The barber asserted, "We've been burning hair in my family since 1750," noting that his great-grandfather was the first to try fire and that he used a candle.

Singing costs $10 and Eckhard claims there is "no danger at all."

"I haven't lost a customer yet."

The lowest point in the United States is Death Valley, Calif., at 282 feet below sea level.

National Scout Job To Dunn

I-J Special Report

NEW BRUNSWICK, N.J. — A former scout executive of the Marin Council of the Boy Scouts of America has been appointed national director of volunteer training, the national office here has announced.

Paul Y. (Torchy) Dunn, scout executive in Marin from 1962 until 1967, will be responsible for the development of educational materials used to train volunteer scout leaders, according to Alden G. Barber, chief scout executive.

Dunn left the Marin council in 1967 to take the post of Deputy Regional Executive in Los Angeles.

The works of photographer Leonard Miller will be on display until the end of February at the Musical Barber in the Fair-Anselm Shopping Center, Fairfax.

Color, Mystery Of Near East Will Come To Sausalito Sunday

The flavor, sights, sounds, color and mystery of the Near East will come to Sausalito Sunday when the Sausalito Arts Center on Nevada Street is transformed into a Persian Dervish bazaar.

Persons attending will find themselves transported into another world, according to Saul Baradofsky who has charge of arrangements, a world of tapestries, incense, whirling dervishes, fortunetellers, ancient crafts and foods.

Bringing the "casbah" to Sausalito are a group of about 150 persons, a community of Dervishes, disciples in an Islam-based religion with Konka (spiritual headquarters) in San Francisco and Novato.

The bazaar, which begins at 11 a.m. and runs until 9 p.m., will have something for everyone, according to Baradofsky: eating, singing, music, dancing, puppet shows, films, crafts, fortune tellers, astrologers, palmists and tarot readers.

Eastern foods and drinks, including Turkish coffee, baklava, Turkish cakes and pastries, mint teas and shisk-kebab will be available "as inexpensively as possible," he said and Pakistani curry dinners will be served.

"Many of us have visited Persian bazaars and have been impressed by the feeling of being completely caught up in what is happening," Baradofsky said. It is this atmosphere the group hopes to duplicate in Sausalito.

Handmade mid-Eastern robes, pottery, herbs and jewelry, the work of more than 100 artisan, will be among the crafts offered for sale. The music will be a blend of East and West, with drummers, guitarists, flutists, and persons who play sitars, tamburas and tablas.

Proceeds will benefit two of the dervishes current projects, relief for victims of recent tidal waves and typhoons in East Pakistan and a Palestinian peace group, "Hallelujah, The Three Rings," with headquarters in San Francisco, according to Baradofsky. He said the peace organization if bringing together young Israelis and Arabs to eat, sing and pray, in the hope of bringing peace to the Mid East.

Other Bay Area spirtual communities will be represented with booths, he said. They include the Zen Mission Society of Oakland, Yogi Bijan's Yoga Community from San Rafael; the House of Love an Prayer, a San Francisco Hasidic Jewish organization and Dr. Neville Warwick and his mountain climbing Buddhists of San Francisco and Marin.

Woman Injured In 2-Car Crash

An Inverness woman was injured Wednesday at 7:05 a.m. in a two-car collision at Novato Boulevard and Sutro Avenue in Novato, the California Highway Patrol reported yesterday.

Barbara E. Cook, 48, of Forrest Way, was treated at Novato General Hospital for a fractured rib. Officers said she was a passenger in a car driven by Carol A. Stone, 61, of Cameron Way, Inverness, which collided with a vehicle operated by Rasmus V. Jensen, 51, of 813 Sutro Way, Novato.

10 Regional Offices For Environment

William D. Ruckelshaus, EPA administrator, said the new offices would implement the agency's efforts to prevent further deterioration of the nation's resources and improve the quality of the environment.

Ruckelshaus said he wants to establish strong regional administrations to assure administration policy providing for maximum participation by states and local governments in planning and executing programs affecting them.

He said as regional administrators are selected and appointed, the regions will be activated, adding it was hoped the regional system would be operational by next June. Interim regional coordinators have already been named, however.

Region Nine—Arizona, California, Hawaii, Nevada, American Samoa, Guam, Trust Territories of Pacific Islands, Wake Island. Paul Defalco Jr., San Francisco, Calif. (415 556-4303).

Burglary Hearing Set For Two Men

Preliminary hearing for two men charged with burglarizing a San Rafael home was set yesterday in Marin Municipal Court for Jan 26.

William Fredrick O'Bayley of San Anselmo and Robert Louis Arnett Jr. of San Rafael are accused of burglarizing the home of Marian F. Clark of 117 Rafael Drive Nov. 11 and concealing stolen property Nov. 16.

Halt Parking Of Trailer Vans Asked

THE NIXONS' GIFT

President and Mrs. Nixon are giving a color reproduction of the Thomas Jefferson portrait by Rembrandt Peale to White House staff members this Christmas. The painting, which now hangs in the White House Blue Room, was done from life in 1800, one year before the founder of the Democratic Party became president.

Pay Promise Kept By College Trustees

The Marin Junior College District board last night kept a promise made last summer to review staff salaries midway through the fiscal year and gave raises to all employees.

Classified employees received the largest increase — 3 per cent; the faculty and administration each were granted 1 per cent raises.

The board had given all employees 4 per cent raises last July as well as approving a dental plan.

The decision to grant the raises was made only after a long discussion and two earlier motions failed to pass.

Trustee Donald K. Felt had first moved there be no increase but finally voted to approve the raises. A second motion by Robert E. Oliver that the matter be postponed until enrollment figures for the spring semester are available, also failed.

(College of Marin's enrollment increase for the fall semester fell short of predicted figures so that not all the anticipated state funds have materialized.)

In other financial action last night and also after long discussion, the board voted unanimously to send a "letter of Intent" to the manufacturer for a proposed purchase of a new RCA 2 computer.

Trustees deferred action on the purchase of interim equipment which had been proposed until the new model computer is available next fall.

The whole project was estimated to cost $391,019 plus transportation costs of $2,250.

Supt.-Pres. John A. Grasham said that the choice of the computer had been made because it would serve both teaching and office needs.

The trustees also last night approved recruitment procedures for a president to head the proposed new north campus of the college. Applications for the post are to be in by Feb. 14.

The Marin Junior College Board also:

DOGS — Agreed to ask that campus police be deputized so they may give out citations to persons violating dog regulations.

CHAIRS — Awarded a contract to American Seating Co. for 332 tablet armchairs for Harlan Center at a total cost of $6,999.

RESIGNATION — Accepted the resignation effective June 30, 1971 of John A. O'Kane Jr., instructor in the physical science department.

ILLNESS — Accepted the resignation of Carl D. Brooks, custodian, who resigned in November because of illness.

ABSENCE — President Elizabeth M. Deedy was absent last night.

Subdivision Hearings

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Hearings opened Thursday on proposed state controls for the advertising of promotional subdivisions in rural areas.

Advertising would be considered misleading if it contains unqualified statements concerning "profit appreciation in dollar value or resale potential," one proposed regulation says.

Prohibited would be references to clubs, clubhouses or recreational facilities unless costs, limitations and use restrictions are disclosed fully.

Adjectives such as "exclusive" or "private" would be banned and subdividers would be restricted in referring to proposed improvements such as golf courses or lakes, outside the subdivision. The first hearing for the California Real Estate Department by Commissioner Burton E. Smith.

Kiss' Recoil

WILMINGTON, Del. (UPI) — Police report Carman Marales, 18, jumped out a second story window of her home Thursday night and broke her ankle when her boyfriend tried to kiss her.

A Fotomat at the Terra Linda Shopping Center on Del Ganado Road was burglarized of $25 Dec. 11 or 12, Marin County Sheriff's Office reported yesterday.

NEW WAY TO BE SUDDENLY SLIM FOR CHRISTMAS

Los Angeles — Are you a woman whose figure is on the good side but might be perfect? You'll be thrilled by the new easy way science has discovered for you to become Suddenly Slim and yet completely comfortable. If you're more than 15 pounds overweight, or your waistline is larger than 32 inches, then this idea is not for you. If your weight problem falls within this range, then you can realize a new, smoother figure today, without diet or exercise.

Suddenly Slim is an all-new kind of 4-oz. girdle constructed of science fibers. One startling innovation is the sheer nylon front panel. This is permanently stiffened by a science process and cannot give or sag. It's surrounded by a slimming action border. A featherstitched panel down each side of this girdle will contour your hips if they are a problem.

The girdle itself is part "wonder" Lycra spandex. It's a new power net consisting of nylon, acetate and spandex. It is so comfortable, but has such slimming strength, it gives your figure everything that's possible with a foundation.

"Suddenly Slim," in both girdle and panty versions, is the peak achievement of the California designer - genius, Olga. They are available at all 9 Emporium stores, in the Shape Shop. Come in soon to try one and charge it!

LEARNING NATURE'S TRICKS

Burglar Observed In Act Of Looting

A burglar broke into a San Anselmo variety store today while the owner and a friend were asleep inside, San Anselmo police reported.

Burr told police he and his companion were awakened at 3:10 a.m. when the intruder broke glass in the front door of the establishment. They watched as the burglar rummaged through goods in the store.

When the intruder left the store momentarily, police were called.

Officers said they found Kilpatrick, who had reentered the store, hiding inside. In his pockets, police said, was a substantial amount of change and jewelry.

Kilpatrick was booked at Marin County Jail for investigation of burglary and held to appear in Municipal Court later today.

Rancho School Ransacked; Cash Taken From Machine

Rancho School was ransacked and an undetermined amount of cash taken from a soft drink machine between 11 p.m. Wednesday and 6:45 a.m. yesterday, Novato police reported today.

Officers said someone took coins from the machine in the teacher's room and then ransacked the main office, nurse's office, kitchen and 14 classrooms.

In the main office glue was emptied on a desk and typewriter ink was emptied on the floor and desks, and an obscenity written on a chair, police said.

After taking the keys to classrooms, the vandals entered and ransacked them.

Guilty Plea To Fishing Charge

A fisherman out of the Alioto Fish Co. in Point Reyes pleaded guilty yesterday in West Marin Justice Court to possessing 56 undersized crab on Dec. 6.

State fish and game wardens said Tony M. Montalbano, 61, had the catch on his boat while returning to the fish firm. The wardens said they became suspicious when they observed Montalbano dump something from his boat before docking.

Montalbano is scheduled to be sentenced next Wednesday by Judge David R. Baty.

Chances of striking oil or gas with a wildcat well are about two out of 100, says the International Oil Scouts Association.

Angela Rally Tomorrow In Marin City

Supporters of Angela Y. Davis, charged with murder and kidnapping in the August 7 shoot-out at the Marin Hall of Justice, will hold a rally to collect money for her defense tomorrow at 7 p.m. in Manzanita Center, Marin City.

Attorney Terrence Hallinan and Rev. Cecil Williams of Glide Memorial Church in San Francisco will be among the speakers, according to Walter Turner, chairman of the Marin County Steering Committee for the Defense of Angela Davis which is organizing the benefit.

Other speakers will include Peggy Jackson, sister of Soledad Brother George Jackson and Jonathan Jackson, killed in the shoot-out in which Judge Harold J. Haley was slain and Franklin Alexander head of the national committee for Miss Davis' defense.

Miss Davis, a former instructor in philosophy at the University of California at Los Angeles, is accused of providing the guns which young Jackson allegedly took into Judge Haley's courtroom in the abortive escape.

Lower Budget Eyed For ABAG Operation

I-J Special Report

BERKELEY — A $1,182,000 budget for the Association of Bay Area Governments next fiscal year was proposed last night.

The preliminary budget, presented to the executive committee by ABAG's staff, was down $209,511 from the current budget, largely due to pending completion of studies of airports and disaster shelters.

Cuts in federal funds, however, would require an increase in the amount raised from city and county dues from $253,486 to $270,000. Specific dues were not detailed. Marin County's dues this year were $5,363, and its cities' dues ranged from $83 to $1,166, depending upon population.

In addition to dues, next year's budget would repeat this year's $75,000 levy against the counties to finance transportation planning.

The rest of the budget comes largely from federal grants for ABAG's planning programs.

Further action on the budget was set for the committee's Jan. 21 meeting.

The Association of Bay Area Governments executive committee also:

BRIDGE — Recommended federal funding of a Golden Gate Bridge District plan for a parking lot in North Sausalito, if the funds ever become available.

BAGET — Hiked by $1,800 a year the salary of executive director J. Julien Baget of Novato, to a new figure of $27,000.

LOBBYIST — Approved a $8,820 contract with R.J. Beckus to represent ABAG in Sacramento.

PETALUMA — Endorsed an application by the City of Petaluma for $16,440 in federal grants to buy two neighborhood parks adjacent to La Tercera and St. Francis schools.

Fireworks Kill Two

CAMDEN, S.C. (UPI)—Two persons were killed and two others injured Thursday night when a small fireworks stand exploded.

Firemen In Protest On Firehouse

Marin City's old firehouse is so rickety and rat-infested that county firemen want out.

The sorry physical condition at the fire station was reported to the Marin County Personnel Commission yesterday in letters from firemen Michael E. Vonada and James B. Selfridge.

Personnel commissioners called for an immediate investigation by the personnel staff and a report no later than Jan. 21, the commission's next regular meeting date.

Personnel Director Maren Rinne said two members of her staff yesterday visited the fire station on Drake Avenue, across the street from Manzanita Center, and found conditions deplorable.

Windows are broken and patched with cardboard, raw sewage flows into the yard, and one end of the building is jacked up about a foot.

Last March, county sanitarians had condemned the building as unfit for habitation and had recommended the structure razed.

Plans for a new firehouse and sheriff's substation for Marin City came before the Marin County Board of Supervisors Tuesday, but the estimated cost was $118,559, whereas only $94,000 was budgeted. Supervisors asked the architects to return with revised plans to keep the total cost within $94,000.

Firemen Vonada and Selfridge said they regard the supervisors' action as a rejection of the new firehouse, and therefore are asking for a transfer out of the Marin City firehouse.

Robert B. McCreadie, chairman of the personnel commission, said the problem would be solved if the county builds a new firehouse immediately, "but we don't know if the building will ever be built."

On a motion by Parnel Finn, the personnel commissioners asked their staff to investigate various ways to improve firehouse conditions and the cost. Commissioners also voted to send a letter to the firemen, assuring them that an investigation is under way.

Loaded Dice

DENVER (UPI)—When 41 persons were arrested Thursday in a gambling raid at the Apex Social Club, seven pairs of dice were confiscated. Police said all of them were loaded.

Old Adobe Trustees Like Guideline Idea

The Old Adobe School District board last night agreed that a citizens committee should be formed to develop a district philosophy and set goals.

Schools Supt. Dean D. Magowan said the board felt the district was in need of a written philosophy and that members of the community should take a active part in its preparation.

The board said the committee could sample attitudes of district residents and develop guidelines for the board to follow.

Although no set method of selecting committee members was considered, the board said representatives should come from professional circles, religious organizations, ethnic groups, parents, nonparents, newcomers to Petaluma as well as longtime residents.

The board said it would give more thought to a method of selecting members at its Jan. 21 meeting.

In other action, the board received a federal grant of $496 which will be matched by district funds for the purchase of science materials.

Firm Hired For Park Plan

A Sausalito landscape architectural firm was hired last week by the Sausalito recreation commission to prepare preliminary plans and cost estimates for a proposed new park for the city.

According to Norman Wohlschlaeger, director of public works, the commission asked Environmental Planning and Design Associates to prepare sketches for North View Park, which would be constructed on one-half acre at the corner of Marin and Woodward avenues.

Wohlschlaeger said he hopes to submit plans for the new park to the city council during budget hearings next year.

Twice nice.

Once nice: a beautiful bottle.
Twice nice: a magnificent Bourbon.

But before you succumb to the charm of our Holiday decanter and bright gift wraps, we'd like to introduce the gallant white oak barrels that make it all possible.

These barrels, charred on the inside to precisely ⅛th of an inch, take our newly distilled "Young" Fitzgerald and school it in the art of greatness.

Years later "Old" Fitzgerald emerges triumphant from its white oak school room—ready for the most discriminating consumers of fine Bourbon.

We tell you about our barrels, which are used (gulp!) just once*, for without them there would be no twice nice story to tell.

OSCAR LEWIS
Pioneering anthropologist

Pioneer Of Poor Life Dead At 56

NEW YORK (UPI)—Oscar Lewis, the anthropology professor whose books "Children of Sanchez" and "La Vida" pioneered the view of poverty as a culture in itself, died late Wednesday in Polyclinic Hospital. He was 56.

Lewis, who was in New York studying the effects of slum life on Puerto Rican and Cuban families, entered the hospital Wednesday morning for treatment of a heart ailment. He died that evening.

A professor of anthropology at the University of Illinois since 1948, Lewis first began to receive wide attention for his then radical departure from accepted anthropological thought with the publication of "Five Families" in 1959.

THEIR OWN STORY

The work studied the daily life of five Mexican families "on five perfectly ordinary days." Lewis relied heavily on first person taped accounts for most of his material, allowing the poor to tell their own stories in stark, very unacademic style.

Lewis expanded the experiences of one family, that of widower Jesus Sanchez and his four children living in a Mexico City slum, into the book, "The Children of Sanchez," published in 1961.

The work was attacked in the Mexican press as being "slanderous" to the nation. Lewis, however, had always maintained that it was a culture in itself, or at least a subculture, which transcended national customs and institutions.

BOOK AWARD

In 1966 Lewis won a National Book award with the publication of "La Vida," the story of a former Puerto Rican prostitute living with her sixth husband and telling her own story of how she managed to raise children in conditions of abject poverty.

All of Lewis' books, while giving an unflinching account of the hardships of the poor, managed to detail the festivals, the celebrations and the minor victories over "the system" which the author maintained made life continually worth living.

Lewis, who was born in New York City and received his PhD from Columbia University, taught at Brooklyn College and Washington University in St. Louis, Mo., before going to Illinois.

He is survived by his widow, the former Ruth Maslow, who assisted in much of his field work, a daughter, Judith and a son, Gene.

Albatrosses are long lived.

Tiburon To Seek Bike Path Funds

The Tiburon City Council, on the verge of acquiring a two-mile strip of land for a bicycle and pedestrian path, last night applied for a federal grant to buy and develop the property.

It also told its staff to find out if a local unit of the National Guard would pave the pathway.

The council voted unanimously to apply for the $70,600 grant after holding a brief closed session to discuss its condemnation suit against Northwestern Pacific Railroad, owner of the right-of-way strip. The suit is scheduled to go before a Marin Superior Court Jury in February.

Announcement of a settlement between the city and the railroad had been expected last night, but Mayor Denis T. Rice said somelast-minute details remained to be worked out and set an adjourned council meeting for Wednesday at 8 p.m. at city hall.

At that meeting, the council probably will announce an agreement and discuss the city's plans for the pathway.

The city began negotiations with a $30,000 offer, while the railroad wanted $400,000. Final price is expected to exceed the $70,000 federal grant.

Turning to the paving of the right-of-way, the council asked acting City Mgr. Robert L. Kleinert to confer with the Santa Venetia unit of the National Guard, which Kleinert said may be able to do the work when dry weather arrives.

Kleinert told the city council he had been informed that the guard customarily undertakes community betterment projects and that the paving fit that description.

The council also considered moving users of the path safely across Tiburon Boulevard. It received a report from the city parks and recreation commission, recommending five grade level crossings with trafic signals. Until they would be put up, the report suggested hiring crossing guards for the five locations.

Cost of the proposals, about $16,000 for guards and between $27,000 and $44,500 for the lights, should be split by Tiburon, Belvedere, and the Reed School District, the report stated.

The council set full discussion of the crossing report for another meeting Dec. 28.

In other business, the council voted to amend Tiburon's contract with the Marin County Sheriff's Department to allow a lieutenant instead of a captain to head the Tiburon substation.

Councilmen also asked Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos to promote Sgt. Angelo Mecchi to lieutenant and put him in charge. Capt. William Johansen, formerly head of the substation, was reassigned to the county juvenile bureau Tuesday, and Mecchi has been serving as officer in charge.

Maloney Is Misquoted On Two New Laws

Marin County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney was incorrectly reported Wednesday by the Independent-Journal as having said that two new laws on animal care had been pushed through the Legislature by a veterinary lobby.

Maloney did not mention such a lobby, and today told the I-J he did not "even know if they have one. I don't know where the statement came from."

The new laws, requiring spaying of cats before the Humane Society can place them for adoption and giving veterinarians the exclusive right to decide whether to treat or destroy stray injured cats and dogs, will cost the county about $91,000 a year, according to county estimates. The county pays for such treatment.

Pair Robbed Near Underpass

Two men have been robbed while walking near the Marin City underpass, Marin County sheriff's office reported.

Deputies said Bennett D. King, 19, of 29 Glen Court, Sausalito, and Larry L. Holman, 18, of 245 Throckmorton Avenue, Mill Valley, were stopped by two men in their 20s at about 7:30 p.m. Dec. 8.

The men took $100 from King and ran into Marin City, deputies said.

Rendering Plant Hit By Strike

Production has ceased at the Royal Tallow and Soap Co. in Petaluma, where employees entered the fourth day of a strike.

The 20 employees Wednesday joined 35 employees at the company's San Francisco rendering plant in the walk-out. The company and San Francisco Teamsters Local No. 85 and Sonoma-Marin Teamsters, Warehousemen and Helpers Local No. 64, have been locked in a wage dispute since November. The union contract expired on Sept. 1.

The strike has worried Sonoma County health officials, searching for a way to dispose of dead animals.

Sanitarian Robert Reed said no facilities are available in Sonoma County and that firms and ranchers with dead animals must transport them to plants in Richmond or San Francisco.

None of the county refuse disposal sites are permitted to dispose of animal wastes because of regulations of the state Water Quality Control Board.

PLANE WRECKAGE — Three persons including disabled Korean war veteran Michael Young, who recently got his pilot's license, died yesterday when their small plane crashed on the outskirts of Effingham, Ill., on a cross-country flight from Artesia, N.M., where Young was a student.

Disabled War Vet Attempts Long Flight, Dies In Crash

EFFINGHAM, Ill. (UPI)—When Michael J. W. Young told his flight instructor, Larry Willard, he planned to fly home to Indiana for Christmas from New Mexico, Willard warned him about making the trip.

"It was a pretty big chunk for a student to take on his first real long cross-country flight," Willard, Artesia, N.M., said. "I told hin the country back there (in the east) is much more populated and has shorter visibility than here.

"I thought he was biting off a big chunk."

Willard didn't say so, but he might have thought it was too much not just because Young got his pilot's license only last Sunday, but because Young's legs were paralyzed.

Young and two passengers took off Wednesday from Artesia, en route for the Wabash County, Ind., Airport. Their flight ended Thursday in a crash at the east edge of this south-central Illinois community.

Killed with Young, 27, a senior at the college in Artesia, were Young's half-brother, Robert J. Dubois, 21, Roann, Ind., a former student at the Artesia school, and Carl F. Fields, 22, Urbana, Ind.

Young lost the use of his legs in a jeep accident in Korea and got around the campus in a wheelchair. He was to have graduated in May. He was half-owner in an Artesia automotive speed shop and was determined to fly.

He began taking lessons with Willard last February, got his license in El Paso, Tex., Dec. 13 —four days before the crash —and had just over 100 hours of flight time logged when he took off on the cross-country trip.

Willard said the plane — a blue and white Cherokee 140 — had hand controls to operate the rudders so Young could maintain control.

Young was in contact with the Vandalia, Ill., airport 20 minutes before the crash and reported he was cruising well at 7,500 feet, above clouds. Then the plane crashed and burned on Fayette Avenue in Effingham. Nobody on the ground was injured but traffic was rerouted around the busy highway.

Army Blacks In Europe Said Angry, Frustrated

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Pentagon says black soldiers' anger and frustration is greater than expected among U.S. troops in Europe.

It has ordered U.S. commanders there to act immediately to end racial discrimination "on and off base."

Deputy Assistant Defense Secretary Frank W. Render II said Thursday a task force he headed in investigating racial unrest "found a new, higher level of frustration and anger among blacks than we anticipated."

Render also said that the task force had averted an "ugly situation" by calming black troops in Germany who were on the edge of "violent action."

Render spoke at a news conference at which the Pentagon released a new directive from Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird declaring "equal opportunity and treatment shall be accorded all military members and civil employees of the Department of Defense irrespective of their race, color, religion, sex or national origin consistent with requirements for physical capabilities."

The directive also ordered commanders to establish "numerical goals and timetables for ending discriminatory treatment on and off base . . . to ensure progress toward full integration of this work force at all levels."

The task force listed failure of command leadership as one of the main causes of racial discrimination in promotion, unfair treatment in work assignments, inadequate representation of blacks in the military police, racial "polarization" in military clubs and other "deficiencies."

Render said his task force found a small number of alienated blacks at Mannheim and Karlsruhe in West Germany who "could not be reached" —meaning they refused to discuss racial problems with the investigators.

"They said their place was back in the states . . . where they could fight to liberate and free their black sisters and brothers from the dirty, stinking, teeming ghettos and from all forms of racial bigotry and oppression."

Bus Firm Gets Loan Of $25,000

I-J Special Report

PALO ALTO — New financial blood, $25,000 of it, has been voted in a three-year loan to Marin Transit Systems by a corporation formed to finance minority-owned businesses.

The Marin City-based bus company operates bus feeder service to the Tiburon commuter ferry and hourly weekday bus service between Novato and Kentfield, both under contract with the Golden Gate Bridge District.

Willard S. Amstrong, president of Provident Enterprises Corp., reported the corporation's executive committee had voted to make the loan with no repayment until the end of the third year. He said the loan probably would be made by the end of the year, after necessary papers have been signed with Marin Transit Systems.

The Palo Alto corporation was founded by 18 Bay Area companies as a source of venture capital for businesses like the Marin City transit company.

Youth Caught In Burglary Act

A 13-year-old Marin Juvenile Hall escapee has been arrested on suspicion of burglarizing two San Anselmo homes, police said.

Robert C. Piver of 99 Wesson Lane, Fairfax, was arrested Tuesday while fleeing the home of David Rooney, 208 Brookside Drive after a witness phoned police saying the youth had entered the house while its occupants were away.

Officers said they stopped young Piver at 11:50 a.m. when he exited the Rooney home. The youth broke away and ran but was captured minutes later.

About $12 in coins were reported missing from the home. Piver escaped the hall on Dec. 6.

Man Bound Over On Burglary Charges

Henry Jackson Jr., 21, of San Rafael, yesterday was bound over to Marin Superior Court on charges of burglary, attempt to commit burglary and unlawful entry of a home. He is to be arraigned Wednesday.

Jackson was arrested on a warrant issued after he was identified as the man who entered the home of Bryce W. Anderson in San Rafael on Nov. 13 but fled after being confronted by Mrs. Anderson.

Lingering Effects Of Pot Are Revealed In New Study

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Government researchers, one a Nobel prize winner, said today marijuana lingers in the human body for more than eight days —a fact that may explain why some pot users require smaller and smaller doses to get high.

The study could spark new debate on the relative effects of marijuana and alcohol, since alcohol generally disappears from the blood within 12 hours after ingestion. Heroin leaves the system in about the same amount of time, cocaine somewhat more quickly.

The study by Dr. Julius Axelrod and his colleagues at the National Institute of Mental Health was published today in the Weekly Journal Science. Axelrod, 58, shared the 1970 Nobel prize for medicine for his research on the biochemistry of the nervous system.

His collaborators in the marijuana project were Dr. Irwin J. Kopin, acting chief of the Clinical Science Laboratory; Dr. Stephen D. Silberstein, 28, and Dr. Louis Lemberger, 33, Research Associates.

Using two female and one male volunteers, aged 18 to 22, who had no previous experience with marijuana, the scientists studied what the human body does with the component of marijuana that is most active in producing its physical effects —rapid heart beat, reddening of the eyes, drowsiness, hunger and difficulty in coordination.

Highly technical and cautionary, the report concluded that this compound, Delta-9-THC, and the chemical spinoffs or metabolities it produces in the body "persist in humans for long periods," indicating that both accumulate in tissues with chronic use.

"It may explain in part the phenomenon of 'reverse tolerance' seen in chronic users of marijuana," the study said.

The researchers used a newly available radioactive synthetic of Delta-9-THC which was traced in the body with a $16,000 instrument.

"The radioactive metabolities are excreted in urine and feces for more than eight days," the study said.

The dose of Delta-9-THC injected in the volunteers was only one-tenth the amount of the compound found in a marijuana cigarette. This was not enough to produce the physical effects of marijuana, Kopin said, because "we were interested in the effects of the body on the drug, not the drug on the body.

"All we are saying is that marijuana is not metabolized in man as quickly as it is in animals," he said. "It stays around longer in man. So the possibility of a cumulate effect exists."

The compound lasted four days in rats and less time in rabbits, Kopin said.

The animal studies indicated that Delta-9-THC might be stored in the lungs. If this is so, "then in man this would be even more significant since inhalation is the usual route of administration with marijuana users," Kopin said.

Driver Bayonets One Harasser To Death

SANTA CLARA (UPI)—A bayonet-wielding garage mechanic turned on four men who harrassed him and his wife and left one dead and three critically wounded. Police called it an open-and-shut case of self-defense.

John Bockkom, 40, Santa Clara, was out for a drive with his wife when the men hollered at him from another car. When he stopped, police said the four men got out and came over and started beating on Bockkom's convertible.

Bockkom sped away, but the other men chased him at high speeds for three miles.

When Bockkom arrived home, the four young men drove up behind. Two approached him with knives and the other two went to the other side and started to drag Mrs. Bockkom from the car.

Bockkom leaped out and stabbed the two on his side and then the two on the other side with an Army bayonet. Two fell and two managed to drive away, but were later apprehended in badly-wounded condition.

Bockkom told police he did not usually carry a weapon in the car, but had taken the bayonet to work that day to be sharpened.

The dead man was identified as Henry Dillon, 20, Sunnyvale. Injured were Donald Dillon, 19, Sunnyvale, and Kenneth J. Crosby, 22, and Randall J. Cook, 20, no address.

Police also arrested a girl in the car with the four men on charges of possessing and being under the influence of narcotics. She was identified as Gennie Berteaux, 19, Sunnyvale.

Childish Dispute

CROWLAND, England (UPI) —School officials refused to allow Julie Head, 6, to participate in the school Christmas party because she was wearing a trouser suit and sent her home. Her mother, Mrs. Joy Head, says she plans to protest to county education authorities.

Teen-Ager Hurt In Bike Mishap

A 14-year-old Marinwood youth was injured yesterday at 6:15 a.m. when he hit a curb and fell from his bicycle on Deepstone Drive in Marinwood.

Jamie M. McMilan, of 268 Emerystone Terrace, was treated for head injuries at Marin General Hospital.

The California Highway Patrol said McMilan, riding his bicycle west on Deepstone Drive, swerved to avoid an oncoming car and struck the curb.

Board Session

The Tiburon Fire District board will hold a special meeting tomorrow at 9 a.m. at the main fire station to consider purchase of a surplus aerial-pumper fire truck.

Health Council Plans Directors' Election

Election of new directors and receipt of annual reports will highlight the annual public meeting of the Marin County Comprehensive Health Planning Council at 8 p.m. Jan. 13 at Pacific Gas and Electric Co. auditorium in San Rafael.

A list of 12 candidates for director has been submitted by the nominating committee. Eight or 10 will be elected to three year terms depending on an amendment to the bylaws to be voted on first, setting the number of directors at 24 or keeping the present 30, according to Michael L. Ingerman, council secretary.

Nominated were: incumbents Arthur R. Ablin of San Rafael, Mary Lee Brooks of Marin City, Barbara T. Coffie of Point Reyes, Ben W. Dial of Tiburon, Peter J. Ferrarese of Novato and Ernest N. Kettenhofen of Sausalito, Michael J. Harris of Novato, Samuel J. Mann of Belvedere, Anthony Medrano of San Rafael, Lois Jean Riboli of Corte Madera, Jack O. Rothe of Novato and Rowland R. Shepardson of San Rafael.

Annual report on the activities of the council will be made by Chairman Ray K. Bollinger. Report on finances will be given by Treasurer Donald C. Barksdale.

"Marin County's Role in Regional Health Planning," will be discussed by a panel, moderated by Mayor James F. Reed of San Anselmo. Panel members are Wallace Chipman, executive director Bay Area Comprehensive Health Planning Council; Dr. Elliot Rapaport, acting director Regional Medical Programs and J. Fred Silva, associate planner Association of Bay Area Governments.

Novato Branch Of Library Is Looted

The Novato branch of the Marin County Library at 1599 South Novato Boulevard was burglarized of $61.56 in cash and a $6.20 check between 9:05 p.m. Tuesday and 8:10 a.m. yesterday, Novato police reported yesterday.

The cash and check were taken from a desk drawer, possibly by someone who remained in the library after closing time, police said.

Youth Fined For Flag Disrespect

CLEVELAND (UPI) —A Kent State University student, who said he meant no disrespect by sewing a small American flag to the seat of his pants, pleaded guilty Wednesday to a charge of disgracing the flag.

Judge George Pillersdorf of City Court slapped the youth, Jeffery M. Simms, 18, with a $25 fine, court costs and some advice.

"This was a silly thing for you to do," the judge said. "You don't have to know the law to know what the flag symbolizes."

Appraisers To Meet On Price Of Land

In an attempt to reach agreement on a price for 5.11 acres of land in Tamalpais Valley, directors of the Tamalpais Community Services District and representatives of the Mill Valley School District have agreed to a meeting of their appraisers.

Glenn Lambacher, president of the services district board, said the board learned Wednesday night that the school district's appraiser has valued the land, which the services district owns, at $78,000. The appraiser for the services district, which hopes to purchase the property for a park, has appraised the land at $40,000.

"We hope a meeting can bring us closer to agreement," Lambacher said, adding the board has appropriated $200 to pay its appraiser to attend the session.

The school district is considering selling the property, at the corner of Eastwood Way and Glenwood Avenue, to help finance its proposed middle school.

The Most Exciting Headache News In Years!

Doctors' Tests In Treating Nervous Tension Headaches Now Made Public

Non-Narcotic Tablet That Needs No Prescription Proves Just As Effective As The Expensive, Leading Pain-Relief Prescription Of Doctors.

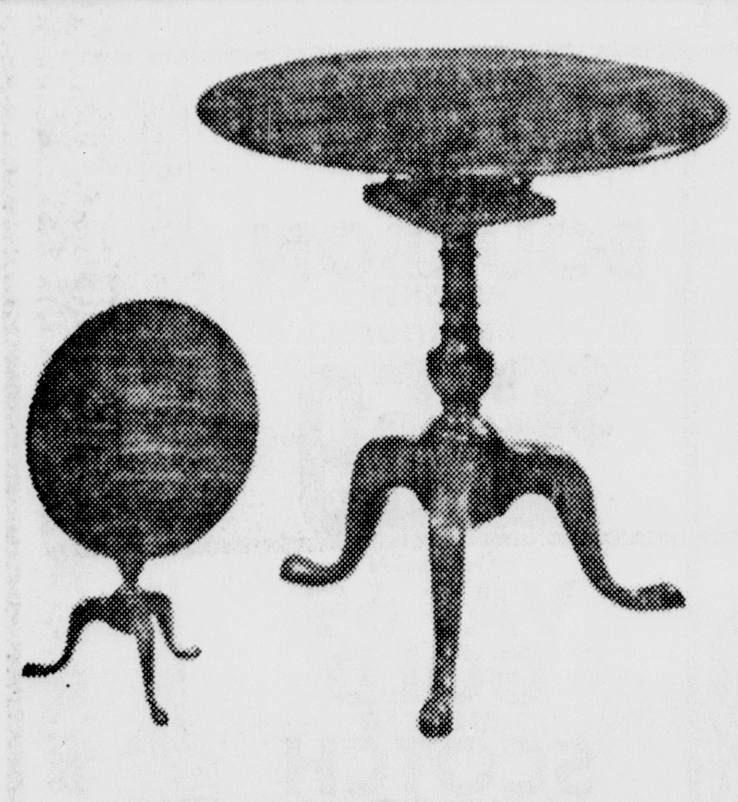
If you're one of the many who get tense, nervous headaches, these latest tests by doctors should be of the greatest importance.

In recent medical tests doctors proved a famous tablet that needs no prescription gives the same complete headache relief as the expensive, leading prescription of doctors.

These doctors' tests proved, beyond a doubt, that Anacin is just as effective to relieve tension headaches, yet Anacin needs no prescription and is far more economical.

With Anacin, headache pain and its nervous tension vanish in minutes. Despite its strength, Anacin is not narcotic. You can take it without getting dizzy or an upset stomach.

Next time take powerful, fast-acting Anacin®. Anacin Tablets give the same complete headache pain relief as the leading prescription product for which doctors wrote 21 million prescriptions last year.



Somebody cares . . .

Of course you'll find it at Wasser's with other 18th Century tables and some very modern ones, too.

Hungarian Official Tells All: Corruption In Party's Ranks

By RICHARD C. LONGWORTH

Nearly 20,000 party members were punished in the past four years for breaking party discipline and 5,000 of them were expelled, Janos Brutoyo said. Of these, 4,100 were punished for "economic offenses" —mostly lining their own pockets with state money.

Brutyo is chairman of the Central Control Commission, which oversees the party's morals and membership. His speech to the party in late November only confirmed —in unusual detail and blunt language —what many Hungarians have been complaining about for years.

Nearly 25 years after it took power, Brutyo said, the party harbors too much "selfishness, grasping, favoritism, blunders, loafing, irresponsibility, absenteeism, greed, moral laxity, ostentatious living and a petty-bourgeois style of life."

The corruption problem is especially serious now that Hungary, through a series of economic and political reforms, is trying hard to inject a measure of democracy, personal responsibility and decency into its society. High-living party officials long have been an object of popular jealousy and young people —even activists —say this factor accounts for much of the apathy among Hungarian youth.

Most of the 662,000 party members lead "clean and exemplary" lives, Brutyo said. But too many have had to take punishment ranging from criticism to expulsion —sometimes followed by trial.

The 20,000 party members punished do not tell the whole story, he said, because many "violation of discipline remained unpunished because they were not discovered or were glossed over.

"There are some party members who believe they are exempt from the law," he said. "Even party branches displayed unprincipled attitudes and dispensed with the compulsory holding of disciplinary proceedings.

"Some people," Brutyo went on, "gain financial advantages for themselves in an immoral manner, without work or by offenses against the national economy or against individuals, or by getting around the laws."

Free trips abroad, fictitious overtime and non-existent "consultant" jobs are favorite ploys, he said.

"These people are the first who can buy plots, houses, cars and similar things," he said. "It is understandable if this arouses strong feelings from those who live from salaries earned by honest work."

Surprisingly, Brutyo said few party member violators are "party members in highranking positions." A Budapest rumor said one high-ranking government official skimmed off three million forints ($100,000) from official funds to buy land, a car and a villa on Lake Balaton. Hungarian insiders say this man soon will be demoted —but is unlikely to stand trial.

Surprisingly, Brutyo said few party members —"fewer than 200"—were punished for fighting the party line or other ideological faults in the past four years. This was especially low in that the four years encompassed "difficulties and contradiction in the international Communist movement"—a reference not only to the Sino-Soviet split but to the Czechoslovak invasion. Hungarian troops took part in the invasion, to the enduring embarrassment of most Hungarians.

Tax Decree For Italy Passed

ROME (UPI)—Passage of a major government tax decree to ease Italy's budget woes went almost unnoticed today in a continuing round of worker and student agitation.

The Italian senate gave final legislative approval Tuesday night to Premier Emilio Colombo's "decretone" — the "big decree" — by which he authorized sweeping tax increases on commodities ranging from gasoline to fur coats.

Marriage At Last

BEAUMONT, Tex. (UPI)—Warren August Blanton, a bachelor for all of his 70 years, married Abbie Victoria Gandy, 88, in ceremonies at an old age home where they met and live.

Push For Veterans Jobs Is Circulated

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon has sent a memorandum to all federal departments and agencies, urging the government to lead the way in finding jobs for veterans.

"Each veteran deserves the opportunity to find his place in our economic system," Nixon said. Labor Department figures showed the unemployment rate for veterans age 20 to 24 during the third quarter of this year was 9.1 per cent—compared with the national average of 5.8 per cent for November.

Cerruti Gets Housing Group's Nod

Elmo Cerruti of San Rafael has been nominated to head the Marin Edumenical Association on Housing for 1971.

He headed a slate of new officers nominated Wednesday night by a committee headed by Hazen Goddard of Terra Linda. If elected, Cerruti will succeed Douglas P. Ferguson.

Other new officers nominated for 1971 were Jean Lovejoy of San Rafael for vice president and Jackie Parnell of Tiburon for secretary-treasurer.

Election of officers will be held at the next meeting of the ecumenical association on Jan. 20. The place of meeting will be set later. Nominations will be accepted from the floor at that meeting.

FRANCIS DAWSON, right, member of the committee working with the Sausalito School District, which decided reading is the one major skill which needs to be developed, hows a book she will use as a volunteer tutor to Lawrence A. Lindberg, superintendent of the Sausalito School District, and, center, Mrs. Delta Christ, vice president of the board of trustees for the Sausalito School District. Mr. Lindberg expressed his high praise for Mrs. Dawson's work in a letter to the Presidio's commanding officer, offering his support to her candidacy as Military Wife of the Year.

Varied Life Of Military Wife Of Year

Mrs. R. E. Dawson of Sausalito is the Presidio of San Francisco's choice for the 1971 Military Wife of the Year. She and representatives from other Sixth Army posts are competing for Sixth Army Military Wife of the year.

After several more competitions the outstanding military wife of the U.S. Armed Forces will be announced in May.

Francis J. Dawson was chosen by a panel of military and civilian judges, searching for the military wife "whose actions epitomize the real contributions being made by military wives in improving people-to-people relationships", according to Spec. 5 Loraine M. Du Paul of the Presidio Information Office.

AS THE MEMBER of a committee working with the Sausalito School District, Mrs. Dawson is participating in a tutoring program designed to increase the reading competency of children. District superintendent Lawrence Lindberg in a letter to Col. Guy O. de Young Jr., commanding officer of the Presidio, expressed his high regard for Mrs. Dawson's work in the district's continuing education program. The military wife has worked with the district board to establish a better understanding of the problems in having military dependent children in the schools.

She was married to R. E. Dawson, current acting sergeant major for Headquarters, Sixth U.S. Army special troops, in 1944. Throughout her life as a military wife, Mrs. Dawson has continued her college education begun at Dixie College in St. George, Utah. She has studied French at Chinon, France, through the University of Maryland's on-campus extension courseand psychology at Santa Barbara City College.

During her early military years, Mrs. Dawson was active in Red Cross and taught Sunday school classes in both military and civilian churches.

A "vagabond by nature", she moved with her husband to Hawaii for two years in 1954 and began a short dancing career, learning the hula and participating in several civic festivities with the Hawaiian people. She was noted for being the only "haole" (one from the mainland) to perform with an otherwise all-Hawaiian group.

She also kept busy with church activities. During the two years she lived there she held 13 different positions, nine simultaneously, in the Hawaiian Mormon Church.

THE DAWSONS returned to the continental United States in 1956 when Sergeant Dawson was assigned to Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo., but their tour lasted only a year and they were on the move again — this time to France.

Mrs. Dawson's concern for a higher education level for American dependents in France was enhanced by her own adoption of four children; an American, two from Germany of Russian and Yugoslavian descent and one from France.

During her two year stay in France, she was both an instructor and a student, studying the language and customs of her hosts at Chinon, France, and teaching kindergarten at an American school for military dependents. She established a liaison between local schools and helped organize a student exchange program, creating good-will and a better understanding between people of the two countries.

In 1960, Mrs. Dawson accompanied her husband to Germany where she continued her teaching career at an Army dependent school. While teaching kindergarten in Germany, she faced the problem of breaking a language barrier between her Spanish-, German-, French-, and English-speaking students.

SHE RETURNED to the United States when her husband was assigned to Vietnam and lived, first in Santa Barbara, and later moved to St. George, Utah,

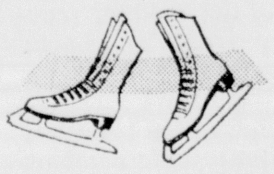
Christmas Parties In Marin

By MOLLY MARIN

Joseph and Marlene Thurston of Mill Valley and their children, Terri, Charlie and John, will be hosts Tuesday at their annual ice skating party for about 100 friends and their children.



The party will be held from 7:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. at the Ice Arena in San Francisco, which the Thurstons own and where Mrs. Thurston, who formerly skated with the ice follies, teaches ice skating.

THE EARL Reinkes of Mill Valley will have a series of post-holiday cocktail buffets in January and February instead of their usual traditional open house on New Year's Day.

MR. AND MRS. Herman Zwart and their children, Nicholas and Kristin, have returned to Mill Valley from a six weeks' trip to London and South Africa. The main purpose of the trip was to visit Mrs. Zwart's parents, Dr. and Mrs. Percival Longmore of South Africa.

Hwghlight of the trip, since they are members of the Audubon Society was a visit to Kruger National Game Reserve. They were very much impressed with how much land is being set aside for the preservation of the natural fauna and flora in Africa.

A RECEPTION honoring Marin debutant Jo Ann Bertolucci will be hosted by Mr. and Mrs. William Moriarty of Tiburon Saturday evening from 5 to 7 p.m. All of the debutants, who are bowing at the St. Francis Hotel in San Francisco Monday night, and their escorts have been invited. Jo Ann is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mario Joseph Bertolucci of Napa who were Tiburon residents for 17 years.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Some Ways To Ecologically Practice What You Preach

DEAR HELEN:

This is a suggestion for W.B. or SAFE, a leader in her school's anti-pollution campaigns. When she and her friends have difficulty convincing their harrassed parents of the need for recycling, try a new approach: We Practice What We Preach — WPWWP!

Just think of the results if each student made it his or her responsibility to see that:

1. Refundable bottles were returned to the stores.
2. Non-refundable glass containers were separated by color with labels and rings removed.
3. Newspapers were tied in bundles.
4. Aluminum cans were crushed.
5. Tin cans flattened, ends and labels removed.
6. All these properly stored and frequently delivered to recycling collection centers (which are springing up in every major — and many minor — cities these days.)

Parents, after observing the priority given this project by their children, would almost certainly continue it once the kids have left home. — D. B.

(P. S.) The above are the instructions for acceptance at our collection center.)

DEAR HELEN:

I've been married three years to a man who has never held a steady job over two months — and he's had only three jobs during all that time.

Right now he's home "sick," which means he's going to quit again.

I've picked cotton, worked in the fields (with the babies up at the end of the row because he wouldn't take care of them), just to put food in our mouths. He's strong and healthy — the only "sickness" is in his head, and I don't guess that will change.

My folks sent me money to get an aching tooth pulled, but he took it and spent it for clothes, so he could step out fancy at night. What little money we have goes for beer. If I save up to buy food stamps, he latches on to it.

We didn't want any more children, but he got careless (we couldn't afford a prescription for anything), so now I'm expecting a baby when my littlest will be 11 months old. Even this doesn't stop the beatings "when I sass back" (speak).

I'm going back to Mississippi for Christmas, even if I have to hitchhike with the kids. Last night after a big fight, he said "Stay There!", but this morning he says he'll take my babies away from me I don't come back. Can he do this? Remember, we live in the South where men have everything on their side. — WISHING FOR A CHANGE

DEAR WISHING:

Follow your husband's first advice and "Stay There!" Sometimes the best way to win a battle is by walking away. If things are as bad as you say, he can't make you or the children return. — H.

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen help you. Address Helen Bottel in care of the Independent-Journal.

until her husband returned in 1967.

Last year she volunteered more than 160 hours to the Army Community Service program. She spent many hours reading stories and singing to young patients at the Letterman General Hospital.

"Using special methods to get the youngsters interested and involved in a story and to make them feel what they are reading, helps them forget the pain," explains "Aunt Frankie", as she was known to the children in Letterman.

Mrs. Dawson also has been a Junior Sunday School coordinator for the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints and in September was appointed Sunday school secretary and Relief Society visiting teacher for the church.

CHERI CALDWELL

April Date For Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. George Caldwell are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Cheri, to Steven Roger Wick, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Wick, all of Novato.

Cheri is the sister of Debbie and Alice Caldwell, and her local grandparents are Mrs. Henry Rosselli of Petaluma and John O'Brien of San Francisco.

She was graduated from Novato High School and is employed at the Veteran's Administration in San Francisco.

Steven is serving in the Navy at San Diego. Lloyd and Rodney Wick are his brothers and his local grandmother is Mrs. Jack Clausen of Mill Valley. He was graduated from Novato High School and is serving in the Navy in San Diego.

Klyse-Anderson Vows Recited At Mission

Mission San Rafael Arcangel was the setting for the wedding of Lynne Rae Anderson to Christopher John Klyse. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Anderson of San Rafael, and his parents are Mr. and Mrs. Charles Klyse of San Rafael.

The bride's sister, Karen Anderson of San Rafael, was the maid of honor. The best man was Kim Johnstone of San Rafael, and the ushers were the bridegroom's brothers Clyde and Doug Klyse of Larkspur and San Rafael respectively.

The couple went on a wedding trip to Lake Tahoe.

A graduate of Woodrow Wilson High School in San Francisco, the bride attended the College of Marin. She is employed by the Emporium in Northgate. Frank Eischen of San Jose is her grandfather.

The bridegroom is a graduate of San Rafael High School. He attended the College of Marin and is a student at the University of Pacific in Stockton. Mrs. Cathy Coffman of San Rafael is also his sister.

The couple plan to live in Stockton in February.

Susan Reynolds Will Be Bride Of Frank Cimino

The engagement of Susan Reynolds to Frank Cimino has been announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon V. Reynolds of Mill Valley.

A February wedding is planned.

Susan is a graduate of Tamalpais High School and the University of California at Davis. She is a teacher at Shearer School in Napa and the sister of Robert Reynolds of Fairfax, Dennis and Jack Reynolds of Mill Valley.

Frank is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cimino Jr., of Madera. He is a graduate of Madera High School and Fresno State College. He is also employed by the Napa School District. Janet Cimino of Madera is his sister.

The Best Christmas Gifts Aren't Always Presents

By SANDRA HAGGERTY

"We need to get rid of these green elves and get us a secretary to handle our mail," sighed Santa Cleotis as he seated himself at the North Pole's conference table.

"Better yet, a computer," agreed Santa Montoya. "The volume is staggering."

"Paper work, paper work," chimed in Santa Red Cloud. "No time to take care of other business."

"And, the fact of the matter is," laughed Santa Claus, "once you've read one, you've read 'em all."

"They're not particularly original," agreed Santa Chin. "Dear Santa, I want, and plese send me . . ."

"Well, that is precisely the reason for this special meeting," said Santa Claus. "We've received a rather unusual letter."

Adjusting his classes on the tip of his nose, he began to read:

DEAR SANTA:

I am writing this letter because I need your help. I'm sort of confused this Christmas. (I'm just a kid.) My mom says she is 'outdone' with the department store shopping scene and that in our family this year, we'll have to give gifts instead of presents.

I know that you generally give out presents & a doll or a handkerchief or the like. But I think there is a difference between a present and a real gift.

Have you any suggestions?

Gregory

The Santas lookes at one another thoughfully.

"Humm," said Santa Montoya. "What is the nature of a gift — a real gift?"

"When I was a young boy, well over a hundred years ago," began Santa Chin, "I received a gift — something that I cherish to this day. I received from my parents, who themselves always honored and respected the aged of our family, the gift of respect and appreciation for my elders.

"This gift left no fear or shame in the minds of my people about growing old. A long life is an accomplishment — and not an inconvenience. Such respect helps to bridge the generation gaps — beautifully."

THE OTHER SANTAS began to reminisce of their childhoods and gifts they had received.

Santa Red Cloud began his saga. "My most precious gift came from my father. It was during a time of great strife, when most of my Indian brothers were being relocated on government reservations. My father refused and we spent a winter alone (our last) before joining the others.

"My father and I continued to hunt and carry out the ceremonial traditions of our people. It was then that I realized my people needed an open area — a free area, abounding with all the elements of nature — to maintain our traditions. Unlike our white brothers, we did not require enclosed edifices to practice our religious ceremonies.

"I learned to love the land."

"My gift," said Santa Montoya, "came from my mother. She refused to speak English around me and insisted that I learn to speak Spanish. Those were the days when Spanish-speaking peoples were being urged to speak only English. At the time, I was annoyed with my mother and wanted to sound as "Anglo' as possible. But, due to her tenacity, I received a grand gift — pride in the language of my ancestors."

"I THINK," said Santa Claus, "that my childhood gift came from the westward moving pioneering families. Then we were a people who had something meaningful to do — at all times. Survival was a challenge. There were obvious frontiers. Building a house and growing food was an accomplishment. I gained the gift of being able to appreciate such accomplishements.

Perhaps that is part of the unrest of our young people today. We (adults) have gone on to build complex cities for them. They have nothing to do. Perhaps that is why many of them yearn for a return to the soil and nature."

"Hum," said Santa Cleotis, stroking his kinky beard. "The gift that comes to my mind came from my younger brother. We were a family of 11 children and all but the two youngest worked in the cotton fields along with my mother and father. Food was scarce and discipline was fierce.

"Anyway, Clarence was 7 and I was 9. Unlike me (Santa Cleotis patted his 225-lb. frame) my brother was fragile, slight of frame and always soft-spoken, I generally thought of him as a 'scaredy cat' and a pest.

"One afternoon, I instigated some childhood prank — can't even remember what it was now, but the fault was clearly mine. We both knew that someone was going to catch heck when we got home. I decided to hide in the nearby woods and not return to our shack. Clarence elected to go home.

"ALL DURING the night, I heaped mental wrath on my brother, knowing that he had gone home and exonerated himself.

"Early the next morning, I returned to our shack, hating my brother. When I entered, the family was eating their early breakfast of hominy grits and honey. All but Clarence. He was already in the fields (without benefit of breakfast) picking an extra bag of cotton — punishment for my infraction.

"It was then that I first knew, even vaguely, what brotherly love was. It was a gift I never forgot."

A hush fell over the conference room.

"Man," said Santa Montoya, "if people start giving gifts instead of presents, we Santas will soon be out of work."

"But, what a way to go," said Santa Claus, smiling.

MOTHERS CREATE FAVORITES

Mothers of the children of the Mill Valley Nursery School have created some 100 puppets, which may look very familiar to child television viewers, for use in "How Oscar Learns About Christmas" at the Mill Valley Golf Clubhouse Monday. The mothers will present the show at 10 a.m., at noon, at 2 p.m. and 4 p.m. Here in top photo, Mrs. Lee Lynch makes some more puppets, which will also be sold at the performances. Delighted with two completed puppets are Sarah Lynch, left, and Diana Andrews. Bottom photo, nursery school mothers try out the puppet creations made for the show and party open to all Marin children. From left are Mmes. Bruce Krelting, James Andrews and Floyd Heckman. Sue Olsen originated the idea and designed the puppets. (I-J photos by Bob Hax.)

Patty Carpenter Wed In Las Vegas Chapel

Patricia Monaghan Carpenter and Steven Thornycroft were married in a candlelight ceremony at the Chapel of Roses in Las Vegas on Saturday.

Patty is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Carpenter of Novato, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Thornycroft of La Mirada.

The bride's only attendant was Mrs. Robert Kinsey of Hollywood. Douglas Thornycroft served as best man for his brother.

Following a reception given by the bride's parents at the Royal Inn in Las Vegas, the couple went on a wedding trip to Salt Lake City. They will live in Burbank.

Patty is the sister of Lowell, Billy, Joel and Kevin Carpenter of Novato. She was graduated from Marin Catholic High School and attended Dominican College and the College of Marin, where she studied dramatics. Since moving to Hollywood she has appeared on several television shows and plans to continue her theatrical career.

The bridegroom is in the property department at NBC television. He attended El Cerrito Junior College in Los Angeles and is a member of the Army Reserve.

The couple plan to be in Novato over the New Year holiday and a reception will be held for them at the Carpenter home on Jan. 2.

Petaluma Community Guild Lead By Mrs. W. A. O'Shea

Petaluma Community Guild members have elected Mrs. William A. O'Shea president.

Dorothy O'Shea has held the offices of vice president, secretary and ways and means chairman during eight years of membership.

The organization's ultimate purpose is to provide eye examinations and glasses for needy children residing within the Petaluma High School District. Donations of equipment to Petaluma elementary schools for testing plus other, requested donations from the community are given by the guild. Membership is invitational and limited to 30.

The guild's only fund raising activity is its annual cruise down the Petaluma River. For the past four years sixth graders from Petaluma schools have been bussed to San Francisco, boarded the empty ship, to be used for that evening's adult cruise, and sailed back to Petaluma via the river.

Mrs. O'Shea is a member of the Sonoma County Medical Auxiliary, Catholic Social Service, Petaluma Unit, United Crusade and Hillcrest Hospital Auxiliary. She and Dr. O'Shea, a radiologist, are the parents of Robert, 19; David, 17; Steven, 16; and James, 11. Bridge and traveling are her hobbies. A native of Newton, Mass., she received an R.N. degree from St. Elizabeth's Hospital in Boston and also studied at Boston College School of Nursing.

Other officers include Mmes. Walter Jacobsen, vice president; Doris Clarke, secretary; and David Brainerd, treasurer.

MRS. WILLIAM O'SHEA

WOMEN'S WORK

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Women are finding unusually good jobs in urban planning, reports the Labor Department. A leaflet released by the department, "Why Not Be a Urban Planner?" pointed out that a big advantage to consider about a career in urban planning is the bright outlook for employment. There is a choice of jobs in most urban areas because of demands for improvement in the quality of our environment, the department said.

A Trophy Winner Tops Golf Club

Mrs. William Sarm, recently elected president of the Mill Valley Women's Golf Club, is a trophy-winning golfer who has been a member of the Mill Valley club for more than five years. She served previously as vice president, golf captain and co-captain.

She won her trophies in the East when she and her husband, who is sales manager for the O'Brien Western Division in San Francisco of the Fuller O'Brien Corporation, resided in Boston, Mass. They have lived in Marin more than five years and have one son, Geoffrey Sarm, who is married and living in Terra Linda.

Other new officers are Mrs. Vollmar Thoney, vice president; Miss Mary Weaver, secretary; and Mmes. David G. Ewell, treasurer; John Ericson, golf captain; Joe De Smet, co-captain; Parker B. Archer, North Bay chairman; Joseph Wittenmeier, Pacific Women's Golf Association chairman; and Frank Kern, parliamentarian.

Coming this Saturday in Marin Magazine

Special features you'll enjoy:

Marinites this coming week will be observing one of Christianity's two great holidays. With no group will the Christmas observance be more meaningful or more colorful than with the county's Greek-Americans. It will begin with special Christmas Eve midnight services by the Greek Orthodox Church of Marin County. And followed by Christmas Day family gatherings at which traditional dishes and customs from the Old Country will be featured. The Marin Magazine previews it for you tomorrow.

A feature that has long been popular with readers of the I-J's Marin Magazine returns tomorrow, after an extended absence. It is the "Profile of a Marinite" story. And tomorrow's subject is James G. Bunker, superintendent of the Novato Unified School District. He is a man with strong and meaningful views of education, and he shares them with you tomorrow. And you will read how he became a public school administrator by what he describes as "an absolute accident."

Refuse Firm Employees Sign Pact

Drivers and helpers at Marin Sanitary Service, after thrice rejecting new contract proposals, have agreed on a three-year pact that will bring a 35 per cent pay hike over the next three years.

Guido Zanotti, president of the refuse company, said the new contract, retroactive to Dec. 1, will mean a rate increase for its 16,000 customers. He did not know how much of a boost would be sought nor when it would be asked.

About 35 employees of the company ratified the new pact Wednesday after intensive bargaining between management's representative, the California Association of Employers, and Teamsters Local 624.

Harry H. McElroy, regional manager for the employers group, said the employees had earlier rejected company offers three times.

Wages will go up 25 per cent the first year and 5 per cent the second and third years. The pay of helpers, for example, will go from $27.84 per day to $34, then to $36 and $38. Other provisions of the contract call for an extra holiday and assorted fringe benefit increases.

Methadone Plan Saving Money

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The Board of Supervisors finance committee recommended appropriating $121,629 Wednesday for the methadone treatment of heroin effects and termed it a money-saving plan.

Dr. Bery Ramer, Center for Special Problems director, who made the request, reported an 85 per cent cure rate with hard-core addicts during the experimental program's first 18 months.

During the first year of the cure, it costs the city about $1,000 per addict for treatment, while it costs about $20,000 to chase, catch, try, convict and jail an addict for a year, he added.

Prison Inmate Fails To Return

A San Quentin Prison inmate, out seeking a job under the work furlough program, failed to return to the prison last night, San Quentin officials said.

Virgil Burnside, 46, serving a term for burglary in San Bernardino County, left the prison yesterday morning and failed to return at 5 p.m.

Yule Programs To Benefit Scholarships

Two Christmas programs to benefit the Marin Shakespeare Festival's scholarship fund will be held Sunday at the Mill Valley Outdoor Art Club.

The program for children begins at 2:30 p.m. and will feature Rita Abrams, the singing school teacher, who will lead the youngsters in song and games.

Jingle Bells the Clown and Scrooge will be there, and children are asked to bring empty stockings with their names on them, which will be filled with gifts.

Miss Abrams also is featured at the second event, which begins at 7:3[illegible] [illegible]m. Other entertainers will include Philip Sheridan, John and Ann Brebner, the San Francisco Player's Guild and the Kopatchka Dancers.

Reservations may be made by calling the Shakespeare Festival of the Mill Valley Book Depot.

Fire Training Session Set

Hamilton Air Force Base and the Novato Fire Department will host a training session and luncheon Jan. 13 for more than 80 Northern California fire chiefs and training officers.

Novato Chief James W. Kidder said a demonstration will feature the use of foam to control a large spill of flammable liquid, resembling what might happen if a fuel tanker truck met with a highway accident.

Members of the Northern California Fire Chiefs Association will attend the session at Hamilton Air Force Base, Kidder said. The city and Air Force departments will conduct the program as part of their mutual aid agreement.

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) —Anthony Quinn played host on an hour-long program for Los Angeles' KMEX advising Mexican-American students and their parents about educational opportunities through scholarships.

Hearing Set On Grass Charge

A preliminary hearing for David Raymond Minard, 18, has been set for Jan. 19 in Marin Municipal Court.

Minard, of no known address, is charged with possession of marijuana. His case has also been referred to the probation department for a report Dec. 30 on whether he is acceptable to juvenile court.

He was arrested Tuesday when Novato police stopped his car on Redwood Highway because of a broken tail light. Marijuana was found in Minard's pocket and in the back seat of the car, police said.

Pope Recovers

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — Pope Paul VI is well again after a mild case of flu earlier in the week, Vatican press spokesman Federico Alessandrini said today.

New Courses Offered Adults At Drake High

Five new adult school courses have been added to the 11 already planned for the winter quarter at Sir Francis Drake High School.

Registration for the courses, which will run from Jan. 5 and 7 to March 9 and 11, will be the first night of each course.

New courses include beginning classical guitar, music appreciation, sewing with knits, weaving and modern literature.

Additional information may be obtained by calling the school.

Early Spill For Lake Near Novato

Stafford Lake, west of Novato, started to spill over yesterday, the earliest it reached its capacity in its 19-year history.

Eugene S. Churchill, manager of the North Marin County Water District, said the earliest spillover prior to yesterday was in 1955 when the lake reached capacity on Dec. 22.

When the rainy season started the lake held 1,900 acre feet of water and it now holds 4,450 acre feet, he said.

Four of the Marin Municipal Water District's five reservoirs were at capacity 12 days ago, the earliest that has happened since 1961, according to B. G. Grant, the district's administrative engineer.

He said Nicasio and Kent lakes began spilling Dec. 6, and Bon Tempe lake reached capacity the day before. Small Lagunitas Lake was full in November, but Alpine Lake at present is only 81 per cent full, Grant said.

Joan Baez To Perform Sunday

Folksinger Joan Baez is scheduled for two concerts Sunday at Pepperland in San Rafael.

At both the 7 and 9 p.m. shows, the singer will be preceded by The Frontier, a country rock band from Sonoma County.

MOTION PICTURE GUIDE

The Marin Motion Picture and Television Council provides these ratings of movies now being shown in Marin County. The council's findings are from the California and National Parent-Teacher Association magazines and the Parent's Magazine. More complete reviews may be obtained by calling the San Rafael Library.

FAMILY

"Boy Named Charlie Brown" — Delightful story of Peanuts, the comic strip character enhanced by outstanding music and unusually creative animation.

"Hard Days Night" — A day in the life of the Beatles, an amiable hilarious comedy.

"Help" — Madcap misadventures of the Beatles as they sing, play and clown their way through England, the Bahamas and the Alps.

"Let It Be" — Documentary film record of one of the Beatles rehearsals and a comedy performance. A warm lighthearted experience.

"My Side of the Mountain" — Tale relates experiences and adventures of a boy who tries to prove he can live alone close to nature for a year. Background of Canadian countryside and wild life are exciting beautiful.

"Scrooge" — Modern musical interpretation of Dicken's "A Christmas Carol". Even sophisticated viewers who know the story backwards will find this sumptuous British production in bright new wrappings with inspired talent and wit, clever songs and dance numbers a delight.

"Yellow Submarine" — Beatles in cartoon form in this fantasy about our heroes trying to save peace loving Pepperland from the anti-music Blue Meanies.

ADULTS AND TEENS

"Dr. Zhivago" — Monumental version of Pasternak's novel. Story of life in Russia during the revolution. Magnificent scenery and musical background.

'Sterile Cuckoo" — A charming tragicomedy about a lonely college girl and her first love affair and its pains and pleasures. Very well acted.

BORDERLINE

(Most sources say Adults Only)

"Catch 22" — Unusually biting antiwar film that graphically depicts the immorality and unreason war breeds. Grotesque details, bizarre, morbid and gruesome sequences shown in a series of flashback and flashforwards that adds to the confusion.

"WUSA" — Contrived melodrama about an unprincipled alcoholic who worked for a rightwing radio station. His conflict with a leftwing welfare worker presents blatant exploitations of serious problems but film does not make a responsible statement when it could.

ADULTS ONLY

"End of the Road" — John Barth's nihilistic novel made into an innovative, shattering film, situations taken to the furthest extreme. Weird obscene film with a variety of simulated sec acts both natural and perverse. Not for the queasy.

"Joe" — Chillingly honest, well acted melodrama about today's dangerous polarization of life styles and what happens when they clash. Nudity and explicit sex and profanity. Very thought provoking.

2 Directors Of Guide Dogs Out

Two directors of Guide Dogs for the Blind Inc. of San Rafael have resigned, according to "Guide Dog News."

The guide dog publication also announced that the annual meeting of members of Guide Dogs for the Blind Inc. will be Jan. 18 at 11 a.m. at the Holiday Inn in San Rafael.

The December issue of the paper said E.O. Boyer, a director since 1955, resigned when he moved from Moraga to Sun City, Ariz.

Mrs. Donald Fisher of San Francisco a director for 11 years, resigned to devote more time to her family, the paper said.

Basic Package Of Tax Forms Being Reduced

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — The basic package of tax forms for declaring 1970 earnings has been reduced from 32 pages to 24, the district office of the Internal Revenue Service has announced.

The packet will contain schedules for itemized deductions and for reporting dividend and interest income, the district office reported.

Businessmen, farmers and those with income sources like pensions and royalties will receive forms similar to last year's.

The basic package is to be sent out to about 50 million people later this month.

Boat Swamps, Pair Rescued

Two youths have been rescued from a duck blind near Hamilton Air Force Base by members of the Marin County Sheriff's Marine Patrol.

Victor Muzio of the group said Edward Pedroli, age unknown, of 9 Romar Court, Novato, and Alfred Robello Jr. age unknown, of 532 Bret Harte Road, San Rafael, were rescued about 9:30 p.m., Tuesday, more than 12 hours after they left Buck's Landing, Santa Venetia, in a small boat.

Muzio said the boat was swamped during Tuesday afternoon's storm.

Extension Of Culvert Draws Fire

The Patricia Lane culvert project in Mill Valley should be modified despite the objections of a property owner, the Mill Valley Flood Control Zone Advisory board has decided.

County Flood Control Engineer Charles E. Murphy said the board recommended Wednesday night that the Marin County Board of Supervisors authorize extension of a box culvert upstream through the property of Benjamin F. Wheeler.

Wheeler, of 84 Lomite Drive, attended the meeting and objected to the extension. Murphy said he indicated the county would have to condemn his property if it wanted to install the culvert.

The $40,000 project would be increased by $5,000 to $10,000 if the supervisors agree to the expansion, Murphy said, but "the advisory board felt that this (the extension) is the only way to relieve flooding in the area."

The advisory board also asked supervisors to drop the $30,000 Marin Avenue creek project from this year's budget after being informed the work may cost twice that amount or even more.

Murphy said problems in acquiring right-of-way for the project in Tamalpais Valley would raise the price to about $60,000. The cost might be reduced, however, if the work is done after the county acquires land for the widening of Tennessee Valley Road, since the two rights-of-way are the same in some areas.

The flood control advisory board also:

ALTO BOWL — Heard that the Sutton Manor flood control study should be complete by January or February. When finished, the study will give a total picture of flood control needs in the Alto Bowl, Murphy said.

COYOTA CREEK — Was told that the district is looking for a dumping site for about 20,000 cubic yards of mud to be dredged from Coyote Creek in Tamalpais Valley. If the site is found the project can begin in the spring, Murphy said.

FUND — Heard that a maintenance fund for minor projects in the district will be included in the 1971-72 budget and provisions made for work to be done on a priority basis.

Vintage Car Body Stolen

The body of a 1932 or 1934 Ford was stolen from a Forest Knolls garage Monday, Marin County Sheriff's Office has reported.

The car was owned by Scott D. Weaver of South Ventura Avenue, Lagunitas, deputies said.

Superintendent Apologizes For Article On 'Kidnapping'

An article in this week's Bolinas school newspaper accusing a deputy sheriff of "kidnapping" children has drawn an apology from the school district's superintendent and a promise that "it won't happen again."

Supt. Lester M. Horning said he did not see the newspaper before its publication and was "greatly surprised and dismayed" when the story was brought to his attention.

The article, by Hacsi Horvath of Bolinas, a sixth grade student at the school begins: "On Thursday, Nov. 12, the cops kidnapped my brothers and sister while my mom (Diane Horvath) was in Marshall with my little sister."

The youngster tells of running around town hiding from "the cop" (Deputy Sheriff Joseph G. Kelly). And while Kelly is not mentioned by name in the first story, a second article by the Horvath boy, titled "Petition," urgers readers to "go the Scowleys (restaurant) in Bolinas if you would like to sign a petition to get Joe Kelly off the police force because he is very mean ."

Horning said he has never before had reason to edit or censor the paper which is published in a class conducted by teachers Marsha Hensill and William Niman. A parent, Mrs. Nancy Borgstrom, assists the youngsters in assembling the paper, typing it and running it off.

"It's always been a typical little grade school paper with stories and cartoons by the students," Horning explained, adding firmly that the newspaper "certainly should not be used for printing incriminating stories about individuals."

The superintendent said he has talked with both teachers involved "and they agreed this kind of thing shouldn't happen again." Horning said he has personally apologized to Kelly and also written a letter of apology to the deputy.

He promised that in the future he will inspect each issue of the newspaper before it is printed.

Kelly told the Independent-Journal he went to the Horvath home Nov. 12 to remove the five Horvath children to a receiving home because they were not being properly cared for. "We found the children, including a little girl about 3 years old playing out in the rain, with no one in the house capable of caring for them," Kelly explained. "This is a child neglect case which has been going on for about eight months and I've been involved in most of it," he continued. "The home is filthy; there is very little supervision and often no food."

According to the deputy, Mrs. Horvath's youngsters have been taken away from her twice by juvenile authorities, "the first time on the complaint of her (Mrs. Horvath's) mother. He said in November Mrs. Horvath had discovered where the children had been taken, gone to the house and taken them back to Bolinas to hide them.

He said a hearing on the child neglect charge and the custody of the children will be held Monday at 8:30 a.m. in Marin Juvenile Court.

Kelly appeared unconcerned by the article or the petition Mrs. Horvath has been circulating for the last several weeks to remove him from Bolinas where he has worked for the last year. "We are going to use the article as part of our evidence in court," he said.

The first loganberry was found in 1881 at Santa Cruz, Calif., growing in the garden of Judge J. H. Logan.

Innocent Plea To Car Theft Charge

Gary Lee Evans, 21, of Novato, has pleaded innocent in Marin Municipal Court to charges of car theft and concealing stolen property. A preliminary hearing was set for Dec. 29.

Evans was arrested recently after parts from a car stolen from a Novato man were reportedly traced to his home at 450 School Street. The car, stolen June 30, was later found stripped on a fire trail near Novato.

New Year's Eve Suggestion: New Alvarado Inn At Ignacio

With as much certainty for success as anything can be judged these days, the new Alvarado Inn at Ignacio has been enjoying unusually good patronage for a place so recently opened.

There is no great secret to its popular appeal. It is in a good location — as good as any in the Ignacio area. Wire fences shutting off service road business used to be regarded as a handicap. Not any more — people are used to them and reconciled to finding some way to drive around them. For Alvarado Inn, all you have to remember, driving from either direction, is to watch for the Igancio Boulevard turn-off, then make a sharp right turn into the west service road along the 101, allowing for a couple of one-way passages.

New decor is another thing in the inn's favor. Completely remodeled, it's warm and comfortable, tasteful and simple. Former dust catchers have been removed and I don't believe the present ownership is about to replace them.

The simplicity extends into the menu itself. There are just six entrees for dinner —baked lasagne, chicken Alvarado, chicken cacciatore, veal scaloppini a la Romano, top sirloin and New York steaks — in a price range from $3.50 to $5.95 for the complete dinner.

The wine list is equally simple, with most bottlings confined to Paul Masson, except for champagnes and house wine. The latter is a good, honest wine and is served by the decanter.

The management knows what it is doing. President of the corporation Dave Kahler and vice president Bob Doiron both have had previous restaurant experience. Bar and catering manager Sam Carlozo is just as experienced in his field, and chef Nello Russo needs no testimonials. He's been in the profession many years and has made good at it.

Alvarado Inn will be closed on Christmas Eve after the parties are all over, and also on Christmas Day.

New Year's Eve will be another matter. There will be a special dinner menu with prime rib, New York steak and veal scaloppini as choices. Jimmy Diamond and his group will play for dancing.

No reservations will be taken that night. The best you can do will be to place a call just before you go there and inquire on the existing seating. Everyone will have an equal chance. There's also a reasonable overnight package available here, enabling you to keep off the highway. Motel rooms have all been refurnished.

HERE'S ANOTHER SUGGESTION for New Year's Eve — but you will have to make reservations quickly. This is at La Petite Auberge in San Rafael.

At this writing there were still a few tables open for the dinner party that night, starting at 10 p.m. A special menu will be served at $14 per person. There will be entertainment through the evening.

Early dinner on New Year's Eve, when the regular menu will be served, stops at 8 p.m. in order to allow time to get the dining room ready for the later festivities.

La Petite Auberge will be closed Christmas Eve and Christmas Day.

THE VILLA RAFAEL RESTAURANT at 1600 Lincoln Avenue, San Rafael plans on being open all day Christmas. A turkey dinner with all the trimmings will be served at $3.50.

For entertainment New Year's Eve, Ed Hannigan is bringing in The Unpredictables, who will also be there on Saturday nights thereafter.

LIN FA GARDENS at Northgate Shopping Center will be closed Friday, Saturday and Sunday over the Christmas holiday.

During the following New Year's weekend it will be open Friday and Saturday but not on Sunday. Organist Ray Miller, who is there on Friday and Saturday nights, will play New Year's Eve.

ANOTHER CLOSING on Christmas Day will be at the Grotto in San Rafael. But it will be open Friday, Saturday and Sunday on the following New Year's weekend, serving its regular seafood menu.

After that it will close for a two-week period while Stan and Ursula Valan and their staff take a vacation — opening again on Monday, Jan. 14.

REMEMBER these two events scheduled for next week:

Sabella's in Marin will hold its annual Christmas party for the youngsters Monday evening, with Santa Claus and live reindeer. There are two dinner periods at 6 and 8 p.m. Make reservations at once.

Ramona's is holding its Mexican Posadas ceremony on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday nights, with a procession around the block from this San Rafael restaurant, starting at 8:30 p.m. Make reservations.

Both places will be closed Christmas Day.

ALFRED BARTHEL, owner of Senor Alfredo's Mexico Restaurant in San Anselmo palsn to close for lunches Monday through Thursday next week and to close all day on Friday, Christmas Day. However, he will open the Saturday and Sunday after Christmas.

During the last week of the month he'll give regular menu service, including on New Year's Eve and will also be open New Year's Day — a time when Mexican food is particularly enjoyable.

THE PATHFINDER TEAROOM operation at the Marin Art and Garden Center in Ross is now suspended for the holidays.

Its reopening, with a list of new menus, is slated for Jan. 12 when regular Tuesday and Thursday luncheons will be open to the public. The tearoom will also be available again to private parties.

ON THE TOP FLOOR of the downtown San Rafael Reynold C. Johnson Building, Bernard's Executive Lounge will open Christmas Eve, but close Christmas Day and Saturday and Sunday.

But the following weekend will be a place to celebrate the old year out and new year in with dinner, music and dancing.

And on New Year's Day there will be a colored TV for the ball game. Special fare that day will be "cafeteria round" — roast beef, spaghetti and a fizz for $2.50. Make reservations for both events.

HERE'S AN OPENING on Christmas Day — at the Old Viking in Lagunitas. Matts and Phyllis Mattsson will serve a Christmas turkey dinner plus their regular menu and hot "glogg" in the traditional Swedish custom.

New Year's Eve the Old Viking will be open — no party, just a quiet evening with the regular menu — and also on New Year's Day. The herring salad is almost a must on these occasions. Reservations — definitely.

THE EXCHANGE is the new group at Gatsby's in Sausalito, playing Monday and Tuesday evenings from 9:30 p.m. until closing.

Patty Parsons, Dale Jared and Ron Wells have been performing as a group only a few months, but individually they have impressive backgrounds.

Patty, the lead vocalist, has a master's degree in music and has performed at formal billings. Dale is a 12-string guitarist who writes music and has done an album. Ron, a native of Kentucky and a guitarist. He has been with big-name groups.

A FESTIVAL HOLIDAY MENU will be featured at Bill and Adolph's West End Villa New Year's Eve, with a choice of entrees. Dinner will be served from 6 p.m. to midnight. Reservations are very much in order.

The Villa will be closed New Year's Day.

ONLY 100 GUESTS will celebrate the New Year celebration of Les Bon Vinants — the wine and food society formed by Fred Cherry when he operated Cafe Bon Vin in San Anselmo.

Fred is putting this on with Richard Willette, executive chef of Tamal Food Service, where reservations should be made. Ask for Miss Alexander.

Served will be an international buffet and dinner, mainly of beef Wellington and champagne, with incidentals — like specialties from eight different countries, with wine discoveries from each land.

POLLUTION

Ecological Sin Strikes Russia

By DUSTON HARVEY
United Press International

Environmental pollution isn't a monopoly of capitalistic countries —which is one reason the Russians are experimenting with aritficial caviar.

The Soviet ecological disasters have a familiar ring:

"Rivers that blaze with fire, smog that suffocates cities, streams that vomit dead fish, oil slicks that blacken seacoasts, prized beaches that vanish in the waves, and lakes that evaporate and die a slow smelly death."

They are described by Marshall I. Goldman, an economics professor at Wellesley College and associate of Harvard's Russian Research Center, in "Science" magazine.

The Russians have started experimenting with the production of artificial caviar because the natural output of the delicacy has fallen drastically in recent years, Goldman reported.

The reasons: a reduction of the spawning area of the sturgeon —the fish which produces caviar —because the Caspian Sea has fallen eight feet in the past 20 years as dams and reservoirs were built upstream, and has become polluted with oil dumped by refineries and tankers.

The fish catch from the Caspian was cut almost in half during the two decades and the output of caviar —a major earner of foreign exchange for the Russians —also declined drastically.

That's just one example given by Goldman, who says "comparing pollution in the United States and in the USSR is something like a game. Any depressing story that can be told about an incident in the United States can be matched by a horror story from the USSR."

Some of his stories:

—Most Soviet cities have smog, despite an annual automobile production less than one-tenth that of the U.S. Tbilisi, the capital of the Republic of Georgia, has smog almost six months of the year. A dark blue cap covers several cities with metallurgical industries.

—Forests at Yasnaya Polyana —the site of Leo Tolstoy's summer home —are reported near extinction from fumes emitted by a nearby chemical plant.

—Fish kills have occurred in several major rivers, all of which are considered highly polluted. The Molognaia River in the Ukraine and several others throughout the country are classified as dead. In 1965, a careless smoker tossed a cigarette into the Iset River at Sverdlovsk and it caught fire.

—Like the Caspian, the Aral Sea is gradually disappearing. It dropped 3 to 9 feet in the past decade as water was diverted for irrigation and hydroelectric dams were built upstream. Some Soviet authorities fear the shallow sea will be nothing but a salt marsh by the turn of the century.

—Construction of paper and pulp mills on the shores of Lake Baikal are polluting one of the largest, deepest and purest freshwater lakes in the world. The plants, and towns which grew up around them, are pouring treated effluent into the lake, reducing animal and plant life in some sections by one-third to one-half.

Goldman says these ecological disasters indicate a socialist or Communist country can abuse its environment in the same way as a nation with a capitalistic economy.

"This is especially important for those who have come to believe as basic doctrine that it is capitalism and private greed that are the root cause of environmental pollution," he wrote.

Goldman says many of the usual economic explanations for pollution under a free enterprise system also hold in Russia: failure to include social costs, such as air pollution, as an expense of doing business; the idea that fresh air and water are free goods; confused lines of authority for enforcing anti-pollution laws; urbanization; industrialization and rapid population growth.

In addition, he suggests a Socialist country has special problems of its own which offset the advantages of centralization.

These include concentration of economic power so that mistakes are more far-reaching; rating of state officials almost entirely on their region's economic growth; lack of voters to put conservation pressure on politicians, and no private property owners who can protest abuses like the destruction of resort beaches on the Black Sea.

A comparison of the two countries shows it is industrialization, and not private enterprise, that is the primary cause of environmental disruption, Goldman contends.

"This suggests that state ownership of all productive resources is not a cure-all. The replacement of private greed by public greed is not much of an improvement."

BCDC Sees Legislative Drive To Weaken Powers

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — A drive to weaken the San Francisco Bay Conservation and Development Commission will be launched in the upcoming session of the Legislature, the commission's chairman warned yesterday.

The aim of the drive will be to allow extensive development on the San Francisco waterfront — such as the mammoth Ferry Port Plaza rejected two weeks ago by BCDC, said chairman Melvin B. Lane of Menlo Park. The 10-story project would extend out into the bay by the length of more than four football fields, and would be twice the size of the Cow Palace.

Lane told commissioners that "there certainly will be some very effective, well-organized efforts to amend the law to allow the sorts of development planned on San Francisco's waterfront."

Executive director Joseph E. Bodovitz noted that the commission itself probably will have to seek legislation to allow it to impose fees on all applicants for permits.

He reported that while the Reagan administration had included in its tentative budget the $284,000 asked for next fiscal year by the commission, it also had asked the commission to raise at least $25,000 by fees. The administration long has maintained that the Bay Area should start assuming the cost of the commission.

Bodovitz said that while fees could be imposed on private developers, it would take new legislation to empower their imposition on public agencies.

The commission's budget for this fiscal year is $265,899.

Bodovitz said the proposed legislation would be considered by the commission at a future meeting.

Suspects Booked On Auto Theft

Two Marinwood teen-agers have been booked at Marin County Juvenile Hall on suspicion of car theft.

Thomas Jay Kisling, 14, of 325 Ironstone Court and Matthew Ernest Gurish, 15, of 272 Blackstone Drive were arrested by Marin County sheriff's deputies at about 12:30 p.m. Wednesday on Miller Creek Road, Marinwood.

Kisling was driving a car, deputies said, owned by Lester Taylor of 1017 Simmins Lane, Novato. It had been stolen about 11 a.m. from the Disco parking lot in Larkspur.

67,000 Tires To Be Recalled

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Transportation Department reports that Gates Rubber Co., Denver, Colo., has agreed to recall about 67,000 tires which the government said failed to meet strength tests.

The safety bureau said continuous use of the tires "could be hazardous under certain circumstances." The company said the highway performance record of the tires, however, indicated no safety related problems.

CHOIR OF ANGELS TO THE ELDERLY

Children from San Rafael's Short School caroling (above) are spreading some of their youthful Christmas joy among the elderly in San Rafael convalescent hospitals. While Christmas is a time of expectation for the youngsters, it is often a time of poignant memories for the old. For at least one resident of San Rafael Rest Home yesterday, the happy voices of the 50 youngsters, grade one to three, brought a rush of memories (below) and she cried quietly through her hand. The Christmas singers organized by teachers Sandra Malstrom, Neal Brengle and Zel Hinshaw have visited two other convalescent hospitals to sing traditional carols like "Silent Night" and "Jingle Bells."

Sgt. Lyn (Tony) Stoutt has been elected 1971 president of the Novato Police Association suceeding Sgt. Donald Dupar.

Clerk-typist Elsie Thomas was elected secretary-treasurer at the association election Tuesday. Officers Vernon L. Davies and Jerry G. Bennett and Dupar were elected directors.

263 Acres Of Marin Land On Agency's Shopping List

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Acquisition of 263 acres of Marin County marshland, tidal flats and creek frontage at a cost of $1.7 million was recommended yesterday by the San Franicsco Bay Conservation and Development Commission.

The recommendations came in the commission's first annual shopping list of acreage it would like to see bought by public agencies to reserve it for specific uses. There were only four parcels on the list, and all were in Marin.

The recommendations, drafted by the BCDC staff, also urged the purchases be made by the county through combinations of general fund and federal grant money and lease-purchase.

The 1969 state law that gave BCDC its current powers provided that the commission draft such a list annually. Development on such properties could be rejected for three years after inclusion in the annual list. After three years, development still would be limited to those uses allowed in the commission's bay plan.

Executive director Joseph E. Bodovitz said that the properties also would be recommended by the county for public acquisition.

Also listed, for port purposes, were four East Bay parcels.

The four recreation sites in Marin are: two to three acres of marsh and upland at Black Point for $50,000; 10 acres of tidal flats in Richardson Bay for $350,000; 200 acres of bay and creek fronting on Gallinas Creek for $800,000, and 50 acres of Petaluma Creek frontage for $500,000.

The commission's staff was unable to cite the specific locations of the acreage on the list.

Plea Set On Drug Charges

Kevin Richard Stein of San Rafael was arraigned Wednesday in Marin Municipal Court on charges of possessing marijuana and LSD.

He is to enter a plea Tuesday.

Stein, 23, was arrested Saturday after San Rafael police saw him sitting on a fence smoking a hand rolled cigarette.

Mexicans Held, To Be Shipped To Homeland

Eight Mexican nationals, said by the U.S. Immigration Service to have entered the country illegally, have been arrested in the San Rafael area.

All of them were working in the area, said Emil H. Pullin, district immigration director. All will be sent back to Mexico, he said.

Booked into Marin County Jail Wednesday were Daniel Yepes Rivera, 38; Tomas Garcia Mendosa, 23; Enrique Medina Silva, 23; Santos Mendoza Cervantes, 18; Concio Garcia Mendosa, 49; Jesus Sanchez Castrezon, 21; Rafael Lopes Chavez, 20; and Antonio Sauceda Guzman, 32.

Pullin said that they were employed as dishwashers, garbage men and laborers. He did not disclose the exact location of the arrests.

OEA Is Alive And Fighting, Says Boss

WASHINGTON (UPI) —"If that's what makes them happy, I'm not going to argue about it any more. I'm fed up. If they want to keep saying Rumsfeld is dismembering the poverty program, let 'em."

Don Rumsfeld seems frustrated by his inability to convey what seems to him to be conclusive proof of his own good intentions as director of the Office of Economic Opportunity (OEO). But the 38-year-old former congressman who was President Nixon's surprise choice to head the antipoverty agency is far from disillusioned.

"Remember this. Everybody knew Lyndon Johnson was sick of this program by 1968. And everybody expected Richard Nixon to abolish it within six months in 1969.

"But he didn't. It's here. It's operating. The budget is up and there are good people, fabulous people, working in this office."

Nixon, Rumsfeld said, has been reported to have decided to kill off OEO at least five times since taking office. The last time, he said, was when an erroneous report based on "stolen" low-level working memoes pictured Nixon as planning to cut the OEO budget in half. Rumsfeld said the White House got letters both praising and damning Nixon and added "he probably hasn't got anything left to either gain or lose" no matter what he does with OEO.

Rumsfeld wouldn't talk about OEO's 1972 budget (Congress hasn't approved the current year request), but said he has asked for more money next year.

After 18 months in the big, airy corner office at OEO headquarters, Rumsfeld retains boyish vigor and an easy, toothy grin that sets him apart from the capital's corps of gray senior bureaucrats. But he has changed since he showed up in Washington seven years ago as a bouncing young congressman from Chicago's north shore district.

Although shuffled off to the more obscure House committees, Rumsfeld made himself known as a young man of good intentions who was open to new ideas within the scope of his mid-stream Republican political persuasion.

On balance, he was not one of the congressional no-men, although he did vote against the bill creating OEO.

Given the OEO job, he bubbled with enthusiasm, starting with a crusade to convince all that Richard Nixon and his agent, Donald Rumsfeld, were out to do a better job with the mechanism the Democrats created to fight chronic poverty. But every time Rumsfeld did something at OEO he understood to be the interests of better services to the poor or more efficient management of a limited budget, someone would darkly suggest that the "hidden agenda" of the Nixon Administration was to kill off the antipoverty program.

Rumsfeld says now, as he said then, it isn't so. Flipping the pages of a budget justification book, he said in a recent interview: "Look. We're up in health and family planning for the poor, up in legal services, up in research and development. We've increased programs for the aged, for migrant farm workers, for Indians. The percentage of minority group members in (upper level) civil service jobs in OEO has increased from 17 per cent to 23 per cent.

Rumsfeld finds galling the charges that he is trying to cut up the Legal Services program. He said the discharge of director Terry Lenzner was based on personality conflicts and waved his hand at a chart showing steady budget increases (from $46 million to $61 million) for the program under the Republicans.

Judge Orders Examination

Welby Stuart Brown, 20, of Gate 3, Waldo Point, pleaded innocent and innocent by reason of insanity Wednesday in Marin Superior Court to a charge of burglarizing Zack's restaurant in Sausalito Nov. 25.

Judge E. Warren McGuire appointed two psychiatrists to examine Brown and set Jan. 11 for receiving their reports.

Brown was arrested after officers saw him inside the restaurant after closing hours, chased him outside and stopped him from leaving in an outrigger boat. They said he had three loaves of bread and two slabs of cheese in his possession.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Planning Ahead Helps Avoid Retirement Health Problems

Van Dellen

The health and economic aspects of retirement are of equal importance. Many persons approaching retirement do not realize that they may live 10 years longer than their parents did. Therefore, by planning for their future health, they may be rewarded with many years of active, independent and happy living. In addition, good health during these years enables gainful employment, if it is necessary for financial reasons.

A reliable health checkup long before retirement provides the opportunity of detecting many medical disorders at an early stage. When discovered early, many common conditions, such as heart disease,, arthritis, diabetes, high blood pressure, loss of hearing, failing vision, cancer and nervous disorders, can be treated successfully or controlled. For this reason, the examination should be thorough and include laboratory tests.

WITH INCREASING age, many people neglect the warning signs of disease and use patent medicines or nostrums that they read or hear about. Keep a record of unusual aches and pains, bleeding, shortness of breath, swellings, indigestion and weight gains or losses. Don't let friends or relatives diagnose your troubles and advise treatment.

Try to be more cautious with the approach of retirement. Injuries are more common after age 55, and its is wise to be prepared. Wear proper clothing and shoes. Safety-proof the home with handholds for bathtubs and nonskid rugs. Exercise care in the use of ladders, walking on slippery or uneven surfaces, treading attic and basement stairs and operating vehicles under hazardous conditions

CONCENTRATE on a balanced diet, including meats, fish, poultry, milk, vegetables, fruits and vegetable oils and spreads. Drink enough water to keep the kidneys active.

Retirement means new problems, but these should be met and dealt with. Look at things the way they are, not as you wished they were.

(Questions on medical topics will be answered by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the Independent-Journal.)

PYORRHEA

S. H. WRITES: My wife has had a bad case of pyorrhea for several years but refuses to have her teeth pulled. She is under the impression that this dental condition doesn't affect the rest of the body. I would appreciate your professional opinion.

REPLY

Pulling the teeth is not necessarily the remedy for pyorrhea. This is why she should consult a dentist. On the other hand, pyorrhea is the most common cause of loss of teeth after the age of 40. Furthermore, if your wife neglects the condition, her teeth may fall out spontaneously.

ADOLESCENT SKIN

L. C. R. writes: Isn't it unusual for a girl of 10 to break out with pimples?

REPLY

Perhaps, but not if she is entering adolescence. I assume she is reasonably clean and not taking medicines that induce skin outbreaks. Send stamped, self-addressed enveiope for our leaflet on acne.

New Life For Queen

With two lives behind her, the Queen Mary is well on her way to a third life. As a luxurious ocean liner, she carried thousands of socially prominent of both continents across the Atlantic. During World War II, she was a troop carrier. Now she is being readied at Long Beach for her third life — that of a major tourist attraction. Purchased in 1967 by the City of LongBeach, the ship is being converted into a floating museum, hotel and dining establishment. One of the spectacular rooms aboard the Queen (top photo above) is the Verandah Grill which is being refurbished. However, its colorful frescoes and small dance floor will remain. During its heyday, the room was a status symbol for guests crossing the Atlantic. The heart of the ship's museum will be the cavernous former engine room (above left). Another feature of the ship is her woodjoiners' art. Some 56 kinds and varieties of rare wood were used, including this section (left) of rare cedarmach being polished in the forward observatory bar. It is a hybrid that is only available to the British Royal Family, who donated some of it for use in the ship. So far some $42 million invested in the project with no opening date in sight.

Army's New Look At Stockades Is Praised

ORLANDO, Fla. (UPI)—The Army is trying new ways of salvaging its misfits and offenders, and civilian penologists here say the reforms are a vast improvement over the old stockade.

"In the field of corrections the Army is quite progressive," says Dr. Charles M. Unkovic, chairman of the sociology department at Florida Technological University and an authority on penal systems.

Unkovic and Donald Lee, a retired lieutenant colonel also on the university staff, recently completed a study of the Army Correctional Training Facility at Ft. Riley, Kan.

It's progressive, they said, but not perfect.

"We admit it's good, but there's a lot of room for improvement," Unkovic told UPI. "They don't have a single psychologist or psychiatrist on their staff. And they don't seem to know what to do with their chaplains and social workers."

With GI's going "over the hill" in increasing numbers—from 27,000 in 1967 to 66,000 in 1970—the correctional training facility was established in 1968 as a pilot program. The aim is to retrain and remotivate offenders through a nine-week program employing "sophisticated correctional techniques," and return them to normal duty.

A soldier facing an AWOL charge may be given an option of a "less than honorable" discharge, which puts a permanent black mark on his record, or the CTF program and completion of his tour of duty.

The goals of the Army are not necessarily humanitarian. It costs $5,000 to train a GI his first year and just $500 to send him through CTF.

While Army researchers have compiled reams of statistics on the CTF operation, Unkovic and Lee were invited to the facility this fall by Col. James C. Shoultz Jr., CTF commander, to make an objective evaluation.

"It's better than any civilian prison I've seen, and I've been in dozens," said Unkovic, who is also chairman of the advisory council of the Florida probation and parole commission.

Prisoners arrive at the facility at the rate of about 200 a week from various stockades. From that time on, they are referred to as trainees, not prisoners or inmates.

Each is assigned to a correctional training team composed of a captain, a drill sergeant and two other noncommissioned officers.

A staff of 14 social workers and five chaplains try to help the trainees with emotional hangups. Six lawyers in the legal branch try to help them work out such things as problems with civilian authorities, overdue bills and domestic difficulties.

The nine-week cycle includes motivational training, designed to assist in coping with personal problems, combat training and MOS (Military Occupation Specialty) refresher training.

"Trainees are escorted to and from classrooms and training areas by unarmed cadres, keynoting leadership rather than custody," Shoultz said.

A study of the records of 10,762 trainees admitted to the CTF program during its first 22 months showed that 9,011 completed the course. Most of those who didn't—1,565—were "deemed unqualified for further military service." Of those completing the program, 4,255 are still in the Army "in an honorable duty status."

According to the chaplain's office at Ft. Riley, a large percentage of the CTF trainees were involved with various "exotic" sects and have an "almost fanatical devotion to contemporary music." Dozens request noncombatant status or discharge as conscientious objectors.

"This program is a far cry from the dehumanization process that took place in the old army stockades, the type of thing we saw in 'From Here to Eternity,' Unkovic said.

But Unkovic chided the army for being "over-defensive and protective."

"They'll drive you crazy with charts and graphs," he said. "They're too rigid, afraid to stick their necks out.

Unkovic said one officer admitted he did not consider the social work an important phase of the CTF program.

"When we were talking to the battalion commanders, we were told that the social workers caused them more problems than the trainees," Unkovic said. "They complained that the social workers were not military, pointing out that one called a colonel a major, they don't attend reveille and don't go to the staff parties."

LAMEDUCK SENATOR

Vigorous Lawmaker Works To The End

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The man cannot be stopped. He is still introducing bills. He writes letters to colleagues, asking for votes. He nudges. He holds news conferences. He keeps speaking engagements. He issues a daily gust of single-spaced news releases. He is in at 9, out at 9 at night.

Maybe in the 13 1-2 years Ralph W. Yarborough has been a senator he has forgotten how not to be a senator.

Behind his desk —he is behind his desk for only two minutes before he is back up on his feet, pacing —he raches for the phone, reaches for a book. Books surround him. The desk itself overflows. He paws through it, somehow knowing where to reach for what he wants.

"Here, take a look at this." A stunned visitor leaves carrying a bundle of documents, including a biography, "Yarborough of Texas."

Has Yarborough forgotten that he is a lame duck, in fact the lamest of ducks, having been repudiated by the voting Democrats of Texas way back in May, when they picked Lloyd Bentsen for the nomination and, in November, for the Senate seat?

No, he knows, this smiling, scowling, chubby, 68-year-old senator in the blue suit, blue shirt, blue tie.

"But in the time remaining after the primary," he says, "I will still have been senator longer than three previous Texas senators."

The listener doesn't dispute it, but Yarborough is up again, reaching for a history book to prove his point. There it is! One Texas senator appointed for only a 25-day term. Another suffered a heart attack after five days in office. Another contracted tuberculosis ...

Yarborough of Texas was never a nember of the club, the Senate establishment. He made few headlines; was seen little on TV.

But he went into the Senate Labor and Public Welfare committee just about the time the country was shedding the notion that education was a purely local matter in which the United States government had no interest.

And from the committee, bearing the mark of Yarborough's traditional liberalism, flowed legislation and money. Yarborough scratches through his desk, produces a list: "major legislative accomplishments during last 13 years."

Under education: bilingual education bill, vocational education act, education TV act, higher education act, elementary and secondary education act, school lunch and school milk.

"Author," he describes himself in another handout for the visitor, "co-author or principal sponsor of all major education bills to pass Congress since 1958."

Amid all those traditional pictures of politicians that politicians by instinct hang on their walls —Yarborough's date back to Harry Truman and Estes Kefauver —hangs a framed collection of 50 pens used by Lyndon Johnson to sign into law the bills Yarborough supported during the "extraordinary" first session of the 91st Congress.

Yarborough is one of those old-fashioned liberals who believes if a problem exists, you spend money on it until it goes away.

Now the 92nd Congress, weary and full of lame ducks, most of them a lot more sheepish than Yarborough, is trying to go away. But Yarborough is still pushing spending schemes: $40 billion for national health insurance; a bill to guarantee every young American free access to two years of college-level education.

"Ten years ago, the best scientists in the country testified before my committee we could wipe out cancer in 10 years —eradicate it —if we'd spend a billion a year." So he has a cancer bill, too.

Yarborough is vague about his future political intentions. He says only that he is going to practice trial law in Austin, the Texas capital. His age seems to rule out another race for office even if his vigor does not.

Yet it must be hard for Texans to think of Yarborough neither holding office nor seeking it. After serving five years as a district judge from 1936-41, he ran unsuccessfully for governor in 1952, 1954 and 1956 before winning election to fill a senate vacancy in 1957 and reelection in 1958 and 1964.

His relations with former President Lyndon B. Johnson are more than chilly. He won't say that Johnson favored Bentsen in the primary, but he doesn't hesitate to say that "Johnson's people" worked for Bentsen.

"Your mistake, Ralph," he says a friend told him after the primary, "was that you had the wrong priorities. You were here passing legislation when you should have been there getting renominated."

This lame duck won't say die.

Legal Knots Tangle Solution Of San Rafael Canal Claims

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Disputed claims between the state and property owners along San Rafael Canal remain subject to legal questions despite a new law designed to clear up the old issue.

The dispute resulted from a past straightening of the formerly meandering canal.

The State never gave up title to the old canal, but this did not create problems until recent years when the property owners wanted to develop or sell their holdings. Neither was possible with the state claims clouding their titles.

The State Lands Commission's staff has insisted that the only way to locate the old canal precisely — so it could be sold to the property owners — was by a detailed survey. The rub has been that the commission staff figured the survey will cost $60,000.

The City of San Rafael, which would have to foot the bill for a survey under a 1967 law by Sen. John F. McCarthy, R-San Rafael, has countered that the survey could be done for $20,000. The commission staff has insisted only that the survey must be done — and if the city can have the job done itself for $20,000, then the city should go ahead and have it done.

The city, however, has not been able to settle with the commission what would be required in the survey. The city also has indicated it would be hard pressed to come up with even the smaller amount to pay for it.

Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, thus got a law passed during the past legislative session dropping for one year the requirement for the survey. It was effective Nov. 23.

The Commission staff, however, faced with a 1969 ruling by the attorney general upholding the requirement for a survey, has asked the attorney general whether Bagley's law has any effect.

James F. Trout, manager of the commission's state lands program, told the Independent-Journal that "we don't believe the (Bagley) law accomplished anything. We don't think we can solve the problem without a survey," he said, "because there is no other way of determining the extent of the state's interest. The state owns the original canal and has a property right and asset that belongs to all of the people."

He said that giving title for the old canal to private property owners would "violate the gift laws of the Constitution."

But Trout added that if the attorney general approved land title exchanges under Bagley's law, "we assume he can find a legal basis for us to make the exchange."

The request to the attorney general for an informal opinion was made Dec. 7, and a response should be available by mid-January, Trout estimated.

Bagley told the I-J that members of the commission had assured him the title exchanges would be done "as quickly and expeditiously as possible."

The width of the old 5.8-mile canal owned by the state varies from several 100 hundred feet at the mouth of canal down to a point in the downtown area, according to Trout. He said there was no title problem with the new alignment of the canal since title to it was acquired by the city at the time of the realignment.

Among the parties to the dispute are the Marin Municipal Water District and the Marin Yacht Club. The water district, for example, claims a largely undeveloped lot on Second street just west of Grand Avenue, but cannot clear title to it because the old canal went through the lot. A similar problem has vexed the yacht club.

Marinite In Pakistan Relief Work

A San Anselmo man is one of a seven-man team sent from India to East Pakistan to work in relief operations for survivors of the cyclone there.

Opie C. Radford, 38, son of Mrs. Inga Radford of 6 Sunview Avenue was sent by CARE to East Pakistan for the relief work.

A native Marinite, he went to Tamalpais High School and the College of Marin before going into the Korean War. Since joining CARE he has worked in Gaza, Celon, and for the past two and a half years in India.

He wrote his mother that the transfer caused him to change his plans for Christmas with friends in India.

Woodington Gets Retirement Fete

More than 100 persons, including several former Belvedere mayors and city councilmen, attended a dinner Tuesday night honoring retiring Police Chief William S. Woodington.

Barbara Egoian, member of the committee that planned the tribute, said Woodington was presented with a bank book representing more than $600 collected as a retirement gift.

Woodington, 60, leaves the department Dec. 31 after 11 years as chief. He and his wife, Marjorie, plan to take an extended vacation in Baja California.

Attending the dinner at Tiburon Tommie's Restaurant were representatives of eight Marin County police departments, two former mayors, four former councilmen, a former city manager, and the present mayor and city council of Belvedere.

Jury Trial Set On Drug Counts

A jury trial has been set for the week of April 5 in Marin Superior Court for Phillip Russell McFarren, 20, and Mitchell Dorn Samios, 22, both of Novato, who are charged with selling amphetamine on Sept. 3.

The pair was arrested on a warrant on Nov. 7 which charged they had sold 100 tabs of speed.

Oakland Lessons For Kezar Fans

Okay, youse guys, lend me an ear. You fellow countrymen. Yes, I mean you 49er fans.

I just want to remind you that you'd better be at your finest deportment Sunday when your beloved San Francisco team goes for all the marbles against the Raiders at the Oakland Coliseum.

Now, remember that the Coliseum is not Kezar Stadium, your play pen. They're pretty hoity toity over there. After all, it is the home of the Raiders, that dynamic organization that uses the phrase "Pride and Poise" as its trademark.

First thing I must remind you about, as if you've already forgotten, is that the Alameda County Dick Tracys frown on ooze-bay in the ball park. Oh, sure, they'll sell you a 3.2 beer, but that hard stuff upwards of 100 proof is strictly verboten. I mean, you simply can't get all slopped up like you do at tolerable Kezar. You country hics, you! Canada Dry. So is Oakland.

But don't go into a panic, because there are several ruses that will get you through this titantic episode in professional football. You've been waiting a quarter of a century for a 49er championship and everything might be on the line Sunday.

So, if you see old meanie Ben Davidson of the Raiders give the almighty John Brodie of the 49ers an elbow in his smart-Aleck kisser, I'll give you some tips on how to drown your sorrow.

Of course, there are many means to get past the booze-hunting gendarmes at the turnstiles. First, there's that old standby, the plastic ham and cheese sandwich, hollow, and conveniently equipped with an unscrewable cap. Hic.

Then there is that popular camouflage in the form of hollow binoculars. What the hell, you won't be able to focus in on any action after the first quarter so you might as well put your magnified cheaters to magnanimous use. Right?

Another goodie is the walking cane. You just unscrew the top, take a chug-a-lug when the Raiders score a touchdown. If the Raiders score very many touchdowns you just may need that cane to get home. I said canedidly.

My favorite giggly juice ruse was introduced to me several years ago by my favorite San Rafael mixologist, Dick Hamilton. It occured at the University of California's Memorial Stadium for the Cal-Stanford Big Game.

As you know, Cal also forbids the consumption of grog in the stands, but Mr. Hamilton, a genius, befuddled the 83,000 customers by walking past the guards with a couple of quarts of milk. The only difference was that the containers were loaded with bourbon and scotch and certainly not milk. By halftime, with those milk cartons, we thought we were at the Cow Palace. The stuff certainly put us in a good moo'd.

Okay, enough of that stuff. Now let us pontificate on our manners. Unlike Kezar, where you have to Ghandi-dance over Hippies through Golden Gate Park, there is a parking lot at the Oakland Coliseum. It is identifiable by its black surface and white lines. That is a parking lot.

Also, when you go to the stands, please don't stagger and fall and spill the funny juice all over some poor Raider fan. Remember: Pride and Poise.

And you will be impressed by the efficient and convenient concession stands. I mean, you won't stand in line for a bag of pop corn and wind up in the men's biggy like you inevitably do at Kezar.

Please, Bunkies, remember that when you go to the potty that in Oakland you go through the door marked "Entrance" and you leave through the door marked "Exit." I know, I know, at Kezar you do just the opposite, but remember, Pride and Poise. And please admire the cleanliness of the place.

Okay, gang, load up your ham and cheese sandwiches, binoculars, canes and milk cartons, and give 'em hell. It's been a quarter of a century. You just might come home a winner. Glory be to Brodie, et al.

And I don't mean et Al Davis.

If Coin Flip Needed, It Will Be Sunday

NEW YORK (UPI)—If a coin flip is needed to determine the National Football Conference's fourth playoff qualifier, it will be conducted Sunday, Dec. 20 by telephone with the clubs involved, it was announced Thursday by commissioner Pete Rozelle.

The results of Sunday's final regular season games could produce ties between Dallas and Detroit with records of 10-4 (if New York, Dallas and Detroit win) or between Detroit and New York at 9-4-1 (if New York and Detroit play ties and Dallas wins). Such results would require a coin flip to determine the fourth qualifier.

The procedure used to break a fourth qualifier tie between or among divisions calls for (a) head to head records if applicable; (b) intra conference records; and (c) coin flip. Dallas and Detroit have not met head to head this season and both would have 7-4 intra conference records if Detroit wins Sunday. New York and Detroit have not met head to head and both would have 6-4-1 intra conference records if both tie Sunday.

Dallas winds up its regular season against Houston, New York plays Los Angeles and Detroit opposes Green Bay.

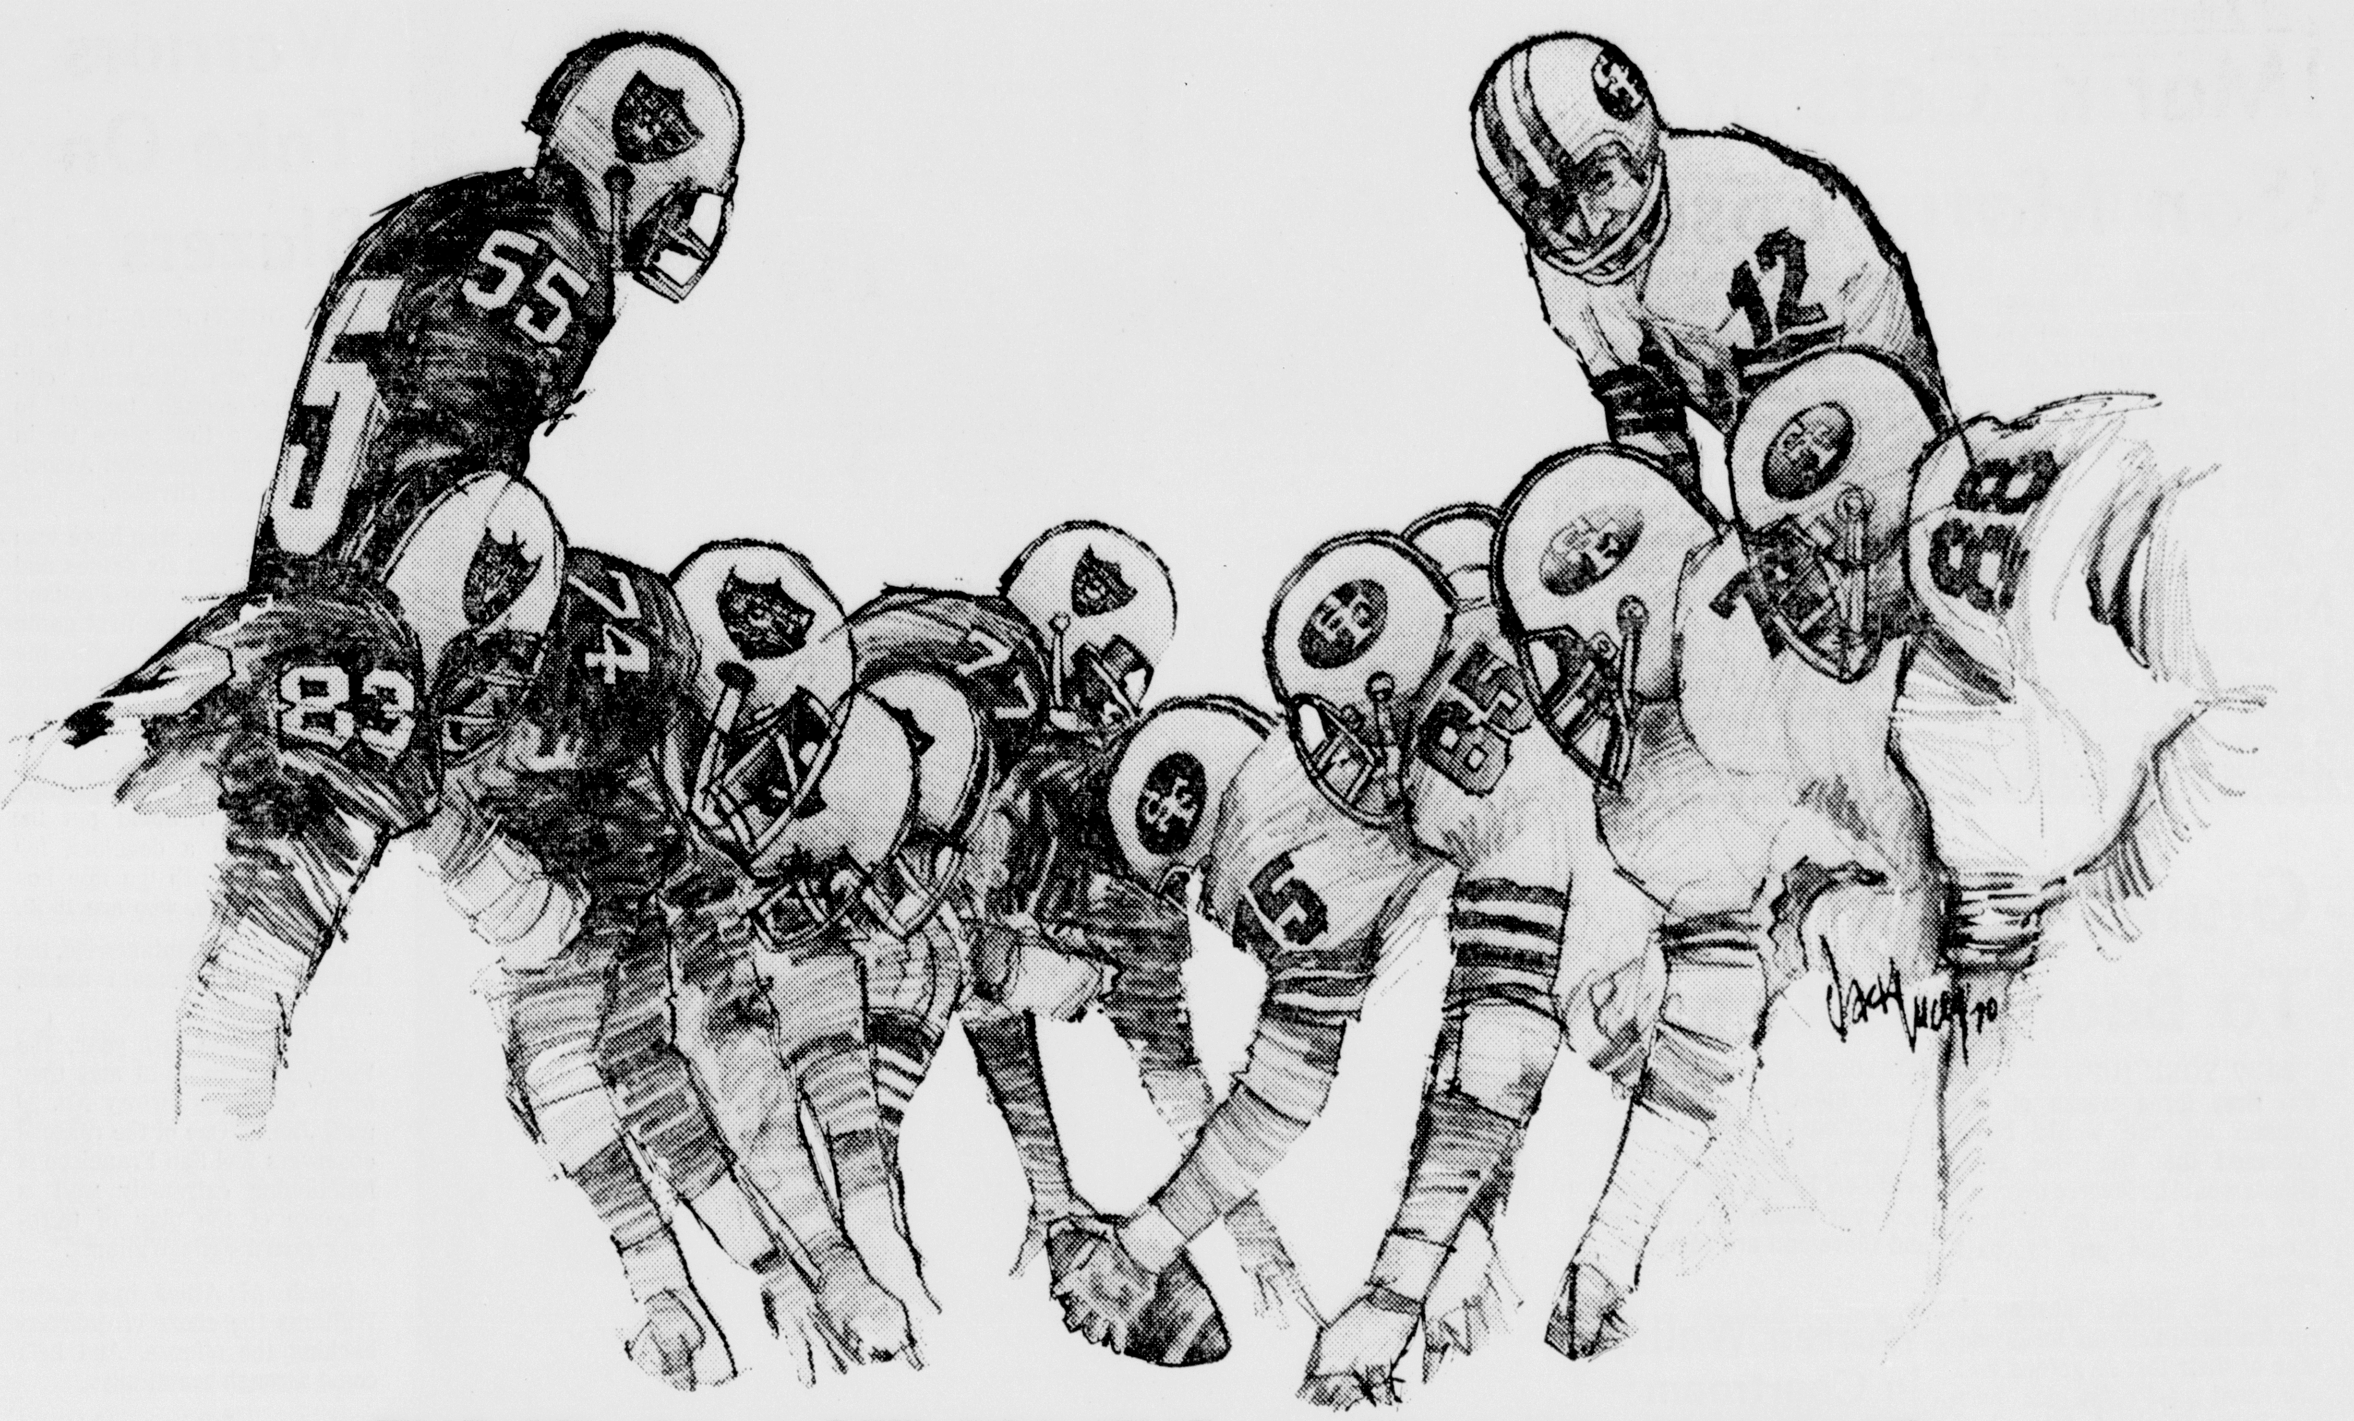
The exact procedures concerning a coin flip are still being discussed with the possible participants and will be announced when they are determined.

Bulldogs Win Soccer Crown

The San Rafael High School Bulldogs wrapped up in the 1970 Marin County Athletic League soccer race as undefeated champions yesterday, winning their 10th and final game, 3-0 over Terra Linda.

San Marin finished second by downing Novato 4-1, and Drake tied for third with Terra Linda with a 2-0 victory over Tamalpais.

In yesterday's other game, Redwood and Marin Catholic tied, 1-1.



THE STAGE IS SET FOR THE 'BATTLE OF THE BAY'

This is the way it will look from the sidelines Sunday afternoon when the San Francisco 49ers face the Oakland Raiders in the "Battle of the Bay" at the Oakland Coliseum. Independent-Journal artist Jack Lucey's drawings shows the American Conference Western Division champion Raiders on defense, and the 49ers, who can clinch the Western Division title of the National Conference with a victory, on offense. John Brodie (12), will be at the controls for San Francisco, while middle linebacker Dan Conners (55), quarterbacks the defense for Oakland.

Sports

'Big Game' Or Simply Exhibition?

OAKLAND (UPI) —All season long Oakland Raiders and San Francisco Forty Niners fans have been working themselves into a lather over this Sunday's confrontation at the Oakland Coliseum, but by the time they tee the ball up for the opening kickoff the "big one" could be nothing more than an exhibition.

For starters, that's about all it is for the Raiders anyway because last week they clinched the AFC West title by whipping the Kansas City Chiefs.

The Forty Niners, unaccustomed to such season-ending pressure, are in for their biggest game of the year. They have to win to make it to the playoffs but before they even start, the New York Giants can do them a big favor.

The Forty Niners, who have never won a division title, currently are a full game up on the Los Angeles Rams, who play the Giants in New York earlier Sunday. A New York victory would give the NFC West title to San Francisco outright, whether the Forty Niners win, lose or draw with the Raiders. If the Rams are victorious, then the Forty Niners need a victory or tie against Oakland to win the title.

"We can't look to see what other people are doing at this stage of the game," said Niners coach Dick Nolan. "All we have to concern ourselves with is beating Oakland. Then we know we are in the playoffs."

How about if the Rams lose before you start playing, Nolan was asked.

"That's something else again," he said, "but right now, this minute, we have to think positive. We have to think about winning. We've come too far and worked too hard to think otherwise."

The Raiders figure to be nice and loose for the Bay Area confrontation. Area newspapers have been making a big issue of the rivalry with San Francisco but both managing general partner Al Davis and coach John Madden see it as another game.

"Naturally, we want to win it," said Madden, an AFC candidate for Coach of the Year honors. "If you let up in this game you are dead. We want to go right on into the playoffs with a winning game under our belt, but it would be natural if some of the players let up. There's nothing a coach can do about that."

Davis said in pro football a club's first responsibility is to itself.

"You do first what is best for yourself and you worry about the other guy later," Davis said.

There was a suggestion in Davis' observation that the Raiders would play to win, naturally, but no unnecessary chances will be taken with players who have minor injuries.

In other words, there would be no all-out, hungry effort as there was last week against Kansas City when the Raiders had to win or call it a season.

"You do what the game dictates," said Davis.

The oddsmakers, going along with the "human" theory that the Forty Niners are hungry and the Raiders are satisfied, have made San Francisco a 2 1-2 point favorite. The game is a sellout with a local television blackout.

"It's do or die for the Forty Niners," explained a spokesman for a leading Nevada oddsmaker. "The Raiders aren't in that position. It would be foolish not to expect them to relax a little. The so-called "Bay Area Championship" doesn't mean a thing when you have bigger plans in mind."

The "bigger plans" are next Sunday's AFC playoffs, with the Raiders scheduled to meet either Miami, Cincinnati or Cleveland, depending on what happens this Sunday.

There are some Oakland players with minor aches and pains—fellows such as running back Marv Hubbard, defensive tackle Carlton Oates, cornerback Willie Brown and quarterback Daryle Lamonica.

Should the Rams lose to New York, reducing the San Francisco-Oakland game to meaningless status, there is a strong possibility Lamonica will not start with George Blanda taking over.

San Francisco goes into the Oakland tussle with the same team that whipped New Orleans last Sunday, 38-27. That means Bill Tucker once again will be at running back in place of injured Doug Cunningham.

Slugging Champion McCovey

NEW YORK (UPI) — Willie McCovey, the San Francisco Giants' free-swinging first baseman who hits baseballs over buildings, was the National League's No. 1 slugger for the third consecutive season in 1970, it was revealed today by league president Charles "Chub" Feeney.

Figures compiled by the Elias Sports Bureau revealed that the 6-foot-4 McCovey had a slugging average of .612, topping Tony Perez of the Cincinnati Reds at .589 and teammate Johnny Bench at .587. Billy Williams of the Chicago Cubs was a close fourth with .586 and Rico Carty, the league's batting champion, was fifth with .584.

McCovey, who led the league in slugging in 1968 with .545 and in 1969 with .561, had 303 total bases in 495 at bats. He hit 39 homers, 39 doubles and two triples while driving in 126 runs and hitting .289.

McCovey also led the league with 137 walks and 40 intentional walks as he entrenched himself further as the league's greatest power hitter.

Williams led the circuit in total bases with 373 on 205 hits, of which 42 were homers, 34 were doubles and four were triples.

Bobby Bonds of the Giants struck out 189 times, a major league record, Ron Hunt of the Giants was hit by the most pitches, 26, and Cleon Jones of the New York Mets grounded into the most double plays, 26.

Petaluma Cagers Rip McKinleyville

The high-flying Petaluma Trojans blitzed McKinleyville last night, 70-37 in the opening round of the Ukiah high school basketball tournament.

Joe Rodola, the only starter to play most of the game, scored 22 points to pace the Trojans of the North Bay League, who last week won the Drake Invitational tourney.

Marin 'Cats Win, San Marin Loses

The Marin Catholic High School Wildcats, paced by Brian Sullivan's 20 points, downed Santa Rosa High School last night, 64-58 in the opening round of the Rose City Invitational basketball tournament in Santa Rosa.

San Marin, the other Marin County Athletic League entry, dropped its first round encounter with tourney favorite St. Patricks of Vallejo, 53-40.

Marin Catholic's victory was the result of a hot-shooting, balanced attack that saw Bill Donellan, the Kentfield team's leading scorer so far this season, net 14 points, and Tim Stone add 13 in support of Sullivan. Stone hit on six of six shots from the floor.

San Marin center Dana LaFerriere poured in 24 points, 11 of them in the opening quarter, but the Novato team was easily handled by St. Pats nonetheless. The tourney favorites led at halftime 31-21, and coasted the rest of the way. Dan Dion led them with 21 points.

In second round games tonight, Marin Catholic goes against Piner of Santa Rosa in the winner's bracket at 8 p.m., preceded at 6:30 by a consolation bracket contest featuring San Marin and Eureka.

Giants Picked By 2 To Beat L.A. Rams

NEW YORK (UPI) — After the first three weeks of the season no one would have dreamed that the New York Giants would be favored over the Los Angeles Rams on the final Sunday of the pro football season.

But the Giants staged a sudden turnabout and have won nine of their last 10 games and are rated 2 1-2 point pick over the Rams to clinch their first division title since 1962.

In other games on this final weekend of regular season play; the Baltimore Colts are three over the New York Jets on Saturday while Detroit is 13 1-2 over Green Bay, Minnesota 3 1-2 over Atlanoa, Cincinnati 13 over Boston, Miami 12 over Buffalo, Philadelphia two over Pittsburgh, St. Louis three over Washington, Chicago five over New Orleans, Dallas 13 1-2 over Houston, Kansas City three over San Diego, San Francisco two over Oakland and Denver and Cleveland are pick-em.

Georgia Tech Favored By 6

EL PASO, Tex. (UPI) — Georgia Tech, with a senior quarterback starting and asophomore ready in reserve, has been installed as a six-point favorite to defeat Texas Tech Saturday in the 36th annual Sun Bowl game.

Both teams will enter the game with identical 8-3 records. But the Yellow Jackets are favored because their three losses all came to teams which will play in post-season bowl classics.

A capacity crowd of 31,000 and a national television audience was expected to see the 1 p.m. (est) kickoff.

Mets Sign Trio

NEW YORK (UPI)—The New York Mets Thursday announced the signing of pitcher Danny Friesella, outfielder Dave Marshall and catcher Randy Bobb to 1970 contracts.

Warren Wells In Courtroom Once Again

OAKLAND (UPI) —Star wide receiver Warren Wells of the Oakland Raiders has been seeing the inside of courtrooms as much lately as stripes on the football field.

He appeared Thursday before Municipal Judge Jacqueline Taber on a charge of misdemeanor hit and run. Police said his car allegedly struck another vehicle Sunday night near a bar owned by teammate Gene Upshaw.

Authorities said damage was minor. But when the other driver asked for Wells' name and address, Wells was alleged to have replied with an obscenity before driving away.

Wells appeared in court Thursday and his case was continued to Friday. He was released without bail.

After the accident, police arrested Wells on a drunk charge at Upshaw's bar. That charge is still pending in the court.

A Complete Silver Team For NBA's Anniversary

NEW YORK (UPI) — Bob Cousy, Bill Sharman and Sam Jones — a talented trio who helped make the Celtics a household name in pro basketball — and Bob Davies of the Rochester Royals were named today to the National Basketball Association's Silver Anniversary team.

The four all-time guards join six other members of the 10-man team selected by players who achieved NBA All-Star recognition since the founding of the league in 1946.

Previously named were centers Bill Russell of Boston and George Mikan of the Minneapolis Lakers and forwards Dolph Schayes of the Syracuse Nationals Bob Pettit of the St. Louis Hawks and the Philadelphia Warriors duo of Joe Fulks and Paul Arizin.

The 10 men were invited by commissioner Walter Kennedy to the Jan. 12, 1971, All-Star game at San Diego to receive their awards as the elite corps of retired NBA players.

Cousy played on six Boston world championship teams. He joined the Celtics as a rookie in 1950 and retired in 1963. The current Cincinnati Royals coach was a gifted backcourt man who amassed 6,959 assists — second highest in NBA history to Oscar Robertson who is still going strong for the Milwaukee Bucks.

During his career Cousy made 6,167 field goals and 4,621 shots for 16,955 points. The dynamic playmaker perfected behind-the-back dribbling and excelled in the art of shooting or passing while going up for a possible shot.

Sharman, who now coaches the Utah tars in the American Basketball Association was an NBA first team All-Star four times and played in eight midseason classics.

Sam Jones, head coach and athletic director at Federal City College in Washington, D.C., played on all 11 Celtic Title teams. His 2,909 points in playoff competition is the third highest in the league.

Warriors Take On Blazers

SAN DIEGO (UPI)—The San Francisco Warriors may be in this Southern California city just long enough tonight to jump into a first place tie in the National Basketball Association's Pacific Division.

The Warriors, who have won five of their last six games and are at 20-15, play the Portland Trail Blazers in the first game of a doubleheader with the hometown Rockets entertaining the Detroit Pistons in the nightcap.

A victory over the expansion Portland team would put the Warriors into a deadlock for the top spot with the idle Los Angeles Lakers, who are 18-12.

However, percentagewise, the Lakers would remain ahead, .600 to .583.

At this time last year, the Warriors were 15-16 and they didn't chalk up victory No. 20 until Jan. 5. One of the reasons observers feel San Francisco is functioning extremely well is because of the play of third-year guard Fritz Williams.

Coach Al Attles has given Williams the chore of quarterbacking the offense. And he's come through beautifully.

"I always felt he could to it," said Attles. "It was just a matter of being patient. He's got confidence now."

Even Williams admits his play has improved immeasurably of late.

"It's been coming for a while, but it took a lot of adjustments," he said Thursday. "You have to learn what plays work, how guys move. I've learned the moves, how Jeff Mullins goes down court, that Jerry Lucas usually trails a play.

"You try to get penetration, to get the other guy in foul trouble. You have to make certain everyone on your team at least gets the feel of the ball. Basketball, despite the stars, is still a team game."

Cox Most Valuable

MINNEAPOLIS (UPI)—Fred Cox, field goal and placement kicker of the Minnesota Vikings, Thursday was named the team's most valuable player in a vote of Minnesota sportswriters.

NBA ROUNDUP

Midwest Division Interesting Race

By United Press International

The National Basketball Association's Midwest Division race continues to be the league's most interesting contest.

The Phoenix Suns kept it the hottest race in the NBA Thursday night as they blew a 28-point halftime lead and then rallied to defeat the Detroit Pistons in overtime, 117-114.

The victory left Phoenix with a 20-15 record, the eighth best record in the 17-team NBA, but still in last place in the Midwest. Milwaukee leads that division with a 23-5 mark, followed by Detroit (21-13) and Chicago (18-11). The Suns are 6 1-2 games behind the first place Bucks.

Phoenix hit 52 per cent of its shots in the first half while building a 60-32 lead and boosted that margin to 31 points in the fourth quarter before going completely cold. Howard Komives and Jimmy Walker sparked a Piston rally that enabled Detroit to tie the game at 105-105 at the end of regulation time.

Neal Walk's basket and two foul shots by John Wetzel gave Phoenix the victory in overtime.

In the only other NBA action Thursday night, the Boston Celtics beat the Buffalo Braves 102-93 and the Philadelphia 76ers downed the Seattle Supersonics 125-117.

Jo Jo White hit a career high 35 points to lift the Celtics past the Braves while Jim Washington and Archie Clark keyed a ball-hawking Philadelphia defense that sparked the 76ers past Seattle.

FISH AND GAME

How Much Mercury Can I Be Carrying?

By AL GIDDINGS

Mercury in canned tuna fish! Now, isn't that something! Tuna fish, generally being an off shore fish usually 30 to 50 miles or more off the California coast, would seem to be one of the less likely of the fish species to be contaminated by mercury.

Mercury in canned tuna fisi that something! Tuna fish, gene off shore fishusually 30 to 50 r off the California coast,iwould s of the less likely of the fish contaminated by mercury.

Television narrators have mentioned the possibility of mercury being in the food chain with small amounts of mercury possible in the plankton of the sea. Sea plankton are the one celled plants and animals, microscopic in size, that are the food supply source of much of the small fishlife of the sea. These small fishes are then eaten by larger fish which makes for concentrations of mercury in the fish tissues of the larger fish.

NATURALLY, ALL this concerns me, perhaps more so than you. Over the past years, my family sometimes eats fish two, three, or four times per week, along with canned tuna, abalones, clams and many smoked varieties of bass, salmon and particularly sturgeon.

I called Dr. Ephraim Kahn of the State Health Department this week for some details on the problem. I told him of catching a sturgeon and four bass with Marty Medin last week, and I asked his advice on the advisability of eating these fish. He said they were okay, but that I shouldn't eat fish more than once a week!

I told him of my family eating bass, sturgeon and salmon along with canned tuna, etc., sometimes four or five times per week. I then asked him if he would test me for mercury. He thought I would be an interesting case, and would attempt to make the arrangements.

THE TESTS at this time are only done down in the Los Angeles area. And even then, the tests might be difficult to evaluate because my tolerance to mercury might be different from yours. Anyway, if he can set it up, I may be tested. I surely hope we can find out for all of us some definite questions to the answers of "what to do?".

I'm not doing this because I'm sick or feel badly. I've had a cold this year, a kidney stone last year, and a slipped disc the year before, but I thought all this was from old age! Nothing seems to be wrong with Sam Knoles, my fishing buddy. He's in his 70's and eats fish almost as much as I do. But maybe the test could give us one more inkling of what happens when we do eat these fish.

ALL LAKES and reservoirs throughout California — with the exception of Alpine, Inyo and Mono counties and waters with special closures — will be open to trout fishing under the 1971 sportfishing regulations adopted by the Fish and Game Commission.

The new rules which will become effective March 1, 1971, will provide for a limit of 10 trout or salmon in combination during regular trout season, May 1 through Nov. 15, and a limit of five fish during the balance of the year.

LAKES AND reservoirs in Alpine, Inyo and Mono counties will be open from May 1 through Nov. 15. This schedule applies also to streams in these counties.

All streams in southern California, and the west slope of the Sierra as far north as Tuolumne County with the exception of the Kern River drainage above Democrat Dam, will remain open all year with a five-fish winter limit and 10 fish during the balance of the year.

Coach Regrets Fight

COLUMBIA, S.C. (UPI) — University of South Carolina President Thomas F. Jones sent a telegram to the University of Maryland Thursday expressing regret over the fight which ended the South Carolina-Maryland game Wednesday night.

"The incident which occurred last night in our coliseum between your basketball team and ours is deeply regretted by all of us at the University of South Carolina," Jones said.

The game was stopped with 4:52 left after a melee broke out between players of the two teams.

"Traditionally, the city of Columbia and the university have taken great pride in being exemplary hosts to visiting teams from other institutions," Jones said in the telegram to Dr. Wilson H. Elkins, Maryland president. "I want you to know how very sorry we all are about this occurrence."

Maryland coach Lefty Dreisell was struck in the face by South Carolina's John Ribock. He said Thursday he would recommend that any player throwing a punch be suspended.

Norvell Neve, supervisor of officials and acting commissioner of the Atlantic Coast Conference, said he knew of no action that would be taken until he had a report from an observer he had at the game.

"This disturbs me, naturally," Neve said. "We ask the official to make a judgment whether it's safe to continue and only he can make that decision."

South Carolina was leading 96-70 when the game was called.

Rec Basketball

Four games were played last night in the San Rafael Recreation Department adult basketball league. Southern Marin Towing beat Pinky's Pizza, 52-47, Donnbach Painting downed the Centaurs, 51-44, the Harding Gophers beat Cal's Steakhouse, 52-35 and the Kennel Extraordinaire defeated the Don Rumpf Golf Shop, 53-46.

Plunkett, Blanda Maxwell Winners

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Quarterbacks Jim Plunkett of Sanford and George Blanda of Oakland were named the year's outstanding college and professional football players yesterday by the Maxwell Football Club of Philadelphia.

Plunkett, who also won this year's Heisman Trophy, was chosen for the Maxwell Award for leading Stanford into the Rose Bowl on the strength of his passing and total offensive performance.

Blanda, the Raiders' 43-year-old back-up star, was selected for the Bert Bell Memorial Award for his "come off the bench" heroics in passing and place kicking Oakland to a division title in the American Football Conference.

Plunkett and Blanda will receive their awards at the Maxwell Club's annual banquet here Jan. 18.

Plunkett, the 34th collegian to receive the award since it began in 1937, accounted for 2,898 total yards and 2,715 passing yards in 11 games this season, completing 191 of 358 passes and throwing for 18 touchdowns.

Blanda joins a group of quarterback greats who have dominated the previous Bert Bell awards, including Baltimore's Johnny Unitas, who won three times.

With limited playing time behind Daryl Lamonica, Blanda completed 26 of 48 passes for 410 yards and 6 touchdowns. He also kicked 16 of 28 field goal attempts, including kicks of 52 and 48 yards.

Wins Hutch Award

DETROIT (UPI)—Detroit Tigers outfielder Ai Kaline is the 1970 recipient of the "Hutch Award" it was announced Thursday by the major league baseball writers and sportscasters.

Ex-Giant Defender Testifies

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Former New York Giants defensive back Freeman White told a federal grand jury Thursday he went to Canada to play last summer after no National Football League teams picked him up on waivers.

White, 27, was the first witness before the jury to be released by an NFL team following the merger of the two pro leagues. The jury, which is investigating possible anti-trust violations by the NFL, was expected to hear testimony today and then recess until after the holidays.

The University of Nebraska All-America played for the Giants for four years and was released during the exhibition season last summer.

Sports Gambling Arrests

NEW ORLEANS (UPI)—A federal grand jury indicted 21 persons Thursday in an illegal gambling operation that involved shipping sports results on Western Union Telegraph Co. leased wires from Chicago to New Orleans.

U.S. Attorney Gerald Gallinghouse said that the gambling indictments grew out of "a multi-million dollar interstate network of illicit business enterprises that involve illegal betting on different sporting events, including horse racing, college and professional football games and professional baseball games."

The 21 defendants in eight cases were indicted for alleged violations of the federal law that prohibits the use of any interstate facility for unlawful gambling activity.

Gallinghouse said that the Western Union wires terminated at eight spots in the New Orleans area: 864 Club, Church Street club, V's lounge, French Market Social Club, Carlos' Lounge, By's Restaurant & Lounge, Billionaire Lounge and Family Bar & Restaurant.

Gallinghouse said that the maximum penalties for the violatons, upon conviction, are $10,000 fines and five years in prison.

The investigation that resulted in the indictments lasted six months.

Seals To Take On Flyers In Drive From The Cellar

OAKLAND (UPI) —A victory over the Philadelphia Flyers tonight and the California Golden Seals can disclaim sole ownership of the National Hockey League's Western Division cellar for the first time this season.

After putting together a string of nine winless games at the start of the campaign, the Seals have played close to .500 hockey. They'll go into tonight's Oakland Arena encounter with an 8-19-2 record, compared to an 8-16-4 mark for the sixth place Los Angeles Kings.

The Seals' modest upsurge of late—two wins and two losses has been attributed in part to the tactics of the Earl Ingarfield, Ernie Hicke and Gerry Ehman line.

"It's hard work, passing the puck, and talking to each other that has contributed to their good play lately," said Seals coach Fred Glover Thursday. "And these same three guys continue working on their problems in practice.

"They attempt to back check in practice, a good habit to get into, which will stay with you in a game," he added.

Caroline Wins At Bay Meadows

SAN MATEO, Calif. (UPI)—Caroline, with apprentice Danny Isbell aboard, rallied in the final strides Thursday to win the featured Hillsdale purse by a head at Bay Meadows.

Edies All, the early pacesetter, held on to save third place, finishing another length and a quarter behind Splat in the field of seven distaff runners.

Caroline went six furlongs in 1:11 over a sloppy strip and returned $13.60 to win.

BOWLING TIPS

By DON CARTER

There are times, of course, when you can't believe what has happened after your ball hit the pins. You'll be inclined to stay at the foul line, either to laugh or cry. Save such dramatic gestures for the really unusual events, however, because it is annoying to bowlers on other lanes to have to wait for you to move to the rear of the approach.

ALMANAC

Today is Friday, Dec. 18, the 352nd day of 1970.

The moon is between its last quarter and new phase. The morning stars are Venus, Mars and Jupiter. The evening stars are Mercury and Saturn.

Those born on this date are under the sign of Sagittarius.

On this day in history:

In 1787 New Jersey ratified the proposed constitution of the United States.

In 1865 the 13th amendment to the Constitution abolished slavery in the United States.

In 1915 President Woodrow Wilson, a widower for about one year, married Mrs. Edith Bolling Galt, a widow.

In 1965 a U.S. spaceship returned to earth after spending 14 days in orbit.

A thought for the day: Gertrude Franklin Atherton said, "No matter how hard a man may labor, some woman is always in the background of his mind. She is the one reward of virtue."

Eisenhower Coin Bill Advances

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The House has passed and sent to the Senate legislation to create a new dollar coin bearing the likeness of President Dwight D. Eisenhower on one side and a sketch of an eagle landing on the moon on the other side.

Senate endorsement for the coin appeared certain. The legislation calls for the first 150 million coins to be 40 per cent silver, 60 per cent nickel and copper.

HOW TO PLAY WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Civilized Player Waits For Right Moment To Have Fun

The civilized man is recognizable by the fact that he does not hurry to grasp the pleasure of the moment: he is capable of waiting for the right time. That may merely be a matter of waiting until the policeman has driven around the corner. At the bridge table, the civilized player waits for another kind of right moment.

JACK WINS

West opened the singleton four of hearts, and East won with the jack. East then continued with the king and the ace of hearts.

South ruffed with the king of spades, and West overruffed with the ace of spades. All very natural, if by natural you mean uncivilized.

CLAIMS GAME

West shifted to a club, and dummy's king won. Declarer led a trump from dummy and drew the rest of the missing trumps with the queen and jack. He then spread his hand on the table, claiming his game.

While South is scoring his game, see if you can find the uncivilized play in our little account. Spot it for yourself before you read on.

HASTY PLAY

West botched the defense when he overruffed the king of spades with the ace. There was no need for such haste: the ace of trumps was sure to win a trick later.

See what happens if West discards a diamond or a club on the third round of hearts. West still has his A-10-2 of trumps, and South has the Q-J-9-8-7. When South leads the queen of spades, West wins with the ace and gets out safely with a club or a diamond.

SETTING TRICK

South later leads the jack of spades to pick up West's deuce. By this time, West's ten of trumps is established: it will eventually take the setting trick.

West defeats the contract by postponing the pleasure of taking a trick with the ace of trumps. Is it any wonder that bridge experts are considered the most civilized of men?

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with one spade, and the next player passes.

You hold:
♥- A K J 7 6 3 2
♦- J 8 4
♣- 10 6.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid two hearts.

You expect to bid three hearts at your next turn, thus indicating that you have a good heart suit with no outside strength.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Investment Club Seeks Counsel

Q. Our investment club is investigating whether to average down, hold or sell Castle & Cook and Signal Companies. What do you think?—G. P.

A. I would favor averaging-down in Castle & Cook. A prolonged strike at its sugar refining facility, settled just prior to the close of the Spetember quarter, was reflected in the 66 per cent drop in earnings for that period.

This poor showing should be partially offset in the final six months of the 1970-1971 fiscal March year, placing full year results close to the record $1.87 reported last year. A high level of demand enjoyed by the company's food products, land development activities and a 25 per cent increase in pineapple acreage add to the appeal of these shares.

Signal's difficulties appear to be of a more persistent nature and shares should be sold. Although truck sales — accounting for 60 per cent of total sales — were up 3 per cent in the first nine months, margins narrowed and production has been cut back. Sharply higher costs forced retrenchment in Signal's oil and gas operations, and reduced defense spending resulted in a 9 per cent drop in sales in this area.

Q. Did you realize that the National Association of Investment Clubs has moved from the Detroit address you printed?—J. N.

A. You are entirely right and I stand corrected. The new address is P.O. Box 221, 1515 E. 11th Mile Road, Royal Oak, Michigan 48068.

Q. We retire next year and have $25,000 invested in 9 per cent Sacred Heart Hospital bonds. What are the risks involved, if any? We will soon have $50,000 to invest. What would you recommend yielding 9 per cent to 10 per cent?—J. P.

Bonds such as yours, while usually safe as to capital and interest, are sometimes difficult to dispose of if funds are needed in an emergency. Because interest rates have declined since your original purchase, investments yielding 9 per cent to 10 per cent involve risk. I suggest you settle for the somewhat lower income (8.5 per cent to maturity) available in good quality utility bonds.

TULSA (UPI) — LVO Corp. has announced it had discovered a natural gas field three miles east of the Caplen Field off the Bolivar peninsula in Galveston County, Texas.

THE WEEK'S BUSINESS

American, Western Merger In Works

By ROGER E. SPEAR

American Air Lines will have authority to fly to Honolulu from the West Coast if a merger agreement with Western Air Lines is fully approved.

Western directors have already approved the merger. Further approval is needed from directors of American, stockholders of both companies and federal regulatory authorities.

The present agreement is for an exchange of 1.43 shares of American's common stock for one share of Western.

NORTHERN CALIFORNIA MORTGAGE CO., San Francisco has been merged into Sequoia Mortgage Co. of San Jose, a subsidiary of California Financial Corp. The merger includes the acquisition of American National Life Insurance Co. of Galveston, Franklin Life Insurance Co. of Springfield, Ill. and Federal Life Insurance Co. of Chicago.

INTERNATIONAL HARVESTER CO., Oakland has record worldwide sales of $2,711 million for the fiscal year ended Oct. 31, compared with $2,652 million during the preceding year. Net income was $52.4 million equal to $1.92 per share — a 17.8 per cent decrease from the $63.7 million or $2.30 a share reported in 1969.

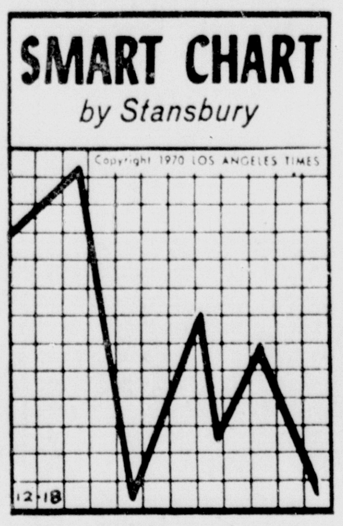
BANK OF AMERICA has elected Chauncey J. Medberry as a director and designated him as the next chairman of the board of both the bank and BankAmerica Corp. The election was in preparation for the retirement of chairman Louis B. Lundborg next April. Upon becoming chairman, Medberry will assume Lundborg's responsibilities as chief executive officer in Southern California.

HIBERNIA BANK of San Francisco board chairman Joseph O. Tobin has announced his retirement, effective Jan. 15 after almost 65 years of service. No successor has been named. Early next year Hibernia will open branches in Campbell and Walnut Creek, bringing its total to 15 offices.

WELLS FARGO BANK has received approval from the Comptroller of the Currency for its first banking house in Santa Barbara, which is expected to open in 1972. Six of Wells Fargo Bank's major downtown offices in San Francisco are opening an hour earlier (at 9 a.m.). One of them will also stay open an hour later to 4 p.m.

FLUOR CORP., Los Angeles net earnings for the fiscal year ended Oct. 31 amounted to $14.7 million, compared with $17 million for the previous fiscal year. Net earnings of $1.70 per share were down from $2.05 in 1969.

WALT DISNEY PRODUCTIONS has announced a two-for-one stock split to be effected through distribution of a 100-per cent stock dividend in March. Disney earnings for the year ended Oct. 3 were $21.7 or $3.83 per share, compared with $15.8 million or $3.41 per share for the preceding year.



"The uptight market giveth. The uptight market taketh away."

Market Mixed, Moderate

NEW YORK (UPI) —Mixed and moderate summed up the first two hours of trading on the New York Stock Exchange Friday.

The Dow Jones industrial average of 30 selected blue chips dipped 0.48 to 821.67 while advances managed to hold a 576 to 498 lead over declines among the 1,466 issues on the tape.

The market apparently still was digesting the sharp mid-November to early December gains. Although he agreed that the market was adjusting, one analyst said institutional buying was warding off a noticeable downtrend. "They have been waiting for a significant consolidation to buy in but the prices they want have not materialized so they have begun to commit part of their funds," he said.

ITT, dipping 1-8, was an active issue. Coastal States Gas Producing Co. and Tenneco, were active gainers.

Head Ski, on volume around 78,500 shares, was an active issue on the American Stock Exchange.

AT&T Reports Narrow Profit

NEW YORK (UPI) — American Telephone — Telegraph Co. reported its third quarter profit gain as held to a narrow one-tenth of 1 per cent despite a 6.5 per cent rise in gross revenues.

H. I. Romnes, chairman, said the "resurgence of strong revenue growth we anticipated earlier this year has not materialized." He said AT&T's earnings reflect "the uncertain condition of the national economy and the persistence of inflation."

AT&T's profits for the third quarter ended Nov. 30 edged up to $546,710,000, or $1 a share, from the $546,140,000, or 99 cents a share, earned in the comparable period of fiscal 1969. Gross revenues, however, rose to $4,279,138,000 from $4,018,904,000.

INCOME TAX FACTS

By PETER J. WIKEL

Tax Rate In 1971 Is Lower; Plan Now For Extra Savings

If you are single or if you are head of the household, a little tax planning this year, 1970, might result in a substantial tax savings for you.

As you probably know the rate you will pay for 1971 is quite a bit less than the rate you pay for 1970. So, if you are single or the head of a household and it is possible to do so, you should defer any large income items until 1971, since they will be taxed at a lower rate. You should accelerate all possible deductions and pay them in 1970, since they will result in a tax savings for you at a higher rate.

This is particularly interesting in the case of capital gains. If you have investments and you have short term losses it would be a good idea to take them in 1970. If you have long term losses be careful that you don't take more losses than are necessary to offset capital gains plus $2 of long term loss to offset $1 of ordinary income up to a maximum of $1,000 of ordinary income offset by $2,000 of long term losses.

Excess losses can be carried over to subsequent years and remain long term or short term.

If you have large capital gains actually compute your tax and see which year will come out best. Don't forget, income averaging applies to capital gains this year and the maximum tax on capital gains goes up in 1971.

The new tax law has several items designed to hit wealthy taxpayers who have formerly escapedpaying taxes altogether or have paid very little taxes. es.

These items probably won't affect you but you should know about them. There is a new concept in the tax law called "preference income" and while this preference income is subject to an additional 10 per cent tax it only affects a very few people. There are 9 types of perference income:

Excess investment interest; Depletion; Accelerated depreciation on real estate; Restricted qualified stock options; Net long term gains; Amortization of certified pollution control facilities; Amortization of railroad rolling stock; Bad debts - financial institutions; Accelerated depreciation on personal property subject to net lease.

However, tax preference items have to total more than $30,000 before they are subject to tax because you have a $30,000 exclusion and also you exclude your usual tax liability.

Your capital gains may be taxed at more than 25 per cent but to do this you would have to have capital gains in excess of $50,000 and also you would have to have a taxable income in excess of $26,000 for a single person and $38,000 for a Head of Household and $52,000 for a married couple.

The reason is that only 50 per cent of your capital gains is taxed and unless your rate on all of your income exceeds 50 per cent, then the tax on your capital gain would not exceed 25 per cent, but to do this you would have to have capital gains in excess of $50,000 and also you would have to have a taxable income in excess of $26,000 for a single person and $38,000 for a Head of Household and $52,000 for a married couple.

The reason is that only 50 per cent of your capital gains is taxed and unless your rate on all of your income exceeds 50 per cent, then the tax on your capital gain would not exceed 25 per cent of the amount of the gain.

Hence if you have a large income and capital gains, you would use the alternative tax method to arrive at the tax on your capital gains of 25 per cent of the total amount of the gain, up to the first $50,000 of gain. After that the maximum tax would be 29½ per cent on the excess. So, you can see that this would only apply to people with a very large income.

Limited Protest To Railpax Plan

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—California's Public Utilities Commission voted Tuesday to file a limited protest to a proposed federal plan for operating the nation's passenger trains.

Commissioners asked for service between San Francisco, Los Angeles and San Diego, which is not included in a plan by the National Rail Passenger Corp., which is known as Railpax.

Railpax is a means for the federal government to subsidize the nation's failing rail passenger system.

FNMA Shares

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Federal National Mortgage Association has sold 47,000 additional shares of stock from its treasury at $65.25 a share. The purchasers were customers who buy mortgages from Fannie Mae and own certain quantities of the government sponsored corporation's stock.

Bank Debits Show A Drop

November bank debits for Marin County were down from last year but bank deposits showed some gains.

The Federal Reserve Bank of San Francisco reported unadjusted debits of $220,485,000, compared with $223,491,000 a year ago. Unadjusted deposits this year were $111,839,000 compared to last year's $102,572,000.

Seasonally adjusted debits, deposits and turnover ratios are not reported for Marin County.

New Type Of Panel Gains Wide Use

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (UPI) — Panel-Comb Industries, Inc. said paper and fiberglass plastic honeycomb sandwich now is making heavy inroads into markets presently dominated by aluminum, steel and wood. The material is being used in double wall construction of truck trailers, marine containers and modular housing.

Panel-Comb was created by the efforts of Reichhold Chemicals, Inc., J.P. Stevens & Co. and Owens-Corning Fiberglas Corp.

Joint Venture

WEST LAFAYETTE, IND. (UPI) — Great Lakes Chemicals Corp. is joining Ugine-Kuhlmann, a French firm, in a venture called Sobrom to make brominated soil fumigants at Port-De-Bouc near Marseilles for the European and North African markets.

Teachers Cite Odd Reason For Rejecting Contract

Teachers in the Reed School District have turned down a proposed new contract for an unusual reason, if an announcement from the new Marin County office of the California Teachers Association is to be believed.

The Reed teachers were unanimous in rejecting the proposal, according to Bert Skaggs, executive director of the new CTA office — not because they were unwilling to accept the offered pay raise, but because they were asked to sign individual written contracts which the CTA styled "restrictive and punitive."

WE HAVE READ over the sections of the proposed contract which seem to be the main points of contention. We find nothing in them which is not provided in the California Education Code.

The worst feature, according to the CTA spokesman, is a provision that the teacher is subject to changes in state laws and regulations and district policies during the term of the contract.

Asst. County Counsel Richard V. Godino, who drew up the document, says that was included to protect both district and teachers, in case changes in state laws or regulations should force the district to alter its operations.

As to district policies, these are in the process of being rewritten in the Reed district — as they are also in San Rafael and many other school districts. In fact, rewriting of school policies goes on just about all the time in many places.

Would the CTA insist that no policy change could become effective until after the end of the school year during which it was adopted? Apparently so.

THE REAL NUB of the dispute appears to be that the teachers (and the CTA) are opposed to signing individual contracts. They prefer to continue the system (if it can be called that) which has prevailed in California schools: The teacher agrees to take a job, with the tacit understanding that this means he will abide by state regulations and district policies, as the education code says he must. But he signs nothing.

During the California Federation of Teachers strike at San Francisco State College last year, a CFT attorney actually claimed the teachers "don't have any contract and never have had a contract." The fact that by accepting employment at the college they had obligated themselves to abide by its rules, as set forth in state college regulations, did not represent a contractual obligation in his eyes.

Yet these same teachers, after the strike was over, were very insistent that the contract which they claimed they did not have should be honored by the college that had not broken it.

IF A TEACHER signs a contract, he can scarcely adopt such a stance. Could that be the reason the CTA opposes signed teacher contracts — which have been the rule for many years in some other states?

Godino says he has advised all school boards in Marin County to require individual signed contracts. We think that is good advice. In fact, we find it hard to understand why they have not done so in the past.

So We All Are Hypocrites? It's Fortunate That We Are

(Vermont C. Royster in Wall Street Journal)

If there's one thing we of the parental generation ought to know it is that we are shot full of hypocrisy. Our young tell us that all the time.

It's a favorite word in campus newspapers, the underground press and even in the more sophisticated journals of youthful cast, from Ramparts to the Village Voice. . .

But somehow reading about it doesn't prepare you for recrimination by personal encounter. The charge hits harder when, on a campus visit it comes from young men of thoughtful mien, quiet spoken, neither militant nor impolite.

IN THE GIVE-AND-TAKE of conversation the word is bandied about casually, as one might note that it's a rainy day. Within the youthful peer group (another popular phrase) the prevalence of hypocrisy — and oh, the wickedness of it — is simply accepted as an attribute of your generation, along with stuffy clothes, sagging muscles and the absence of hair.

The proposition that hypocrisy is one of the evils that we, the elders, have foisted upon the world to our shame isn't intended to be discussed, any more than one would debate whether the world is round. You are supposed to start with that as a philosophical premise, and then listen to how the young are going to change all this.

There's a temptation, of course, to retort that the young are not exactly free of it, if the word means pretending to feelings one does not have. To preach love not hatred and then spit on a teacher; to preach peace not violence and then tear up the pea patch; these are hardly consistent.

More, to pretend to certainty about everything while you are conscious inside of a turbulent uncertainty is certainly a form of self-deception. The young are no more free of this than their elders. . .

BUT ALL THIS is really no answer to what the young charge us with. To answer thus is either to be trivial or specious. The true charge cuts deep, for it is nothing less than that we do not live up to the virtues we pretend — and preach. . .

The point need not be labored. All of us — some more, some less — have some private pretense by which the virtue we honor is observed more in the breaching of it. As a group, as a society, we do not in fact live up to those standards which we proclaim are those of the good society. If hypocrisy means the pretense to virtues one does not possess, then that is the word for it.

But where is the wickedness? Is it in what we are, or in what we pretend to? Do we diminish the hypocrisy by striving further, or end it by naming virtue that which we do?

If we have made any progress from the slime, it is because we are constantly making ourselves hypocrites by setting ideals beyond us. There was a time when we preached the brotherhood of man and practiced slavery; dreamed of justice and hanged a man for stealing a loaf of bread; praised God and burned those who praised Him in a different fashion. Had not hypocrisy pricked our conscience, there we would be still. . .

Somehow these young have got things turned around. What they ought to be telling us is that the gap between what we are and do, and what we should aspire to be and do, is not great enough. The sin, if there be such, is shriveling dreams to match our deeds.

Anyway, young fellows, put me down as a proud hypocrite. It's probably as close as I'll ever come to virtue.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Welfare Rules Hamstring County

It is difficult to sit in meetings of the board of supervisors week after week for years, as I have done, during review of general relief cases, appeals of persons denied welfare by the Department of Social Services and reports of the status of welfare caseloads and budgets made periodically by the director, Betty Presley, without feeling sympathy for the supervisors and sharing some of their and Miss Presley's frustrations over the entire welfare program. Serving as a member of the Family and Children's Social Services Advisory Committee, and of the AFDC Task Force which preceded it, has only intensified this feeling.

Your paper performs a valuable service to the taxpayers by publicizing cases such as that of the teacher who asked for two months of welfare aid during her summer vacation and of the mother earning up to $7,500 per year while drawing AFCD payments for herslef and children. These and other stories of such abuses should be aired. Only in this way can your readers learn of the loopholes which need to be plugged. Hopefully, they will take advantage of the addresses of their elected officials which you have been printing on the editorial pages and write their representatives with constructive suggestions for legislative changes in our welfare laws.

However, the public should know that there is little or nothing that the board of supervisors or Miss Presley can do themselves about welfare loopholes. They have no control locally over any programs except for general relief and supplemental aid payments to families on AFDC (Aid For Dependent Children). Other than reviewing eligibility of applicants for other welfare programs, they are forced to comply with mountains of regulations which pour forth from Washington and Sacramento. Added to these are the ridiculous decisions which the courts have handed down in overgenerous interpretation of regulations and of so-called constitutional rights; most of these cases have cost the taxpayers at both ends since many of them have been prosecuted by lawyers under tax-financed legal aid programs.

The hardest thing to live with, and usually that least receiving sympathetic attention from the general public, is the unfair, unkind and often hostile attitude toward those welfare recipients who are genuinely and desperately in need of help.

Many people have blamed welfare recipients for abuses of the food stamp program. The public should know that this program is operated by the U.S. Department of Agriculture and is open to millions of people who cannot qualify for welfare aid, including union members out on strike.

$21,000 Welfare Income Possible

Welfare makes $21,000 family income.

Does this sound fantastic! It isn't.

It took courage for the social director to open a crack in the Pandora's box that is the welfare system and it was a public service of you to print it. That was the story of the welfare recipient making over $7,000 a year and drawing almost $4,000 in welfare while living with a man allegedly not her husband, her four children and his one.

But it didn't necessarily tell the whole story. It fails to point out that welfare recipients can conceal their income because the social worker has to have the recipient's approval before he can check any source of income. This is spelled out in "welfare rights" literature.

In this case, the article said the man had a child and was unemployed. This is what is in the woman's "file." What may be the truth?

It is likely, even probable, that the man is also on welfare for Aid to Needy Children for his child — drawing maybe $250 a month — food, clothing, housing allowance. And like the woman, he may be very well be employed, earning $7-9,000 a year. These facts, even if honestly revealed, would be in his — another — welfare file. Thus, by playing welfare rules and avoiding marriage, a couple could easily have a family income over $20,000, assisted by welfare.

Social workers will argue for every clause and phrase that makes all of this possible.

The question for the public is this — when will the public demand normal auditing and investigation of welfare? No other field of private, business, or government activity is specifically protected against auditing as is welfare . . .

I also think we should make Brown's Furniture into something useful like ice skating rink.

Johnson May Back Nixon Because Of Foreign Policy

By ROSCOE And GEOFFREY DRUMMOND

WASHINGTON — A sensational new, pro-Nixon factor is being added to the politics of 1972.

It isn't just President Nixon's choice of former Texas Democratic Gov. John B. Connally as secretary of the treasury — and his willingness to serve.

And it isn't just the improved prospect of Richard Nixon getting the 26 Texas electoral votes he missed two years ago. It is far bigger. It is this: Former President Lyndon Johnson may well end up endorsing President Nixon for re-election.

EVENTS TO MAKE this possible — even probable — are now in the making.

The foremost is:

At present all the leading and seriously mentioned candidates for the Democratic presidential nomination are on the dove side of foreign policy and national security. Sen. Edmund Muskie, the leading contender, urges that the United States get out of Vietnam far faster than Mr. Nixon is doing. He demands a fixed, public timetable for total withdrawal in 12 months. He votes against the ABM. He seeks further reductions in the defense budget. He does support aid to Israel.

Sen. Edward Kennedy is even more dovish. And the other avowed contenders like Senators Harold Hughes and George McGovern are among the extreme doves.

WHAT CANNOT fail to be giving L.B.J. the greatest anxiety is the prospect that the extreme Democratic doves will capture the foreign and defense policy of his party and that its next presidential nominee will either be the captive of their views or a willing and ardent exponent.

There is only one possible Democratic nominee — and his nomination is improbable — who stands counter to the dove position and foreign and defense policy. He is Sen. Henry M. Jackson of Washington and he deeply believes that "the area of vulnerability for the Democrats in '72 is the area of national security."

"I believe," he said on "Meet the Press" recently, "it will be important, if we are going to win, that we stand in the tradition of Roosevelt, Truman, Jack Kennedy and Lyndon Johnson. Jack Kennedy was elected in 1960 primarily on the national security issue and I was chairman of the Democratic National Committee at that time."

JUST BECAUSE L.B.J. has been relatively quiet on public and party affairs during the past two years doesn't mean that he will remain passive if the Democrats show they are heading toward nominating a dove candidate and writing a pacifist-minded, semi-isolationist party platform repudiating the record of leadership in foreign policy of four Democratic presidents.

He won't.

He will first seek to prevent it.

If unable to prevent it, it would be wholly in character for him to put what he deemed the best interest of the nation ahead of party and support a foreign and national security policy nearest his own. That would mean supporting President Nixon.

THERE IS TWO-THIRDS of a precedent. In 1968 Johnson withheld any active, effective support for Hubert Humphrey in part because he felt Humphrey was steadily repudiating his foreign policy. After the election he told friends that "Nixon won because of his firm policy on Vietnam."

The appointment of his closest political friend, John Connally, to the Nixon cabinet makes it easier for Johnson to move the whole distance — if necessary.

You can take it for granted that Conally consulted with Johnson before he accepted the treasury post and that L.B.J. not only acquiesced but approved and encouraged him to take it.

Lyndon Johnson is today in a powerful strategic position. He may be able to prevent his party from going extreme dove and, if he can't, he can almost certainly help Richard Nixon prevent the country from doing so.

Names People Call People Show Up Racial Attitudes

By LOUIS CASSELS

WASHINGTON (UPI) — What's in a name? In some cases, it may be an index to racial attitudes.

White people who are considerate of the feelings of black people usually refer to them as "Negroes" (pronounced knee'-grows, never nig'-gruz) or "colored people." Or simply as "blacks."

Varying degrees of racial animosity are conveyed by such terms as "niggers," "spades," "spooks," "jigs" and "coons."

BLACK PEOPLE have an equally varied lexicon for white people . . .

The polite terms are "Caucasians" or simply "whites."

Also widely used, and not necessarily pejorative, is "whitey."

Other black names for white people convey varying degrees of racial antagonism.

"Honky" is meant to be insulting: it is on a par with "nigger." Its etymology is obscure. Some students of language believe it is a corruption of "hunky," which originally was applied to white Americans of Hungarian descent.

Others say it is derived from a West African dialect word for stranger. Stokely Carmichael, an acknowledged master of black invective, contends that white people are called "honkies" because they are always "honking" like geese, sounding off with loud threats or empty promises.

ANOTHER WIDELY used term is "ofay."

White people who hear it applied to them are often puzzled about what it's supposed to mean. They've forgotten their childhood "pig Latin." Ofay is pig Latin for "foe." To call a white person "ofay" is tantamount to saying, "This is The Enemy."

"The Man" was once widely used by black people to designate an individual white or the whole white power structure. It is a shorthand version of "The Man With The Whiskers," meaning Uncle Sam, or the government. This term is now obsolete and seldom heard among blacks.

"Mr Charley" apparently dates back to the slavery era. It has a bitter flavor of irony.

Young blacks today tend to avoid "Mr. Charley" because of its foot-shuffling connotations. They have shortened it to "Chuck" which manages both to tie it in with Negro history and at the same time to express defiance of white men who expect black men to call them "Mister."

A RELATIVELY NEW usage among Negroes is to refer to members of the Caucasian race as "grays" or "gray bags" rather than "whites." The point is that most Caucasians really don't have white skins, any more than most Negroes have black skins. The typical Caucasian complexion is off-white—sometimes pretty far off—whereas the typical Negro complexion is a shade of brown.

The term most heavily laden with hostility is "pig."

Many whites have the idea that "pig" is applied only to policemen. Not so. Among black people generally, and especially among the more militant, "pig" stands for any representative of the white-dominated establishment—and by extension, to any white person who benefits from a racist social structure.

COUNTY COMMENT

By WILLIAM D. (BILL) FUSSELMAN

Civic Center Buildings Definition Of 'Blue Funk'

Perhaps it would be well to touch on two items in last week's column, but first let me say that I have been fighting a virus infection of the throat which made writing the column difficult. I said that Harper was on Vashon Island. It is not. I knew better. It is across from the north end of Vashon in Kitsap County. Thanks to my friend in Novato for his nice letter, calling my attention to this.

I didn't make some things clear. The Indians' transition from large dugout canoes was to power boats such as the crab boats here. There were no barges. The boats were not flat bottomed, just the small skiffs used for tenders.

A number of readers called to see if I was all right as they missed the column. Some Christmas cards also had the question. It was in the usual place, but my picture was omitted. Always look for "County Comment" at the top of the column. It was nice to know you were concerned.

FRIDAY MORNING as I was being driven home from Thanksgiving with the family, a depressing sight came into view. First there was the blue roofed Veterans Memorial building, then the long stretch of blue roofs on the Hall of Justice and the administration building.

If there ever was a "blue funk" that was it. Here is the definition of funk in the new Random House college dictionary: "1. cowering fear; fright or terror. 2. a dejected mood." Could it be more pat?

Those balconies for tourists, which could have been used for more floor space in the buildings, are to be enclosed with fences and iron grills. Both ends of the Hall of Justice and the administration building are to be fenced in with steel wire mesh with barbed wire tops.

The relatively few people who wished this grand elegance on the taxpayers — where are they now? Just making speeches about police states, that's all.

Where was the ecology then? They destroyed beautiful rolling hills of pasture land to build this thing. No wonder the buildings themselves have that dejected look!

PETER BEHR'S election expense wonders a lot of people no end. Note: He spent $134,548 to be elected. He has a deficit of $32,214. Unless he accepts contributions from someone, this deficit will take almost all of his first two years' salary ($19,200 per year).

It would take seven years at that salary to equal $134,400 — not enough to cover this year's election costs.

I HOPE you will get a chance to see the street decorations in San Anselmo, my home town for over 50 years. They are smart and good looking. A sweeping low bow to those who are responsible.

I will not write a column next week . . . . can't compete with Christmas for attention. You and the youngsters have a real good time, now. Hope to see you next year.

Hanoi Builds Stronghold Threatening U.S. Positions

By STEWART HENSLEY

WASHINGTON (UPI) — American intelligence officers report that North Vietnam is engaged in building up a major stronghold in southern Laos, which apparently is designed to serve as the headquarters and logistic supply point for Communist offensives expected in late February or March.

The area in question is located between Sepone and Attopeu, Laotian towns close to the South Vietnamese border and near the southern end of the long Laotian panhandle.

Washington officials say the strongholds being created in that area are receiving most of the men and supplies which Hanoi has been infiltrating southward along the Ho Chi Minh trail in Laos since Oct. 1.

HANOI, in recent months, has widened the area she controls in Laos along the South Vietnamese border to provide greater security for the system of paths and roads which comprise the Ho Chi Minh trail.

The area between Attopeu and Sepone and the trails to the north has been under almost continuous attack by U.S. war planes based in Thailand, on U.S. aircraft carriers in the South China Sea and at times from bases in South Vietnam.

These attacks are not announced although the Pentagon acknowledges them from time to time.

Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird, explaining the heavy U.S. air raids late last month on some North Vietnamese border areas, said these were attacks on missile sites from which Hanoi attempted to interfere with American air operations just across the border in Laos. He said that there would be more such attacks if necessary.

ONE TEMPTING possibility, if the Communists are successful in establishing a major stronghold in that area, could be to move eastward into South Vietnam. The city of Hue and the big U.S. air base at Da Nang are only a few miles from the Laotian border in that narrow neck of northern South Vietnam, and that is the area from which virtually all U.S. ground combat forces have been withdrawn.

Another possibility would be a Communist strike southward to assist North Vietnamese and Cambodian Communist forces already in Cambodia.

A third possibility —which some officials believe may be Hanoi's main objective —would be to re-establish Hanoi and Viet Cong main force strength in the Cambodian sanctuaries along the South Vietnamese border opposite Saigon from which they were driven by U.S. and South Vietnamese forces last Spring.

AMERICAN OFFICIALS disagree as to the probable main objective of the Hanoi forces, if they are able to muscle up enough main force strength to launch a really effective offensive some time during the first half of 1971.

While the White House continues to adopt an optimistic attitude concerning the Indochina situation, some Pentagon officials are beginning to worry about what may happen when President Nixon has pulled U.S. troop levels in the area down to about 270,000 by May 1. This will be roughly one-half the number of U.S. forces in Vietnam at the time he took office two years ago.

Government Asks Ruling On Newsmen

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Justice Department, appealing an adverse lower court ruling, is asking the Supreme Court to rule newsmen may be compelled to testify before grand juries about non-confidential information obtained in their work.

Freedom of the press does not grant a newsman immunity "from appearing before the grand jury to testify, at the very least, that he did indeed hear the words quoted in his articles; that they were made seriously and not in jest," the department said in its appeal. The case involves a Nov. 17 ruling by the 9th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals that reversed a contempt finding against Earl Caldwell, a New York Times reporter who had written in detail for his paper about the Black Panther party.

The appellate court held that Caldwell had been within his rights to refuse grand jury questioning, for which he was found in contempt, unless the government could show a pressing need for his testimony. Grand jury proceedings are secret.

Seattle Seven Appeal Rulings

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Lawyers for the Seattle Seven have filed appeals in federal court of both contempt sentences and denial of bail as ordered by a federal judge at Tacoma, Wash.

The appeals filed Wednesday in the Ninth Circuit Court asserted that the defendants should have a jury trial of the contempt charges; that denial of bail was an outrage; and that the defendants were not guilty of contempt.

U.S. District Judge George H. Boldt denied bail after the prosecution charged the defendants, all sentenced to at least six months in jail for contempt, may flee as have many of their fellow revolutionaries.

Students Eligible For Cash Awards

Students in Marin County's 10 high schools are eligible for an award contest for local regional and national cash awards, sponsored by the Soroptimist Foundation, according to Marlys Kehm, contest chairman.

Applicants will be judged on their records of service, dependability, leadership and sense of purpose, she said.

Cash prizes of $50, $35 and $15 will be given Marin winners by the Soroptimist Club of Marin County. The first place student then would be eligible for a $1,000 first prize in regional competition among students from Marin, Napa, Solano and Contra Costa counties. The winner among 17 competing regions throughout the U.S. will receive an additional $1,500 cash.

High schools participating are San Rafael, Terra Linda, Tamalpais, Redwood, Sir Francis Drake, Novato, San Marin, Tomales, Marin Catholic and Kathryn Branson.

Judges in the Marin competition will be Virgil S. Hollis, county superintendent of schools; Rev. Charles C. Griffin, First Presbyterian Church of San Rafael, and Daniel F. Deedy, Marin County Board of Realtors.

Entries close Jan. 31 and students will be judged in February, Mrs. Kehm said.

Goldennaires Name Officers

Mary England of San Rafael has been elected president of the San Rafael Goldennaires, a senior citizens group, Andrew J. Snyder, director of parks and recreation reported yesterday.

Elected with her were Margot Bull of San Anselmo, first vice president; Elizabeth Rodin of San Rafael, second vice president; Florence Benedict of San Rafael, recording secretary; Adele Liebert of San Rafael, corresponding secretary, and Ernest Blagg of San Rafael, treasurer.

Board members elected were Charles Mustante of San Rafael, Harry Simpson of San Rafael, John Roberts of Ross and Mildred Graham of San Anselmo, past president.

Made while you sleep?

Could be. Because now that Chevy's back in business, we're putting in a lot of hours and turning out a lot of Chevrolets. And we're shipping them every day to Chevy dealers all over the country. If you haven't taken a good look at our '71s, now's the perfect time. Here are a few examples of what you'll see.

New Vega. The little car that does everything well.

When we say "everything", we mean it. For instance, even though most minis would rather not talk about roominess, Vega brags about it. No small wonder. Automotive Industries magazine (impartial and unbiased) reports Vega is the roomiest of the new subcompacts, with about 90% as much space as the typical standard sized car.

The '71 Impala. We've been building up to this much Impala for years.

Know what's the roomiest '71 car in the U.S.A.? No, not one of the big, luxurious high-priced cars, but the big, luxurious Chevrolet-priced Chevrolet. (Automotive Industries magazine spells out the details in their October 1 issue.)

You've changed. We've changed.

The big difference in the 1971 Chevrolets is a change in attitude. Yours and ours. You're more concerned about continuing improvements. You want meaningful change and built-in value. That's why our '71 Chevelle, Camaro, Nova and Monte Carlo have quite a bit of change built into them. But their looks have hardly changed at all.

If you're looking for a new car (or even if you're just window shopping), your Chevy dealer has a lot more you'll be interested in. Either way, come on in. We're delivering the goods.
